OUR BROTHERHOOD.

Article No. 2.

When Solomon was told by the Creator of the universe to choose as a gift from him the thing he most desired, his choice was one which from then until now has won the commendation of mankind.

His prayer was for wisdom. Analyzed, this means the knowledge to choose the best or wisest thing under the conditions. So pleased was the Almighty with his prayer that he added unto Solomon all other desires, as a token of His pleasure in his choice.

Wisdom is therefore the Creator's best gift to man, and is to man the greatest lever within his grasp to move the affairs of earth. All the appliances relative to human life, the inventive, for instance, which converts the dead metal into an engine of power, and the drop of water into the steam or motive power by which this same engine is propelled, are but the creations of minds whose governing has been this same quality of wisdom of selection.

If this reasoning applies along the line of temporal things, it is equally true along intellectual lines; and, also, if anything in a greater degree in regard to any movement which has the good of humanity as its primary principle. All religious, all social, all beneficial ideals of this class may be traced to this source.

Nothing exemplifies this better than the history of our Brotherhood. "Fortunate are they who learn wisdom," might be written on our banners. We stand as a monument of man's wisdom. Reader, do you realize what the word "monument" means in this connection? Let us think of it not as a senseless marble shaft reared towards heaven; upon it an inscription of fame to some living or dead hero. No; it means more, much more than this. It means a living "Brotherhood of Men," not banded together merely for protection, but to take care of its sick, bury its dead, and protect its orphans—the most noble work our race can do.

In discussing this second article on our Brotherhood, our prayer is like Solomon's, "Oh, give us wisdom."

Brother Keenan of Boston in his able article of November Journal speaks of a sick and death benefit as the anchor of the future. It is more than this; it is the whole ship. We have come to a period in our existence when our whole life depends on the adoption and making the foundation of our Brotherhood. "The caring for our sick, the burying of our dead, the educating and protecting of our orphans." Up to the present time our main feature has been one of protection in trade for our individual interests. This is only a lever to remedy wrongs. When it becomes the only weapon we use after these wrongs have been righted, it makes the most despotic and tyrannical creatures the world ever knew. The practice of that which is ethically best is defined in the words of Professor Huxley: "In the place of ruthless self-assertion it demands self-restraint; in the place of thrusting aside or treading down all competition, it requires that the individual shall not merely respect but shall help its fellows; its influence is directed not so much to the survival of the fittest as to the fitting of as many as possible to survive." I was much struck with the words of Mr. Raphael of the Cigarmakers' Union when addressing us in convention at Baltimore, said: "The Cigarmakers care for their sick; they bury their own dead; they look after the welfare of those left behind; they never become public charges." Let our Brotherhood weigh well these words. No one knows better the generous and sympathetic hearts a great number of our members have than I do, as also that in various lodges of our Brotherhood there exists at the present time a sick and death benefit for their individual members, but bearing in mind all this which is noble, we cannot get clear of the facts that as a "universal feature of our Brotherhood," it is a failure. When you look at 20,000 men banded together for their mutual protection, one wonders why this divine command has not been obeyed long ago. For fraternity uncontrolled is like an immense conflagration, which, while it warms, destroys and consumes all the useful and beautiful within its grasp. The beneficial feature, uninfluenced by charity, is like an iceberg, brilliant and glittering, but blighting and freezing all it approaches. But let the two be combined, they are to the social world what the sun is to the natural one, filling the world with radiant light, peace and happiness. "A thing of beauty and a joy forever."

There is no trait of character more noble than that of the strong bearing the burdens of the weak, and those lodges who at present have a sick and death benefit are the strong ones who by their membership's efforts, by personal contributions, by suppers, by balls and other entertainments are enabled to provide for their members so long as they are attached to that lodge. If a dullness of trade comes into their district and they find work in another district, according to our constitutional law, they must deposit their cards in the nearest lodge, which may be a weak lodge and have no sick or death benefit, and they are thus deprived of all they had in this feature in the lodge they left. But there is nothing that binds us more closely together than sickness or death. It is the Creator's plan for leveling us up and bringing out of us the noblest traits of our character. If we had a universal sick and death benefit, should a brother be overtaken by illness or misfortune, be he in any part of the country and never so poor, he then will, if he makes his wants known, receive as a right the necessary assistance and friends to watch over him with fraternal solicitude; and should he fall a victim to disease, the brothers of charity will be there to close the eyes and with solemn yet hopeful rites, consign his body to the repose of the silent tomb. Our Brotherhood should be an embodiment of family love and affection and should be the only substitute for home influence, and the only green spot in the dreary waste of life, which should bind us to the tender practice of every virtue, should guide us in prosperity and health, and as a ministering angel should bend over us with tenderest pity in our chamber of suffering. True, there are sorrows which our Brotherhood cannot reach; there are griefs which it cannot remove. Notwithstanding it can pursue its way, impart its healthful influence and accomplish its beautiful and helpful mission of benevolence and charity. If it cannot heal the wounds of misfortune, it can administer the balm of sympathy, friendship and love. "Who among our members would not give his voice, his vote for the establishment of features so noble, and thus gives us something which would be the means of binding us so close together that nothing but the annihilation of time would sever."

The resolutions of Bro. Fox of Lodge No. 7 of Buffalo, of which the members at large are voting on, is a complete "panacea" on the question. The rules to govern same are as complete and practical as one could wish, and if adopted, to again quote Bro. Keenan's words: "And equally wise, courageous, honest men to administer such a fund, cannot fail to impart solidity and endurance to the Brotherhood. May the outcome of our voting be the adoption of same and thus when a brother is sick he will not have to feel that

"The bread of charity, when fed
From stranger's hand is bitter bread,
And manhood shrinks from the disgrace
Of standing in the pauper's place
To gather pennies, rudely hurled
By the cold pity of the world.
But our brotherhood by the Helping Hand,
Has met the terms of need's demand,
And solved the problem of the hour
By giving men the sacred power
Of mutual helpfulness and care,
That all may give and all may share,
While paupers' methods are unknown,
For each man gives and takes his own,
Not as a mendicant he stands
With downcast eyes and suppliant hands,
But from affliction's shadowed place,
He looks the whole world in face,
And though removed from life's great plan
Of toil and rest—he's still a man,
Inter-dependence on a scale
Of such proportions cannot fail;
And this our Brotherhood will have wrought
In outline and with practical thought,
Persistent purpose, labor wise,
Seeks on the earth to realize
And be to need for all our Band,
When our Brotherhood becomes the Helping Hand."

So, brothers, may our cry and aim be "Looking forward, not backward;
Looking up, not down;
Looking out, not in."

Will you all lend a hand?

CRAWFORD, Lodge 35.

Lodge 219.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 30.—Please allow me a small space in the next issue of your worthy Journal, as I wish to say a few words regarding 219's latest success, which was the fourth grand social and dance given by Lodge 219 in Odd Fellows' Hall, Washington Square, on Thanksgiving Eve., Nov.

26, 1902. And it was a grand success from start to finish both socially and financially, and it shows what the brothers of 219 can do if they would only work together as they have done on this entertainment. Special credit must be given to the floor director and his aids as they handled the large crowd of about 200 couples in grand style, also the different committees who were selected for certain places. All worked hard to make the dance a success and all of the brothers of 219 were in attendance to a man. And especially our worthy president, as he entertained the ladies in grand style. The strains of the music were heard until the small hours of the morning before the program had been gone through, and then the large crowd that participated went their different ways with the happy thought of attending our next.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 2.—As it has been some time since you have heard from us, other than is found in the location and number column of the Journal, I thought I would come out of the back shop long enough to let you know that No. 66 is still in the ring and on the boom.

We have a new contract which went into effect the first of December, 1902, which was agreeable to all members, and increase of wages also.

Work is plentiful here and all coming this way with proper credentials will find the latch string on the outside.

November 25 was a gala occasion for No. 66. We gave a grand ball which was one of the social events of the season, it being our first ball. They were all there, the tall girl, the blond girl, the winter girl and the sweet girl, the stately dame and gallant beaux.

That the boys did themselves credit goes without saying. The grand march was led by our young brother Atkinson and wife. The ball passed off in a very satisfactory manner, and as the last number on the program was danced and peals of Home, Sweet Home and Good-night, Ladies rang through the hall, an expression of satisfaction and joy could be easily observed on the faces of all present, and certified that the occasion would not be soon forgotten. I remain,

Yours fraternally,

E. P. LEOPARD, C. S.

Lodge 170.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 26.—On Wednesday night, November 26, Lodge 170 gave a grand smoker to its members and friends, and this is what took place: We had everything that could make a smoker a success and give all present a good time.

First on the program was a speech by Mr. Mullen of the Central Trades Union of Richmond on organized labor. Next, song by Church Hill Glee Club. Then came a speech by Mr. Kreiss. Next, Bro. R. V. Julian sang "Put My Little Shoes Away." We had that grand song, "The Holy City," sung by one of our bosses, C. C. Williams, and it was enjoyed by all who were present. The next came music on concertina by Mr. Watts.

Song by Church Hill Glee Club, "Farewell, My Own True Love."

Clog dance by R. V. Julian.

Music by colored Mandolin and Guitar Club, "All Nations Have a Flag but the Coon."

Next came a clog dance by Polly Seay.

Recitation by J. R. Boyce on "John Sullivan Fighting the Italian," which was enjoyed by all. Then we had a song by our Shipyard Quartette, "Just Break the News to Mother," music by colored Mandolin and Guitar Club, dance by Mr. Watts, speech by Mr. O'Hanon, representative of the Hatters' Union. Then we had a recitation by Mr. Rhinehart on "Steve O'Donald Irish Wake." Music by Mandolin and Guitar, "Show Me the Way to go Home."

Song by Shipyard Quartette, "Way Down Yonder in the Cornfield."

Recitation "Bingen on the Rhine," by Mr. Mullen.

Then came a cakewalk by Mr. Ebenhark's two little boys.

Then came a song and dance by Mr. Stewart Neaves, "Song on Old Ireland."

Last but not least came a song by Brother W. Nevins "We all must go through the Mill," and was enjoyed by all.

By this time it was growing late and all expressed themselves as satisfied with the good time they had had.

Lodge 126.

Winnipeg, Nov. 5.—To the Editor and Members of this Brotherhood: We as a committee acting on behalf of Lodge No. 126 are instructed to call the attention of the members of this Brotherhood to an article published in the September Journal of this year, signed by C. J., which should be S. J. Lupton, Reg. No. 7900, a former member of this lodge and now a member of Lodge No. 242.

In the article mentioned this member states that he was turned down by the Canadian Pacific Ry. while doing committee work which is absolutely false. True enough, he, Lupton, was assigned to revise our schedule and was paid by this lodge for doing same, two days' pay, and the schedule was in the M. M. office by March 31st, which was the terms agreed to by this lodge and C. P. Ry. in our schedule of 1901, where it read that thirty days' notice must be given previous to May 1st when an increase of pay is desired, and Lupton had returned to work.

As April 2 was Election Day here, Lupton lay off work without leave of absence, which was no unusual occurrence for him, and his Reg. number was turned down, which of course meant he must give an account of himself before he could return to work. On hearing this Lupton came into the shop and demanded his time which was given him and of course he left no case for any lodge to work on provided he wanted to get back. He also states that he spoke to some of the members about this, but we wish it clearly understood that the only one he stated his case to had only attended three meetings in three years.

Now Mr. Editor and Brothers, we do not care to show this unfortunate member of our honorable body up too bad, as he has done everything to get back (by fair means or foul) among us. The men, he states, acted like a lot of whipped curs; but to give you an idea of what a good union man he is, we state that when he came to Winnipeg he was so far behind in his dues that he found it cheaper to become a new member than to square himself on the books.

He also states that he expresses the sentiments of some of the ex-members of this lodge, but we are in receipt of a letter from one of the genuine blue boys he mentions, hoping the members of this lodge are not so narrow minded as to think he is one of the members referred to.

Hoping you will find space in your valuable Journal for this, we remain,

Yours fraternally,

STARR BROWN, Pres.,

JOHN GALIGAN,

GAVIN DONALDSON,

Committee.

P. S.—If Lupton wishes to hear from us again we will be pleased to show some of the letters he wrote back here after he left.

A QUIET HINT.

After serious consideration of the causes that keep so many well-meaning members away from regular meetings, I have come to the conclusion that the main reason is because they can find out from some easy-going member what happened at the meeting. The careless member will argue this way: "They don't need me up there to-night. There's not anything particular going on that I know of. Well, Brother Steady Attender will let me know what happened in the morning." Now, brothers, it is to the regular attenders that I give this warning.

Do not tell any brother what happened at the meeting, no matter how white you know him to be or how good a union man he is. Why? Because you are encouraging him to become a careless member. If you would say to Mr. Careless Member "My obligation does not allow me to talk of what has transpired outside of the lodge-room," you would see Mr. Careless at the next meeting to find out for himself. So much for that. Now, another very serious matter in this line is the tendency of our brothers to talk lodge matters while enjoying a social glass after the meeting. Brothers, when you hear something repeated that you know occurred at your meeting, by someone who should not know it, you very naturally jump to the conclusion that there is a traitor in the lodge. But wait a minute, brothers; are you sure that there was not a stranger within hearing distance of you when you were talking over that very subject while sipping your beer that meeting night? This, brothers, ought to be stopped. Let us stop talking of anything that occurs in our lodge-rooms and you will find that the tittlers will drop wonderfully if we confine our business to the lodge-room where it belongs.

I am, fraternally yours,

DOMINIC KANE, G. V. P.

Lodge 247.

SOUTH TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 4.—Tuesday, December 2, Lodge 247 has a special meeting called by Bro. Dominic Kane, G. V. P., to settle the trouble which had existed between the members of 247 for some time. We went through the regular order of business because we had no meeting at our last regular meeting night.

Brother Kane took the chair and we disposed of everything in a business way and with dispatch. Our troubles and disputes were settled to the entire satisfaction of everyone present and I think hereafter we will get along much better. Brother Kane during his brief stay has won the hearts of everyone, and we will at any time be happy to have him visit us. If he goes on the road as an organizer he certainly will make things hum.

From your humble servant,

CHAS. MANNING, C. S., 247.

Lodge 307.

Brother N. I. Pike, a member of Lodge No. 307 of Brooklyn, was fatally stabbed on Saturday evening, November 22, by an Italian and died almost immediately.

Brother Pike was returning from work at the Morse Iron Works in a Crosstown car. The Italian stumbled over his feet and struck Pike. An altercation followed and the Italian drew a knife which he plunged into Pike's heart. He tried to escape, but was captured at once and is now locked up in Raymond Street jail awaiting trial. Bro. Pike was about 27 years old. He was a native of Wilmington, Del., and came to Brooklyn about a year ago. He was a most estimable young man and leaves a widow and one child. His body was sent back to Wilmington for interment. A collection taken up in the Erie Basin for his wife and child amounted to $250.

JOS. J. REDINGTON, C. S.

Lodge 57.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Dec. 8.—American belles and American fashions turned out in full force to take part in the grand annual ball of Lodge No. 57, Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America on Thanksgiving eve. The attendance was much larger than any previously held. The occasion was a success and gave entire satisfaction to the large gathering present, for 57 don't do anything by halves. And our committee in charge, Brothers Gibson, Tyler, Thomas, Wielland and Foster deserve much credit for their untiring efforts to please all who came on pleasure bent. And pleasure there was from start to finish. The hall was decorated with flags and bunting, potted plants and cut flowers were numerous, which gave a beautiful effect to the merry dancers. If all were dancers the hall would not have been large enough for the vast throng present. We had many wall flowers, but they were all right. Came there for the purpose of showing their appreciation of the good work of the committee in charge, and also to prove by their presence their loyalty to our organization in time of need.

Prof. Brescia and his band of union musicians was in attendance. And such inspiring music! It carried many of the older members of 57 back to the good old days, long, long ago, when they used to trip the light fantastic. Prof. Brescia can rest assured that he is as good as engaged for the next annual ball of Lodge 57.

The grand march started at 9 o'clock sharp, led by our worthy financial secretary, C. L. Tyler and Mrs. Tyler, superbly gowned in white. Brother Benny Foster and wife—by the way, I had almost forgotten; Brother Foster has lately joined the grand army of benedicts. Lodge 57 wishes him success and happiness in his journey through life. There were also present Brother Wielland and wife, our past president James J. McDonnell and wife, Brother John Holleran and wife, Brother Edward McDonnell and his two young daughters, and hundreds of others too numerous to mention. It would be impossible to give a full description of all present or the many beautiful costumes of the ladies.

I must not forget the two brothers who had charge of the door. Kind, but yet firm was Brothers Wielland and McDonnell. Polite to all, showing to the vast assemblage that organized labor is always a factor in any community for good order. Brothers Thomas and Dalton being on the committee of arrangements, it was almost impossible to keep track of them, looking after the welfare of the dancers at all times, giving information on the quiet as to who was the best lady dancer in order to secure a good partner, but when the music struck up (a hot time in the old town), the good brothers played a sharp trick on somebody. I thought they were playing a game of football, so fast did they fly through space. I heard a great commotion at the door and looked in that direction, and our ex-recording secretary, Edward McDonnell, was trying to secure some brother to take his place in order to have a dance. Objection was raised on account of age. Some brother told him to go away back and sit down in the hall with Brother Nolan and keep quiet.

The committee of arrangements did some very active work in order to make the ball a success, and I must say they accomplished what they desired, thanks, also to the general public. An occasion of this kind is all right, for it brings the members and their families together for a night of pleasure and has a tendency to promote and foster a better and more mutual understanding between each other.

But when past, then it's a question of business. We must turn our attention to the practical side of the great problem in our efforts to push our organization to the front and place it on a foundation that cannot be shattered. Let us have beneficial and protective features, and in order to accomplish this, let us have higher dues, for low dues means a cheap organization. As the old year is drawing to a close I wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to each and every member of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America.

Fraternally yours,

JOURNAL CORRESPONDENT.

Lodge 164.

BRADFORD, Pa., Nov. 30.—It is time that 164 was heard from again. Now, brothers, our annual election is again drawing near and will be at hand by the time some of you read this. But to those who get it in time I would say that when your lodge is nominating officers for the coming term and you happen to be nominated, don't get up and make a big spiel about not being able to hold office on some excuse or another, but let your lodge decide that question, and if elected, do your duty to the best of your ability and there will be no trouble.

There are a great many members who don't want office and won't take one if they can get out of it. Now, brothers, it is not right to ask one set of officers to act year in and year out, and if you have not forgotten your obligation, you know that you should do all in your power for the good of your lodge and the Brotherhood in general. So let all members run regardless of excuses, and may the best men be elected. No. 164 has better material for C. & R. S. than the present incumbent, but they don't want the office; so you see it is not the man looking for the office, as it should be, but the office looking for the man, as it should not be.

Now, I hope this does not trouble other lodges, but must say it is one of 164's greatest difficulties and at the present rate of attendance at meetings we could not get a full set of officers for lack of enough members to fill the places. So wake up brothers, and attend meetings and do, or at least come and help to do the important work we have in hand, and that to come, for it is very discouraging for the seven regular attending members to go to lodge every meeting night and never see a stranger in the lodge room out of the other twenty-two members. It is not hard to give the lodge two nights a month, even if you do miss a couple of shows or dances, and the result of your not attending does not go to improve the condition of your lodge. So don't put it all on the seven or eight members, but come and do your part. If not, I will have to publish a list in the Journal of those who attend and another of those who don't. Which list do you want to have your name on? At the present rate we will soon have to hand in our charter and cannot afford to do that for we have to climb up the ladder, not fall down, but get to the top and stay there; and we can't get to the top unless every member does his duty in full.

Anybody knowing the whereabouts of Brothers T. J. O'Day, Frank Leipold or Wm. Curry, will confer a favor by corresponding with 164. Brothers Curry and Leipold were last heard from in Buffalo, N. Y., and if Bro. T. J. O'Day is not heard from shortly he will be suspended or expelled for non-payment of dues.

Hoping this will do some good, I remain,
The Kicker, S. U. Grant, C. & R. S.

Lodge 277

Some time ago there were a few helpers working in the yard and they applied for membership in No. 277, and not being long enough at the business, they were not competent to become members of our organization and we refused them admittance, so they left town and went to Conn., and Lodge 262 initiated them and they were made members, and just as soon as they got a card they came back to Buffalo and went riveting, and not wishing to mention any names, they could not drive a team of mules. Now, Mr. Editor, it seems to me a shame that such lodges would make a member without finding out about such candidates, or if they would have corresponded with us we would have told them the reason why we would not initiate them; and in the future it would be well for the lodges to be careful who they make members in their respective lodges. The consequences is now we will have to take their cards away from them, for they are not fit to be a member of our organization. Hoping you will publish this in our next Journal, I remain,

Yours truly and fraternally,

JAS. GOODMAN,
Fin. Secy.

COMMENT IN GENERAL.

With your permission, Mr. Editor, I cannot help commenting on the various articles and editorials that has appeared in our Journal from time to time, and while the writers differ in their opinions and go away back into history of this organization which we know is true, as stated by some of our illustrious brothers in last month's Journal, we must all come to the same conclusion, and that is that the organization is growing and progressing under the present system, and while I am only one in my opinion, I believe the present system should be carried out until such time as a better system is formulated and considered by the rank and file of our members. I would like to call the attention of the readers of our Journal that it is useless to consider the past systems we had in our organization, as they were not beneficial to the best interests of all concerned. I do not intend to ridicule any brother's views or opinions on the various subjects discussed through the columns of our Journal, only to compare our opinions. It is my intention to review the growth and expansion of our noble Brotherhood. We had at one time in our own memory two different national organizations. They both consolidated and formed the present Brotherhood and formulated a system to govern at that time. That system prevailed until the Cleveland Convention, and in my opinion would continue were it not for the attitude of the public press at that time. We had continued to exist for a good many years and made very little headway, but like many other cases a change was necessary, and had that change come sooner we would be better off to-day. Some of our contemporaries claim we should do away with the referendum system and elect all national officers and make laws in Conventions. Others claim we should move the headquarters east—say Washington. Now we will take the first brother's opinion—suppose we do away with the referendum system. Let us here compare, previous to adopting the referendum. We had 2000 members in our

Brotherhood—that was in 1896, and we have to-day 24,000 members, that speaks very highly for our present system. If we had decreased in membership, I would say do away with it, but here again is another thing to look at. Under the old system we elected our national officers in Convention, and we all know that the Cleveland Convention was the largest held up to that date. Let us examine how it was conducted. As far as can be ascertained it was a disgrace. All business was transacted on sectional lines. Star chambered conferences prevailed and officers elected nearly on these lines and I want to say the best men did not get there, as was shown afterwards. The 1st Grand Vice-President, when called upon to fill the office of Grand President, had to resign, as he admitted himself he was not qualified. At least we expect we do not want to go back to that system. As we are working under the referendum system to-day, every brother has a right to vote for his choice of national officers, and any Lodge can nominate one of their members who they think is qualified to fill any of the offices. And I want to say right here in selecting your nominees for any national office, don't judge your man by his looks, don't judge a man by his sayings, but judge him by his work, as we have a large field for any of our brothers to display their abilities. That in my opinion is the best method of selecting your men. Now we will take up this question of moving headquarters. Let me say to you before giving my opinion at this present time. It is after voting time, and it is my intention to be fair on this question. What have we to gain by moving headquarters? Nothing. What good will it do? Nothing. What was the intention of the resolution? It was claimed to be close to the headquarters of the A. F. of L. What good would that do? Nothing. As we have learned in past conventions of the A. F. of L. we always get the worst of everything that is introduced in that body by our delegates for our benefits. Then there must be a motive for moving headquarters to Washington, and if there is we want to know it. If it is politics, I say keep away, and never go there, because if politics is introduced into this organization your doom is sure and certain. Look around and see if the national organizations who has gone there has prospered. Quite the reverse. We do not pay our national officers salary to go into politics. In my opinion, we should have our headquarters located where we would get the best results, and that is in the center of the territory where you govern. That is the proper way to look at these things. Let no selfish motives prevail. Moving of headquarters has nothing to do with organizing the unorganized. We are progressing remarkably well along these lines, all things considered. I would advise instead of occupying our time writing about moving headquarters and abolishing the referendum system, to write articles for our Journal, instructing our newly organized brothers and showing the benefits to be derived from organization, and I believe we would not see so many suspended members in our Journal every month. While we are busy organizing there are members falling away. I have come across members who will tell you the organization is not run right—and ask them how to run it, they cannot tell you. I came across members coming to town with their cards in arrears, and ask them how that was, and they tell you that the organization was no good where they came from. When informed, they themselves were to blame. They could not see it that way; everyone was to blame but themselves. Now these are happenings every day. While looking over the situation in general I must say these conditions do not exist over the entire country. And where they do exist I want to say the conditions are away below the average. We should at all times consider the best interests of all concerned, and let not selfishness come in our way to keep us back. We will see in the near future what our silent members desire, whether the resolutions framed and sent out for the approval of our members from our late convention in Baltimore or whether the present system is satisfactory. Our organization has grown wonderfully and progressed in the past year. And every day adds to its strength, and I will venture to say that we as a national organization have moved into the front ranks in conducting our business on business lines, and I notice our members are taking advantage of the opportunity to better their condition at the proper time all over the entire country, and those that has not done so has themselves to blame. There is no north, south, east or west, as far as your executive council is concerned. They are all treated alike—equal rights to all and special privileges to none is their motto. Hoping that each and every member will try and use his best efforts to further the interest of all concerned, and do his share in the upbuilding of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America,

Respectfully and fraternally yours,
EDWARD FOX,
G. V. P.

Lodge 85.

Toledo, O., Dec. 18, 1902.

Allow me to say that there is one man among the boilermakers that doesn't realize the obligation he has taken, in Toledo.

Buckeye No. 85 always gives a man a good show and all kinds of chances. But it did make them mad when they allowed him to come and make a plea, and after hearing what they would do, he then stated: "Gentlemen, I don't want any thing more to do with you, and I will meet you half way." A statement of that sort would boil a "nigger's" blood. So that cooked him in Local No. 85. They have placed a fine on him of $100 and decided to have his photograph printed, but, Mr. Editor, I have waited long enough for his photo and haven't any, so it will have to be without.

Also Buckeye Lodge took first prize on Labor Day for having the best float.

Buckeye Lodge gave a dance and was well attended and was a success financially. A few more dollars for the strikers.

Now, brothers, this local never gave a smoker but once, and that was an open meeting to boilermakers and iron shipbuilders, in order to increase our membership, and what money we took in was given to the strikers. There are some locals that have sent tickets to Buckeye Lodge without a union label on them and they are always sent back. Brothers, in order to insure unionism always think of the label. Some meeting at the hall look over the obligation that was given you and then you will certainly think of the label or you are doing wrong. No. 85 is rather slow, but they know a thing or two.

Toledo is going into the boiler business. There have been erected two new boiler shops this summer and there is one going up at the present time. And we have a few roundhouse boilermakers—only twenty-three different railroads enter this city.

The scab's name that forgot his obligation is Geo. Perkett.

Yours truly and fraternally,

KATZENYAMMER, No. 85.

Lodge 125.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Dec. 21, 1902.

At the meeting held December 16th the following officers were duly elected: President, John Sullivan; vice president, Jer. Desmond; recording secretary, Michael J. Walsh; corresponding secretary, Wm. W. Ward; financial secretary, Luke Reddy; treasurer, Ed J. Dempsey; inspector, Thomas Flannery; guard, James Couhig; trustees, J. J. Hayes, John Couhig, James Crane. After the meeting was over they all retired to the ante room where Brothers Daily and Couhig served refreshments. Brother Chas. Ward sang "Please, Mr. Conductor"; Brothers John H. Couhig and Carrus sang "The House of Too Much Trouble." In the absence of Brothers P. J. Callagee and Michael Maloney the sparring match was off. Brother Thos. Flannery, better known as August, gave us his experience of the West.

As our eighth annual ball is to take place on January 12th, 1903, you will hear more, as Brothers P. J. Callagee and Thos. Couhig are to have it out in regard to the prize waltz, as it was decided in favor of Brother Couhig last year. Brother Peter Dempsey has full charge of the dance and you can bet it will be a success. Brother M. J. Kean has charge of the floor and he is an expert at that; and Brother Ward has charge of the refreshments, and he can serve them up to their taste.

Yours,

L. R.

Just a word for the Journal, and I will be as brief as possible. We heard the wedding bells ring and I want to tell the boys about it. They rang for Brother John McCarty of our shop and he rang back to the boys in great shape. On Thanksgiving evening he married one of Norwood's best young ladies and invited all the boys in the shop up, and I tell you that we all had a fine time, with plenty to eat and drink and with music, song and dance we all spent one of the best nights of our lives till early morning, when all went home wishing the happy couple a long life and all prosperity and hoping that some of the other boys would follow suit, if it is only the writer. Hoping you can find room for this in your next, I will extend the best wishes of the boys of No. 281.

THE SCRATCH FOR No. 281.

A Voice From De Soto.

Brethren of the craft; let up.

Since 1888 the St. L., I. M. & S. Ry. Shop at De Soto has borne the stigma of being the toughest shop in the country to work in. I refer to the boiler shop. It was published all over the United States and Canada; not in the Journal, to be sure, but by the members of the fraternity that have worked here at times, and either could not deliver the goods, were morally depraved, or did not like the steamboat mate language applied to their abilities. And why this condition? Firstly, as the ministers say, no organization or lax organization; let us call it selfishness. Each man acting for himself—having no confidence in his shopmates—he could not hope for any better treatment by his individual efforts; he talked back, got discharged, or quit, benefitting neither himself nor the railway company by his act. A lodge in a town run by one or two men that care for No. 1 only is as bad as no organization at all; yea, worse, as it gives color to the statement that the lodge approves of the bad conditions.

A good, healthy and vigorous lodge in a railway shop is as much benefit to the railway company as to its members. If the lodge will insist on its members giving their employers their just dues by doing a fair day's work, striving to lift them to a moral plane by discouraging all bad habits, thereby setting the younger generation a good example, then in turn they have a right to ask of their employers all that is fair in wages and treatment, and may confidently expect to get their just dues. Railway managers are among the shrewdest—sometimes we express it sharpest—men in the world. They are aware railways cannot be run without men to do the work, and realize this better than anyone can tell them. They also know that it is to their interest to have steady men that are honest enough to do the right thing, and that it is not to their interest to have a transient shop force, part of them striking out for other parts every pay day, sometimes to the sorrow of boarding house keepers and even poor widowed washer women. That there is such vermin we of the craft know, and I for one will—and I think all the boys here are of the same mind—prevent such a misfit to honest shopmen going to work here if I can.

On the other hand, any boilermaker applying for a job here who can give a good account of himself and is willing to do a fair day's work may be assured of fair treatment.

We have a fair shop, a committee that will see justice done to both sides. This is a slaughter pen no more, and has not been for several years past.

So please let up on our reputation and don't let the first hobo that comes along with a grievance against the De Soto shop deter you from giving us fair play.

De Soto lodge is as anxious to have good steady men as the railroad company, and it is an injustice to the railway officials as well as to us to keep up this old cry. If we have no grievance against the shop management, why should those not working here have?

C. W. BRUMMER, Sec. No. 117.

The whistle blows a blast,

The clamorous noise has ceased.

The boilermaker from his toil

Seeks home with rest and ease.

All day his brawny arm has beat

The iron which now is king;

Which speeds the traveler on his way;

The distant news does bring.

A more honest set of workingmen

In all this world around,

Who work with all their might and main,

Can surely not be found.

"Our country first," his motto is.

Home industry is just.

And whether in a distant isle,

Our Union keep we must.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co.

Schedule of Wages and Rules and Regulations.—Boilermakers.

RATES OF PAY.

Section 1. Commencing October 1, 1902, boilermakers heretofore receiving twenty-seven (27) cents per hour will be paid twenty-eight (28) cents per hour, and all other boilermakers will be paid twenty-six and onehalf (26½) cents per hour.

Section 2. Vacant.

OVERTIME.

Section 3. Time worked after regular hours shall be paid for at the rate of time and a half; the same for road time, Sundays, Christmas, New Years, Decoration Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, and Thanksgiving Day. Ten hours to constitute a day's work.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

Section 4. Boilermakers receiving the twenty-eight (28) cent rate shall be competent to perform any work, including laying out, flanging, chipping, caulking, diamond pointing, hand riveting, setting flues, testing stay-bolts, and all classes of new work and repairs upon locomotive boilers.

Helpers will not be advanced to the grade of boilermakers except when boilermakers cannot be obtained to fill vacancies.

Section 5. The boilermaker who has served the longest in any shop of the company, shall, if ability be equal, when there is a vacancy in a higher class of boilermakers, be advanced to the vacancy.

Section 6. Should it become necessary to reduce the force, men will be given preference according to their ability, merit, and length of service.

The company will not reduce the number of men when, in the opinion of its officers, it is practicable to accomplish the necessary economy by reducing the number of hours.

Section 7. The company will not employ any more boilermaker apprentices in a shop than can be given such work as will enable them to become efficient boilermakers in four (4) years.

Section 8. A Board of Inquiry, composed of the general foreman of the boiler shop and two other foremen, will investigate offenses, misconduct, or neglect of duty, and recommend the punishment to be meted out to those at fault.

A boilermaker will have the right to appeal from the board if he so desires, through the assistant master mechanic (in shops where the assistant master mechanic has charge) to the master mechanic.

If a boilermaker so desires he may select a boilermaker in the same shop to be present.

Section 9. In case there is a misunderstanding as to these Rules and Regulations, a boilermaker, if he desires to appeal the case from the decision of the master mechanic, can do so by reducing the same to writing and transmitting it through the assistant master mechanic (in shops where the assistant master mechanic has charge) to the master mechanic, who will transmit through the regular channel.

Section 10. The above Rules and Regulations do not apply to special apprentices who are admitted to the shops by reason of their technical knowledge and for special purposes.

The Referendum—Making Laws.

How much longer will the B. & M. I. U. lag behind the steady march of progress? Among the oldest and strongest of trade unions, it has taken but one progressive step in its career. The step was the publishing of an official journal. Until this single step was taken the membership at large had no means of communicating their ideas, no way of bringing to general attention matters of interest to them as members of a great organization. Each knew that in some relatively far-off city an annual convention was to be held, and that there the laws of the organization were to be made. Each knew also that the convention would do its best, but that it would not have any means of ascertaining the ideas generally held by a membership, the greater part of which could not be represented.

The publication of an official organ altered all this. The ideas of the brightest members were brought out where all could know them, and through this the general sentiment of the membership was made manifest. These ideas have been varied in character and value; the most of them have been, however, in harmony with the spirit of progress that moves those trade unions that have enjoyed the advantage of official journals for many years back.

Of all these intelligent ideas the one that most strongly appeals to us is the one of self-government. The desire for self-government has come most strongly from the ablest of our members. That annual gathering of a handful of men, known as the convention, no longer fills the bill. The Referendum is wanted, and we ourselves will add to this that it is needed. The Referendum is the only representative way of making laws. It is democratic. It is progressive. Indeed, it seems destined to become sooner or later the agency or the medium through which the people of the country will truly govern themselves. So far as it applies to trades unions it is not a theory. Its practicability has been amply demonstrated by the cigarmakers', the printers', the boot and shoe workers' and other progressive trade unions. We admit that it sometimes fails to secure the results it should. But it is safe to wager that in no case is the result chargeable to the Referendum itself, but rather to an occasional lack of interest upon the part of those concerned. No organization that has the Referendum would, notwithstanding the occasional lapses of interest alluded to, give it up and return to the ancient method of making laws and officers by convention. These organizations have succeeded so well with the Referendum that they find it necessary to hold conventions only at intervals of from two to five years. The leather workers, for example, hold conventions at intervals of five years, unless otherwise ordered by a Referendum vote. So we see that the Referendum means not only self-government, but a vast saving of money.

What sustainable objection can be made to the Referendum? What special fault has it? Why should not the general membership have a voice in the larger affairs of the organization? How much longer shall we allow a bare third of our unions—the average number that attends conventions—to make laws for the whole membership? What justification is offered for this? Can it be said that the few men, comparatively speaking, who get to a convention, represent our highest intelligence, and that they keep steadily fixed in their minds our largest ideals, to the exclusion of all else? Are they so free from the domination of Machiavellian influences, so pure that we cannot with reason ask for a government by the whole?

The idea of all government of the many by the few—the monarchical idea—is based upon the assumption that God made men kings and fools. A trade union is in theory the highest type of democracy? Then, why should it not be so in fact?

From those delegates who know nothing or next to nothing of the Referendum little is to be expected. But the case is different with those who know the Referendum or should know it. There is no satisfactory explanation for their attitude. The consideration that the question of self-government obtains at the hands of those last referred to is shown by the following instance: At the Pittsburg convention a resolution that had been unanimously indorsed by the Massachusetts state conference, calling upon the convention to adopt the Referendum, was reported adversely. There was not the least discussion on the floor of the convention upon the resolution, notwithstanding that it was the united expression of the thirty or more of our Massachusetts unions. The thing was buried, and the proceedings gave as its epitaph the single word—"Deferred." These opponents of the idea of the general membership's having a larger hand in the affairs of the organization, do so for reasons best known to themselves. Their "argument," that it is too unwieldy, is altogether too transparent—needs but a glance to be seen through. We are inclined to think that the opponents of the Referendum who offer no real argument, are fearful that the general membership might have too much power, and yet, strange to relate, they are inordinately fond of power themselves, and some of them, as we state in another column, go so far as to deny that the constitution shall limit that power. We have faith in the rank and file, greater faith than we have in any convention! We do not believe that if our members were allowed their full rights in the making of laws and in the making of those who should carry them out, that they would be unfaithful to themselves or unfaithful to the general organization.

The argument that much time would be lost will hold water no better than the other. Surely, our annual convention has "won no medals," to use a little slang, for expeditiousness. We have frequently seen a delegate occupy the floor for a considerable time, making a sorry exhibit of himself in a vain effort to convince the convention of the importance of his subject. And then again, we have seen another take almost half an hour to say something that could have been better said in minute or two. Right here those delegates to Pittsburg who thought that convention remarkable for dispatch and businesslike methods will take exception. They will declare that that convention got through a day earlier than usual. We do not deny this. But we claim that the day "saved" was a day lost, for many matters of great importance obtained no discussion, and were swept aside. During the closing days the main object in the minds of a considerable number was to get home, and that as soon as possible. Evidently their first week in town had been an expensive one, so to them a day lopped off was indeed a day saved.

An idea of the hurry that marked the closing days may be obtained from what is related here. The recommendation of the committee, that the resolution offered by the delegates of No. 1, Md., to have the B. & M. I. U. affiliate with the American Federation of labor be rejected, was concurred in by the mere fall of the gavel. Not a word was said pro or con. Surely, so important a question should have had some discussion, but, as said, there was too much hurry. To say that this was discourteous to the A. F. of L., which had gone to the expense and trouble of sending one of its chief officers and ablest men to address the convention on the question, would not be saying too much.

How any delegate who attended the Pittsburgh convention could conscientiously oppose the Referendum on the ground that it would be unwieldy, cumbersome and slow, is quite beyond our comprehension. That convention was in session eleven days, and cost approximately $25,000. The money that it cost could have been the means of establishing a defense fund, something that every progressive trade union has. Indeed, it would be well if we, like the cigarmakers and other unions, held conventions only at intervals of four or five years; the money thus saved would maintain a fine defense fund. The Referendum would be a great help in this saving of money.

What adequate return did the convention give to the organization?

The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse.

It gave but one important thing, and that not to its credit, we regret to say. It gave abundant proof that the quality of our delegates is deteriorating, that our conventions are becoming cut and dried affairs, and that ability, if tolerated at all, must be employed to advance some pet plan or measure.

The convention is too busy with the election of officers and the like to give proper attention to the need for progressive legislation. Hardly has it opened before it has resolved itself into two camps, the one for the administration and the other against it. Those who are active in either are careful, after the manner of the astute politician, to propose no measures that might cost votes. The evenings are largely given over to mending the fences of the candidate and the other candidate, when they are not spent in secret caucuses.

Is this legislation for the benefit of those at home or for the benefit of the organization? Is this advancing the cause of labor one step? Is it honest? Is it trade unionism? And yet it is held that the Referendum is too unwieldy, too cumbersome and altogether too slow!

We have said that the cigarmakers have found the Referendum very satisfactory. We will here give a few details of the plan as it works with them.

The cigarmakers have had the Referendum for over thirty years, and the Initiative almost as long. All of its laws and officers are made through these. The plan has succeeded so well that the organization is spared the expense of annual conventions; it holds conventions only at intervals of five years. The convention itself can make no laws, nor adopt amendments. Its work in this direction is confined to the proposing to the general membership for its ratification or rejection such laws and amendments as it may think necessary. Nor has the convention power to elect officers. This is done through the Initiative. Nominations are made, we may add, by the local unions. The names of the five candidates who receive the largest number of votes for nomination are then submitted to popular vote, and each member of the organization must vote or pay a fine. The term of office is five years, although the law provides a way for impeachment and removal.

Their plan differs from the one we have in mind in that having both means, laws may be proposed and officers nominated, and laws passed and officers elected; the first by the Initiative, the second by the Referendum. But we are not yet prepared for this perhaps complicated system. We cannot think of adopting the Initiative until we have developed—through experience with the Referendum—a capacity for it. So for this reason we shall at present concern ourselves simply with the Referendum. The cigarmakers' union, we may add, is justly considered as the most progressive of trade unions, and, as President Perkins says, the Referendum and Initiative have made it so.

If other organizations are able to make progress with so few conventions, why should not we? And since we have learned that a convention may, under given circumstances, resolve itself into a machine for rewarding some and disciplining others, should we not take steps to have the acts of a convention, the making of laws, and the selection of officers at least, submitted to the general members for ratification?

This would be the Referendum.

If the B. & M. I. U. is to hold its own with the rapidly changing conditions of the times it must lay aside its antiquated methods and take pattern from those similar organizations whose intelligence keeps them up-to-date. It must be understood that growth is not exclusively a matter of numbers. China is the most populous nation on the earth, but it has no real growth. When Napoleon declared "The Lord is on the side of the heaviest artillery," he did not mean that He was on the side of the biggest guns, but on the side of the biggest brains. It is intelligence that wins—the mastery of mind over matter.

Let intelligence fill our coming convention! And let it be real intelligence, not intelligence of the foxy kind, the low cunning that so loves the caucus and is so fond of a deal. Send your most intelligent men, your most honorable men, men who know something of trade unionism in the highest sense, men whom you would not be ashamed to have represent you at a White House conference; men whom you may honor with honor to yourself, honor to your organization, and honor to the cause of labor. If you will send men of this type—and you have them in plenty—the convention will have the ability and, what is more, the will, to consider your right to the making and unmaking of laws and the making and unmaking of those who fill your offices. The right is yours; you know that, and many times have you said so. Here is a great opportunity to secure that right. Remember, the convention is never better than the average delegate. And remember, too, a union is judged by those who represent it.

We have made this strong, and in doing so have doubtless made our journal still more unpopular with a certain element. We have no desire to hurt any man, and regard no man as our enemy except in so far as he is an enemy of intelligence and honest trade unionism. In striving for the right, a man should do so regardless of where the blame may fall—even though it may be on himself. As said elsewhere, a considerable number of those who were delegates to the Pittsburg convention will feel that our criticism of that gathering reflects upon them personally. No man ever told the truth without offending somebody. We will assure these brothers that we have taken no unfair advantage of them. They may reply to us in the January issue, or they can bring us to book at the convention, as they doubtless will—if they get there in any considerable numbers. If they must feel aggrieved at the simple performance of our duty, then we say, "The shoe to the foot that fits it."

But there were others at the convention, and if they were sincere—and we have no doubt that they were—in the criticisms they there made and have since made, they will indorse all that we have said.

The coming convention must be a superior convention! The organization cannot afford a duplicate of the last convention. The coming convention will have to do not only with the coming year, but to a large extent with the future of the organization. It is for you, the readers of the Journal—the most intelligent element—to say what the coming convention shall be, whether or not it shall be worthy of the dignity and the splendid reputation of your organization. While you cannot all, or any considerable number of you, be there, it rests with you to say who shall be there.

If you will make the convention worthy of you and worthy of its opportunities, it will recognize your right of self-government by giving you the Referendum. And it will make for itself in the annals of the B. & M. I. U. a name writ large.—The Bricklayer and Mason.

RESOLUTIONS.

Editor Seattle Times.—

Please insert the following resolutions that were carried unanimously at our regular lodge meeting held in Bremerton, Wash., Dec. 10, 1902:

Whereas, Our Grand Vice-President, Dominick Kane, was attacked in a most cowardly manner in your paper on Nov. 9, 1902, by some of the non-union workmen employed in Moran Bros.' shipyard of Seattle;

Whereas, Although we knew well that their attack on our brother was merely a personal one by his old enemies, the non-unionists, we gave them ample time to verify their statements, at the same time knowing they were trying to scandalize Dominick Kane. We intended to give them plenty of time before we should take any action whatsoever. Therefore be it

Resolved, That Port Orchard Lodge 290, Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America, meeting at Bremerton, Wash., do hereby indorse our Grand Vice-President in all of his actions, tending to the publication of the non-unionists in our Journal, and in all of his actions since and before his election as Grand Vice-President of this district. Be it further

Resolved, That we place our entire confidence in Brother Kane in the future the same as in the past, knowing well that our interest and the interest of our organization in general will be safe in his hands. It is further

Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the Journal of our organization and the Seattle Times.

Signed:

W. FOUNTAIN,
A. HANNAH,
A. WALKER,

Committee on Resolutions.

Lodge 104 of Seattle fully endorses the actions taken by Bremerton Lodge.

DUTY

We hope all our members have had a Merry Christmas and will spend a Happy New Year, and many of them.

Our duty to ourselves and fellow man requires many sacrifices, while the thought of doing good overcomes the pains of all effort, the very idea of helping to alleviate the sufferings of one brings with it a hundredfold more pleasure than it cost of all efforts to ourselves. It has been said by many philosophers that our duty to ourselves and fellows should be based upon the principle of leaving the world better because of being in it. As all men have one opportunity in a prominent way open to their capabilities, but very few embrace it, yet those who realize the time and work out their time in the best manner possible, equivalent to their abilities, generally succeed in a great degree in fulfilling their duty to humanity and accepting the opportunity that presents itself. All men are born equal, as far as nature's laws are concerned, but arriving at manhood's estate equality cannot be said to exist either physically, morally or mentally, but enough is known by the world at large to expect only in proportion to nature's gifts bestowed from each. It follows therefore that much is expected from those who have received natural gifts in abundance, and their duty to humanity is very much greater, as more is required of them because of the greater amount of gifts bestowed. No one in this world is exempted from duty; none can logically claim freedom from acting their part to society at large, as society is graded to such an extent that those who mix or mingle in a certain grade are expected to perform all duties required in that particular class, it being left to the followers of each grade to advance and uphold the desires of their respective social standing. This, by reason of environments, produces the best results, while all efforts are expected in each class to alleviate humanity as a whole, yet history records the very opposite to be true, because from birth, breeding and education of the several classes make their beliefs and social progress vary in proportion to their early ideals. So it is today, as can be verified in all walks of life, we see the different views held by the class of the rich as against the views of the poorer class, yet in youth or childhood days there was no question of inferiority or lack of intelligence. Equality was granted those days without question. So it is very clear that the intelligence of the one class has been developed much beyond the other by education, not by social standing or by having more brains. In this particular phase of the question it would seem to be the bounden duty of every man and woman to educate the children and place them on a level with all of the future rulers of the world and help to produce an equality among all classes. Education is the keystone of equality. Early training and environments hold tenaciously to the memory and it requires a strong will to overcome the first childhood impressions, whether good or evil. Those are the natural tendencies of man. Only by education will the vicious impressions be eradicated. If by education is made better men and women, it follows by the same reasoning that better mechanics are made. And, as a general rule, mechanics are not college bred, but, all will admit, should be. While it is true if the future mechanics, or, rather, those intended to be made mechanics, were educated at some of the higher colleges, it is very probable that there would not be enough mechanics found to produce the necessary work to keep the wheels of commerce moving, because other and more congenial employment would be sought after by the graduates of colleges, and, of course, more than a mechanic's wage, too. Yet it is found in everyday life that the college educated employers and the uneducated employers too, claim that mechanics are being well paid for their labor, which, measured by the standard of education, the endurance and skill required, it would seem their claims are not well founded. But coming back to our text. It behooves everyone, no matter what station of life he or she may be placed in, to perform all duties that are required of us. Duty well performed brings its own reward. Some perform their duty as if it were a task. While it is as necessary to work as it is to eat, those who fill their positions as a duty that they owe to society are generally successful in all walks of life. So it is that no matter where duty calls it is best to do it cheerfully and in the most complete manner possible. Then will a conscience be satisfied and a well spent life be the result, bringing peace, comfort and blessings to the faithful servant of humanity.

The town council of a thriving burg recently acquired a piano for their town hall, and appointed three of their number to inspect and report on the purchase. The councilors were not musical experts, but one—a joiner—bending down and applying his eye to the several corners of the instrument, remarked: "I'm nae judge o' music, but I'll warrant ye a' the boards are plumb."—London Tit-Bits.

Everything has its price, is the phrase coined by the unscrupulous trusts, who accept their own standard of morality and principles as a safe criterion to judge the balance of humanity by.

Honesty is the best policy, and is proven; for when the laborer in the industrial world is honest in his self-communion, he immediately embraces trades unionism as the means of self-elevation, morally and physically.

If you should ask your views of the best test of the trade-union spirit, we should put it this way: The best trade unionist is he who feels more strongly for the welfare of other trade-unionists in proportion as the latter's immediate interests are removed from his own, industrially or geographically.—Coast Seamen's Journal.

If the young men who are measuring tape and laces would surrender their work to the young girls who are seeking employment and turn their attention to the pursuits of agriculture, there would be less misery and more contentment in the land; there would be more independence and less servility; more men and fewer creatures; more happy wives with comfortable homes, healthful children and cheerful tempers.—Southern Farm Magazine.

The increase in the number and spirit of labor unions in the last year is one of the most remarkable social phenomena that the world has ever witnessed. The actors are as a rule unconscious of the vast and far reaching results that are to be the result of this combination, but it is the motive power, that is going to change the entire social fabric and usher in entirely new social conditions. There is a new phenomenon connected with this uprising of labor that has never appeared in any other era. Heretofore the labor unions took little interest in the disputes between the men and the masters unless it was their particular craft that was attacked. In this contest we see unions not related to the dispute taking an active interest and supporting the workers in it with as much earnestness as if their own members were attacked. This is called the "sympathetic strike" and it evidences both the rising solidarity of labor and the recognition of the class struggle. It is more than passing strange that in the midst of strikes, boycotts and trouble that labor increases its membership. Usually unions fall away during such times. In another two years labor will be completely organized; it will reach to the remotest villages; it will include the common and farm laborer and tenants; it will go into politics and elect its advocates to the highest places of power and it will teach inert capital that it is a thing for the public good and not for private exploitation. We live in the most remarkable age of the earth.—Champion, Topeka.

One hundred men work 800 hours at eight hours per day; likewise eighty men working ten hours per day perform 800 hours of labor. Therefore the eight-hour day would give employment to 100 men where 80 are now employed. The eight-hour workday would likewise decrease the competition in the labor market and thus increase the rate of wages.—Champion.

Indications point to the German laboring classes having a hard winter. Many companies report that the business situation shows no sign of improvement. The municipalities expect more calls on public charity than last winter, and the mayor of Frankfort-on-the-Main has announced a city appropriation of $1,000,000 for relief work of various kinds to assist the laborers.

The immense majority of workingmen must remain to the end workingmen, and that only, in spite of all the assertions that are made that "every man can become rich if he will only economize." They must have adequate wages for their labor, a well regulated home and proper representation in the government that they support. "God helps those who help themselves."—Ex.

Do not find fault with your officers and stay away from meetings on their account, for that will do you no good and hurt both you and the label. We can never gain anything in this way, and must work together in harmony and not let petty jealousy and individual malice clog the wheels of the great labor movement. You are only injuring yourself and others, and you are also money out of pocket and by so doing and checking the movement for perhaps years.

The Supreme Court at Buffalo, N. Y., recently decided a case which is of interest to organized labor in general. Some members of a bakery wagon drivers' union appropriated the organization's money, divided it among themselves and proceeded to break up the local union. Suit was instituted by the Bakers' International Union to recover the property of the union. The court decided that the members who had seen fit to appropriate the union's funds must return the money, and ruled that the by-laws and constitution of a union are a binding contract, the terms of which must be met by all members of the organization. It also held that seven members in good standing constituted a local union under the laws of the bakers, and that those who leave the union cannot claim any of its property.

A report from the census bureau just issued states that 28,000 children are employed in the cotton factories of the South at wages averaging less than $1.50 a week. The same report gives the net profits of these factories for 1900 at $63,000,000.

The song of the heavenly choir is no sweeter in tone than the words of an honest man who refuses to sacrifice his manhood for a mess of pottage, and accept a job as the price of the betrayal of his union principles.

The secretary of the American Federation of Labor reports that the increase in membership during the past four months has exceeded 200,000. It has 900 volunteer organizers throughout the country and thirty salaried organizers. Affiliated national unions have a total of 240 paid organizers in the field.

"When an editor makes a mistake in his paper all the world sees it and calls him a liar. When a private citizen makes a mistake nobody knows it except a few friends, and they come around and ask the editor to keep it out of the paper. When the private citizen dies, the editor is asked to write of all his good qualities and leave out the bad. When the editor dies the private citizen says: 'Now, that old liar will get his deserts.'"

The chief duty in life of a workingman is to maintain, and raise, if possible, his standard of living. In doing so, he makes for himself, his family and his fellow men a smoother path up the mountain of progress, for wherever the standard of living is high the standard of intelligence is correspondingly better. A high standard of intelligence means a high standard of morality, and a high standard of morality goes a long way toward bringing about the ideal civilization—the Brotherhood of Man.—Coast Seamen's Journal.

It is being shown by the statistics of the labor bureau of the government that 15,000,000 wage earners in America average only about $400 each per year and have two dependents to provide for out of that sum. That gives $11.11 per month to each beneficiary, and half of that only is available for food, a sum that allows but 6 cents per meal to each person. That is prosperity with a vengeance! Imagine the fullness of the dinner pail that has only 6 cents with which to purchase the filling, and beef at 30 cents a pound!

READ AND REFLECT.

Trades Unions throughout the entire country must have felt the revivifying influence of the kind encouragement and the sincere approbation so clearly and forcibly expressed in the address delivered by so able a student of the economic problem as President Roosevelt, before the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, at Chattanooga, Tenn., from which we take the liberty of presenting to our readers the following extract:

"Now at the opening of the twentieth century, we face conditions vastly changed from what they were in the country and throughout the world a century ago. Our complex industrial civilization, under which progress has been so rapid, under which the changes have come, and have been so great, has also inevitably seen the growth of certain tendencies that are not for good, at least not wholly for good, and we, in consequence, as I believe, like the rest of civilized mankind, find set before us for solution during the coming years problems which need the best thought of all of us, the most honest desire of all of us to solve them well if we expect to work out a solution for the advantage of the nation. Now, in facing these problems, it must be the effort of every well-wisher of the nation to see what has been done by organization.

"I believe, emphatically, in organized labor. I believe in the organization of the wage-earners. Organization is one of the laws of our social and economic development at this time, but I feel that we must always keep before our minds the fact that there is nothing secret in the name itself."

These words of the president require no interpretation, no explanation, other than read and reflect. His statement that there is nothing secret in the name of organized labor is true, being composed of honest men and women whose honesty is of such sterling quality that they need not fear to stand in the lime-light of publicity. The work of organized labor, as well as its name, needs no excuse, no secrecy, but is consistent with the object of its creation—the betterment of the toiling masses, who, without its aid, would be forced into slavery more degrading than any the world has seen.

THE RULE OF THREE.

Three things to govern—temper, tongue and conduct.

Three things to live—courage, gentleness and affection.

Three things to hate—cruelty, arrogance and affectation.

Three things to delight in—frankness, freedom and beauty.

Three things to avoid—idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.

Three things to fight for—honor, home and country.

Three things to admire—power, dignity and gracefulness.

Three things to think about—life, death and eternity.

PROFITS OF THE POOR MAGNATES.

In discussing the announced raise of freight rates on meats of 25 per cent. by the railway kings, the New York Volkszeitung, which is one of the very few daily newspapers that always champions the cause of the working people, points out that during the past year the receipts of the railways were $1,700,000,000, and the expenses only $1,106,000,000. While a goodly portion of the earnings were invested in creating new values, increasing salaries of those on the inside other than the actual workers, over and above all $29,000,000 more than last year was turned over to the coupon-clippers in dividends. This immense sum of $29,000,000 came out of the muscle and bones of the American workmen and farmers, and went, along with the usual annual dividends, toward building mansions and yachts and providing the plutocracy with all the luxuries that they could dream of. The railroad situation of this country sums itself up into one of the most gigantic steals that the world has ever known, and when the people once become aware of this fact they will marvel at their own patience.

BEEF TRUST COMING SOON.

A Chicago report has it that the beef trust will be launched the first of the year, and that J. P. Morgan and the Baring Brothers, London bankers, will finance the combine with a hundred million dollars of bonds to begin with. It is a well-known fact that during the past six months every effort has been made on the part of the agents of the "Big Six" to buy up independent competitors, as well as to secure control of stockyards and cattle ranges, and they have been quite successful. For that reason the bluster that comes from Washington to the effect that the administration will prevent the launching of the trust amounts to nothing. The trust is already here, whether it is incorporated as such or not. The Chicago plutocrats control the situation, and Roosevelt's gallery play is that much humbug. He can talk big, but the trust magnates rope in the shekels—and the dear people will be mighty glad if prices are not advanced so suddenly and rapidly that it will jar them. They like to have such things go slowly.—Cleveland Citizen.

MUST ABIDE BY UNION'S DECISIONS.

By a recent decision of the Supreme Court of New York, it is decreed that a member of a labor union must abide by the labor union's decisions, and if ordered by the union to go on strike, he must obey or forfeit his membership.

The case at bar was that in which C. M. Winalt sought to compel the Manhattan Ship Joiners' Association to reinstate him. Winalt came out when the union ordered a strike in the shipyard of J. N. Robbins, in Brooklyn, but returned to work a week later. For this he was expelled by the union. When the Robbins yard was again unionized, Winalt lost his job, as is usually the case in such instances. He brought suit to compel the union to reinstate him, claiming that he could not obtain employment until it did so. The court decided against him.

CHICAGO AS A TRADE UNION CENTER.

It is estimated that there are 800,000 working people in the city of Chicago, and the 525 different trades unions claim about 40 per cent. of that number as members. About 85 per cent. of the various crafts in this city are organized, and during the past two years, the most prosperous period Chicago has ever seen, the labor organizations have reached their greatest power and influence. The increase in the number of unions has been 200 per cent., and the membership 400 per cent. In no other city has labor been so thoroughly organized, and in none is there so much enthusiasm. During the past two years the retail clerks and other mercantile employes, the freight handlers, teamsters, rubber workers and street car men have formed new unions, and have shown great gains. The printing trades during the past year have succeeded in organizing every establishment in Chicago, including five shops, during the last three weeks, that have been non-union for sixteen years.—Chicago Record-Herald.

WHAT UNIONISM DOES.

The labor organization is the means, and at present the only means, through which the wage earner enforces his rights, and during the past twenty-five years this organization has done more to advance the interests of those who toil than all other means combined.

It has lessened the hours of toil, raised wages, secured the prohibition of child labor (in some instances), improved the condition of mines (in the soft coal district) and factories, and lent its influence to great social, economic and political reforms.—Bryan's Commoner.

The cry for the protection of children is not the cry of a section, but of humanity. Every new manufacturing community has to face this temptation to exploit child labor. England had the struggle years ago. The northern manufacturing states have been compelled to make increasingly strict laws to protect their children, and now the great development of the south makes the question an issue there, which should be settled right before vast numbers of children are ruined.

Grand President Official Communications and Decisions.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:

This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of the JOURNAL by Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

Since our last issue of the Journal I was called to New York to attend the meeting of the Civic Board, which met in that city December 8th, 1902. On the 3rd I left Kansas City, called in Buffalo, and attended the meeting of No. 7. The trouble in that city with the several railroads has been settled satisfactorily and all seemed much pleased with the outcome. Delinquents will find Buffalo a good place to keep away from. The members of No. 277 have trouble in the shipyard with the foreman, who is discriminating against our members. His object in doing so is to break up Lodge No. 277, simply because he cannot run the lodge. Being desirous of avoiding trouble, we made arrangements for an interview with President Smith. Along with Brother Fox we called on that gentleman, and placed the grievance before him. Very little encouragement was given, consequently it was necessary for me to notify all shipyard lodges to keep back from Buffalo. Prospects for a winter's work there are good and there is no doubt that if our members will keep back we will show that company we have rights as well as the employer that command respect, and if they don't desire to admit the same we will have to show them we have. So keep back from the Buffalo shipyard. On Sunday, the 7th of December, I met a committee of Erie boilermakers in Hornellville, where we formed an agreement to be presented to the officials of the Erie Railroad, requesting an increase of wages, regulating apprentices, and establishing shop rules. On the 7th I received a telegram calling me immediately to Omaha to take charge of the strike on the Union Pacific. Arrived in that city in due time and on investigation I found engines belonging to other roads doing the work on the Union Pacific. Being satisfied that a more aggressive system of conducting that strike was necessary, I decided to notify by wire the officials of the roads having engines working on the Union Pacific that unless same were taken off immediately I would call out the boilermakers on their systems at once. On same date I wired the lodges on the systems complained of to notify their respective master mechanics that unless the engines were ordered off the U. P. they would stop work. The result of that move was very satisfactory. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul ordered their engines off at once, but the Southern Pacific denied having engines working on the U. P., but knowing such was the case, I wired the president of the Southern Pacific that I had all evidence necessary to convince me that his engines were working on the U. P. and unless he ordered them off at once our members on his road would stop work. Seeing my statements were not idle threats, he requested me to call on President Burt and talk matters over with him regarding the U. P. trouble. Consequently I communicated with President Burt, giving him to understand that President Harriman had instructed me to call, but not being in the habit of meeting employers by myself, I asked President Burt to give me and a committee of two an interview, which was cheerfully given. Brother E. F. Kennedy, president of District 4, and Dave O'Donnell, president of the Helpers' Division, were the committee selected. Our interview was pleasant and agreeable. Arrangements are made for another meeting, when we may bring to a successful termination one of the greatest strikes in the history of this Brotherhood. The very existence of our organization in the Western country depends on this strike. The majority of our members don't realize what the heroes on the Union Pacific have to contend with. They are practically ostracised from other parts of the country. North Platte, Cheyenne, Laramie, Rawlins, Evanston and Green River are places where every commodity of life is shipped to. They are located on a rolling prairie where everything they consume is very expensive. House rent is exorbitant. You can readily see the purchasing value of a dollar in such places and how much our members can purchase for seven dollars a week. They are sacrificing themselves and those depending on them just to preserve the prestige of this Brotherhood. Such men are worthy of support. An authority identified with the Harriman interests in New York is quoted as saying that the opposition to President Burt was one of the primary causes of the walkout on the the Union Pacific. There is no truth in such statements, and the official that made such remark is trying to place the various crafts on strike in a ridiculous position. Organized labor has no desire to dictate to employers who they shall put in office, and the idea of mechanics dictating to a railroad corporation who they shall put in the office of president is ridiculous in the extreme. The only cause the boilermakers had for coming out was the refusal of the company to grant an increase of wages and establish shop rules that would regulate apprentices and define boilermakers' work. The machinists and blacksmiths have also made a request for an increase of wages. According to remarks made by Mr. Burt in our interview I am satisfied that if the true situation had been presented to him by his officials the strike would never have been called. Great credit is due the boys on the Southern Pacific for their prompt response to the call made on them for assistance.

So many of our lodges have called on me of late to visit their cities that I desire to give here an explanation as to my inability to comply with all calls. It must be understood that wherever there is a strike you will find the G. P. O., as we consider they have the first call. Lodges in making calls should state their grievance and not create unnecessary expenses. I am willing to go anywhere that will be of interest to the Brotherhood at large, but local grievances can be arranged without calling the Grand Lodge officers.

Our members on the Wabash have been successful in securing an increase of wages, regulation of apprentices and the establishing of shop rules defining boilermakers' work. Lodge No. 7 has settled satisfactorily their grievance with the New York Central. The boys on the Southern Pacific out in the wild and wooly West have also secured an increase of wages and establishment of shop rules defining their work and regulating the number of apprentices. The Santa Fe Railroad has increased the boilermakers' wages in several shops on their system. No doubt the fight we are putting up on the Union Pacific is having a healthy effect on the other railroad officials.

I desire to call your attention to the system of voting in some of our lodges. The constitution states that all members must be present to vote, but we are satisfied that that law is not lived up to. We are also satisfied that some of the lodges recorded have voted by committee and in some cases one man made out all voting blanks. If it was understood all lodges could vote that way there could be no objection taken, but the law as it now reads will be enforced and any lodge voting contrary to constitution will possibly have their vote annulled.

John McNeil

Grand President-Organizer.

Grand Secretary-Treasurer's Column.

I cannot praise a fugitive and cloistered virtue, unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and sees her adversary, but slinks out of the race, where that immortal garland is to be run for without dust and heat.—Milton.

We had an idea that all our lodges and members were well posted on the unfair production of cheap buttons and charms made by Baumgarten & Co., of Baltimore, by reason of our notice in Journal some five months ago, but having received communications lately desiring knowledge on the same, we hereby advise all lodges and members to beware of Baltimore buttons as spurious articles, unfair in every particular, the firm taking unwarranted liberties, and infringing on decency, not speaking of our notice to them to desist, and against our agreements with other houses. Notice is hereby given to all interested members that under constitutional enactments all supplies of whatever nature desired by lodges or members are furnished by the G. S. T. So it would be well and very advisable for all officers and members to refer all orders to the above officer. Let us repeat what occurred in Baltimore during last convention. Some delegates came there with those unfair buttons on; when told they were unfair, immediately went to Mr. Baumgarten's store and returned every button that the firm had made. So we hope this will be warning for the future to our members.

Another very distressing piece of business we are confronted with is the great number of packages and bundles received here without the first sign of information as to where they came from. We are at a loss and don't know where to address the acknowledgment to. As a reminder, kindly remember to place your name and address on all packages sent here, otherwise nothing will be done with same.

New due books and due stamps are now ready for 1903. Be careful and note the years you order stamp, books and cards for. Keep us from having to guess what you need.

Perhaps at this time it might be well to call the attention of all lodges to the fact that business is business, an obligation taken by a member of this brotherhood is just as binding as one taken in a court of justice or anywhere else. In this connection it is just that we say what we think on this balloting that is going on, and which has been extended by the council to 1-18-03. We most emphatically state that in our experienced but humble judgment, declare it to be our opinion that we have received votes that seems to us to be impossible to have been cast in accordance with our laws, as the face of them indicates that one man voted the entire lot. We have the utmost regard for the man that hold a different opinion with us. We admire him when he can offer common every-day reasons for the difference, but the man who uses subterfuges and duplicity for the purpose of deceiving the unwary, we abhor, and should be shunned by all honest men. We must endeavor to convince by arguments. Advice in a disguised form is hypocrisy, but the honorable man never stoops so low as to try to blind others by abusive and misleading statements. The constitution as it is should be the rule and guide of all true members. Under it we should endeavor to do our duty, not what we think should be done. While we are conscious that our law is not perfect, but we know in common with all members that we are progressing, and must thereby be ready to hold on to that which has been found to be good in our laws. It won't do to add progressive laws one minute and abrogate them the next, but we must perfect them instead. In all our 25,000 members we have possibly 50 or 100, but really twelve are all could be called dissatisfied or chronic kickers, who at all hours ventilates their opinions freely to the detriment of discipline and good government, which in well disciplined organizations would suffer expulsion for their slander and insubordination to their fellows and general movement, but because of the great liberty given them, they believe they have a perpetual license to vilify and slander who they please. Well, as we in our crude way edited and published the Journal from its first issue, and having wrote its salutatory twice (the second time at consolidation), we freely confess to know nothing of license given to any one in either of those first write ups, but on the contrary invited discussions on economics and social order—none inviting slander or vituperation. We can exchange views without becoming offensive or abusive. Otherwise, far better to let others do our writing, because prosperity won't always be with us, and hardships and privations may make us bed fellows. Now for something absolutely necessary to be attended to immediately by all lodges. The eight-hour bill, H. R. 3076, has passed the house of representatives. The senate committee on education and labor will very likely report the bill favorably to the senate, but let us be up and doing, lest we come too late. Now every lodge should show their appreciation of labor's efforts by sending resolutions to each senator and representative of theirs, requesting them to support this measure, as this bill has passed the house twice, but each time failed in the senate. So it behooves all lovers of more recreation and short hours to lose no time in writing their representatives. This is business and good work to indulge in. Go ahead and success will attend your combined efforts. Recollect, Washington or Kansas City, eight hours are not ten, but will power will accomplish eight hours in either city, when organized labor is a unit. Don't holler, but work.

While pondering over events we might as well remark, that as the Executive Council has extended the time of balloting until January 18th, 1903 upon the request of a few lodges that required more time in which to do their voting, being that the law is so ambiguous it is better to err on side of justice than otherwise, but we declare as our fixed opinion, that if we were president of any local thirty days would suffice for all necessities in balloting and believe the law should be changed, making a fixed day on which to vote throughout the whole Brotherhood and that day thirty days from date of mailing ballots or other questions as the brothers who know what discipline is will make a way to vote on time. Quite a number of lodges voted on time possibly one hundred and fifty. Some very large lodges have voted a good majority of their members but the greatest number have voted a minority and small at that. A law like the Cigar Makers or Typographical Union, placing a fine on every member that don't vote would perhaps show the indifferent brothers the importance of minding your own business. Of course conditions warrant an excuse. But above all things, between those that differ, good fellowship should exist, even while debating any or all questions submitted, as by the interchange of views wisdom is gained which benefits all alike. Give to each the right that in honor belongs. This will appeal to all lovers of fair play as no matter how the wind blows ballots are the only thing that counts, and all ballots cast are recorded as received and then published in the same manner. The result or total of all ballots on every question submitted having the majority carries that question without the peradventure of a doubt and will be acquiesced in by the rank and file and carried out by the officers, as the majority has spoken, because the good members who were not prevented by sickness or other just causes, voted honestly, their votes should be counted, and not be subject to the indifferent members who could have voted if they wanted; at the same time no insinuations should be thrown on any one because of not voting as under our laws they are permitted to absent themselves whenever they choose. It is better to educate them than to censure them for indifference. The voting is going on lively with such diversity of thoughts expressed as would indicate that each member of a family had different ideas so it is utterly impossible to tell how any question will go until all votes are in and counted, but the ballots will tell then and no matter what way it will be our duty and pleasure to uphold the judgment of the majority.

ATTENTION.

OELWEIN, Ia., Dec. 14.—We wish to call your attention to a brother boilermaker, by name, Perry Smith, reg No. 27408. Any brother that comes in contact with him, please let him know that board bills have to be paid, in order to help good, honest men along. I wish to say the sooner we stop this kind of work the easier it will be to get a boarding house. This brother, Perry Smith, came here October 1902, and was initiated in Lodge 212 and quit here December 8 leaving a board bill of about $35. When this man shows his card to any brother, just tell him where he did wrong. 212 would like to hear from Barnard Malley for back dues. I remain,

Yours fraternally,

R. R. BARTELT, C. S. 212.

Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America: We wish to call the brothers' attention to one Geo. J. McKie, a tall, slim, dark man about 35 years old, whom we recently had among us here, he having been given work with the understanding that he would take out a card as soon as financially able.

When reminded to fulfill his promise, this man repulsed the committee in a very vulgar manner and denounced the organization, saying among other things that he did not see wherein he would derive any benefit from joining our organization. Now, therefore, let us give him a chance to sustain himself without the assistance of our noble organization, and let each and every brother watch out for this man and keep him on the move.

Although we are members of different locals, we have convened a meeting and appointed a special committee to wait upon this man and take action upon his conduct.

Resolved, That we place a fine of $10 to be held against him, should he apply for membership, also that he be made to openly apologize in the Journal for the very vulgar manner in which he repulsed us.

When last heard from this man was in the neighborhood of Beaumont, Texas.

Yours fraternally,

FRANK F. SHERMAN, Lodge No. 7, (chairman).

Card of Thanks.

North Platte, Dec. 19, 1902.

I see by last Journal that the piece we wrote did not get in, so would like for you to give some space for the following:

Lodge No. 118, B. M., and Lodge No. 20,

H. D., wish to thank Dan Mahoney, the union helper of Frisco, now working in Richmond, Cal., for the five ball tickets he sold for us.

In regard to strike, we are still on the fire line and as solid as a rock, as God hates a coward.

Yours fraternally,

B. Z. MILLIKAN.

The members of Lodge 79 B. of B. M. and I. S. of A. wish to thank the public at large for their generous patronage extended them in the event of their ball given on Thanksgiving Eve, November 26, at City Opera House, Garrett, Ind., which has been a grand success, and a vote of thanks is extended to the committee of arrangement for their hospitality in entertainment and in management.

C. M. HELFERSTEY,

W. J. FEARY,

L. W. EBERLIE,

Committee on Arrangement.

W. J. FEARY,

Journal Reporter.

GUFFEY, Tex., Dec. 12.—I thank you very kindly for the registered numbers which I distributed among the deserving brothers. I also thank you for the Journals which I duly received and placed at the disposal of the brothers here. We would be very pleased to receive the Journal from you regularly, until we notify you to the contrary, as we are somewhat isolated here and have been unable to secure copies of same.

Again thanking you for your kindness and advice rendered us in our need, I beg leave to remain,

Yours fraternally,

BRO. FRANK F. SHERMAN, No. 7.

Care Imperial Cordova Hotel, Beaumont, Texas.

RESOLUTIONS.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 1st, 1902.

To Organized Labor and its

Friends, Greeting:

We desire once more to call your attention to the unfair firm, Henderson Sugar Refining Co., which has been on the unfair list of the Coopers' International Union for one year, and as yet no impression has been made on their sales.

This firm does not want any Northern Labor Agitators interfere with their business, but they do want organized labor and their friends to buy their sugar without any discrimination whatever. They absolutely refuse to meet and treat with a committee of any description, and are so bigoted against organized labor that their position is intolerable and the only remedy known is for organized labor and its friends to refuse to buy their sugar branded Henderson Sugar Refining Co., of N. O., La., on the heads of the barrels.

Trusting your organization will take immediate action, we remain,

Yours fraternally,

Local No. 123 of the Coopers' Int. Union,
FRANK HERLEHY, President,
227 Exchange Place.

ALEX MOLLAY, Secretary,
1502 Marigny St.

NOTE.—Request wholesale and retail grocers, candy makers, etc., to send protest addressed to Adam Gamble, superintendent Henderson Sugar Refining Co., New Orleans, La., of their unfair attitude toward organized labor.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 17.—Resolved that it is the sense of the members of Locals Nos. 38 and 28 of the Helpers' Division of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders who are here in joint session assembled that we heartily endorse the action of Mrs. E. F. Kennedy who so willingly assisted them in the carrying on of the unequal struggle in which they are now engaged against the Union Pacific Railway Co.

The said company is at present employing all of its enormous resources and violating the laws wherever necessary, with the sole object in view of not only crushing, but wholly obliterating the last vestige of trades unionism along its entire system, Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members here assembled in joint session, extend to Mrs. E. F. Kennedy our sincere thanks and our humble prayers that the Ruler of Fate may ever guide her in the path of peace and prosperity, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of the above resolutions be sent to our Journal for publication, also that the secretary be instructed to forward a copy to Mrs. E. F. Kennedy.

ROBT. LOWRY,
M. J. DOUGLAS,
Committee.

Information Wanted.

WANTED—To know the whereabouts of Brother Wm. H. Hass. Please write to your friend, F. Lehman, N. Main street, Napa, Cal. Do not delay. F. Lehman, Organizer.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Bro. Jno. Hassett, Reg. No. 10198, will confer a favor by corresponding with, yours fraternally, F. J. Rahn, 37 Chestnut street, Oil City, Pa. Lodge 156.

Information wanted of Thomas Moran, formerly president of Lodge 245, Concord, New Hampshire. Boiler maker, age between 45 and 50, height about 5 ft. 5 ins., light complexion and light mustache. Any information concerning the above named will be thankfully received by his son, Edward Moran, care of Lodge 61, New Haven, Conn.—M. J. Burke, corresponding secretary.

WANTED—Information concerning the whereabouts of Thomas J. Doyle, a boiler-maker. When last heard from, April, 1902, he was working in Centralia, Ill. Address, P. J. Doyle, 904 W. Monroe street, Bloomington, Ill.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 7th, 1902.

Cleburne, Tex., Dec. 7, 1902.

Lodge 217 would like the address of Bros. C. D. Tew, Reg. 17090, and J. C. White, 17418. I see by November Journal that No. 66 reports these brothers "admitted by card" but they are still on the roll of No. 217 as their cards have never been returned. We have a worthy ex-member of No. 217 SCABBING at North Platte, Nebr. We will attend to his case at our next meeting. His name is Trail G. Raub, Reg. No. 17091. I have received his photograph from Bro. Theo. Tutenhoff of No. 46, so am sure I am right. Picture was taken in front of a "thirst emporium at North Platte. Please insert above notice of address wanted, in Journal, and oblige, Yours fraternally,

THOS. M. KELLY, C. and F. S.

Waiting for Him.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Dec. 6.—Please allow this to be placed in the Journal. Our boys here today at Trinidad received word that a scab of the Union Pacific was coming down here to go to work. We are waiting for him patiently. We have a nice committee to meet him and escort him around the town. His vehicle will be a three-cornered fence rail drawn by several good union men, and the bouquets that will be thrown at him will be artificial—made of good hard rock. The procession will start from the depot and take in all the principal streets of the town, and where it will wind up at I don't know. Will let you know the rest later.

But I think when we get through with him he won't have to scab on the boilermakers any more, for I am certain he will be able to secure a position as a rough rider in Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show. I remain,

Yours fraternally,

W. J. DOERFLER.

SUSPENDED.

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 15, 1902.

Ed Thompson, Reg. No. 5920, until he squares up with Lodge No. 143 and back board with Mrs. Day of Knoxville, Tenn., and Mrs. John Reiley of 109 North 9th St., Richmond, Va.

IN THE FIELD OF LABOR.

Teamsters in Boone, Ia., won increase of 25 cents after two days' strike.

Machinists and blacksmiths in Oelwein, Ia., secured 15 per cent. raise.

American pneumatic tool trust has invaded Scotland and is erecting mills.

Firemen, trainmen and conductors west of Chicago demand higher wages.

Copper miners in Ducktown, Tenn., secured a raise in wages of 10 per cent.

Orange, N. J., city council decided that all city work must be done by union labor.

Factories in Hamilton, Ont., have all agreed to close down on Saturday afternoon.

Brewery workers in Salina, Kas., were given the shorter work-day without strike.

Barbers in Mt. Vernon, Ind., have established the early closing day, and cut out Sunday work.

All printing ordered by the city of Reading, Pa., must bear the union label, from Jan. 1, 1903.

Bakers in Minneapolis, Minn., have succeeded in doing away with night work altogether.

Plasterers and masons at Houghton, Mich., work nine hours and get 25 cents an hour.

Corset workers in Aurora, Ill., gained the nine-hour day and ten per cent. increase. Now over 600 in union.

City Council of Murphysboro, Ill., has established the eight-hour day for all city work at 25 cents an hour.

Building Trades in Smith Falls, Ont., have secured the nine-hour day and other trades are adopting it.

Planing mill men in Central City, Ky., who went on strike for the recognition of their union, have gone back to work recognized.

Coremakers and helpers in East St. Louis gained 12 per cent. raise, and full recognition of their union.

Elkhart, Ind., city council has by ordinance established a rate of 20 cents an hour for all laborers.

Three large brick firms in Williamsport, Pa., have adopted the union label, and it will appear on every brick made by them.

Foundry employes in Troy, N. Y., were given the nine-hour day and 25 cents a day more without resort to strike.

New Orleans city council has passed an ordinance making ten hours the limit on street railways for any employe.

Painters in New Bedford, Mass., gained the eight-hour day and get 32 cents an hour. Every one in the union.

Fourteen Philadelphia firms employing metal polishers, buffers and brass workers, have reduced the working hours from ten to nine, at the same wages as before.

Carpenters in Cohoes, N. Y., have succeeded in reducing hours of work from ten to nine and one-half. Next year will be nine-hour day from July on.

August Klenke, A. F. of L. organizer at Erie, Pa., succeeded in getting two large machine shops there to grant the nine-hour day to employes.

Trackmen on the San Francisco railway won their demands for an advance in wages of 25 cents on the day, and Sundays off twice a month.

Since organizing in Rutland, Vt., all labor has been advanced in wages, and in some cases cut from ten to nine without reducing scale.

Weavers of Philadelphia have made a demand for a fifty-five hour working week, and unless concession is granted trouble will follow.

Mother Jones declares that large numbers of foreign laborers are being imported by the coal barons to work in the mines.

Striking tanners of Benicia, Cal., have been injunctioned. The order is so sweeping that they hardly dare breathe.

Unions at Rockport, Ind., have started a union paper to advocate their side, because local papers became abusive.

A Shamokin, Pa., dispatch says there are still 14,000 unemployed miners in the four counties of the ninth district.

The employment of girls to run elevators is becoming popular in Boston, Mass., according to press reports.

Philadelphia building contractors have combined to smash sympathy strikes. Easier said than done.

Woodworkers issued eight charters in October. The eight-hour day was gained in Fresno, Cal.

Street railway employes at El Paso, Tex., won strike for higher wages and shorter hours.

Glovemakers will meet in Chicago soon for the purpose of forming a national union.

No less than 665,000 British miners have suffered a wage reduction this year.

The amalgamated painters, who oppose the brotherhood in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, claim 10,000 members. They are likely to have a rocky road to travel in the near future.

Youngstown, O., is flooded with counterfeit cigar label goods, and unions are going after the dealers who handle the unfair articles.

Bakers in Hamilton, Ont., succeeded in securing shorter day of ten hours without striking or reduction of scale.

Motormen and conductors in Schenectady, N. Y., demanded 25 cents per hour, and compromised on 22½ cents.

Morgan is behind the $20,000,000 malleable iron trust that was formed this week. The new combine will work in harmony with the United States Steel Corporation. Morgan's power grows steadily.

Union Label Committee at Ithaca, N. Y., is increasing sale of union goods 50 per cent.

City laborers in Taunton, Mass., were granted nine-hour day and 20 cents per hour.

Stage employes in St. Paul got an advance of 25 to 50 cents a day.

"Golden Rule" Jones, of Toledo, is going to establish a co-operative colony near the foregoing city. It has been his dream for years, but whether it will be successful is another question.

Leather workers in Springfield, Mo., were notified of a cut and all quit. Next day the bosses told them they took it back and they returned to work.

There is a plan on foot in Milwaukee to erect a labor temple and to the Machinists' Union goes the credit for the move.

Brewery workers in Pottsville, Pa., had half an hour dropped from each day without strike, and no reduction in wages.

Unskilled labor in Coshocton, O., gets $1.75 per day where organized; where unorganized, $1.25 is the rate.

Federal laborers in Salem, Ore., secured $1.75 per day, an advance of 25 cents over previous scale.

Street railway employes in Altoona, Pa., had no trouble in securing a demand for more wages.

None but union labor will hereafter be employed on or in public buildings in Oklahoma City, Okla.

All organized labor in Drakesboro, Ky., work eight hours; unorganized labor plugs for ten hours and less wages.

Mattressmakers in Hamilton, O., gained a 33 per cent. increase since organizing, and all are employed.

Molders and laborers in Cohoes, N. Y., were given a raise of 50 cents to $1 on the days' wages.

The three telegraphers' organizations have been holding a convention in Pittsburg for the purpose of arranging a federation or amalgamation.

City council of Altoona, Pa., has ordered all city printing to have the union label on hereafter.

The two big national labor bodies in Italy met at Milan and formed a federation. Nearly half a million workers were represented and principles of socialism were endorsed.

Bakers at Winnipeg, Manitoba, have started in business on the co-operative plan. This step is the outcome of a refusal of the employing bakers to pay fair wages.

A French genius has invented a shorthand typewriter that will be an immense time-saver. It is called the Stenodactyl. Fully 150 words a minute can be written on it.

President Mitchell, of the miners, is writing a book under the title of "Capital and Labor." He refused an offer to deliver eight lectures for $1,600.

Cigarmakers in Orange, N. J., gained an increase of 50 cents to $1 per thousand.

Brick and stone masons in Owosso, Mich., went after nine-hour day and increase of pay, and landed both.

Coopers' International Union announces that their grievances against the A. Guckenheimer Distillery Co., of Freeport, Pa., have been settled amicably, as the firm will hereafter pack all their goods in union label barrels and packages.

The coal dealers of Lansing, Michigan, have formed a combination and adopted the following iron clad rules to govern the exploiters in the transaction of business: (1) Maintain a uniform rate for the price of coal. (2) Refuse to sell any coal on credit. (3) Refuse to sell for cash to any person who in previous years has failed to pay bills in full to any member of the combine. Denying a man the right to purchase coal because he may be in debt, coupled with chills during the winter, will hasten the construction of the co-operative commonwealth.

C. C. Houston, who represents Fulton county in the Georgia legislature, created a sensation in the lower house of that body a few days ago by charging the speaker with packing the committee on labor and statistics, to which Mr. Houston's bill on child labor had been referred. It appears that the committee was composed almost entirely of men known to be antagonistic to labor, and that the speaker made up the committee in that way for the purpose of having it kill or hold up Mr. Houston's bill.

A report from Havana, Cuba, says the strikers are obtaining some of their demands. Class lines were firmly drawn, however. Secretary Tamayo, who openly sympathized with the workers, has been forced out of the cabinet. The American and Spanish capitalists declare that his position during the struggle greatly encouraged the "disloyal" workmen to stand pat on their "unreasonable" demands. How carefully the employers guard their interests, and the American and Spanish bosses are one in the desire to crush the unions.

~~~~~ DON'T.

Don't wait until to-morrow; to-morrow never comes.

Don't wait for some one else to start; start it yourself.

Don't hearken to the indifferent; wake them up.

Don't think it impossible; ten million organized workers prove different.

Don't weaken; persistence wins.

~~~~~ WHY TRADE UNIONS AGITATE FOR AN EIGHT-HOUR WORKDAY.

A Few Facts That are Indisputable.

Because of the present long hour day many are unemployed, and the man on the street fixes the wages paid to the man at work.

Labor saving machinery has increased the producing capacity of workmen, who in justice should be afforded leisure.

It would give greater opportunity for social and educational development.

It would raise the standard of living, upon which prosperity depends.

It would help the taxpayer by putting the tramp to work.

It would promote an independent spirit, which is lacking in overworked people.

It would build up trades unions, and concentrated effort is the law of success in the militant world of industry.

It would open up the road to every desirable social reform.

It would give men a chance to get acquainted with their families.

It would promote temperance by removing the desire for stimulants, which comes from long hours of labor.

It would make better citizens by giving the citizens more time to understand his duties.

TRADE UNIONS.

Shorten hours and lengthen life.

Raise wages and lower usury.

Increase independence and decrease dependence.

Develop manhood and balk tyranny.

Establish fraternity and discourage selfishness.

Reduce prejudice and induce liberality.

Enlarge society and eliminate classes.

Create rights and abolish wrongs.

Lighten toil and brighten men.

Cheer the home and fireside and

THE OLD FIREPLACE.

Sullen the shadows lie unvetted by flashes
Of leaping light that battled them, and dead

Are the embers now—dead, and e'en their ashes

To the four hungry winds were long since fed.

Is this the ancient hearth, the sacred altar
Of home so hallowed in the days of old?

Ah, well may memory faint and fancy falter
And lips press dumbly to the stones so cold!

Here is the groove, worn by the constant rocking

Of mother's chair in days of long ago,
And there the peg where hung the Christmas stocking,

Knit by her tireless hand from heel to toe.
Closed is the fireplace now, and all its olden Beloved votaries departed; sealed

The glowing gateway, through which vistas golden

To widening eyes of childhood were revealed.

Sealed is the magic portal, through which streaming,

Youth viewed the glory of a coming dawn,
The while the falling eyes of age saw gleaming

The lingering glory of a sunset gone.
Ah, wondrous gateway! rare, celestial portal!

Through which, at length, eyes dim with grief beheld

The wife and mother, sainted and immortal,
With every doubt and mystery dispelled.

Still on the hearth, before the empty altar
Of home, so hallowed in the days of old,
Hope wakes again, and faith, that cannot falter,

Kneels prayerfully to kiss the stones so cold.

MEMORIAM.

HAWES.

Boston, Dec. 26, 1902.

Lodge No. 9 mourns the death of Patrick Hawes, one of our oldest and most esteemed members.

Dark as the night which now in dimmest robe
Ascends her zenith o'er the silent globe;

Sad melancholy wakes, awhile to tread,
With solemn step, the mansions of the dead;

Led by her hand, o'er this yet recent shrine
I sorrowing bend, and here essay to twine
The tributary wreath of fraternal bloom

With artless hands to deck a brother's tomb.

Whereas, It has been the will of God to take from our midst one of our most devoted and respected brothers, Patrick Hawes, registered number 2245, known to his lodge associates for his warm devotion and his loyal heart, therefore be it

Resolved, That since such sad events cannot be forgotten by the bereaved ones with whom he spent his lifelong days, and since such events must also of necessity bring forth feelings of sympathy and give consolation, be it further

Resolved, That we, his brother associates of Lodge No. 9, extend our deepest and heartfelt sympathy to his bereaved and stricken family, and be it also further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be printed in the minutes of the lodge and a copy of them be sent to the family as well as to the official journal for publication.

LYNUS.

At our last regular meeting of Emporia Lodge No. 197, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the almighty God to take from us our esteemed brother Chas. Lynus.

Resolved, That we, the Bros. of Lodge No. 197, do extend to his wife and family our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in their hour of sorrow and affliction, and also be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our journal for publication.

D. CROWLEY,
 E. DOOLY,
 W. COON,

CORMICKS.

At a regular meeting held by Marquette Lodge No. 51, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God to take from our midst our beloved brother,

Walter Cormicks;

Resolved, That we, his brothers in Lodge No. 51, extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy in this hour of sorrow, and be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread through our minutes, and a copy also sent to our Journal for publication.

Let us be patient, these severe afflictions

Not from the ground arise,
 But oftentimes celestial benedictions

Assume the dark disguise.

We see but dimly through the midsts and vapors,

Amid these earthly damps

What seem to us but sad funeral tapers
 May be heaven distant lamps.

Yours fraternally,

LOUIS LE FRANCOIS,
 ANTHONY GOGEL,
 WILLIAM FLOOD,

Committee.

McDANIEL.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this meeting, also a copy sent to the Journal for publication and a copy sent to the family of our late brother.

It is the secret sympathy,
The silver link, the silken tie,
Which heart to heart and mind to mind,
In body and in soul can bind
He that is gone and we, left behind.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our Journal for publication and spread on the minutes of the meeting.

CHAS. JONES,
LEE BAUER,
ROSS PARMLEY,
Detroit, Dec. 2nd, 1902.

McGARRY.

Whereas, The Almighty God has seen fit to call from amongst us one of our oldest and most respected members, Bro. Daniel McGarry, who through his long sojourn amongst us has shown an example, which it would be fit for us to follow. He has always been an industrious, God fearing man, a faithful husband, a loving father and a true Union man. Therefore be it

Resolved, That Lodge 1 of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders extend their most sincere sympathy to his family in this the hour of their great affliction; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to his family, also a copy inserted in the minutes of our last regular meeting and a copy published in the Journal.

THE EMPTY NEST.

There was a time in years gone by,
Wee ones played at my feet, while I,
Held one upon my knee;
The house was filled all day with noise,
The floor was scattered o'er with toys,
My head ached wearily.
There came a time my house was still,
No mud-stained footprints on the sill,
My longed-for time of rest,
My boys had climbed youth's topmost
stair,
My girl a maiden tall and fair,
Another's home now blest.
A last year's nest hangs on the bough,
'Twas filled with singing birds, but now
It empty is and bare.
The buds and bees have come, but still Those birds come not again, to fill
With song the silent air.
I gaze upon that empty nest,
I know God's ways are always best,
But I am sad and lone;
I long so for life's vanished joys,
My wee girl and my bonny boys,
My nestlings that have flown.

Education is a grand, good thing. The educated man ought to succeed better and get more enjoyment out of life than the uneducated man, and he would if he applied his education rightly; but a wide range of observation convinces us that it is about as dangerous to give a boy a modern education as it is to let him grow up with the limited knowledge gained in a public school. More young men are unfitted for the honorable, useful occupations of life by what is termed higher education than go forth to succeed. The trouble is, the young man with very small natural endowments, when he completes his college education, imagines that he is a superior being to the man of ordinary affairs, and that he should be classed above him, and he forthwith chooses some profession by which he may rise to eminence by wearing good clothes and not soiling his hands by common labor. A large per cent. of college graduates are failures because they are classed too high. Give your boy a good, practical education and turn him out in the world. If there is anything in him it will develop of itself, and if he is gifted by nature to become a great man or a rogue he will seek and find his class. The only college graduates who succeed are the young men whose natural inclinations lead them to study, and make the necessary self-denial to obtain an education, and they are not strangers to labor; neither do they despise the common things of life.

A PROFESSOR ON UNIONS.

Tulane University's Economic Leader Lauds Them.

During the convention of the American Federation of Labor Professor Morton A. Aldrich, of Tulane University's chair of economics, embraced the opportunity of saying to the citizens of New Orleans, through a lecture to his students and the local press, some things about the trade unions which were in marked contrast to the recent expressions of Dr. Elliot, of Harvard.

Portions of Professor Aldrich's address follow:

Today trade unions are the most powerful social forces to be considered in the mass of questions which we call problems of capital and labor. This view of trade unions as an existing social force seems to me to suggest at once the inevitable, natural, logical way of superseding strikes. The best method of settling strikes must prevent them before they begin. Arbitration does not do this. It is voluntary rather than compulsory arbitration to which I refer, for compulsory arbitration, even if it were wise, seems, for the present, to be politically impossible. The idea of arbitration always commands a certain vague enthusiasm, especially for about three weeks after a strike which has particularly discommoded the public. No sane man opposes arbitration as a means of settling a strike, when means of preventing it have failed, but the method of arbitration is unnatural because by it labor disputes are settled by outsiders instead of by the workmen and employers concerned.

Conference Superseding Strikes.

"Isn't it the logical, natural method of fixing the terms of any contract," said Professor Aldrich, "that the two parties to the contract get together and talk it over?

and this holds as true of the labor contract as of any other. This method of conference and negotiation will not at once do away with strikes; but it does tend to make them more infrequent, and to refuse it is to court strikes by engendering ignorant misunderstanding and suspicion, which are the sole causes of a considerable number of strikes. I know that there are employers who refuse to meet committees of labor organizations in conference, and there are cases where they are justified in so refusing; but, as a rule, employers who refuse to confer with trade union committees are simply kickers against an accomplished fact. Many employers and large employers in England and America have found that these conferences for direct negotiation are a proved success.

Trade Unions as Schools.

"Trade unions may educate their members as individual men and women, as individual citizens and as members of the industrial order. Workmen go to school in their trade unions," continued the Professor.

"It is easy to conceive less imperfect schools; but this is the school they go to. Self-interest insures their earnest attention; the trade union is their professional school; and its term is lifelong. Is it any wonder that when the labor movement has such a school system it is a powerful social force? The educational influence of trade unions has not received the attention which its importance merits.

"The trade union has lessons for workmen as political citizens. Workmen first combine in local trade unions. These local unions combine with other local unions in the same trade throughout the country to form a national union; and these national unions of clerks or spinners or miners again combine in the American Federation of Labor. The analogy between these various forms of trade union governments and American national, State and local governments is so close that workmen, in fixing the respective powers of local, national and federated unions, must gain interest into the constitutional relations of American political units.

"If you only take with you one thought from this lecture, it should be this: That on the whole the records of trade union action show development upward. There are unions which have degenerated, but, like the once powerful Knights of Labor, they have found that there is a survival of the fittest in the trade union world.

From "Wild Oats" to Stability.

"Most trade unions that have been long enough established to have a record have had a wild oats stage in their development of impetuous inexperience and ignorance and instability and youthful excesses; but have shown a tendency to pass out of this stage in the direction of the saner, more conservative methods of maturity. Today the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is very usually held up as an example of what trade unions should be; employers praise it, but the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers passed through the wild oats stage when, in a strike, their engineers stalled and left their trains midway between towns. As we should expect, education of experience is teaching trade unions the great gulf fixed between ignorant and intelligent self-interest. Intelligent self-interest alone is sufficient to teach elimination of many follies and excesses. Perhaps the most noticeable mark of growing wisdom of trade unions lies in the character of the men whom they choose to lead them.

Present Leaders Able Men.

"There are all varieties of trade union leaders as there are of politicians, but the able, responsible sort are many times as numerous as they were twenty years ago. The older English trade union movement probably has more able leaders than the American movement; but there are numbers of American leaders in no wise inferior to the best English type. No one would suspect President Elliot, of undue sympathy for American trade unions; yet he has said that, on the Arbitration Board of the Civic Federation, of which he was a member, the trade union members compared favorably with the representatives of capital. Trade unions are learning to choose better leaders and when they get good ones, to continue them in power. When they realize that the executive whom they choose is to inaugurate or administer a system of trade union insurance like that of the Cigarmakers' Union, which has paid some $4,000,000 in insurance benefits, or that he is to present their case to the public and to a board of arbitrators, powers of stump oratory count far less than expert executive ability, and they choose Adolph Strasser or John Mitchell. This tendency to a wiser choice of leaders would not be possible, but for a development upward in the rank and file of trade union members."

WHY WARSHIPS SHOULD BE BUILT IN THE NAVY YARDS.

The contractors and their supporters in Congress and in the navy have not advanced a single good reason nor produced a solitary proof against the advisability of building some of the ships in the navy yards. The concession made by the House Naval Committee to build one ship in one yard has all the earmarks of having been instigated by the shipbuilding trust. It is simply a clumsy attempt to hoodwink those thousands of people who have asked that the navy yards should share the work in building up the navy. In the event of the committee's recommendation becoming a law, the New York Navy Yard will, of course, be selected to demonstrate what the Government yards can do. As it has hitherto been the practice of the large private firms to cause the transfer of any naval inspector who did not work in harmony with the contractors, the same influences will, of course, be exerted to induce the Navy Department to select such officers to build the ship as would not be likely to make a record for the navy yard as to rapidity and cheapness. With the opposition directed against one yard it will be very easy to hamper work to such a degree as to make an even worse showing than in 1888-92, and that is exactly what the contractors desire.

LODGE 198.

We are sorry your editorial was so delayed. We believe it would have done much good if presented in time for the brothers to read and digest its contents, noble words, well spoken. Every brother in 198 votes yes on the referendum. It is a growing sentiment in city, state and nation, and why shouldn't it be? We believe that all just Lodges obtain their powers from the consent of the governed. We believe that all just governments obtain their powers from the consent of the governed. We would ask our Kickapoo brother how a few run things under the referendum where every brother has one vote? In our opinion, one of the greatest benefits from the referendum applied to lodges is the fact that men feel the responsibility of passing wise judgment upon questions when brought face to face with the problems as they present themselves to us from time to time. A Congressman said to us several years ago, Mr. Jones, if the referendum applied to national legislation, there wouldn't be a lobbyist in Washington in twenty-four hours. Brothers, let us shoulder our share of the responsibilities and burdens of life. We cannot if we would. We should not if we could ask others to bear our burdens.

It is true we cannot all see alike. We can at least follow in the dim distance, the footsteps of our Gods, noble men, the martyred Lincoln seek the light as God gives us to see the light. "With malice toward none with charity for all." We believe Kansas City is as good a place as we could get for the headquarters, and we did what the referendum gave us the right to do, voted one for Kansas City. How does this strike our Kickapoo brother? We feel so deeply interested in the referendum that we have dwelt longer on this subject than we ought to, so must cut out some other things.

We intended to mention one thing we will mention, however. 198 thinks it can see a steady improvement in our brothers. The tone of the letters in the Journal show this. The traveling brothers are proof of it. While we find now and then a brother a little worse for wear, they are growing scarcer all the time.

The Boilermaker who beats his bills or comes to us with debauchery stamped on his face gets a cold reception from 198. However, the brother with a good card, or the brother in hard luck, but with a clean straight story, will find sympathy and help. Our latch string is out and our purse is open to them. Am sorry we did 'nt get the picture of our Labor Day float, that we might get it in the Journal. I assure you it was a dandy. The $25 we captured with it as the best Industrial float went to the U. P. boys, brave and worthy fellows, names worthy to be placed in the "Hall of Fame." May their number increase is the wish of 198.

198 sends greetings, "A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year to all," hoping the coming year will bring blessings and happiness and prosperity to the brothers, their wives and little ones, not alone in our own land, but wherever the pound of a hammer is heard.

We are glad that we can see a rift in the clouds that have so long hovered over the U. P. Our hope is that the dawning of the New Year will find our brave brothers who have fought so nobly and so long, back at their places with all things agreeably settled. Yes, brothers of 46, we won the watch, a perfect beauty, and while we all could but envy Brother Fornoff his good luck we assure you it went to as good a Union man as there is in Utah and that a saying a good deal.

A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year to the Journal and its editors. From J. C. 198.

LODGE 1.

Why have we been so derelict in our duty to our union and to our fellow tradesmen, (you and I.) I believe it is because I am getting union wages and did not take time to think of or thank the source. That is one reason. Another reason is I have a steady job, and it is not so bad. I generally get the best of the jobs in the shop and when I am sent out on jobs I am given charge of the work, and of the men that are sent with me. Then I do some hustling to get the work done, and I make the other fellows hustle, (don't you forget it.) The firm I work for says that I am all right. I feel big. I am swelled. I am an extra fine A. No. 1 B. M. While I feel so good and contented with myself, why should I bother about the union and the welfare of the other fellows. I feel a good many. Pretty near the whole thing. If things get slack, I would not get laid off, the other fellow would get it, so you see I am getting along all right. I don't have to go to the Lodge meetings. Let the other fellow go. He has more time than I have. That is the way I have been feeling, and after looking myself over I look at you. And you and I are two of a kind. Let us wake up with the incoming of the New Year, take a look at the past and we will say we could have done better. Yes, much better, (you and I.) This year let us do our duty to our fellow tradesmen, to our Union. Then we could point to Branch 1, and be proud of it. Branch 1 should be on as good footing as any other union in Chicago. But it is not. There are a few things that can be improved on to better the conditions of Branch 1. Now that the election of officers is over, I hope to see B. 1, put in the position it has long sought to be in. The newly elected officers are all held in high esteem by their fellow workmen and all others that come in contact with them. They are all A No. 1 Boilermakers, and upright, respectable citizens, and I expect much good work will be done by them for Branch 1.

The elected officers are: President. Wm. Burns; vice president, John Boyl; financial secretary, Geo. Bennit; corresponding secretary, J. J. Fitzgerald; treasurer, Ed. Parkinson; B. A. and recording secretary, C. Vergier.

All officers outside of business agent are not salaried, and of some of these officers a great deal of work is required without remuneration, but the men that accepted them did it for the good of the order, and will do all in their power, and do it cheerfully. All they ask is the honest support of the members of B. 1. Without that a great deal of their work will be in vain. The fortunes of B. 1 have been variable. At times it boomed way up as though struck spontaneously. That is the time that with a little good work on the part of its officers and members it could have held its lead. Take, for example, a hundred other unions in Chicago. Ours was grown to manhood, theirs were wearing their swaddling clothes. Compare our union with them today and see where we stand. They are up and still going higher. Oh, how I would like to see B. 1 go up and keep going until it stood on the topmost rung of the ladder. B. 1 can get there if we just climb steady for a while. We will soon reach the top. We will then be high enough to survey some of the good work we have accomplished. I and you, we all ought to do our best. Not only climb, but boost those that don't seem to have the energy.

The tendency of a union inclines a great deal through the efforts and efficiency of its officers, especially through the agency of the business agent. He is a salaried officer and is, therefore, a servant to his union. He ought to do their work and do it well. But I must say that often the B. A. has left a whole lot of work undone that was unmistakably his duty to do. His neglect of duty has often been through lack of capacity and an insufficiency of energy to carry out the tasks that the office imposes. Very often, yes too often, the B. A. goes about his duties in an indolent and haphazard way, is too careless, to indifferent to the obligation he is expected to fulfill. A business agent ought to be a man of intelligence and vigor, sober and honest. A man that would be firm and still not abuse the authority that is conferred by the members of his lodge. Let him treat all members fair, regardless of creed or nationality. He should be acquainted with all the members and get acquainted with those that are not members. That could be done easily by going to the shops at the noon hour when he would not be infringing on shop time. He should try his best to unionize thoroughly those that are not wholly so. Let those that are behind with dues, to pay up. Then it would be easy work to keep them in line when we have a B. A. that will do his work conscientiously. He will get the support of the members and the members will appreciate him. Renumerate him accordingly. Let the B. A. lay this to his heart. When you accept the honor bestowed on you by your fellow workmen, and when your salary is paid you, you can say and feel that you have worked faithfully and have honestly earned it. The faithful performance of the business agent's task should be required by the members, as it is an important business matter and any neglect of duty on the part of the B. A. should be pointed out by the members without any hesitation.

The scant attendance at our meetings of late has urged this method of bringing to notice what is deemed important to all members of B. 1. Wishing you all a prosperous and Happy New Year, I am,

Faternally yours,

MEMBER OF L. 1.

In reviewing the career of lodge No. 163 we may state that Hudson Lodge is the real thing, a live body and no way antiquated either, (not that I would cast any reflections on our friends on the other side of the Christian era. Seeing the brilliant article from one of your able correspondents which opens with a quotation from the wisdom of King Solomon.) I mean we are living up to and abiding by the laws of our Grand Lodge, putting stamps on every member's card who pays his dues, and eternally after fakers. Every member of L. No. 163 is a missionary in himself and we are bringing up the rising generation of our noble craft to love, respect and elevate, this noble Brotherhood to a high plane among the wage earners of the universe. We are anti-frictions at our meetings, our president, our grand old man, Bro. James Ostrander, has given his services for another year, and the same staff of officers are pledged again. Not that there is any scarcity of material in the ranks, but acting on our Grand Secretary's advice we keep the men that keep the officers in their offices. We want broad unity. Unity that will take in the map of North America and unity alone will preserve us. Use persuasive gentility to those who earn their living at, but are outside our Brotherhood. Every man in the business is looking for a card just now and if he does not get one he will be looking for another job before long. Oh, ye satisfied Gods of the air hammers. Would not six hours per week be a consolation to you, spent in the midst of your families. Nine hours per day will give it to you.

Lodge 163, as you are aware, was whirling round the ball room, as the bells were ringing 1902, and all through the year we had success in our undertakings as a lodge. Although in our ranks individually, there was much sorrow and sickness. Three of our brothers passed away last year. Brothers Ike Poole, James Dickson and Daniel Adams. Brother Patrick Clark, through accident, lost his eye. Brother John Wormsby, through a fall, broke his shoulder. Brother James Downs, last spring, lost a young son, 7 years, and recently his mother-in-law. Our financial secretary, Geo. Deeley, was laid up for months. So was Brother Kearns and Brother Mike Dealey and others. Today Brother George Shaw died, after being in bed for one year.

My tale of woe being ended and if we are living next year, you will hear more from us.

Our death denefit was a success, Brother Daniel Adams was the first, Brother Geo. Shaw the second. Their heirs got $75 each. We raise it by assessing each member 75 cents. Having the sanction of the Grand Lodge. Our dues are 75 cents per month; our initiation fee $25; are you with us. If you are, then raise it.

With best regards, Mr. Editor.

OUR BROTHERHOOD.

Article No. 3.

Referendum.

Conventions.

On our escutcheon after the word "unity," comes "progress," which means, "a moving forward," and in this spirit alone is this article written.

Referendum seems to be the only panacea our G. P. O. and G. S. T., can see for to insure a correct or honest expression of our Brotherhood on all questions concerning our future existence. Let us examine and discuss this question and reason together as brothers should, with no preconceived ideas to bias our judgment.

Our G. S. T. in an article in December's Journal, 1901, makes use of the following words: "With organizations as with men, it is right to be consistent, but consistency does not warrant either, in standing by or upholding a worn-out theory, or refusing to adopt new practices when applicable to progress, and humanity will approve organizations or men who persistently advocate or practice immovable doctrines, will at least keep doing so until better methods are found to reach the desired end.

Is the referendum the best method to reach the desired end, bearing in mind the object to use the G. P. O. words in December Journal, 1902, "To make each member a Prince among men." Our G. P. O. in using the word prince must have forgotten the words of his own countryman, the immortal Robert Burns when he said: "Princes and Lords are but the breath of Kings.

An honest man's the noblest work of God."

Let me say it is not princes we want, but honest men. The only way to arrive at safe judgment on my question is to examine it on its merits and see if it is all that its exponents claim it to be, or in other words, "Is the referendum the best means after due trial, of obtaining the honest judgment of each member on any question submitted to him."

If we adopt the Ciceronian definition of jurisprudence, which is, perhaps, one of the most comprehensive, if not the most practical that term has received, and carry it with us through this discussion, it will materially aid us to a correct understanding of this question. It is as follows:

"The study of law must be derived from depths of philosophy." By the examination of the human mind and human society, principles may be discovered in comparison with which the rules of positive law are but of trivial importance. The implied reasoning touches rights and duties that are fundamental. It is at once a 'philosophy,' a 'science' and an 'art.' As a philosophy jurisprudence desires to understand justice; as a science, its purpose is to explain the evolution of justice; as an art, its aim is to formulate those rules of conduct essential to a realization of justice." Practically, therefore, jurisprudence "is the science of law." It embraces alike the theory of law, its development into practical form, its adaptation to the end sought, and the methods of its enforcement. It embraces therefore, the three great branches upon which all governmental authority rests, the legislative, judicial, and executive.

Every organization must have its jurisprudence. The more perfect it is, upon the lines above indicated, the greater will be its longevity and stability. Indeed, without it no organization can survive its formation. To it, therefore, we must look for whatever of stability the organization may possess.

But let me here say a perfect jurisprudence will not alone secure stability and perpetuity. The principles that underlie the organization must possess intrinsic merit. There must be in harmony with the natural relations of man to his fellow, and as broad comprehensive and equal as are those relations. It matters not whether it be a voluntary, or forced organization; the same law prevails in all.

In organizations like those of nations where constabulary and military force are employed, and jails and prisons hold the refractory, the organization may longer survive a disregard of this law; but sooner or later disaster and ruin are sure to follow.

The history of the past is full of examples and warnings of a disregard of it. Nations have been rocked to their center governments have arisen and fallen churches have been broken into fragments organizations have been wrecked. Like successive waves, they have chased one another to the shore, only to die away upon its breakers. Too often formed for selfish ends, or with a jurisprudence that bore unjustly and unequally upon their subjects, the administration of which favoritism and partiality were conspicuous, sooner or later destruction was inevitable.

Voluntary organizations especially, a largely dependent for continued existence upon the practical value of their principles to the membership. This is o adhesive force, the cement and strength of our Brotherhood. The tie that binds us must be true to the highest type of the noblest manhood. Breathing vengeance against scabs, grovelling selfishness, petty ambitions, self aggrandizement, whatever tends to exalt one to the disparagement of another, cannot for a moment be tolerated. Loyalty to one another, respect for each others' opinions, each seeking the highest good of all, should be the vital force in our Brotherhood.

Now, brothers, there would seem to be no reason why a jurisprudence, resting upon such a foundation, and developed upon the same generous lines, ought not to give to our organization both stability and perpetuity. Let me here say, as I do not want to be misunderstood, such a jurisprudence can only be the result of growth. Experience alone can be its safe teacher. Whatever it points out must be followed step by step, until it shall have reached a perfect stature, if such a thing can be attained. It cannot, like the fabled Minerva from the brain of Jupiter, leap full clad from the fertile brain of fine spun theory. As necessities require, it must be gradually developed by no forced process, save the urgent demand of those subject to its control.

Following up this line of reasoning there are three elements which enter into the jurisprudence of our organization. They are the legislative, judicial and executive. In civil governments they are usually lodged in three separate departments, each in a degree independent of the other, yet intended to act in co-operation with each other for the general good. The legislative cannot adjudicate, nor execute. It can only enact laws. The judicial cannot enact laws, nor execute them. It can only interpret, construe and decree their execution. The executive, while it may recommend, cannot enact laws, nor determine their meaning, can only execute them as enacted and determined by the legislature and judiciary. These acting in concert, under wise and just authority, should constitute a harmonious whole of great strength and efficiency. In civil government, submission to them is enforced to the deprivation of the liberty and even the life of the offender.

In our Brotherhood there is no forced obedience. All is voluntary. Suspension or expulsion from our meetings, (or from the privileges of the Brotherhood,) are the only penalties which can be imposed.

Therefore, from what can be learned, if the G. P. O. statement is correct, the jurisprudence of this Brotherhood was at one time in the past shackled to a Political and Wagon. "Plugged meetings" were held to elect delegates, who in turn went to conventions to elect certain favorite friends to office, and then enact certain laws to please these certain friends. What a terrible state of existence this Brotherhood must have been in. If the referendum cleansed the body from its uncleanness, all honor to it. But from personal observation as to its workings, and from communications with the thinkers and workers of the order, I dispute the honor being given to the referendum, as until the constitution was placed in my hands, I did not know the referendum was the working principle of the Brotherhood. The statement made by the G. P. O. that the referendum made 22,000 members, in my case is entirely wrong, and let me go further and question his statement and say in all honesty that the referendum had as little to do with making 22,000 members as the Atlantic Ocean had with the making of the Philippine Islands.

The wave of "Unionism" has been so far reaching since 1896, that the increase of membership has been the outcome. While reasoning in this line, looking at the report of our G. S. T. to the A. F. of L., at the last convention, I find he paid tax on 10,115 members, so that in the 24,000 enumerated deceased members as well as delinquent members are counted. That is not right, as it conveys to the outside world that we are stronger than we really are, and can one wonder at some of the rank and file bluffing, and practicing principles that are in direct conflict with the principles of honesty and industry when our executive does the same in making misleading statements as to membership in our Brotherhood. I am not afraid of shadows, it is with substance, flesh and blood, with my Creator. To give us examples let us look at the United Society of Boilermakers and Iron and Steel Shipbuilders of Great Britain and Ireland. Through the kindness of our G. P. O., I have received several of their reports. They have been for several years agitating parliamentary representation on the part of the society by putting some of the ablest members there and paying their salary and expenses. A question of so much importance, one would come to the conclusion would be strongly supported. The referendum is used to obtain an expression of the membership, but of 35,000 members in good standing only 7,000 voted. Again, when they voted on the question of the increase of the general secretary's salary Bro. D. C. Cummings, the largest ballot ever cast in the annals of the Society was tabulated 7,098 out of a membership in good standing of 35,000. Now, I would ask our G. P. O. to publish, for the benefit of the whole membership, the number of votes cast at the last election of Grand Lodge officers and see if a fair ratio of our member's votes were cast. I venture to predict that the present ballot now going on, will not be as to use our G. P. O. words, 24,000 princes speaking.

The G. S. T. in December's Journal, 1901, points out the fact that on Aug. 13, a circular was mailed to all lodges calling for a vote on levying an assessment of $1.00 in aid of craftsmen who are out on strike, and on the 11th of Nov., was compelled to notify the lodges again to vote. We see the same thing going on again. Six months since convention passed questions to go before the country by the referendum, and not yet tabulated. "So much for the referendum." Again, in that same article he says, "another very important change is necessary." It is to amend the referendum law, (that acme of perfection,) making it compulsory for all lodges to vote same day within certain hours. At the convention in Baltimore he again brings up the same question. "So much for the referendum." Again in that same article of Dec., 1901, "and I would ask all my readers to mark this, as to my mind, this condemns entirely the referendum law from being the pure, unalloyed system of getting an honest expression of judgment from each member. His words are, let me say under our present referendum law, that there is no certainty, (mark this,) no attention, (mark this,) and very little of the constitutional or obligational requirements, of lodges lived up to. (Mark this.) Although being many miles away it comes to the writer that in some lodges, the OFFICERS, in others A COMMITTEE, while yet in others the SECRETARY ALONE, makes up the VOTE of the LODGES. Look also at article in January's Journal, 1903, page 23. We most emphatically state, that, in our experienced, but humble judgement, declare it to be our opinion that we have received votes that seems to us to be impossible to have been cast in accordance with our laws, as the face of them indicate ONE MAN VOTED the entire LOT. What an admission to make from one who is continually bringing a system before his brothers, which has within it a loophole so vicious. Is there any difference between plugged meetings and this way of obtaining a vote of the members. Who made this referendum a law? It must have been at least some of those, who, at present are using it. If this is the case the old man and his deeds cannot be wiped out yet. I have always admired, and do at this present time of writing Brother McNeil and Brother Giltrope, for their noble and honest efforts in our behalf, but for them to challenge any member and try to ridicule others who differ from them, (when they are the creators of those who they abuse,) is wrong, and will only revert back on themselves. Your duty as executive officers is to decree law and put it in effect. I honor Brother Giltrope for his admission on the failure of the referendum, as coming from him it cannot be questioned, and goes to prove it is an utter failure. Brother McNeil and Brother Giltrope, "the creature is no above the creator," and the membership who voted for you and created you, also have the right to repeal the referendum law, if they so desire, and if these same members, or any desire to use the law in the vicious, dishonest way spoken of, it goes to prove the need of something better in its place. I believe with our hard working G. S. T. when he says, "What I desire is a high, lofty idea, established throughout the entire Brotherhood which will bring convictions of having done our whole duty to each other, and establish that confidence which kills Dame Rumor entirely."

This can never be accomplished by the referendum, and what I desire in my humble way to see is a step forward in a new direction, which will be following out our reasoning in the first part of this discussion and will produce better results than an referendum.

Conventions—A convening or being brought together.

Union—A meeting of delegates for some specific object.

Delegate—To intrust to the care of, to management of another; to commit.

The convention should be the legislative of our Brotherhood. Its work should be to enact all laws.

The laws that govern the selection of delegates can be so framed that the selfish intents of a few to suit themselves can be frustrated. I do not believe for one moment, that there is not enough honesty in the Brotherhood, that our convention cannot be pure. To judge our Brotherhood now, by what it was 9 years ago, is an insult to the present membership, and I feel one hurl it back at its authors, with all the power of my manhood. Who will dare to say that the convention, held in Baltimore last July, was not an honor to the Brotherhood. Its business ability cannot be questioned. The fraternal feelings exhibited to one another will be long remembered by all who took part in its deliberations. Were the delegates present more competent, not only to frame law but to enact them, than any referendum system ever thought of? Just think of it! That convention could frame laws, but the enacting of them is put into the hands of those who in many cases have not sufficient information to guide them in voting on same. Let the members take up the Journal for August and look at the names of those recorded for moving headquarters. My name is there as voting for the removal and I want to say I am no political trick ster, as before going to that convention I was instructed to vote for removal by my lodge. I was a delegate and according to the definition of delegate which is taken from Websier's Dictionary, I was only fulfilling my duty. Anyone who tries to make capital out of this and especially our Grand Lodge officers, and impugn anyone for doing his duty, shows they have a very weak case. Our conventions meet each year and the way our jurisprudence is framed, the delegates might as well remain at home, as it is only a useless expenditure of money. No power, no authority; only some laws to guide them that are so antiquated the moths have very nearly eaten them all up.

But the question may be here asked, "What will you substitute for the referendum to get the voice of the whole membership; or, How can we get a convention together that will be a better representation than the referendum?" And this is a legal question, as no one has a right to demand the abolishment of any law or enact unless he honestly believes he has something better to take his place.

The remedy I would humbly bring forward is this: Let conventions be held every four years in a city or place selected by the Brotherhood for the first convention, or future conventions to be decided at each convention before adjourning.

Let an assessment of one dollar be levied every year on all members in good standing, to be used only for convention purposes. Four months before the expiration of the four years let the G. P. O. issue a circular to all lodges requiring them to give notice of all alterations and amendments to laws, to nominate Grand Lodge Officers who shall be elected and installed in convention, to elect delegates. When he receives these circulars back from lodges which shall be not later than forty days from issue, he shall as soon as possible send to all lodges a tabulated circular of all alterations and amendments to laws as also all nominees for office. By this means every lodge in the Brotherhood can instruct their delegates how to act, no amendment or alteration or nomination of officers to be brought before convention only what has been sent in G. P. O. second circular. By this means delegates will know what they have met for, and it will only be business that has come before every lodge previous to assembling of convention.

The representation at convention to be one delegate from each lodge, whose mileage both to and from convention, as well as five dollars a day while attending convention to be paid from the funds accrued from the levy or assessment on each member in good standing. A reasonable time to be allowed each delegate to get to convention and back to place of starting. Each delegate to have privilege to cast numerical vote of his lodge.

What a sight to see gathered in convention a representative from every lodge in the Brotherhood! Readers, it would do more to impress our employers' minds as to the ability of our organization than all strikes or wind blasts, for it would show to them a unity that could not be surpassed.

The convention to enact all laws, elect and install Grand Lodge officers. This would be the first part of our jurisprudence, the legislative. The second part, the judicial, our G. P. O. and G. S. T. who would decree their execution and be in their proper places as the creatures of this body. The third part, the executive. Our Grand Vice-Presidents who could only execute them along with the other officers. Would not this way be an honest expression from all our membership? By this means the strong lodges would help the weak ones, and I firmly believe the incentive of having representation at convention would be a means of keeping our lodges together.

The assessments coming from the first four years would be sufficient to run three conventions or a period of twelve years.

From a careful study of above question, and from experience in other orders who have adopted this plan, nothing but success would be the result.

Will my readers, bearing in mind my reasoning all through this article, which is made in an honest, manly way (as I never stoop so low as to try to blind others by abusive and misleading statements—quoted G. S. T.), think seriously over this, and if this way will solve the problem, at least for a time, give it your support and by so doing you will have fulfilled the words of Pope, quoted by our G. S. T.:

"Be not the first by whom the new is tried, Nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

CRAWFORD, No. 35.

A SIDE VIEW OF THE COAL STRIKE IN THE ANTHRACITE REGION.

As a matter of fact it is a very difficult problem to dissolve, taking into consideration the famine that exists in all Eastern and seaboard cities due to shortage of anthracite coal, and has resulted in great suffering and hardship to the poor people of our country.

The commission has as yet not finished, therefore we hardly know when the poor may be relieved, unless the weather sympathizes for the poor.

Superintendent C. C. Ross stated before the commission, rather than grant the eight-hour day he would prefer to have his whole property ruined; that he would not be dictated to, for if an eight-hour day were granted, they would soon demand four hours next.

Mr. Thos. R. Thomas of Jermyn colliery testified before the commission under cross-examination, declaring that workmen had no right to organize nor say what was a reasonable day's work, but were willing to meet grievance committees of men under their own employ, and if their demands did not meet with their approval could discharge them on a moment's notice, unless they, the men, should trust solely to their honesty, justness and fairness.

Mr. Torrey, in reply to Mr. Darrow the witness, stated that the D. & H. Co. is selling coal at Carbondale for $6 per ton, which three months ago was sold at $2.75, or possibly $3.50.

Later on he explained the high price exacted right at the mines by saying that it was because farmers and local consumers had purchased fuel for the regular rate only to sell it at fancy prices.

Mr. Joseph P. Dickson, freight agent of Wilkesbarre, testified in regard to cost of living. A part of his statistics, prepared by himself, were devoted to the amount of spirituous and malt liquors consumed in the region between Nanticoke and Forrest City.

A vigorous protest by Counselor Darrow against the admission, as others besides miners consumed stimulants, as it only classed the miners as drunkards and as a class of most unjust aspersion. The tables were admitted for what they were worth.

The witness then asserted that the average cost of meats had been lower in 1902 than in 1901, notwithstanding the admitted fact that for five months in 1902 meats were 40 per cent higher in canned goods. High grade goods have been higher and lower goods lower.

E. W. Parker, station auditor, was examined to prove that wages in the anthracite field are if anything higher than those in the bituminous region. He had taken three companies, mining soft coal, the Victoria Coal Co., of West Virginia, the Buffalo Rochester & Pittsburg and a small concern at Brockwayville. It developed that but one of these concerns was union, the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg Co. Mr. Darrow wanted to know why figures had not been sought in Illinois, whose operators had been invited before the commission there would be no questions about statistics there as they are embodied in an annual agreement between operators and miners.

Some of the non-union miners testified before the commission the abuse they have received, but on cross-examination stated that miners were not paid enough for their work and they would willingly take all the union could get for them, further saying, were working a double game. The principle of man is shown right here. He is neither for nor against.

Some of the friends of organized labor in the female sex testified in regards to abuse their husbands had received during the coal strike. On cross-examination one stated she did not approve of her husband going to work during the strike, but what was she to do? She had to fight for a cause against her will to a certain extent.

Dr. J. W. Fulton of Scranton proved good witness for the miners. He started to prove that miners were as healthy a class of people as the majority of workingmen. He has not a very extensive practice among miners. The tables by which he sought to prove his case referred to English collieries. He admitted that anthracite mining is attended with greater risk and fatality.

According to his tables he quoted the mortality among coal miners from all causes is 12.33 per thousand; accidents 2 per cent. Later on it was shown that the percentage of miners losing their lives in soft coal fields of Pennsylvania were 2.12 per cent, while that of anthracite workers was 3.15 per cent.

When asked about the prevalence of consumption and miners' asthma, Dr. Fulton said that less than one-tenth per cent die of the former and miners' asthma, known as lung troubles, is not an acute asthma, and is not peculiar to miners. It is produced by any dusty occupation where the dust irritates the lungs and is found amongst flour mills and others. Miners are quite exempt from heart disease, which shows that they do not suffer from rheumatism. On cross examination by Mr. Darrow as to the effect of coal dust on the lungs the former admitted he had never seen the body of a mine dissected in which the lungs were not black and in most cases these organs sink when put in water.

"Do you think a man can live as well under ground as on top of earth?" asked Mr. Darrow. Dr. Fulton hesitated awhile and replied, "I should think he would be healthier on top of the ground," and also admitted that possibly it shortened a man's life and that he knew that after men have quit working in the mines for years they continued to expectorate black dust from the lungs. The mortality here is greater than elsewhere in America.

Thus far we have read of testimonies given before the commission by officials of mines who seem very bitter against organized labor. Still, the miners are not all gladdened. We must admit that—but nevertheless where companies pay their own deputies, could you hardly avoid violence? And as the commission has yet a lot of work before the verdict will be known. I hope it will be the means of capital and labor working together in harmony, as labor has been put aside as an ignorant class of people, but must be proven dilatory, and it is bound to come sooner or later, the sooner the better as the principle of organized labor is not u-derstood properly. They have always been charged with the last resource. They never mention the dealings of union men with their employer where the union is recognized and fair conditions prevail, where they are trying to educate their children to become men amongst men and women amongst women.

Owing to the vast increase in population and machinery we must reduce our hours to let us all live by the increase in population and improvement of machinery. The employer has a bigger field to choose from. But because they have the principle of men they are classed as outlaws. Can it be so? But the general public of the world today is taking a deeper interest in the labor movement.

LODGE No. 235.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 11, 1903.

Just a few words to let everybody know that Lodge 235 is still in existence and doing well, at least, as well as can be expected from 7 members one month and 8 the next and so on.

We have just been in existence about two and a half years, but have been successful in raising our wages 40 cents, which I think, is doing right well, considering the small amount of trouble that we encountered in doing the same.

At the same time, while our wages, ($2.75 per 10 hours,) and hours are nothing like the "Standard," or, in other words, not quite up to the specifications on the "Blue Print," still, we are satisfied for the present with it, and do not want these "things" that may be termed "Cardless Hoboes," enjoying the same benefits. So, brethren, if you may call them such, please do not stop over here unless you have that small, though very essential article, that is commonly termed "Card" sticking in some aperture or crack of your wearing apparel. But, as the song says: "If you have a dollar, come, come around," so will I say about the card: "If you've got a card? Why, come, come around," and then we'll play house with you if you so desire.

Lodge 235 held its first meeting of the New Year Wednesday night, the 7th, and elected the following officers for the coming year: President and treasurer, T. D. Calhoun; vice president, J. B. Spivey; corresponding secretary, C. F. Carnes; financial secretary, J. F. Casey; recording secretary, J. J. Devereux; in. guard, J. J. Devereux; inspector, A. H. Harbort; out. guard, A. H. Hobart; trustees, T. D. Calhoun, J. B. Spivey and C. F. Carnes.

Yours fraternally,

J. F. CASEY, F. S.

P. S. Brother C. F. Carnes wishes me to ask you to please have his name taken out of the Journal as recording secretary of Lodge No. 222, as he thinks he has about served his time out. He has been away from Fernandia about 6 months. Also, please have No. 235's changed in Journal at once.

MOBERLY, MO., LODGE No. 267's GRAND BALL.

At the Athletic club hall the local order of the Boilermakers and Ship Builders of America gave their second annual New Year's ball. Last year this order gave a ball that was one of the biggest social successes of the season, but the one last night even eclipsed that of 1901 in its splendor and its enjoyment.

The scene of the dance was the large dance room of the Athletic club room or hall. It had been beautifully decorated and was brilliantly lighted. In this place gathered much of Moberly's beauty and chivalry, all handsomely dressed. At 9 o'clock Profs. Tedford, Wm. Seibert and Miss Dorser began playing the grand march. Led by those graceful dancers, Mr. J. L. Kleiber and wife, the throng of dancers formed for the grand march. When this dance was ended, programs having been distributed in the meantime, there was a rush for the rest of the dances. The best dancers had their programs filled in a few minutes and those who were not known to be not the best of dancers were not slighted. Well filled programs assured everybody an evening of enjoyment. Twenty-five numbers were danced during the passing of which the old year was merged into the new. Supper was served and it was delightful. Among the boilermakers none did more to make the dance a success than Mr. J. F. Ward. He was the right man in the right place. As a reception committee President J. L. Kleiber, J. F. Ward, Paul Schilling and Jas. Cadagan would be hard to excel, and four more pleasant or popular young men are not in Moberly. They were ably assisted by the floor committee consisting of Gus Massman, J. H. Honey, E. Hopson, G. W. Cave, August Childs, Eddie Woodington, Kimbel Gilberts, Louis Krous, E. M. Lovel, John Peterson. To this committee was due much of the pleasure of last night's dance. The invitation committee was Dave Clark, Ash Whitten, John Olson, Jas. Glancy and M. O'Connel.

LODGE No. 164.

Bradford, Pa., Jan. 18, 1903.

As we have a new set of officers, we will have to change the lodge directory to read President, Earnest Truby, 71 Elm street; S. Y. Grant, C. and R. S., 54 Hilton street; T. E. Desmond, F. S., 39 Hill street. As I have not written for the Journal yet, I will endeavor to explain a disease that is playing havoc with several members of No. 164. There are six or eight of them that have to go to the Bradford Hospital from four to five nights a week. Their ailment don't bother them until about 7:30 p. m., and at that time they are received at the hospital and are generally discharged as cured at any time from ten until one. Now, brothers, I have had the same disease myself, but I did not go to the hospital with it, as I find out it don't take a professional nurse and the only permanent cure for it is to take your favorite nurse, with her consent of course, and visit some reverend gentleman or justice of the peace, and he can give you a permanent cure in a very few minutes where all doctors will fail. I hope some of you will take my advice and when you do, don't forget to bring around the cigars.

Lodge No. 164 held their second annual ball January 16, which will be reported by Brother J. W. O'Day.

Brother Wm. J. Kelley gave us all the slip and got married on September 3 to Miss Margaret Keenan of this city. It is all right, Billy. The only thing we can do at this late date is wish you both a long and happy journey through life.

Fraternally yours,

S. U. GRANT, C. and R. S.

LODGE No. 165.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 19, 1903.

Know ye all, brothers, by these presents that Matt P. Sheehan, who a few months ago was published in our Journal and branded as unfair, has seen the light in which all men should walk, has applied voluntarily, been accepted and made a member of Zenith Lodge No. 165, upon a payment of a fine and all back dues and assessments. Now, brothers, in the course of time should Brother Sheehan, Reg. No. 888, come your way, greet him with a glad handshake and let bygones be bygones.

No. 165 had a rousing meeting Saturday evening, January 17th, the occasion was the election of officers and some 45 brothers being present, officers were elected, viz.:

Chas. Clark, president, 525 Garfield; Thos. Cummings, vice-president, 501 Belknap street, West Superior, Wis.; G. H. Hawksworth, cor. and financial secretary, 1532 Banks avenue, West Superior, Wis.; Wm. Saunders, treasurer, 20 G avenue, W., Duluth, Minn.; Earnest Hampel, recording secretary, 525 Garfield, Duluth, Minn.; Henry Foehl, inspector, 525 Garfield, Duluth, Minn.; Jas. R. Cole, Journal correspondent, 1821 Oakes avenue, West Superior, Wis.

The Brothers were all pleased with their selection of officers. Now let us hope for a good year's business.

Business at the head of the lakes is lively and all are working steady. There is but one boilermaker working at the head of the lakes that does not belong to our cause and in the course of time we will get him or make it so hot for him that he will be only too glad to get out and seek greener fields.

Hoping I have not taken up too much space in the Journal and you will receive this in time for publication, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

JAS. R. COLE,
Correspondent.

LODGE No. 14.

I have been instructed by Lodge No. 14 to name the city of Chattanooga, Tenn., as the place to hold our next convention, where business can be combined with pleasure.

Therefore we invite you to come to Chattanooga and visit scenes made historic by the conflict of over thirty-five years ago and around which cluster memories of a glorious, yet regretful past. Come and see McCaslin Bend on the Tennessee river, around which the Northern fleet took position and shelled Lookout Mountain, upon which was fought the battle above the clouds, and in the distance see the famous battlefields of Missionary Ridge, Chicamauga, Tunnel Hill and Orchard Knob, where the hills and valleys are dotted with graves of the heroes who died in the fray fighting for the right of Blue and Gray. Come and see the National Cemetery, wherein lie buried fifteen thousand men of the North, where betimes of Johnny Rebs in snow white locks and with faltering steps wend their way and bedewed with tears the graves of fallen foes.

Come to Chattanooga and enjoy genuine Southern hospitality.

And last but not least receive a hearty welcome from Lodge No. 15 of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America.

O daughter, dearest daughter,

Why do you serve me so?

To ramble around with a railroad man
Wherever he may roam.

O Mother, dearest Mother,

'Tis true I love thee well,

But I love that chap of a railroad
No mortal tongue can tell.

She bundled up her calicoes,

And on the train she jumped,

To ramble around with a railroad man
Wherever he may roam.

A WELL WISHER.

LODGE 116.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 1.—Please allow me space in your Journal to let you know Lodge 116 is still alive. At a regular meeting

Lodge 116, on December 23, 1902, the following officers were elected:

H. C. Blackburn, President; Emil Gustafson, Vice President; John Murphy, Treasurer; Arthur Withem, Recording Secretary; Ed H. French, Financial and Corresponding Secretary; Len Bedal, Inspector and Journal Correspondent; Peter Reinstadtler, Inside Guard; Martin Wicklum, Wallace Durham, Trustees.

After all business of the lodge was finished we held our first smoker, and, say, it was a corker. Brother Canan was elected social chairman and he knows how to fill it. First on the programme was a toast by Brother Reinstadtler; a short address on the good of the Order by President Brother Blackburn; song, "Alabama Blossom," by Brother Bedal; stump speech by Brother Stearns; song, "When Reuben Comes to Town," by Brother Durham; Brother Wicklum appeared as a buck dancer and a coon singer and did remarkably well; song, "When We Get What's A-Comin' to Us," by Brother Withem; Brother Gabion presided at the piano and sang some very popular songs of the day; recitation by little Arthur Burrell, entitled "I Can't Feel That Beer;" whistling solo, by Brother White; song, "The Traveler and the Pie," by Brother Canan; More Refreshments by Brothers Withem and Bedal; song, "In the Good Old Summer Time," by Brother Reinstadtler; clog dance, by Brother Bedal; our Rev. Brother Lynch of Staples, Minn., was with us and sang a very beautiful selection entitled "Bonbons;" song, "When You Love, Love, Love," by Brother McClary, sung with great success; song, "The Lily of the Nile," by Brother Gustafson; quartette, "Holy City," by Brothers Gabion, Blackburn, Bedal and Withem; speech by Brother Bedal, "Hurrah." The entertainment then closed with a short address by presiding Brother Canan thanking the brothers for their gentlemanly bearing and courtesies.

Yours fraternally,

ED. H. FRENCH,

Journal Correspondent.

BOILERMAKERS.

Is One of the Strongest Organizations in the City of Mattoon, Ill.

Local Union, No. 224, Brotherhood of Boilermakers, which is one of the strongest labor organizations in the city, having practically every boilermaker in the city enrolled, held an interesting meeting Tuesday evening. Besides other matters of importance transacted, the following officers were elected:

Z. B. Watkins, President.
J. A. Fuller, Vice President.
Joe McShane, Recording Secretary.
E. K. Ellenwood, Corresponding Secretary,
705 East Broadway.

F. A. Reinholt, Financial Secretary.

Mike Lahey, Treasurer.

John Curtis, Inspector.

C. E. Bates, Inside Guard.

Earl Barker, Outside Guard.

A. R. Bates, Joe Meyers and Alvin Welch, Trustees.

The installation of the newly elected officers will take place on the second Tuesday in January, and will be followed by a banquet at Hadley's restaurant.

LODGE 274.

Jan. 5.—Please give me a little space in the good Journal and I will tell how we got out of the lodge last night. We called Bro. J. H. Brandel to the chair and proceeded to business. We installed officers, and as Brother Tyer was going to leave here we gave him a good warm meeting. He was a good brother in a lodge room and was always heard from. We were sorry to lose him from our ranks. He was a good shop mate and he can't make it any worse. We had a good meeting and at 12 o'clock we started home. I think they all made it by 2 o'clock, if they did not get lost or fall by the wayside, so if we lost any I will let you know in the next Journal. Business is dull with us. Plenty of men.

J. M. AULT,

Journal Correspondent.

LODGE 272.

Galion, Jan. 6.—We, the members of Lodge 272, wish to thank the Journal for our float of Labor Day, which appeared in November Journal. And wish to state that we took in four more members; also elected officers, so we celebrated the event with a smoker and served refreshments. So we begin the new year under prosperous conditions. Every man in the shop is a member of 272 and we have no room for any man without a good card, so come prepared. Lodge 272 sends New Year's greetings to all.

JOURNAL CORRESPONDENT.

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 25.—I am very much pleased to see so much interest and such good journalistic qualities in the ranks of the Boilermakers. I am very proud of it also. Since my last letter to you, we have had several fresh faces in the boiler shops. The majority have gone again. It seems the wages are not right or there is a screw loose somewhere. Say, and I tell you what, there are some fine looking men there, too. By the way, I see there are some people in this world of ours that thinks it would be a good thing to do to move the wheels of thought and progress backward. I refer now to the talk about doing away with the referendum system. For my part I want to vote for the laws that govern me, and we are not a free people until we do that; many years ago some people thought that it was impossible to live in the world without a king or queen and even now there are some people who believe that it's impossible to run this government without the Democrat or Republican party. The time is coming when those people will have to go away back and sit down or fall in line with progress. I see some friend of progress objecting to the referendum and then advises that all lodges vote on the question. That sounds funny to a man up a tree. It rather reminds me of the fellow who was not going into the water until he learnt how to swim. It seems to me that the working man is never satisfied and I think sometimes he never will be until he receives all that he produces and no sane person will say that anyone else has a greater right than the working man to what is produced. I hope the time will come when all the laws of this country will be made by all the people and for all the people, both men and women. We can never have a free manhood until we have a free womanhood, and we will never have a free country while we say to our mothers and sisters: "You are not qualified to vote for the laws that govern you. Go away back and sit down." I think that piece of poetry of Bro. W. J. Lampton's just comes in there, us men are not so many when we work upon our mothers and sisters and say you shan't vote. Let us go forward, not backward and we cannot do that and leave the women behind. Your truly,

WM. POPE,

Journal Correspondent.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 5.—We beg to have a few lines in your great Journal. Well., Lodge 197 had a smoker on installation night and we had a good time. There was beer and cigars, galvie, sauer kraut and Franfeuters and sandwiches, which made a fine spread. Brother Scullen looked like a big, fat Dutchman with his apron on waiting on the table. We had singing in plenty by Brothers J. Kisingen on the banks of the old Mohawk. Talk about your singing, he is a peach at it, especially when he has had about 25 schooners. Brother Arnold had his long nose in it, too. The only trouble with him was he swore off on New Year's and he did not get drunk. Brother Scullen sang a song entitled "The Golden Wedding." Brother Mitzheim sang two or three pretty songs; also Brother McMann, who always chirps when beer is in sight. Brothers F. Crowley, P. McGraw and Micky McNeary aren't very much at singing, but, oh, what beer drinkers they are. Brother Lyons, after he got done hitting Brother McCaust with his hat, hoed it down with Mrs. McClangs reel. Then came more singing from some of the members. Brothers Joe Ebner and Adam Canns tended bar and they kept the beer coming. Then came Rubber Roach and Wire Graves in the cake walk and they did it out of sight. Our foreman, Mr. Bennett and a few other guests were with us. Brother Dennis Crowley acted as sergeant-at-arms and kept everybody quiet. Well, take it all in all, everybody enjoyed themselves and we hope all other lodges will have as good a time as we did.

Yours fraternally,

WALTER COON, Cor. Sec'y.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 8.—

Hurrah, three cheers for the Boilermaker, Because he has no use for the strikebreaker, He is made of material sound and firm, He knows how to bring everybody to term, He has no fear for corporation, nor trust, For in his demand he is fair and just, And they will either have to grant them or bust,

We have had many a hard trial. Nevertheless,

If we stand firmly together, we will meet with success;

Now, Brother Boilermakers noble and grand,

Wherever we may be in the land,

Let us firmly shoulder to shoulder stand,

And attend regular to our meeting,

And speak to one another with a cheerful greeting,

And at the end of the month pay our assessments and dues,

Then the Financial Secretary and Treasurer will never get the blues.

The Boilermakers of America are second to none when it comes to upholding principles, and they are equal to any, if not in the lead, in gaining points and winning strikes. With the aid and good sound judgment of our Grand President Organizer we have in the past year won more battles than any other Labor organization of our size in the country. There is one very important matter that a great many of our brothers can improve on, and that is to attend the meetings regular and pay your dues and assessments. If every member, when he is elected to an office in the lodge, would accept it cheerfully and fulfill his duties to the best of his ability, and every member would attend the meetings regular and bring all the information he can and do his kicking in the lodge room and shut his mouth after the lodge is closed, it would be but a short time until we would lead every Labor organization of the country in every respect. Now brothers, wherever we may be, let us turn over a new leaf with the New Year and take an interest in our Brotherhood and help build it up to the very highest standard morally as well as financially.

CHARLES MANNING, Cor. Sec'y.

LODGE 35.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 11.—Having been ap pointed Journal Correspondent of Lodge No. 35, I will write and let the brothers know what we are doing in Baltimore. We have had an election of officers for the year and I am glad to say, with the exception of one, we will have the same officers as last year, and if they fulfill the offices as well this year as last, I don't think we will have any trouble. I would also like to inform the lodges that we are taking in the machine riveters and caulkers, and we all think it is one of the best things we ever did. We have initiated about 30 candidates the past month. They are all willing to join us and are taking advantage of the opportunity, and we are also glad to have them with us. Lodge No. 35 is beginning to get a push on herself. The members are beginning to attend the meeting, and they all seem to be taking an interest in what is going on. There are a few brothers who need a little push ye., but I hope they will soon be coming along with us. Strange to say, there are some brothers who can talk unionism on the street corners, but when it comes to attending the meeting or to performing any duty they will always have some excuse. There is nothing better than good attendance at the meeting. If every brother would attend we would have better meetings, and less kicking. We have an advisory board now in Baltimore, composed of the members of the three lodges. They are drawing up agreements which we are going to present to the companies to sign. Hoping to see this in the February Journal, and with best wishes to all of the boys, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

GEORGE BEAUCHAMP,

Journal Correspondent.

P. S.—The foreman of the Bath Iron works was here a few days ago looking for fitters and riveters and he asked me to mention it in the Journal. Any brother out of employment wishing to go there can write him. Fred Shaw, Bath Iron Works, Bath, Maine.

LODGE 302.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12.—There are two happy faces in the West Milwaukee boiler shop, and Brother J. Foulkes has the most of us guessing pretty hard, for he told your humble servant it was two fine boys and shortly after one of the boys asked me if Brother Foulkes had told me about the new girl. Now, I wish to say in behalf of Brother Foulkes I have known him some fourteen or fifteen years and I don't think it is as bad as twins and I am sure it is not triplets.

Brother Alex Young has the other happy face. O, yes, you can see it plainly, although his face has more than its allowance of dirt, for he is the proud father of a bouncing boy, as tall as a plugging hammer handle. All of 302's boys know Brother Young is always to the front for all things bettering mankind.

For useful household receipts allow me to refer you to Brother A. Young.

Yours fraternally,

JOS. D. SMITH,

Journal Correspondent.

LODGE 277.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 13.—It is a long while since Lodge No. 277 has had anything of any account in the Journal, and I wish you would kindly give the following a space in your next issue without fail. By so doing you will greatly oblige the brothers of Rainbow City Lodge No. 277.

To the Journal:—The second annual ball held by Rainbow City Lodge No. 277, Monday evening, January 12, 1903, at German American hall, corner of Main and High streets, will long be remembered by those who attended.

The night was cold and stormy, but it did not prevent the brothers and their friends from attending.

They turned out in large numbers and by 10 o'clock the beautifully decorated hall was crowded to the doors. A jollier crowd could not be found in a month's travel.

The main feature on the programme was the grand prize waltz. There was much rivalry among the contestants, especially the shipyard boys, who were there very strong, and determined to share first honors among themselves.

After dancing for eight minutes' time, the judges, five in number, decided to have a final. They selected Brother Frank Higgins of No. 277, Mr. Casey and Mr. Wm. Martin of the Brotherhood of Holders on and Heaters Local No. 8228. After an intermission of a few minutes the three remaining couples started from different sides of the hall. It was very interesting to the spectators who maintained perfect order. Brother Higgins, Mr. Casey and Mr. Martin gave a very graceful exhibition of the round waltz, much to the delight of the spectators. The judges finally announced Mr. Casey and Miss Lynch as the winners, which seemed to please the majority of those present.

They received quite an ovation from their friends for their efforts, but a speech was not forthcoming. Mr. Casey received a silk umbrella and Miss Lynch a pair of pearl opera glasses.

Brother Ed. Spaiting of No. 277 rendered a few songs, which were well received and heartily applauded. Brother Spaiting has a good voice and he could be plainly heard in all parts of the hall.

Mr. McCarthy was next in order with a song, which pleased the crowd.

Mr. Pete Politair, Jr., gave a very clever exhibition of buck and wing dancing and received quite an applause. He is but 14 years of age and the way in which he shook his feet caused the spectators to look on with amazement. It was said by those present that this boy could make a good livelihood by following up this vocation.

THE BOILER MAKER

Much credit must be given to the brothers who acted on the different committees for the able and courteous way in which they acquitted themselves for the welfare of those present.

The crowd remained until the early morning. At 4 a. m. there were still quite a number left, determined to finish out the programme, which by this time was nearing the end; and as they left in groups of twos, threes and fours they were not backward in declaring the night a most enjoyable one, spent with the brothers of Rainbow City Lodge No. 277, B. M. & I. S. B. of A.

The annual election of officers held by Rainbow City Lodge No. 277 Wednesday evening resulted as follows:

President, Jas. Goodman, 172 Alabama st.; Vice President, Michael Nolan; Financial Secretary, Jos. Colbear; Recording Secretary, John Parsons; Corresponding Secretary, Alfred Wright, 244 Fulton st.; Treasurer, Duncan Campbell; Inspector, Wm. McGaugh; Inner Guard, Wm. Johnson.

~~~~~ LODGE 25. ~~~~~

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—We had nominations and election of officers at our last two meetings and installed the following officers, which you will note:

President, Thomas Dulleghan, 319 Fremont st.; Vice President, Timothy Crowley; Financial Secretary, Thomas Sheridan, 917 Connecticut st, near Amy; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, James J. McEvoy, 640 Howard st.; Treasurer, John Connolly, 243 Fremont; Inside Guard, John McCarthy, 1001 Florida street; Outside Guard, F. Connolly, 411 Harrison st.

Well, Brother Gilthorpe, I wanted to tell you something for the Journal so you can insert the officers elected and I will now tell you about a terrible explosion which took place here on December 3, 1902, on board the steamship Progress, while being transformed into an oil carrying boat from a collier, in which six or seven of our esteemed brothers lost their lives and as many more were injured.

The brothers so far taken from the wreck are Dennis Gallagher, James Maguire, A. Nelson, and I do not think they got any more so far, but among the injured are Brothers G. McEnery, who will not recover for a long while, and several more whom I cannot think of at this writing.

We have gotten up a subscription for the widows and orphans and survivors of this catastrophe and placed it in the hands of the San Francisco Examiner, one of Hearst's newspapers, which already amounts to $1,500 and hope to keep the good work up.

Well, as I have no more news this time I will now bring my letter to a close, hoping to hear from you soon and with happy returns of the season, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

JAMES J. McEVOY,

Rec. and Cor. Sec'y Lodge No. 25.

DISTRICT LODGE NO. 7, BOSTON, MASS. ORGANIZER FOR THE BOILERMAKERS.

John J. Minton of East Boston was yesterday elected New England organizer for the boiler makers and Iron Shipbuilders, the organization of the New England district lodge of that craft having been completed at a meeting at 45 Eliot st. during the afternoon. Delegates were present from the unions of Providence, New Haven, Hartford, Springfield, Norwood, Cambridge, Lawrence, Lowell, Fitchburg, Groton, Conn.; Bath, Me., and Boston. The by-laws reported by the committee were adopted, and it was decided to conduct a vigorous campaign of organization.

New England District Lodge No. 7 was permanently organized on the 28th of December. A large and interesting meeting was held on Jan. 4, 1903. The following are the officers of the District Lodge:

James F. Galvin, President; John J. Galvin, Vice President; Thomas R. Keenan, Treasurer and Corresponding Secretary; Patrick J. Norris, Recording Secretary; William McNabb, Inspector; John J. Minton, Business Agent.

Fraternally yours,

THOMAS R. KEENAN.

Enclosed you will please find a list of the lodges who have so kindly contributed to the raffle held for Brother Alex. Workman, District Lodge 214 and which received the sanction of the Grand Lodge. We unite with Brother Workman in expressing our sincere thanks for the generosity of the Brotherhood at large and should occasion arise, we shall be most happy to do what we can for any one else. If there should be any lodges who are not accredited on the list with any money sent to us, the committee will make same good if they will notify the Corresponding Secretary of No. 214. The watch was won by Brother Jas. Connor, Lodge 214, the lucky number being No. 1967.

Yours fraternally,

H. SENIOR.

LODGE 170.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 14.—I received your letter of the 8th all O. K. In regards to the shipyard here will say the company went in the hands of the receiver December 23, 1902. The regular pay day being January 3, 1903, we all went down to the yards to get our pay and they had put up a notice saying they could not pay off on account of not having any money, therefore placing us in very bad circumstances, as we had eight days pay owing us. They were going to work January 5, then they put up a notice that they would start up the 12th; afterwards they put up another notice stating that they would possibly go to work in 30 days. Then the men went down and got their time slips; also seen a lawyer and he told us we would have to file labor liens for our wages, saying that was the only way to do unless we sold our slips, which we did from 10 to 20 per cent off on the dollar, this being the only way we could get any money to live on.

All the members have left town but myself and one more member, but expect they will come back when the yard goes to work again. I hope in the next mail to send you the balance of our indebtedness for the fourth quarter 1902. Here is a copy of the charges preferred against Brother J. J. Hickey, which the lodge wishes published in the Journal, First. Leaving the city with funds of this lodge No. 170 amounting to $54.98, also leaving his books, receipts and all papers, the property of this lodge, exposed in his boarding house in a tin box. The above charge has been preferred against him after repeated efforts to adjust same through lodge No. 57 and by corresponding with him, but the only replies were evasive. The lodge sent the President, Brother Thomas Clark, to Portsmouth to see him. The reply was that he would telegraph the money to him. These charges were preferred four weeks afterward.

P. A. WILLIAMS, V. P.

THOS. CLARK, Pres.

Here is some more that we have voted to suspend, Brother John Sweeney, A. Grant 20370, Fred Smith, A. Wilson, 20369, W. S. Rolph 19664, E. M. Hughes 19,659, H. C.

Bass, Arnold Ellkee 19663, Tom Robinson 9090, Paul Gardner, W. H. Taylor, leaving only 19 members on our roll. They promised to square up the first of the year.

With best wishes, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

G. W. SMITH, Fin. Sec'y.

LODGE 2.

EAST ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 15.—Allow us space in next issue of the Journal. It has been some time since we wrote and I suppose everybody thinks we are no more unless they hear from us, but we are still alive and living seven days per week. Well, we had an election of officers and following the election a grand smoker. We all had a nice time, with plenty to smoke, drink and eat. Our committee on arrangements was Brothers Williamson, Lynch and Freeman, and we couldn't have gotten a better committee, for they had things fixed up to order. We will have to ask our sister lodges for a pardon and explain matters in regards to failing to answer communications promptly. It was this way, our regular Corresponding Secretary having left the city, we elected another to fill the unexpired term and failed to have it changed in the Journal. Well, now there is something else in regards to Mr. Ira Watts. He wrote us a letter for a bill of what he owed the lodge, stating he wanted to pay up and take out a withdrawal card, for he was in business of his own. Well, we searched the books, but no Watts could we find, but we knew the last card he had was granted by this lodge, for it never had been returned, but we know about the time you took the card out. Now, Ira, you had to pay $18 to No. 2 one time. Now don't let yourself have it to do again. It's easier to pay 50 cents or a $1.00 than it is so much. Well, following you will find a list of our newly elected officers:

President, J. H. Simon; Vice President, G. B. McElvey; Recording Secretary, J. H. Poyas; Corresponding Secretary, Tom Sears, 364 Woodward avenue, East Atlanta; Financial Secretary, J. P. Buchanan; Treasurer, Pat Clarke; Inspector, Ed. Freeman.

I will close with best regards to all brothers.

J. P. BUCHANAN, Fin. Sec'y.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—You will please excuse the liberty I take in trespassing on your valuable time. I am not a Boilermakers' Union man, but the next best—a Boilermaker's wife. I am proud of the same. The remarks I would like to have inserted in the Journal is to call the attention of the omission, unintentionally I presume, of the writer of the article in the December number. My husband has for the past year represented officially lodge No. 25 I think faithfully. Sent photos of the Labor Day floats, also arrangement committee and the article failed mention the President of No. 25, as such, even mention him as one of the committee. It would have pleased even an amateur photographer, first class Boilermaker or a around union man. Please give this space and oblige, BOILERMAKER'S WIFE.

LODGE 115 BOILERMAKERS.

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 25.—Regular meeting held last Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Peter Kaiser.

Vice President, James Murphy.

Recording and Corresponding Secretary, C. Kapanke.

Financial Secretary, J. Seburn.

Treasurer, C. Helwig.

Inspector, Martin McHugh.

Trustees, J. B. White, A. McDonald, Shepherd.

Delegates to Trades and Labor Council, B. White, Ambrose McDonald, J. Shepherd, Peter Kaiser, Martin McHugh.

The Boilermakers are now separated from the Shipbuilders and they report that they are doing well and they do not expect any trouble this spring.

LODGE 331 IRON SHIPBUILDERS.

PORT HURON, Mich., Jan. 3.—Regular meeting held last Monday evening at the Frazier hall, Huron avenue. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, John Adams.

Vice President, William Hobson.

Recording Secretary, Joseph Wayner.

Corresponding Secretary, Frank Seney.

Financial Secretary, Wm. Kemp.

Treasurer, Julius Glard.

Inner Guard, John Welsh.

Outer Guard, William Brandimore.

Inspector, Mike Kinney.

Trustees, Mike Kinney, Jesse Knight and Oscar Huffinger.

While this is one of our new locals it is one of the strongest, from the fact that its membership comprises all the skilled mechanics of their craft. This was brought about by Mr. McNeil, their International President, who visited here some time ago and completed the necessary arrangements which separated the Shipbuilders from the Boilermakers.

JOURNAL NOTES FROM LODGE 1.

Rec. Sec. Allen took his card out to put in L. 220. We lose a good officer.

John Troeger has been elected business agent for the coming six months. The brother is an old member of L. 1, and well qualified for the job.

Bros. Condon and Symonds took out cards for L. 227.

We adopted the agreement made at Pittsburgh with Structural Workers' union.

For the benefit of inquiring brothers as to how many boilers are in use in Chicago, I will enclose Boiler Inspector Blaney's report. The assistants in the office get $100 a month. Some of those holding positions there are Tom Conroy, John Crowley, J. Gonio, Martin Conroy, Wm. Lump, all members of L. 1.

BOILER INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

Mayor's Office, January 5th, 1903.

To the Honorable, the City Council:

Gentlemen—I beg leave to transmit herewith the annual report of James C. Blaney, city boiler inspector, which I would ask to have published and placed on file.

Respectfully,

CARTER H. HARRISON, Mayor.

CORRECTION.

My attention has been called to an article in your October number, page 401, in which my name has been used as scabbing on Union Pacific.

I have been foreman boiler maker for the Lehigh Valley R. R. at Buffalo, for the last three years, and resigned the latter part of November, 1902, which proves itself that I was not on or near the U. P. system.

I have turned this matter over to Garden City, No. 1, but they are pretty slow in straightening this matter out, so I thought I would drop you a few lines, hoping to solicit your help, as that article is the rankest piece of black mail and scandal a man could be subjected to.

I received a letter from an official of U. P. R. R. last August or September, tendering me a position as foreman boiler maker at a very fat salary, which I did not accept. So probably this is what they were referring to, but surely that would not condemn a man.

Now, what I want is to be put right in the face of all, and that article to be contradicted in your next Journal, for I will not bother with this matter any longer, but will turn same over to my lawyers.

This is a matter I hate to do, as I am a boiler maker, not a shoe maker, and also have a brother in this lodge in good standing.

I also expect to start a contract shop in the spring which you see in the face of all this would not look right for our cause. Hoping a thorough pursuance of my case, and an early reply.

Yours respectfully,

GERALD W. NOLAN,
6747 Prairie ave., Chicago, Ill.

DO ALL YOU CAN TO MAKE THIS EFFECTIVE.

Strike Still On!

Do not file, but take action at once. The rubber season is now on and active work is necessary.

The Rubber Workers' Union 8622, A. F. of L. of Cambridge, Mass., wish to notify all organized toilers that we are still fighting the Hood Rubber Co., of Boston, Mass., and appeal for the support and co-operation of our brothers and sisters in this our long fight and determined struggle against the Hood Rubber Co.—Extract from circular adopted April 25, 1901.

Whereas, the Rubber Workers of Cambridge, Mass., and vicinity have declared a strike against the Hood Rubber Co. for the abolition of the following:

The Padrone system, under which Asiatic labor replaced the skilled Rubber Workers by purchasing their jobs, abolishment of the foreman and agents who fostered it, unjust fining discrimination against Union men and women, and several others that space will not permit to enumerate, we with your assistance have already demonstrated to the Hood Rubber Co., the strength of organized labor, and we ask for your future moral support.

The rubber boots, shoes and articles are branded "Hood Rubber Co.," or "Old Colony Rubber Co.," unmarked rubbers and "Independent Rubber Co.," are also theirs.

No other firm fears to mark their goods.

Please take action.

LODGE 37.

A small space in our Journal would please Crescent City Lodge 37 very much. Having been elected corresponding secretary I think an apology is due before you read any more, as this is my first experience as Journal correspondent.

Christmas Eve being our last meeting last year, the election of officers was held later. The following officers were duly elected: President, Ed. Dupre; vice president, William Blake; treasurer, Leigh Watkins; financial secretary, J. H. Nixon; recording secretary, W. J. Stackelum; corresponding secretary, Frank Lasker; inspector, Henry Whipker; guard, Joe Duffy.

The election of officers was very satisfactory, but both the members and president elect, regretted very much that our former President, J. T. Shea, was compelled to decline the nomination on account of accepting a position out of the city.

We also regret to announce the fact, as Brother Shea has been an earnest worker in the cause, and we might say the standard bearer in the city of N. O., but we hope in a very short time to hear that Brother Shea has been the cause of another prosperous lodge in Gulfport, Miss., where he is now employed.

However, the officers elected will continue to work to the welfare of the lodge and endeavor to overcome some of the obstacles which are well known to the grand lodge.

Our fifth grand ball, on Dec. 13th, was a grand success both socially and financially.

Too much credit cannot be given Brother McGough, as chairman of the ball committee, and his aids, as their management was complete. Brother Maison being the center of attraction, did more than entertain the ladies, (and he did it so politely). The members of Lodge 37 wish to thank the public for their generous patronage, and hope we will all be together at our next.

Wishing the Brotherhood a most prosperous New Year, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

FRANK LASKER, C. S.

With profound sympathy for the bereaved parents, it becomes my painful duty to report the death of the 6-year-old son of our brother, Geo. Mahan and wife.

May the Divine Ruler who giveth and taketh away, give the parents strength and Christian fortitude to bear up under this, their great sorrow, is the prayer of the brothers of Lodge 117.

De Soto, Mo.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 20, 1903.

The following bit of news concerning Wm. O'Hara of Pittsburg Local No. 154 will no doubt be of interest to his many friends throughout the United States and to the craft in general, therefore I send it to you for publication in your official Journal.

It seldom occurs that a business agent is elected to that office without at least some opposition, and Mr. O'Hara's recent unanimous election as business agent of Pittsburg Local No. 154 reflects the great esteem in which he is held by his fellow workmen, and is but a fitting reward for his many years of untiring and energetic effort in the interest of unionism. Besides, his unanimous election is an unprecedented proceeding in the annals of local lodges. While Local No. 154 has gained a most capable and efficient business agent in Bro. O'Hara, they have lost a most worthy and energetic worker in Bro. Brady, who recently resigned the position to which Bro. O'Hara was elected. "Bill," as Bro. O'Hara is familiarly called by his many friends, first commenced his union career in 1863, when at the age of 15, his restless spirit prompted him to bid farewell to his birth place, the good old state of New York, and with a boy's fearlessness, he set sail for foreign shores, and the uppermost thought during his journey was of visiting dear old "Erin Go-braugh!" Arriving at Belfast during the month of June, 1863, he was more than delighted to find at the American house, a large gathering of Boiler Makers & Iron Ship Builders, who were formulating an organization to be known as the Boiler Makers & Iron Ship Builders of Great Britain, and it is needless to state that "Bill" immediately joined their ranks and from that date became a staunch advocate and supporter of unionism, adhering strictly to their principles and taking a great interest in the welfare and upbuilding of the "down-trodden" masses. Returning to this country he was enthusiastic in his praise of the many benefits he had derived by becoming part and parcel of that noble organization across the "Pond." Being of a roving and adventurous disposition he was unable to content himself for any great length of time in this country and he longed for another voyage across the water, so, gathering his "hammers" together, he again set sail. He arrived on the other side in time to enter the Franco-Prussian war of '70-'71, but he did not, for the reason that "Bill" would at all times rather arbitrate than fight. During his "sojourn abroad," Bill visited many foreign cities of note in the ship building and iron industry line, and gathered much valuable information appertaining to that line of work. Notwithstanding the many hardships endured by Brother O'Hara, he is today as hale and hearty as a boy of fifteen, and his greatest faculty is that of locating "scabs" in the most darkest hours of Smoky Pittsburg. If a scab should, by chance, drop in he is soon captured by Brother Bill and the application applied by Brother Bill is sure to purify the system of the "worst scab" this world has ever produced. Brother O'Hara is well and favorably known throughout the city, both by employer and employee, and through his honesty, sincerity and knowledge of the trade union movements, he has won for himself many friends in both classes. In giving these details of Bill's career, I wish the members at large to clearly understand that I was not a "Boon companion" of Brother Bill in his wonderful, but worthy career, but I do possess positive proof of the veracity of above stated facts. From one who knows.

Calumet lodge No. 34, H. D., gave their first grand ball Jan. 17th, which was a grand success, clearing $175. I tell you, Calumet lodge has got a lot of good hustlers in it.

RECEPTION TO JOHN M'NEIL AND BRIDE.

Striking Boilermakers Made Merry Over the Wedding of Their Leader.

Last night Labor Temple was the scene of an enthusiastic reception to John M'Neil, grand president of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers & Iron Shipbuilders, and his bride, who, until Saturday, was Miss Nellie Huffaker of Quindaro, Kan.

The reception was arranged during the day by a committee. The boilermakers of local lodges No. 28 and 38, assembled with wives and sweethearts, and witnessed a presentation to Mr. McNeil of a fine gold-headed cane.

Joseph Scheidt, in behalf of the boilermakers and helpers, made the presentation, and congratulated President McNeil on what he called "a most graceful plunge into wedded bliss and happiness."

A program of nine numbers was given, after which refreshments were served. The happy occasion was ended with a dance, which lasted until midnight. High-five party also took up a portion of the evening, at which the first prize for women, a pocket-book, was won by Miss Anna McGrath, and the booby prize, a doll, fell to Miss Eva Bradley. Mr. Murphy carried off the men's prize, a gold-mounted pipe of French briar, and President McNeil distinguished himself by winning the booby, a bottle of ketchup.

Roster of officers of No. 38, elected at our last regular meeting for the ensuing year: President, Jas. D. Murphy, No. 2009 Pierce st.; vice president, Martin Douglas, No. 3001 Chicago st.; corresponding and financial secretary, Chris. F. Joern, No. 622 So. 13th st.; treasurer, Gordon Thorpe, No. 2702 Manderson st.; recording secretary and Journal correspondent, Jas. Scheidt, No. 1716 Cumming st. You will pardon me for not sending this matter in sooner, which I would have done were it not for the fact that we also desired to send in an account of the reception to Brother McNeil and his estimable wife, provided by the members of Nos. 38 and 28, and therefore, concluded to make one job of the whole thing. Hoping that our postponement will cause you as little inconvenience as possible, I remain,

Fraternally yours.

Newport News, Jan. 19, 1903.

Having been elected Journal correspondent I will endeavor in the future to keep our brothers posted at to the progress of No. 55.

There has of late been a great deal of interest shown in the various questions that have been presented to the local, and it has had a good effect upon the attendance, which has increased at each meeting night. There is one matter that has caused and will continue to cause a lot of talk in our local, and if we could get other locals to discuss it we probably would be able to show a better membership, and it is this. As it is well-known that to secure work in this city it is not necessary to have card, and there are a lot of so-called union men when they come here either refuse to deposit their card, or if they do, soon allow themselves to get in arrears and although we have lots of men following the different branches of the business, we have a comparatively small membership. We are doing our best to get them in line, and while meeting with some success, we could do a great deal better.

We have had a lot of sickness in our local lately, but we hope that the worst is over.

We are giving a ball at the Casino on the 23rd of this month, and the committee in charge say they are going to make it a success.

At the last election of officers we had quite a friendly contest for some of the officers, and when time was called the result was: W. K. Hutchins, president; D. M. Powell, vice president; Robt. McArthur, treasurer; Geo. West, financial secretary; Stewart Scott, corresponding secretary; L. Dwyer, recording secretary, making a corps of officers which are hard to beat. There is lots of work here.

We have a lot of brothers here who belong to No. 170, and if they will drop in on us we will give them a hearty welcome. Of course, this applies to each and every brother who visits this city.

Hoping this will reach you in time for January's Journal, I remain,

Fraternally,

J. K. MOLLOY,

L. 172.

Mr. Editor: If you will allow 172 a small space in the Journal I would like to inform you of our election of officers for the com-ng year. The old set of officers did so well last year that the boys had a big blow-out at the election of the old set for the coming year. I can safely say our president is a hustler and a great worker for the lodge. You will find his picture inclosed, and I wish you would put it in the Journal, 'or I think he is worthy of it. Our financial secretary, J. Morgan, is a worker also, and it takes some one that is a hustler to get some of the brothers to pay their dues. Some of them always have a big bluff to put up, but hereafter, bluff don't go. They will either come up with their dues or see their names in the Journal. It is pretty plain talk, but you have got to be a pretty plain speaker with thoughtless people.

After the installment of officers Brother Kennan of Boston, made some fine remarks on the good and wefare of orders through the states. Brother Robert Fibbins opened the program with some of his fine selections that he had prepared for the occasion. Brother Kelley rendered some of his vocal selections and Brother Griger did credit to the boys with his fine music. But Brother Morrison was the lion of the evening with his own composed selections. Brother Hammers' quartet rendered some fine singing. Also, after late hours the boys voted a good time and wondered if they will have as good a time at our coming ball that we are planning for Feb. 6, which I hope they will.

Yours truly,

A. L. McCOOL, J. C.

Never having seen anything in the Journal about Dewey Lodge No. 21HD, I wish to state that the boys here are all standing pat, and looking forward to an early settlement of the strike.

I intended to tell you all about our lodge, but having got hold of my wife's pen, and not knowing it was loaded. When it went off with this terrible result. It being too late to change this, I hope there will be no serious cases of sickness from reading.

"THE ENGINEER'S FATE."

Last night in a dream by some strange chance of fate,

It seemed that I was standing just outside the Golden Gate;

When up rushed one whom I knew on earth an engineer;

Loud he cried, hurry with your orders, don't keep me waiting here.

Hold! cried St. Peter sternly, your case must first be tried,

You will have to show your union card before you get inside.

The engineer looked down, he was thinking strong;

Then he said of course, I have one, but

I forgot to fetch it along,

There is nothing to keep me out, you need not fear,

I'm what the company called their model engineer.

Then the clerk spoke up; St. Peter, his name I have it here;

For full ten years he has been a railroad engineer.

He never played cards, liquor he never drank,

And below the moral of railroad men he has never sank;

But wait one moment, what is it we have here?

The words are badly blotted by the reading angel's tear.

Last June the master mechanic told him with a glow of gab,

That to haul a train of strike breakers was not to be a scab.

What! cried Peter, you listened and from unionism fell!

The best I can do for you is to let you haul scabs to H—ll.

Respectfully and fraternally submitted,
Reporter of Lodge No. 21HD.

LODGE 61.

New Haven, Jan. 8, 1903.

Well, having the honor to be appointed J. C. for Local 61, and not having seen our name in print yet, I think we are entitled to a small space, just to let the people know we still live.

We have grown from a small band of about thirty a year ago to something over sixty to start the New Year with, and under better condition than ever before, for we have been receiving time and a half for all over time, Sunday nights and holidays. Thanks to the combined efforts of our brothers all along the N. Y. N. H. & Hartford system. And quite a few of our brothers in 61 that a year ago were wondering around by their lonesome, decided to take that step which gives them a chance to pay board for two. Even our worthy president surprised us all by knocking off one day, and when he came in again he had a meal ticket for two, also our foreman, he got all balled-up and was presented with a handsome chamber-set by the boys in the shop. The presentation speech was made by Brother James McIntosh, jr., assistant foreman, in a few well chosen remarks.

And don't forget our brothers that have been in that blessed state for years, for they are all doing business at the old stand, for Brothers Shanley, Riggots, McCusker and Lawton all have a young rivet heater, that we hope will live to be able to take out a card in a few years and let the old men smoke their pipes "In the good old summer time."

O'Donnell is off today. I didn't hear yet, but I suppose that is a boy too.

Business is quite good here, all working full time and over time, and any brothers coming this way will be used right, but we ask that he has a good card, otherwise we don't put ourselves out much, and we request that anyone meeting any brothers from 66 with a bum card make him get it up-to-date, for there is no excuse for any of them being behind.

A short time ago a delegation from 237 attended our meeting, and afterwards Brother McNeil took a flash light of the bunch with P. Griffin in front with his flute. Then we listened to some very instructing and entertaining remarks from the Hartford boys, and when they had to leave for the train at 12, they took with them the best wishes of 61.

Hoping to see this feeble effort in the next copy of our Journal, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

F. P. H., J. C.

LODGE 250.

Lodge 250 held its second annual meeting Jan. 11, 1903, which was largely attended, and after installing the newly elected officers for the coming year, our newly elected president, Brother Peter L. Mitchell, was called upon for a speech, and responded by making a stirring address on the benefits of being organized for mutual protection. He also strongly appealed to the members to attend the meetings and pay their dues regularly. After the regular business of the meeting had been finished and just before adjourning, Brother James Galvin, just about to give up his office as president, was called on for a speech, and after making a few well chosen remarks, in which he thanked the members for their kindness in the past, he concluded by inviting the members to retire to an adjoining hall, where a smoketalk and concert would be held for the remainder of the day.

The smoketalk was one that the boys of Lodge 250 will long remember. After a few rounds of refreshments had been served the boys commenced to look for the concert part of the program. Brother John F. Burns was the first to respond with a new phonograph, which he had smuggled into the hall on the quiet. He had furnished a number of the latest songs and selections of the day, which were well received. This had the desired result of making the boys feel musical. Next on the program was Brother Thomas Brough. This brother, who has a sweet baritone voice, sang several songs before he could return to his seat, among them being "Sweet Eyes of Irish Blue, The Old Kentucky Home, and I am leaving the Erin." Dennis O'Brien was next with his old favorite hit, "How Dry I am." Brother Peter McGirk was next and he sang the Sword of Bunkerhill, which was well received. Brother Peter Mitchell and P. J. Walsh sang together the Old Rusty Mill, and in answer to the encore they sang in fine style, Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep. This was too much for Brother Highland, who had spotted a set of swords standing in the far corner of the hall. He was up in a jiffy and challenged Brother Rowen to a duel. This was accepted in a hurry, and after they got started they made the old steel ring to beat the band. Finally it got too warm for them, and with favors about even the contest was declared a draw. Brother Rowan then sang that well known Irish ballad, Barney Come Home, and To get even with him Brother Highland sang, I Don't Belong to the Regulars; I Am Only a Volunteer. Next was a song and dance by Brother Jerry Hayes entitled, A Jolly Boy From Cork. This was fine. Brother Collins was next on the program with a song entitled, My Bessie. Cornet solos by Brother Galvin entitled, Alice, Where Art Thou, The Old Folks at Home, and Comrades. Brother James Pilkington of Lodge 218, was then called on and after making a nice little speech, he sang in a fine, clear voice, The Irishman's Shamrock. Brother Ed Reardon sang, In the Good Old Summer Time. Brother McGirk danced an Irish gig for a change, after which he performed some very clever Reed slight of hand tricks in the corner with a jug and glass. Song by Collins and Thayer, Why Don't We Buy Old Ireland; They Thought They Could, Too. The success of the smoker was largely due to the efforts of the committee in charge, who labored in every way possible to make everything satisfactory to all. The committee was, Peter L. Mitchell, chairman, assisted by E. J. Reardon, P. J. Norris, David Yule, T. F. Riley.

Not wishing to take any more space in your valuable Journal I will now close, with best wishes and kindest regards. I remain,

Fraternally yours,

LODGE 128.

Toronto, Jan. 23, 1903.

It is with pleasure I write these lines to show you Queen City Lodge 128 is not dead, for we will show you by our last regular meeting, after having called a special meeting for the nomination and election of officers for the coming year. Brother Richard Woodward, president; Brother Thos. Brownlee, vice president, 508 Adelaide st; Brother Thos. Higgins, treasurer, 52 Stafford st; Brother Wm. Hardy, financial secretary, 72 Dover Court; Brother John Marshall, corresponding secretary, 86 Gladstone ave; Brother Wm. Hess, recording secretary, 47 Palmerston ave; Brother Norman Smith, Journal correspondent, 269 Palmerston ave; Brother Joe Care, inside guard; Brother Wm. Damp, outside guard.

After the following officers were duly elected and installed they had a concert and refreshments, of which they all did justice and kept it going in full swing till the small hours of the morning. No intermission was allowed, on account of the long program.

PROGRAM.

Brother Joseph Carr, song.
Brother John Thompson, song.
Brother Wm. Robertson, song.
Brother John Marshall, song.
Brother William Frost, Scotch songs.
Brother Wm. Smith, song and chorus.
Brother J. W. Smith gave us a few catchy songs.

Brother Wilson, song.
Brother Richard Woodworth, song, Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep.
Brother Wm. Leban, coon songs.
Brother Sam Wilson, song.

They ate and drank heartily while this was going on, after which we had a few words from Brothers Myrtle Shea and Steve Cruite and address from the retiring president, who held an office in this lodge since it was first started, but could not attend regularly on account of being out of town. Brother Walter Robinson, who held back, was made to come forth and sing, which he did in first class style, singing: These Were the Words McKinley Said to Me, and was met with such loud applause he sang for encore, On the Bonnie Bench at the Round House.

Before the lodge closed there was a hearty vote of thanks for the retiring officers, after which Brother Wm. Kerr and Brother Marshall were presented with a drawing set and writing desk for their faithful services rendered.

Hoping you receive this in time for publication in February's Journal, I am,

Yours truly,

NORMAN SMITH,
269 Palmerston ave.

L. 82.

Lodge No. 82 would like to hear from the following: Brothers Jas. Callahan, reg. No. 5612; P. J. O'Hern, reg. No. 12138; P. Duer, reg. No. 11445.

It is to the interests of above members that they correspond with secretary of 82:

J. W. CHURCHILL,
Osawatomie, Kan.

L. 237.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 18, 1903.

B. M. & I. S. B. of America held a ball of the evening of Nov. 11, 1902.

What a beautiful night they picked out.

Oh! how it snowed and blowed. A regular old time blizzard, but we got enough of good people there to square ourselves and get out of debt. Yes, and a little to the good.

The grand march started a little late on account of the fierce weather, but it was a good sized one at that. M. J. Conway of the Prompters' Union looked after it, while Brother John Hay, president of 237 and wife led, followed by past president, Brother M. P. McGowan; past president, Brother J. C. Riley and wife; recording secretary, Jas. McNeill and wife; Brother J. J. Smith and wife; Brother J. Burford and wife, Brother Wm. Donlin and best girl, Brother J. Bevans and best girl.

Every couple in the hall got in then to make up a nice looking promenade.

Brother Burford had charge of floor, and it was equal to the Union O. K. Music, but he could not take care of the floor committee. Brother Doulin had his eye on a sweet girl, but could not win her, so it was all off. Brother Bevans got his girl all right; no one could catch her eye. Brother Smith bought more ice cream than the whole bunch. You are all right Joe, keep on just the same way. Mrs. J. J. Smith looked fine after her long stay in the hospital. Don't give up. Brother Dan Haley brought more nice ladies to the ball than all the rest of the brothers. Brother John Murphy was not pretty to him, but did not have quite so many. Brother Wm. P. Sheehan and wife seemed to enjoy themselves. Brother Riley and Miss Riley had good times, but Johnny forgot his snap shooter.

In the refreshments Mrs. McGowan said Brother McGowan gave away too much ice cream for the money, but Mrs. Glynn stuck up for him, so there was no more argument. Brother David Burnett handled the bar, but he is in doubt as to who sold the most beer, Brother Pete Casidy of Brother Clancy, they both claim the honor. We don't know who sold it, but they did well, anyhow. When Brother Chas. Allerdice showed the receipts of the check room we were surprised. Now we know why he did not want to leave the check room. Even when Mrs. Allerdice and daughters came after him, he did not want to leave. Brother John Casidy was not in a good humor, the storm kept his girl away. Brother Sam Wilson had a good time, he and Brother David Anderson did not get far away from the bar. J. J. Coughlin and wife had a good time and Jerry was ready for any kind of work. Brother John Harrigan was busy in the refreshment room. Brother John Sheedy enjoyed himself, but one of the brothers heard him say, I got my eye on all of you, and he did. Brother Thos. Nary and daughter, Miss Mary, of Springfield, Mass., were there and had a good time. Brother Enions of Lodge 218, Springfield, Mass., and another brother, whose name we don't want to mention, because some of the Hartford girls wanted to find it out were there, and had a good time. Everybody had a good time, so 237 is game. Come to our next.

LODGE 317 OFFICERS.

POINT RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 8.—Contra Costa Lodge No. 317 elected the following officers for 1903:

W. McDonald, President; A. M. Cool, Vice President; E. E. Duncan, Recording Secretary; A. J. Timmons, Treasurer; John Cool, Corresponding Secretary; A. Anderson, Financial Secretary.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 19, 1902.

Mr. George McKeon, Chairman, Representing Boilermakers employed on Pac. Sys. S. P. Co., 909 Peralta st., Oakland, Cal.

Dear Sir: Replying to your communication dated 15th inst. advising me that your committee had decided to accept my proposition of December 10th, this proposition being as follows:

First, to increase the standard rate of pay for boilermakers from 35 cents per hour to 36½ cents per hour, at points where 35 cents per hour is now the standard rate of pay.

Second, to increase the rate of boilermakers at Wadsworth from 37½ cents per hour to 38 cents per hour.

Third, the standard rate of pay for boilermakers at all other points to remain as at present.

Fourth, that apprentices will be allowed the standard rate of pay at shops where employed, one year after having completed their term of apprenticeship, provided he qualifies as a first class, competent boilermaker. If not competent, he shall be dismissed from the company's service.

Fifth, shop rule No. 8 of our "Shop Rules" reads as follows: "Helpers or laborers must not be advanced to the detriment of mechanics or apprentices, but must be confined to such rough work as is not identified with the technical occupations of boilermakers, blacksmiths or mechanics."

This will be strictly enforced, it being understood that the definition of boiler work includes boiler inspection and testing, flanging and laying out, patching, rivetting, chipping and calking all steam, water and air-tight work, round house boiler work and all sheet iron work made from No. 10 gauge iron or steel, and upwards. Boilermakers shall hold all handle tools and hydraulic rivetting machines and pneumatic hammers on boiler work, construction and repairs.

Sixth, piece work, as applied to boiler repair work, will be discontinued.

Seventh, no change in these instructions to be made without thirty days' notice from either the committee representing the Boilermakers, Southern Pacific Company, Pacific System or the railroad company.

In effect Jan. 1, 1903.

Yours truly,

H. J. SMALL,
Gen. Supt. M. P.

LODGE 4.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 28, 1903.—I hope you will find a little space in your next issue of the Journal for Lodge 4, as we are just recovering from a long strike in Birmingham, and am glad to say the wages were increased from 30 cents to 35 cents per hour on contract and furnace company work, and railroad company work from 29 cents to 31 cents per hour. The boilermakers of No. 4 are strike fighters to their hearts, and better union men have never breathed the breath of life. I don't want to say anything about the scabs. The poor ignorant lads left the shops wondering why the union men would not work with them. We have had several applications for membership from these scabs, but none of them have ever been successful. John Stewart is one of them; he did not know the strike was on until it was all over, poor ignorant fellow. John R. Williams is another; he says he is going to Mexico and change his name; he did not know scabbing was a disgrace until it was all over. W. R. Ross, better known 66, is another one; he thinks the union men ought to work with him because he has a family. Poor ignorant fellow, he did not know there were other boilermakers who had families until the strike was all off. Hall is one more; he wears glasses; a helper from the Birmingham Boiler Works; tried to scab for two months but wasn't machinist enough. He thinks the boilermakers ought to work with him so that he can learn the trade.

Lodge 264 elected officers for the year of 1903. They are:

George Saers, president, 17 Oak street, Richmond Hill, L. I.

M. H. Wall, vice-president, 23 Vandveer street, Brooklyn.

John Loemz, financial secretary, 685 Metropolitan avenue, Brooklyn.

John Dolan, R. and C. secretary, Chestnut street, Richmond Hill, L. I.

John Stiner, treasurer, Union Court, L. I.
George Deamrest, 1957 Broadway, Brooklyn; Thos. Deamrest, 1957 Broadway, Brooklyn, and Henry Schmitt, Richmond Hill, L. I., trustees.

NO MAN IS ABOVE HIS FELLOW.

No matter in what station of life we are placed in we must endeavor to keep within our environments, and at no time seem to be of another class, equality of all men at birth is conceded as far as nature's laws are concerned, but it requires no great stretch of imagination to say that in years those that were equal at birth. Many of them at manhood's estate were and are in separate classes, vastly superior and vastly inferior in mental and intelligent ideas to each other, owing principally in what atmosphere they were raised, while the mental abilities can be equal, yet the surroundings in each case during childhood and young manhood, were so different that the equal conditions that existed at childhood became such a factor in shaping the character to such an extent that no equality existed at the age of maturity, yet all were born equal and are men, and while one may be pushing to acquire prominence and become great, yet he should not regard himself as above his fellows, as he simply finds himself in a position brought about by his environments and standing of his own family, which, if he did not receive the advantages of, would not be in a position to claim superiority over any person, while on the other hand, a man without standing or influence, if respectful, is considered the equal of any in the social scale. To a man of attainments, no position makes him forget his station in life, past or present, always mindful of the comfort of others, showing by his demeanor that his idea of life is to make the most of it and leave it better, because of being in it for a little while. The brightened minds, the most successful men in all ages, with but very few exceptions, were the most innocent and the most easily approached by every person, which, in itself alone would prove that great men realize the necessity of recognizing the equality of all men. It is a fair deduction, taken from thousands of cases, that the brilliant mind is not one to affect superiority over his fellows, but in the make-up of the world it sometimes happens that the bright, noble man, refuses to do that which he pays others to do for him, so as not to appear in the roll of inconsistency or being above his fellows. Every station of life has its own recognized votaries, and it is a fixed principle with them to keep within their own sphere, yet, not apparently above those who are lower in the social scale, as all are men.

The above is true of the business world in a general way with very few exceptions, all owing to a certain degree, of the environments in which they entered, and which society has kept them in, because of meeting and dealing with all classes. Herein is the point of interest to all humanity. Associations generally form the business character of men, without intercourse with different people it is impossible for the mind to expand and become acquainted with the requirements of the business world, hence it is, that education is required by every individual to become the equal of his fellow when manhood's estate is reached, although the necessity for higher education is apparent, yet the education acquired by being in business is of great importance, and very often carries with it immense success, and generally expands the mind to lofty and high ideals, recognizing the equality of men. Among mechanics, in a general way, they are all the same, when scrutinized, great difference is perceptible, while humanity is all the same it is said, yet the character of mechanics are unlike the character of business men. This is through the lack of intercourse with the business world, as the commercial men recognize the equality of men, but mechanics are always superior to their fellows, with very few exceptions, wherein by acknowledging and praising their fellows, themselves would then become entitled to be called superior by others. It is an object much desired that all mechanics should be known and given credit by each other as equals. This course will compel others to do likewise, and thereby raise the dignity of the profession and give the incentive to higher ideals.

Remember, all complaints must come through the subordinate lodge, whether about brothers going wrong or about books and cards or any other cause.

It is absolutely necessary to prefer charges and try all brothers for violating the laws, working during the strike should be looked after very closely, and all data connected with the offense, and also synopsis of trial. Names, registered numbers of all offenders forwarded to this (G. S. T.) office for recording. Also this data should be recorded in the sub-lodge. The trouble in the Buffalo ship yard has been settled satisfactorily to Lodge 277.

It is very hard to guess correctly what a person desires that is one hundred or more miles away from us, when that person forwards letters, pedigree lists, supply blanks, that don't give name; number of lodge, city or state, but requires some business done. Very inconsiderate in any one to expect others to know their thoughts. Now it is expected that every supply list mailed, that every item will be filled out completely, each article required and cost given, number of lodge, city and state, and when goods or receipts are received should be entered on the minutes. Place return address on all letters and packages, as we have received many packages lately, but don't know who to thank and credit for. Some fifteen packages of ballots have been received without tally sheets. Such is not good business nor in line with instructions. Many of them without return address on them, as the law says the recording secretary should tabulate and forward all ballots on tally sheets.

With the extraordinary increase in organization all over the country, which is made possible by the energy displayed by the American Federation of Labor, we are enjoying our proportion very nicely, both in new and old lodges getting in line, but the point that should be understood best is how old members who are recovering their eyesight can be reinstated, as quite a number of such have sought instructions lately on this question. To those whose membership were in lodges that have, and is lapsed, Art. XIII, Sec. IV, will instruct in the right way, but all such business should come through a sub-lodge. In applying for reinstatement registered number, number of last lodge a member of, with last due book and card and cash for unpaid months. When the G. S. T. receives this he will credit the lodge on miscellaneous account and issue new book and card. A member of a lodge that is running must settle with that lodge, and no other, no matter how far he may be from it. Quite a number of good members become disgusted because the corresponding secretary does not comply with their request, as to amount due. Some secretaries do not even furnish or send a receipt for money received for such purpose.

Some few months ago attention was called to the unwarranted use of our emblem cut by Wm. Baumgarten of Baltimore, Md., and forcing his unfair product on the unwary. A notice, a few days ago, came to us from the far west. The reply was, don't have anything to do with the unfair product of the unfair firm, besides their articles are spurious, long way from being genuine. The buttons they make are unfair.

New due books and traveling cards are ready for 1903. Many lodges have procured them, but any that have not had better order them as soon as possible, as 1902 due books and stamps cannot be used on 1903 goods. Some lodges are very much exercised over what they will do with 1902 due stamps. To them the following statement will help. Let them count up total number of members reported for the twelve months ending Dec. 31, '02; then count number of due stamps received during same time; if more stamps have been received than members reported, return the overplus, but it won't do to report, say the average of 60 members per month, or a total of 720 for 12 months, and purchase due stamps for 500 members only, because that would only average 41 and two-third members per month, instead of 60, as reports show, thereby putting us to the expense of paying per capita of one-half cent per member to the A. F. of L. on members reported that don't pay for stamps.

Monthly reports are made in duplicate, so that the financial secretaries can keep a copy for comparison when making out future reports. Great care should be taken in carrying over the correct number last month as reported, and in adding and subtracting correctly all increase and decrease, giving registered numbers for each, also, the number organized must be the same number as reported in good standing. When unorganized men working at the business and eligible to join, are in the city, they should be reported as unorganized, so that the total organized and unorganized shall equal the total of employed and unemployed,

It is absolutely necessary to give figures every time. Don't say all or per cent on any portion of the report.

It must be remembered that registered numbers and complete pedigrees are for the purpose of protecting the members, as we have many members with same names, so when necessary to punish or praise one, when we have the correct number, the proper one receives his just dues, the good man don't have to suffer for the bad one. As all books are made to suit all financial and corresponding secretaries will see that all registered numbers and full pedigrees are placed on ledger and roll books when received, and avoid dual and in many cases treble numbers.

Lodges will return resolutions with seal and signature of President and Recording Secretary stating what action was taken on same. This is important for a record of all such.

Some time ago a circular was mailed to all lodges for rates of wages and hours in the different lines of business which our members are engaged in. Up to this writing possibly one hundred have answered. Those that have not will please fill out answers and mail to G. S.-T. for recording, and printing, so as to furnish all lodges a copy of same in condensed form.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:

This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of the JOURNAL by Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

My report for February Journal is written in Cheyenne, Wyo., where I am, per request of Dist. No. 4. Since last issue of the Journal I was called to New York to consult with the U. P. officials, as it was impossible for Pres. Burt to be in Omaha by the time set apart for the meeting we had arranged for in Omaha. Not being in the habit of meeting such officials unless accompanied by a committee, I notified them if they desired me to talk matters over with them in New York they would be required to furnish transportation for a committee of the men, as no agreement would be made by me unless those who were expected to live up to the agreement were present at the making of same, consequently transportation was furnished and Bro. E. F. Kennedy, president of Dist. No. 4, and Bro. Dave O'Donnell, president of No. 28, H. D., were the committee selected. On the 24th of December, 1902, we left Kansas City for New York, but owing to being delayed five hours in a snow storm we lost connection in Buffalo, consequently did not arrive in New York until the morning of the 27th, when we immediately called on Pres. Burt. Bro. Slocum, president of the blacksmiths, was present at the interview. Nothing was accomplished at the first meeting. Arrangements were made for another meeting. At the second interview Bro. Jas. O'Connell, president of the machinists, and Vice-Pres. Wilson, were present. After talking matters over for some time, Pres. Burt handed each of the committee a proposition with the request that we look the matter over. We adjourned to meet again in two days. In consulting with each other we decided to refuse the proposition made, or any other that included the merit system, and so notified the officials at our next meeting. As Mr. Burt desired to place our refusal and counter proposition before the stockholders, we adjourned until the 6th of January, as it was impossible for me to attend a meeting before that date, having arranged to be present at a meeting in Pittsburg, called by the A. F. of L., to arrange a demarcation line between the Structural Workers and the Boilermakers. The result of said meeting has been mailed all lodges for their approval. On Tuesday, the 6th of January, the committee again called on the U. P. officials to hear their answer to our counter proposition. Their answer was that they would grant an increase of wages, establish shop rules, regulate apprentices, reinstate all men that came out, but they insisted that the men should try the merit system, and stated they were satisfied if their proposition was placed before the men that they would accept. By such remarks they intimated that we were not representing the minds of the men. Not desiring to give the company any excuse, we decided to adjourn the meeting in New York and take the matter up again in Omaha. In the interval the various officers were to visit each lodge on the system, place before the men the proposition made by the company and have a vote taken on same and report the decision of the men at the meeting with the officials in Omaha. In complying with that arrangement I left New York and arrived in Kansas City on the 9th and remained in the office a few days, and started out over the Union Pacific on the 14th. Remained in Omaha until the 21st, during that time arranged for the final meeting with the company and the men, held several meetings and placed before the members the proposition of the company, which proposition the men refused so long as the merit system was entertained. On the 21st I arrived in North Platte and held a meeting of 118 and 20 H. D., with the same result. On the 24th I arrived in Cheyenne, Wyo., held a meeting of 46 and 21 H. D., on the 25th. They also decided to refuse any proposition from the company that contained the merit system. The various committees will be so instructed.

When in New York I took the opportunity of investigating for myself what assistance the Southern Pacific was giving the Union Pacific in their present trouble. I found there is a large number of stock holders in the U. P. that are in no way interested in the S. P. Also I am satisfied that the officials of the Southern Pacific could not settle the U. P. strike, and were not assisting the Union Pacific. They also give me the assurance that if we could find where any Southern Pacific officials were directly or indirectly assisting the U. P. to beat us they would see such work stopped at once, and assured me they would keep hands off. In the month of December the Boilermakers on the S. P. made a contract with that company and secured an increase of wages, regulated the apprentices, established shop rules and defined boilermakers' work, but said contract does not bind our men to work on Southern Pacific engines that may be doing work on other roads where our men may be on strike, but so long as the S. P. keeps their hands off and taking into consideration the fact that no other craft on the S. P. would come out, I consider it would be an injustice both to the boilermakers and the company for me to call our men out in sympathy with the U. P. The council is of same opinion. Should the coming interview with the U. P. officials not settle the strike, the possibilities are the council will decide on some other line of action.

Through holding interviews with the U. P. officials the report has been circulated that the strike was settled, in some cases men have returned to their homes. When the U. P. strike is settled, every lodge in the country will be notified, and no attention should be given newspaper reports. So keep all men back from the Union Pacific until notified by the Grand Lodge.

Again it becomes necessary for us to request lodges to keep down agitation in their districts until we dispose of the trouble now on hand. The present income of the Grand Lodge is not sufficient to support the number of men now on strike. In order to continue the present strikes I was compelled to take advantage of Art. IX, Sec. 2, Sub. Constitution. If council decides to make the call all lodges will be so notified.

Since writing the above a final conference was held with the U. P. officials, and as they insisted on the premium system, no arrangements could be made, as we absolutely refuse to work piece work under another name and until the officials decide to give up their pet scheme, known as the premium system, we will fight to a finish, so keep all men back from the U. P. system.

In another column will be found in tabulated form the result of the referendum vote on the various resolutions recommended by the Baltimore convention. The Boilermakers and Helpers vote are separate. If we added them together they would in no way change the result of voting on any of the resolutions, therefore no exception can be taken by anyone for allowing the Helpers vote on the resolutions. Three lodges in the Helpers Division have lost their vote through voting more members than they secured initiation stamps for. In the future the Helpers will be a separate body, have different constitution, ritual, secret work and pass word from the Boilermakers. Their due stamps will be reduced to 15 cents, initiation stamps 50 cents, and their assessment one-half the amount called for from Boilermakers. New work for Helpers Divisions will be drawn up and printed as soon as possible, also complete outfit for Ladies' Auxiliary.

A REPLY TO BRO. CRAWFORD.

Kansas City, January 20, 1903.—While visiting headquarters recently I was shown a letter received for the Journal from Bro. Crawford, of Lodge 35, purporting to be an article on "The Brotherhood—Referendum and Conventions." After reading same I came to the conclusion that Bro. Crawford is disguising his intents and using the Journal to give vent to a few sarcasms and criticisms, and doing it under the guise of a sort of series of essays headed in such a way as to mislead.

Now I am frank to say that if I was editor of our Journal such letters would not be published. In the first place, they are misleading. All through this letter are quotations or excerpts from different Journals—a mere sentence here and there—that are wholly incorrect as to meaning for the simple reason that the before and after sentences are left out and consequently the real causes that lead up to these utterances are gone and only a mere statement used to further the pretended argument of the writer.

And another point against publishing such arguments is that it is a disrupting article, written for the purpose of creating a feeling against our grand officers simply because they believe in the usefulness of the referendum, though neither of whom had a hand in making it.

I believe our Journal is for the Brotherhood and is conducted along that line and every brother who wishes to say a word about the laws that govern us, or the bad effects or the good points, should be allowed to do so, but I for one enter a protest right here against any member writing such articles and palming them off on the Brotherhood as arguments when in fact they are intended as long-winded ridicules, and smack very much of a "get-even" intent.

Just to show you how ridiculous it is to attempt to measure a man's ideas by a simple selection of a sentence, I quote Bro. Crawford in part. He says: "It is not princes we want, but honest men." Now by stopping right there it leaves the brother "in the air," so to speak, for it leaves the impression that Bro. McNeil and Bro. Gilthorpe are dishonest, etc., and yet Bro. Crawford means nothing of the kind. So, brothers, it's a mighty bad practice to judge the meaning by the tail end of a quotation.

Bro. Crawford seems very much set against the referendum. I am just as heartily in favor of it. I believe it's the best law ever adopted by an organization, and I for one would not go back to the old system of delegates fixing up laws for the many. Bro. Crawford seems to feel a little hurt because our G. P. O. said in the December Journal that those who wanted to move headquarters were political tricksters. He did not mean that everyone who voted for it was a trickster, but he meant, and I believe he was right, that the spirit of that scheme originated with a few who cringe when in the glare of criticism. Now, Bro. Crawford, just to show you that you do not know of the beauties of the referendum, I will point out one in which you can get the whole benefit in this identical Journal, and so can all the brothers. You say you voted to move headquarters. Several other delegates voted the same way, simply because the scheme was agitated by a few tricksters referred to by our G. P. O. This plan was so agitated and argued that it gained enough of the delegates' votes to carry the proposition in the convention. You were all happy. It was a great point gained, but right here is where the beauty of the referendum comes in. When this proposition was put to a vote of the members it was beaten so badly that there is little doubt left as to the wants of the members. Yet if it was left entirely to your idea of conventions the headquarters would have been moved and the members could have protested in vain. So you see the delegates were a long distance from the real feelings of the members on this subject. And while you are gazing on this most practical lesson, just go down the line and compare the yes and no vote on the different propositions. Take No. 1: The delegates voted to have it, yet the members say no two to one, and on the very next they reverse their votes. As delegates, you voted for strike fund, and as members it stands

1,857 for to 2,219 against; and then go to Proposition No. 6, and the members say yes four to one. Take No. 10—there you have a beautiful specimen. The proposition itself is for the election of council, and the members say yes 3,366 times against 756 noes. You see they want a voice in these matters, and how could they have it except through the referendum? You as delegates wanted to move headquarters, but you see the members are against it nearly two to one. You also wanted to increase dues, but the members say no.

Take Propositions Nos. 18 and 19. In these two proportions the G. P. O. and G. S. T. make recommendations they believe will benefit the Brotherhood at large. Just note the vote on the different paragraphs, and yet there are members who believe a few delegates could do the thinking for the members. The vote all the way through is the greatest lesson one can study. There is only one conclusion to draw from it. THE MEMBERS THINK FOR THEMSELVES, and wish to exercise their rights. If this delegate system is a good thing, why don't you apply it to your local and have two or three members appointed to do your thinking? It's a poor plan that will only work in one place. The referendum system is all right. There may be defects and probably some points could be bettered, but as a whole it is as far ahead of the old convention system as modern times are advanced over fifty years ago.

You cite that only a few vote. That's true. That's human nature. If a law was made that they could not vote the originators of that law would be mobbed because the law deprived them of their rights and voice in the affair. But the law says they can vote and when they know they can vote or can let it alone, they exercise their rights by doing as they please, and consequently only a percentage votes. Take our general elections. They are the same. Sometimes a light vote is cast and again a heavy vote—but the law guarantees the right to vote to all American citizens. The people are clamoring for a popular vote for U. S. Senators. Why? Because the Senators are elected precisely on the convention plan, protected by law, and the system is declared rotten to the core. That's why the people want a voice in the election. They are tired of being beaten at every turn because they have no voice. Elect your officers at a convention—not on your life. Then it would only be necessary to please about 50 or 75 delegates. As it is now the officers must satisfy a majority of the Brotherhood or be defeated.

You quote sentences showing that Bro. Gilthorpe thought some lodges voted as by committee, or by one man, etc., and say:

"What an admission to make from one who is continually bringing a system before his brothers which has within it a loophole so vicious."

Is the referendum law to blame if tricksters and unprincipled men take advantage of a brother?

Is the law to blame if a few steal the entire vote of the lodge and cast it as one man?

Is the law to blame if man is born of low principle and breeding?

Now, Bro. Crawford, you must have made a mistake and forgot to finish that idea. The loophole is not in the law, it's in the man—the honor and integrity of the members uphold the law and carry it out with an honest vote and honest count. When this loophole, as you call it, is taken advantage of you may bet there "is something rotten in Denmark." Our G. S.-T. was right in exposing the trickery and I glory in his fearlessness in the matter, and I would bet a new hat with you that if it was left to a vote of the Brotherhood whether or not he was right, that he would be declared right. Why shouldn't he, "trying to establish lofty morals?" There are members of lodges conducted honestly and the result of the votes on identical propositions shows clearly that the members are thinking and voting as they think, but because they are against it you would condemn a good law by disguising an article and bringing into it the bad qualities of a few dishonorable and unprincipled beings who pose as good union men, and use their unprincipled acts to further your contempt for a law loved and cherished by a large majority of the members, and thereby engender a feeling of distrust and discontent to kill the law, when in fact the law is not to blame and works admirably when in the hands of honest men, and you have only to turn to the pages of tabulated votes in this Journal to learn that it does work admirably.

The law is not to blame—it's the men who misuse it who are guilty.

Yours fraternally,

JAS. E. VANNEST, C. S.,

L. 32, and U. P. Striker.

LODGE 259.

Lima, O., Jan. 28, 1903.—I suppose you will be surprised to receive a letter from me, as this is my first attempt as a Journal reporter. Well, to start out with, Oak Lodge 259 is going to give a grand ball on February 18, of which will give a full report in my next writing.

All shops are busy here working 60 hours per week. The Lima Locomotive & Machine Co. have got moved into their new shops and are running day and night then can't get the orders out. They have all up-to-date machinery and the boys are highly pleased because they are in the new shops.

Bro. Geo. Marth is back from Texas. Came early to enter the one mile foot race to be given on Labor Day. Somebody will get dust thrown in their eyes as Bro. George can get there without a struggle.

Bro. Jim Hickey has moved back to the North End and every morning he comes down McKibben street singing "Oh, Molly, Oh."

Well, I wish to say a few words of Mogul Lodge 196, of Kenton, O. They have a man they took in the union from Lima, by name Jess Eckers, that only worked in a boiler shop 14 months. I wonder how they did that? If they had referred to Lima we could have told them something about it. I wish you would write 196 as we have written them but got no answer.

Well, I have something to say in regard to J. J. White. He has been expelled from the union with a fine of $25.00 hanging over his head, for telling the minutes of a meeting to the proprietor of Golly & Finley's Boiler Shop.

The brothers that haven't any registered numbers are very anxious to get them. Our next report will be a great deal larger, as the old numbers are all coming back again.

JOHN GALLAGHER,

110 E. McKibben St., Lima, O.

LODGE 24.

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 26, 1903.—I wish to state to you how Lodge No. 24 is getting along. Everything is going all right. On December 30 there was an election of officers and it was a good meeting and all the brothers were well pleased with the way everything was done by the officers of 24 the past year, and the brothers did not make many changes in the officers as all of them have tried to do right by the brothers. The F. S. and R. S. have done their duty for the past year and are the kind of men that the lodge wants and you will always find these men at every meeting. A vote of thanks was extended to all the officers of the lodge by the brothers. The lodge voted to make a present of five dollars to F. S. and the same to C. S. for their services for the past year, and all the brothers enjoyed the evening and had a good time. I hope the coming year will pass off as well.

There has been lots of work in the shops and all the boys were tired out last month and had to postpone several meetings last month.

The lodge voted to send five delegates to the Trades Assembly. There is not a branch of labor in this city that is not organized.

We have heard that Bro. Thos. McCabe was transferred to 66. This brother put his card in Lodge 24. The last time I heard of Tom he was in St. Louis, touring the South with a coon. When he was here he had a trained dog, and if any of the brothers come this way they can see his picture on the wall of the Old House at Home. He organized a troupe while here and played in this city. Some of his old time stars are still left. One of his leading men is here and would like to hear from him. I refer to Mr. T. Kinedy. His last play was at the Old House at Home. It is known to all the brothers that come this way and the boys are waiting for Thos. McCabe to return with the street car that is in jail in Mexico, as he stated he was going to bail it out.

At our last meeting it was voted by the lodge to have a committee appointed and wait on the city council and have a boiler inspector appointed for the city of Bloomington. It ought to have been done before this and to have a member of Lodge 24 appointed. The committee waited on the mayor and city council in regard to the matter and it was read and referred to a committee to act on. It has gone so far in regard to trouble over boilers in this city and some of the experienced have given their opinions about some of the boilers in this city.

The lodge closed with a smoker.

J. W. H. L. 24.

Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 20, 1903.—Even though my first effort in writing an article for the Journal was not accepted and therefore did not appear in January's issue, as I expected, still I will essay the task once more to write something and hope this will receive more considerate treatment. In my first letter I started out by refuting a charge of betrayal of confidence made against one of the staunchest pillars of this Brotherhood in this section, Bro. Thomas Nolan, a man whose hair has grown white in the ranks of this organization, one who deeply cherishes the principles of fraternity and progress embodied in our Brotherhood and is ever ready to lend mind and hand to advance its interests, no matter what the cost to himself may be, and the lodges in this neck of the woods have much to thank him for, in his work for them in the past, and as far as those who know him personally are concerned, I do not believe they will for a moment entertain a doubt of the uprightness of all his actions, but for the benefit of those who do not know him I want to say there is not an atom of truth in the charge. In the article above referred to I mentioned some of the methods and practices in vogue in this Brotherhood and essayed to hold up in obloquious language the evil effects they have upon this Brotherhood; I answered the criticisms made against some of the members of Lodge 57 and incidentally mentioned other members whom I thought equally deserving of creditable mention, and wound up my article by expressing the wish for certain reforms which I expressed the belief would be beneficial to the organization. However, my main object in writing this letter is to express my views upon two propositions that have been agitating this Brotherhood for some time past, namely, the amending or restriction of the referendum system and the moving of headquarters to Washington. As these matters have been already voted upon I cannot be charged with trying to unduly influence the vote; and no matter what the verdict of the vote on the latter proposition may be, I shall endeavor to present a few facts and propositions worthy of future thought and action of the members, and they may assist a little in helping us to solve the problems we have been trying to untangle, which, if properly solved, will materially assist us in our onward march of progress to a higher and nobler Brotherhood. I will take up the questions in the order mentioned and commence with the referendum system; this is a much abused, misused and, I honestly believe, indifferently understood, question, even after six years of use in this Brotherhood, I find members who say it is all Greek to them even now. If you will take all that has been said for and against the system and ascertain the mean between the two extremes you will arrive at about the actual worth of the system; it is one of the most democratic of measures, every member has an equal right with all the other members to vote his convictions; it has the advantage of being ever ready for use and in a compact community of limited size, where all the people are known to each other and conditions and propositions affect all in the same manner, it will no doubt work admirably, but in the immense geographical area covered by this organization there is much to be desired in the system that it is minus of. For instance, there are hundreds of different communities containing the lodges of which this organization is composed, each almost, if not entirely, unacquainted with each other or with the conditions obtaining in all the other places, nor have they the knowledge as to how any given proposition or measure advanced will affect the other localities and when it comes to pass upon the measure they act upon it in the way it will most favorably affect them locally, which results in a multitudinous number of views that effectually prevent a concerted and concentrated action. Again the great area covered by the organization handicaps the system materially in making amendments or passing upon new propositions, some of which prove to be effective or salutary for a period only and when advanced are seemingly good, but before the time necessary to put it before the members, receive their votes and make it a law, expires, the conditions change and it would be better repealed than continued as one of our laws; but in the matter of the election of officers to run our organization is the most serious defect discerned in the system. This I say calmly and dispassionately, for I never was, am not now, nor do I expect to be a candidate for any office within the gift of this organization, but making my observations on the workings of the system in the past and the conditions existing by virtue of our members not being personally known to each other, I unhesitatingly hazard the assertion that it can never prove satisfactory to the members at large or beneficial to the organization, for not knowing each other, how are they to judge of the ability and fitness of any candidate for office, how are they going to intelligently select the candidate most fitted for the position? Take our two salaried officers for instance. As long as they have been in office, I do not believe they are personally known to half of our members, and all must admit they are the most widely known of any members. Let me make an illustration by way of example to show what I mean: Suppose our present grand officers should suddenly decide to give up the organization and start a bank or open a mine for themselves, they would naturally say, "Boys, we have business of our own that will prevent our continuing in office." What would be the result? Nominations would be called for to fill the vacancies, and judging from the past, they would no doubt come in profusion, about one-third of the lodges would make a nomination and in most cases each lodge would have a different name to propose, each desiring to have its section represented or a popular member honored. How could the members at large make an intelligent selection of the one best qualified to push the organization to success? In voting for the vice presidents up to the last election, there was usually a long list of candidates, and I have voted for men whom I would not know from Adam nor had I ever seen their names in print before. How could I judge of their relative abilities? And is this not the experience of all the other members? There is a vast difference in using the referendum for political elections and electing officers in this Brotherhood, for in political elections we generally vote for the principles of the party which nominates the candidate rather than for the personality of the candidate himself. The parties formulate their platforms and the candidates stand upon those principles and we all have the means of knowing what each represents, but in our organization we are all supposed to have about the same principles to espouse, and if the candidates nominated have different policies from each other, they are not generally known enough to have any weight in determining their election, and to use the referendum under the present conditions we might just as well put the names of all the candidates in a bag and let some blindfolded person draw out enough to fill the offices.

On the other hand, say we hold a convention every two years; as a general thing I believe the lodges select one of their most active and able members to represent them and when they gather together to discuss the conditions and problems that confront the organization, they gather inspiration and wisdom from each other's discourses and arrive at an equitable solution of the business before them, and after the business is finished they are in a position to judge of the ability and fitness of the members most capable for the office. It may be said against this that the minority elect. Yes, and it can be replied that even under the referendum it is usually the minority of the members who elect, and the delegates have the advantage of being personally acquainted with the candidates. I could write much more on this subject, but as it would make my article too long; I will stop here and take up the matter of moving headquarters to Washington.

It seems this matter cannot or will not be considered without local prejudices entering into the matter. Now that there are some advantages to be had from having headquarters in the geographical center of the country none will gainsay, but let us ask ourselves the question, do they outweigh those to be gained by being located at the seat of government? In the past the masses of the people, while not at work, have had their minds centered on some frivolous pastime or pleasure while the law makers were grinding out laws for their control, and the consequence has been that the few were benefitted at the expense of the many; even in our trade we see injustices being done us. For instance, engineers test all the boilers coming under the jurisdiction of the United States government, which includes all marine boilers in ships. In the United States navy the Boilermakers are classed with the firemen, water tenders, etc., and made to wear a sailor's uniform, while the machinists are placed over them, are given a natty uniform to wear and are paid more money, while in private life the Boilermaker usually receives as much, if not more, money than his fellow workman in the machine shop; this was brought about by the Machinists' Union looking after their members' welfare and their grand officers being located in Washington, they could do this work without much additional cost. This talk of making politicians of our officers if we move them to Washington is all tommy-rot. If their natural bent of mind does not incline them that way, their residence in Washington will not make them so; they could look after the rights of the trade and make better efforts to secure beneficial legislation, such as the eight-hour law, at very little additional cost, while to send a delegation from Kansas City could cost several hundred dollars if they stayed any length of time. Again I will have to stop before writing all I would like to say, for fear of making my article too long, therefore I will only say before concluding that I write this with much misgiving, as it does not coincide with views of at least one writer in January's issue of the Journal, and the way he disposed of the question was a caution. For brevity it was all that could be desired, but when he dismissed the question with the assertion that there was nothing in it, I believe the brother has a think coming to him. At any rate, I feel much encouraged in my views on the subject when I remember that the corporations pay thousands of dollars to men to lobby for favors from congress, and if it pays them, it surely would help the masses to have their interests properly looked after in Washington and their rights protected.

Yours fraternally,

J. B. CASEY.

LODGE 193.

Baltimore, Jan. 29, 1903.—I wish to call our attention to matter concerning Michael Valsh, whose register number is 6079. He was fined $25.00 by 193 last spring. He refused to pay or appear for trial. A letter was received the other day stating that he would not pay the fine. He told Bro. F. P. Haney and other brothers that he intended to scab whenever he feels like it. He is now scabbing on the Union Pacific system in Omaha. He was tried in open lodge meeting last Tuesday night and was fined $225.00. I was instructed to request you to put the same in the Journal.

Henry Andrews is scabbing out in Wyoming and he has been fined $150.00. Please publish him. His number is 15195.

Corresponding Secretary, Alfred Wright, 244 Fulton street.

Recording Secretary, John Parsons, 29 Sidney street.

P. S.—Please publish that the trouble in Buffalo dry dock is over and let the men come here. I remain yours,

ALFRED WRIGHT.

A card has been lost or stolen from one of the brothers, belonging to Brother Frank Mallinson, Reg. No. 4899, from Local No. 199 of Horton, Kan. Paid up to December 31, 1902. In doing this you will oblige very truly and fraternally,

J. C. LEE,

212 Main st., Shawnee, Okla.

NOTICE.

I desire a small piece in the Journal if there is room to spare, in regards to some of the brothers. There is a widow lady by the name of Mrs. Kelly, residence 1314 East Beach street, Philadelphia, Pa., would like for these brothers to communicate with her. She is a lady that never turns from her door and union man, and more especially one in distress, as she will always give those in distress a helping hand. If the following brothers do not communicate with Mrs. Kelly by the end of this month they will be published in the Journal; James Jones, James Boyle, John Boyd, Joseph

Young, Mabrun or Macrun Lipsworth, Thomas Ford, Thomas Thompson, better known as Deaf Tommy; John Coyle, Andrew Dixon and Patrick McBride.

Yours Fraternally,

FRANK P. SHANEY, G. V. P. & D. O.

RESULT OF VOTE.

The above vote represents the judgment of our members on the resolutions recommended at the convention held in Baltimore, Md., 1902. All lodges who have voted according to our constitution are in above. Replicates on file here. Therefor, by your votes you have adopted the following propositions, which have become laws in this brotherhood:

Propositions No. 2, 5, 6, 9, 10, 12, 15, 16, 18, paragraphs 2, 3, 4, 5 of Proposition 19, 20 and 21. You have defeated Propositions No. 1, 4, 7, 8, 13, 14, 17, and first paragraph of 19. The judgment of the majority will be acted on and enforced by our Executive Council. New constitutions will be printed as soon as possible.

John McNeil

TEST: Grand President-Organizer.

LODGE No. 104.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 26, 1902.

Remember that Moran Bros. are still on the unfair list, with 9 scabs to build a battleship. This shows they are not gaining on us. So keep away from Seattle, as there are plenty of men for the amount of work in the fair shops.

Will Brother Ben Erutscke please correspond with the corresponding secretary of No. 104. I lost his address and cannot give him the information he desires, but two-fifty the amount.

G. W. REINHARDT, C. S.

BOILER MAKERS TAKE NOTICE.

All lodges are cautioned not to recognize a Boilermaker from Mattoon that is not in possession of a card up to date. We have had quite a difficulty in regards to helpers coming into this shop and working 8, 10 and 12 months respectively, and jumping out into neighboring towns and passing themselves off as old-time boiler makers. Hereafter, when you meet a man from Mattoon that does not have a good card, please correspond with

E. K. ELLENWOOD, C. S. 224.

Mattoon, Ill.

COX.

Whereas, It has been the will of the Almighty God to take from our midst one of our oldest and most devoted and respected brothers, W. E. Cox, who had been lingering for two years, and known to his brother associates for his warm devotion and his loyal heart, therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to his wife and son little Ed and relatives our heartfelt sympathy; be it further

Resolved, That since such sad events can not be forgotten by the bereaved ones with whom he spent his life long days and since such events must bring forth feeling of sympathy and give consolation, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes of Lodge No. 4 an a copy of them sent to the official Journal for publication.

A. L. CARMACK,
T. R. THOMPSON,
S. M. STEWART,

RIEGLE.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15, 1903.

It is with the utmost feeling and regret that I write to inform you of the sad and sudden demise of our beloved president and Brother, Lawrenz L. Riegler, who was taken away on Jan. 8th, was not only a shock to all his friends and relations, but an altogether unexpected calamity, he having worked on Monday, Jan. 5th, without a complaint.

In the loss of Brother Riegler there will be one missing who was loved and esteemed by all, one whose place it will be hard to fill in the hearts of his relations and friends.

One fatal remembrance, one sorrow which throws its bleak shade alike o'er our joys and woes,

To which life nothing darker can bring,
For which joy has no balm, but affliction has sting.

GALLAGHER.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 6, 1903.

At a regular meeting of Seattle Lodge No.

104, Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America, held on Dec. 8, 1902, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God, the wise Ruler of the universe, to remove from this life our friend and Brother, Daniel Gallagher, a member of Seattle Lodge, who met death in a terrible explosion on board the steamship Progress, in San Francisco harbor,

Resolved, that while we mourn the loss of one who, while in life we held dear as brother and as a friend, and while we can never more grasp his hand and meet his pleasant smile in this life, we can submit to Him, who has called our brother's spirit to the life beyond the grave,

Resolved, that we extend to the bereaved relations our heartfelt sympathy in their sad and irreparable loss, and while they cannot meet the loved one in this life we can but point to them a Savior who said, "I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am, there ye may be also."

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be suitably engrossed and sent to the relations of our deceased brother, and that they be spread on the minutes, and a copy to be published in our official Journal.

TO MR. AND MRS. POLLARD.

Toronto, Dec. 31, 1902.

It is with feelings of great sorrow and sympathy that the members of Lodge 128, Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America address this letter of condolence to you and your sorrowing wife on account of the sad bereavement in the loss of you darling child.

Those of us who have children of our own can realize the heart breaking sorrow of you and Mrs. Pollard.

We hope that God in His infinite mercy will grant you strength of your Christian fortitude to welcome His Holy will and that your hearts will be cheered when you think of the words of Our Saviour, who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for such is the kingdom of Heaven."

And knowing that your darling child is a glorious angel in Heaven and giving praise to Almighty God, and praying to God for to strengthen you both to bear your great sorrow, is also the wish of the brothers of Lodge 128.

P. J. JENNINGS,
WM. HARDY,
JOHN N. MARSHALL.

Committee.

DeARMENT.

Marshall, Jan. 3, 1903.

At a regular meeting of Sunrise Lodge, No. 100, B. of B. M. and I. S. B. of A, the following set of resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God, the ruler of the great universe, to take from this life the beloved wife of our esteemed brother, R. S. DeArment, therefore be it

Resolved, that we extend to our brother as husband, our most incere sympathy

In this, his hour of sorrow and affliction,

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our brother, and to the Monthly Journal for publication, and a copy recorded upon the minutes as a record of respect.

J. P. HAYNES,
J. O. CASS,
J. P. O'NEIL.

Committee.

KLOTZ.

Vallejo, Dec. 29, 1902.

At the regular annual meeting of Vallejo Lodge No. 148, of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Architect of the universe to take from our midst the dearly beloved mother of our esteemed brother, Frank R. Klotz, therefore be it

Resolved, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in the hour of sorrow to our bereaved brother, and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved brother; a copy spread on the minutes of the meeting, and a copy sent to the official Journal for publication.

It's hard to break the tender words

When love has bound the heart;

It's hard to speak the words:

Must we forever part?

Dearest loved one, we have laid thee

In the peaceful grave's embrace,

But thy memory will be cherished,

Until we see thy Heavenly face.

J. F. WOOD,

J. T. RIORDEN,

JOS. COLLETT.

Committee.

LODGE 98.

At a regular meeting of San Xavier Lodge, No. 98, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, we are reminded of the uncertainty of human life by the death of our beloved brother, George Resler, reinstated number 17712, who died Jan. 13, 1903, and as we humbly bow and submit to His divine will we feel that the San Xavier Lodge has sustained the loss of a worthy member and associate, and as we are conscious of the still greater loss of those nearer to him, therefore, be it

Resolved, that we as a lodge extend to the afflicted parents and sister our earnest and heartfelt sympathy in their deep affliction and commend them to Him, who doeth all things well, and that we share with them the hope of a reunion in that world where there is no sorrow, and death never moves his black banner will wave.

He hath not left you,

Can't thou not feel his presence near?

Tho' from this earth he has been taken,
His spirit hovers o'er you.

Weep not for him;

For tears will but distress him,

But watch and wait—his voice you'll hear

His hand will beckon to you.

Wait then, 'till our Lord's own time,

Then the veil will be rent asunder;

You will meet him then,

On that beautiful shore—over yonder.

I. G. KARIBO,

J. T. TUTTENHOFF,

W. J. SITHENWOOD.

Committee.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank the members of Number 74 and 98, through the Journal, for the kindness shown to us in our great trial and sorrow.

Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America.

VOL. XV.

KANSAS CITY, KAS., APRIL 1, 1903.

March 20, 1903.

Dear Sir and Brother:—In looking over the March Journal, we notice in the G. P. O.'s report that he states there is a strong feeling among the Boiler Makers on the Union Pacific, that the Grand Lodge should call out the Boiler Makers on the Southern Pacific in sympathy. We wish to state that such is the case, and would like to explain to the members at large our reasons for having this feeling. To begin with we have reasons to believe that S. P. engines are being used on the U. P. It might be impossible for us to go into court and prove this satisfactorily to the management of the roads, but, however, the evidence is strong.

Mr. Burt told the committee, that the U. P. had no engines ordered until two weeks after the Boiler Makers strike, still the company received engines from the Baldwin Locomotive Works ninety days after the strike. The committee asked Mr. Burt if it was not out of the ordinary to have engines delivered on such short notice, when the locomotive works were from one to three years behind on their orders. He admitted it was, but the U. P. could do better than most roads, as they had an agreement with the Baldwin Locomotive Works, whereby they would not purchase engines from any other company and therefore could do better than other roads. A very flimsy argument, especially when the G. P. O. had evidence that the U. P. had an order with the American Locomotive Works for Engines at that time. Furthermore, when the engines arrived from the Baldwin Locomotive Works they were equipped for burning oil and their grates, fire boxes and front ends had to be altered before they could be used on the J. P. The oil tanks that were built for the engines were sent to the S. P. Mr. Burt acknowledged this. True, when the engines arrived they were lettered U. P., but some of the Brothers are willing to take oath that the S. P. mark was painted out and could be distinguished under the U. P. mark. They also found some of the brass on the engines marked S. P.

We know it to be a fact, that the two roads are under the one management and have the same board of directors. We were on strike for over six months before the company ever made any advancements toward a settlement and this was made after the Grand Pres. had threatened to call the men out on the S. P. and before our Brothers on that road had signed an agreement. The U. P. gave the committee to understand that they were anxious to settle, and Mr. Harriman and the General Manager of the S. P. kept the wires hot between New York and Omaha and Kansas City, trying to impress on the Grand President's mind the importance of the Boiler Makers on the S. P. remaining at work and signing an agreement. All of these messages came to the U. P. headquarters and were handled and delivered by Mr. Burt's private secretary.

On the 13th of December, 1902, Bro. McNeil, with a committee of two of the strikers, called on Mr. Burt, as requested by Mr. Harriman. During the conference Bro. McNeil told Mr. Burt that if trouble on the U. P. was not settled satisfactorily the men on the S. P. would be called out. Mr. Burt wanted to know if the twelve new engines from the Baldwin Locomotive Works were taken off the U. P., would the men on the S. P. be allowed to remain at work? Bro. McNeil said, "No, we consider the two roads one and the same, and we have been fighting the tail long enough, we will proceed to fight the head." Mr. Burt says, "Do you mean to call a sympathetic strike?" Bro. McNeil replied, "You can call it that if you wish, but that is the action we intend to take." Mr. Burt said, "Will you repeat this to my stenographer, so that I can take it to New York and lay it before Mr. Harriman and the directors?" Bro. McNeil answered, "Certainly," and the stenographer was called in and the statement was repeated. Mr. Burt says, "I will leave for New York today and you will hear from me inside of a week." Bro. McNeil told him that his answer must be YES or NO.

Mr. Burt went to New York and after being there a week, he notified Bro. McNeil that it was impossible for him to return for some time, but if Bro. McNeil would come to New York he gave him to understand that the trouble could be settled satisfactorily. Bro. McNeil took a committee with him and went to New York and he and the committee thought they were dealing with a man of honor, but instead of that he turned out to be a bunco steerer of the lowest type. After keeping the committee dailying for nearly three weeks he told them to return home and lay the piecework proposition before the men. Mr. Burt knew at the time as well as the committee that the men would never accept it, but he had gained his point. The Brothers on the S. P. had signed an agreement and Mr. Harriman was confident they would keep it, so when the committee went before Mr. Burt and told him the men's decision that they would not work piecework under his title of premium system, Mr. Burt stated that they would never work for the U. P. under any other conditions.

Now, Brothers, do you think we are not justified in feeling that the men on the S. P. should be called out to force the Harriman Syndicate to come to terms? True, the Brothers have an agreement on that road, but will this corporation have any regard for the contract they have made, after it serves its purpose of forcing piecework on the U. P. and crushing our Organization out of existence on this line, does it seem plausible that a corporation will sign up a binding contract to be fair and just with one-half of their employees and spend millions of dollars to reduce the other half to worse than slavery? No! Brothers, the fact of the matter is the corporations have discovered that piecework is the best weapon ever invented to throttle Organized Labor and they are determined to go the limit in order to introduce it. Therefore, it is up to us to meet them on their own ground and fight them to a finish. We are confident that if the men on the S. P. would come out the trouble would be settled in short order, for the S. P. must handle the business as it is the only line the Harriman Syndicate has to the coast. As far as the U. P. is concerned, they are sending their traffic over other lines to Ogden, but it all must be handled by the S. P. and the S. P. alone.

This is the key to the situation and with the key in our possession we should not hesitate to use it.

Hoping you will find space for this in the next issue of our Journal, we remain,

Fraternally yours,

LODGE 43, H. D.

Victoria, B. C., March 9.—At the request of Lodge No. 43, H. D., I give you for publication in the Journal a brief resume of the progress made since its inception six months ago.

At that time the conditions obtaining were of a very unsatisfactory nature, chiefly on account of the friction existing between the Helpers of the Albion Iron Works during its reign of non-unionism in the boiler shop, and the helpers who had refused to work there while the strike was in progress.

The matter of wages also was of no slight importance, the rate ranging from 20c to 25c per hour; the vast majority, however, being paid at the former rate.

By the exercise of good judgment, toleration and a common desire to accomplish something beneficial, something that would tend to advance the material welfare of those concerned, the movement in the direction of a solid union of the Helpers of Victoria was skillfully steered past the rocks of friction and dissension. At this time the services of Bro. Gough and many others of the Boiler Makers Lodge proved of incalculable value. Nor will Lodge 43, H. D. forget those who lent a helping hand at the crucial time of its birth. A notable feature of our Lodge is the spirit of unanimity which characterizes its proceedings. An evident desire to promote harmony and a feeling of true brotherhood, which a realization of our common interests engender. Long may this be its policy is the sincere wish of the writer.

We experience the usual difficulty in keeping every member right to the line with payment of dues. That is owing principally to non-steadiness of employment.

The very distinct improvement in the working conditions since organization is a fruitful cause for publication on the part of our boys. A minimum wage, based on a ten hour day, has been secured by us and took effect January 1. This raised the daily wage from two dollars to $2.50. Nor did we remain idle after securing this very appreciable gain in wages, but fell in line with the boiler makers and other iron workers for a nine hour day, without reduction of daily wages.

In this last move we also achieved success, and now everybody is asking how it was all engineered. How it was all accomplished.

Now, since we have secured 50c a day more, and an hour more to ourselves, what shall be done with them? The 50c can readily be made use of in adding material comforts to our homes. But what shall be done with the hour? Shall it be spent an only too many are already spent, in a very doubtful form of recreation? Or shall it be spent in acquiring economic knowledge? Shall our members be content to remain in ignorance while others study? Shall they refuse to search after economic truth or will they decide to arm themselves with economic truth in order to intelligently take their places in the ranks of a united working-class movement to bring about a more equitable order of things than that vouchsafed us at present. Let each member decide for himself whether or not he is doing his duty, doing justice to himself by resting content in joining his union and paying his dues, without making himself felt as a factor to be reckoned with in the onward march of human society.

With best wishes for the welfare of all workers in general, and the B. M. I. S. B. in particular,
Fraternally yours,
J. C. WATERS, Cor. Secy.

LODGE 255.

Phoenixville, Pa., March 3, 1903.—This agreement entered into by and between Lodge No. 255 of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, located at Phoenixville, Pa., party of the first part, and the undersigned Heine Safety Boiler Co., of the City of St. Louis, Mo., party of the second part.

Witnesseth:

The party of the second part hereby agrees to recognize said Lodge No. 255, as a Union Lodge; and, to increase the pay of its members employed in their shops, for the year 1903, as per following schedule:

	Per Hour.
All Around Boiler Makers.....	27½c

The party of the second part further agrees to consider 57½ hours work as constituting a week's work.

The party of the second part further agrees to pay said party of the first part, time and a half as pay for all overtime at nights, and the following holidays:

Fourth of July, Labor Day, Christmas Day, inside or outside of shop, and double time on Sundays.

The party of the first part agrees to classify and regard all boiler shops failing to enter into an agreement similar to this, as non-union shops.

It is mutually agreed between the parties hereto, that this agreement shall constitute and remain in force for the year 1903.

In Testimony Whereof, We have hereunto set our hands this first day of March, 1903.

By Edw. C. Meier, Mgr.

Lodge 255 desires to express its thanks to the Heine Co. for their courteous treatment and fairness during negotiations, which will only cement the good relations between them.

LODGE 28.

Huntington, Ind., March 7, 1903.—The committee of Boiler Makers of Erie system met at Meadville, Pa., in conference with Supt. of Motive Power Wm. Morris, to adjust the wage scale for boiler makers of the Erie. All shops represented. The proposition was this: We, the representatives of labor, had the labor for sale and expected the highest price. The company on the other hand were buyers and would buy at lowest price, making a business proposition in the most exact form. Considering the raise granted the Brothers, can see we are not asleep in the East, Susquehanna being the lowest paid point on the system. Boiler makers receiving 24c to 25c per hour, now receive 27c to 28c per hour. Homersville and Buffalo the same raise granted. Meadville, Cleveland, Gallion and Huntington receiving 28c to 29c per hour. This makes a raise in wages for entire system of 25 per cent. The boiler makers of Erie system should be proud of their committee and doubly proud of our Grand President and Fifth Grand Vice President, who were with us throughout conference. There was not a member of the committee that lost his temper or head during the five days' conference.

In conclusion, I would like to call attention to a very important question, which is this: As the Brotherhood is not overly blest with money and Grand Officers don't like to always be ordering assessments, suppose each member in good standing would pass up, say two cigars a month, and pay the 10c to the Grand Lodge. It would amount to about $1,700 a month, at the end of the year 20,400, and we would never miss what we had paid. Then in time of trouble we would be well supplied and could place it where it would do the most good, and be on equal footing financially with other bodies of organized labor.

Now in conclusion will give you names of the committee and will assure you they are as nice a lot of gentlemen as ever served the Erie on any committee work, including Grand President John McNeil and Grand Vice President and District Grand Organizer E. E. Fox.

LODGE 39.

Chicago, Ill., March 12, 1903.—Lakeside Lodge No. 39 gave their annual dance at Brinker's hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 21, 1903, and was the biggest social and financial success of its kind ever given by this lodge.

Though the hall has recently been enlarged, it was too small to accommodate the unusually large crowd that filed in shortly after 8 o'clock. Dancing was the principal feature of the evening and no spare room on the floor after all couples got on the floor.

The grand march was led by Brother Behrens and lady. They were assisted by Brother Conley and wife followed by a hundred or more smiling couples.

The dancing continued until 12 o'clock, when an excellent supper was served, and it certainly was a dandy. After supper the orchestra played a lively two-step to settle that chicken. Dancing continued until 6 a. m. Sunday, when all went home expressing their satisfaction of the dance.

Brother Roach, recently of San Francisco, took the prize for selling the most tickets, as he sold 179 tickets at 50 cents apiece. The prize, a beautiful meerschau pipe, was donated by Wm. Costello, at one time a brother of No. 39.

This dance was given after being on a strike for several weeks and the ship yard practically tied up and not a man working in it, so we had to depend on outside assistance, and certainly got it.

Lodge No. 39 extends a vote of thanks to No. 1 for their assistance in taking fifty tickets. Yours fraternally,

MARTIN M. KRIEPS,
Journal Correspondent.

A practical treatise for use of boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Mastmakers.

By I. J. and H. HADDON CARDIFF.

The above work contains 167 pages and 133 diagrams and is devoted entirely to the needs of the workmen.

It deals with all kinds of developments in connection with the above trades, general templating and also a vast amount of formulae. It contains a considerable number of new and original methods, which with the rest of its contents may be relied on for thorough accuracy and simplicity.

We may say that problems 21 and 31 are each worth more than the price of the book and with many others of our problems cannot be found in any other published work.

Wadsworth, Nev., March 9.—To Mr. and Mrs. James Hammliton—It is with feeling of great sorrow and sympathy that the members of Nevada Lodge 339, Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, address this letter of condolence to you and your sorrowing wife on account of the sad bereavement in the loss of your darling little daughter.

Those of us who have children of our own can realize the heart breaking sorrow of you and Mrs. Hammliton.

We hope that God in His infinite mercy will grant you strength of your Christian fortitude to welcome His Holy will, and that your hearts will be cheered when you think of the words of Our Savior, who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not for such is the kingdom of Heaven." And knowing that your darling child is a glorious angel in Heaven and giving praise to Almighty God and praying to God for him to strengthen you both to bear your great sorrow.

Sometimes when shades of night,
Dim for a while the splendors of the light;
I think of thee.
My heart grows lonely,
Thy sweet voice only
Can bring back joy to me.

Sometimes in the early morn,
Before the radiant sun is born,
I dream of thee,
And long to see
Thy face, so dear to me.

Sometimes at midnight hour,
Your presence comes, like some sweet flower;
And then I pray no memory's blot
Can change you, darling, for I forget you not.

THE BEGINNING.

Some time ago I sent to the Journal the following problem:

What is the weight of a circular covering on a surface 83 feet 4 inches, or 1,000 inches in diameter, of $\frac{3}{8}$ -inch boiler plate laid flat without lap. The plate weighs a little over $15\frac{1}{4}$ pounds per square foot (15 28-100), as can readily be ascertained by weighing a few ordinary sized sheets. The answer was, multiply the diameter in inches by itself, 1,000x1,000—1,000,000—one million inches; then multiply this by .7854 to get the square inches; divide this by 144 to get the square feet, then multiply by 15 28-100 or whatever the weight of a square foot is, and the answer is pounds; there is about 125 figures required in this operation, and if we were to follow up Nichol's process we should have to divide by 2,240 to get the long tons, by 112 to get the hundred weights, and by 28 for the quarters, which would add about 60 more figures to the process, (we do not need that in the U. S.), making a pretty long and tedious sum.

Why not ascertain the weight of a circular foot or inch, and use that instead; a circular inch weighs 1-12 of a pound, a circular foot is 12 pounds, and a million circular inches divided by 12 is 83,333 1-3 pounds, $83\frac{1}{3}$ circular ft. multiplied by itself, and by 12—83,333 1-3 pounds and a thousand inches multiplied by 83 1-3 equals 83,333 1-3 pounds; hence the rule for the weight of $\frac{3}{8}$ boiler plate: diameter inches x diameter feet equals pounds. I have used this rule many years and now hand it out hoping some of the brethren have a few short cuts to reduce our labors. P. O. J., No. 11.

LODGE 243.

Agreement between Boiler Makers and the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad, in effect Feb. 1st.

Art. 1.—DEFINING BOILERMAKERS WORK.—Marking off, laying out or putting together work pertaining to steam, air, water and oil tight, laying out and building work pertaining to locomotive or stationary boilers, engine tanks, oil tanks, air reservoirs, or flanging, patching, riveting, calking or tube setting on same.

Art. 2.—To be required on such work as can be done to equal advantage by one boilermaker and helper or apprentice.

Art. 3.—All time over the regular working day, Sunday and holidays as follows: New Year's day, Washington's birthday, Decoration day, Fourth of July, Labor day, Thanksgiving day and Christmas shall be paid for at the rate of time and one-half time.

Art. 4.—The rate of pay for competent and skilled boilermakers shall be 30 cents per hour.

Art. 5.—Applicants for regular apprenticeship must be between the ages of fifteen (15), and twenty (20) years; must be able to read and write and have a knowledge of the rudiments of arithmetic.

Art. 6. One apprentice will be employed at each and every shop irrespective of the number of boiler makers employed, and one additional apprentice may be employed for every four (4) boiler makers that said shop and division may control. This rule not to effect apprentices already in the service. Any apprentice hereafter engaging himself to learn the trade of boiler maker shall serve four (4) years, and shall be instructed in all branches of the trade, and shall receive eight cents per hour for the first six months, and an increase of one cent per hour every six months thereafter until he has served the required four (4) years, and at the expiration of that time he shall receive the minimum rate paid at the place of employment, providing he is worthy.

Art. 7.—Helpers and laborers shall not be advanced to the detriment of the boiler makers and apprentices.

Art. 8.—When it becomes necessary to reduce expenses the full force of boiler makers will be retained and reduction made in number of working hours until the reduction has reached eight (8) hours, then the further reduction shall be made by dismissing the men last employed.

Art. 9.—When requested, the company will grant leave of absence and furnish free transportation over its own lines to boiler makers, who desire to go before the management for the adjustment of difference.

Art. 10.—In case of grievance or disputes arising between the employers and their superior officers it is understood that the employes have the right to appeal to the highest officer connected with the road.

Art. 11.—Should a boiler makers or apprentice be sent out on the road away from the home station they shall be allowed time and overtime as per Art. No. 3, from the time called until returned, meals and lodging not to exceed one dollar ($1.00) per day will also be allowed when away from the home station.

Art. 12.—It is conceded by the parties to this agreement that greater skill is required by men operating flange fires and it is understood that their rates shall be considered accordingly.

LODGE 143.

If you will give me a little space in your valuable Journal I will write a few lines about No. 143.

At our last regular meeting on Dec. 18th, 1902, the members of No. 143 decided to have a convention of the Southern R. R. Boiler Makers, seeing that such a meeting was very much needed. So we went to work. We were discouraged on the start, but didn't give up. If you don't succeed the first time try, try again. We finally get arrangements made for the convention to be called Feb. 26th. Delegates present were A. L. Carmack, L. Nesselquest of Birmingham, Ala.; L. Junker of Sheffield, Ala.;

J. T. Fenelon, Macon, Ga.; W. P. Baker, Columbia, S. C.; S. D. Sargent, Charleston, S. C.; L. L. Householder, Salisbury, N. C.; C. W. Sands, Alexandria, Va.; John McNamara, Princeton, Ind.; C. J. Galliger, Selma, Ala., and L. S. Harmon, Knoxville, Tenn. Only two places were not represented. One was Manchester, Va., there is no lodge there.

Well, well, comes last but not least, Atlanta, Ga. I will ask the question through the Journal, has the boiler makers a union in Atlanta? If there is, poor fellows, I feel sorry for them. We will excuse them this time. They may be sick or have to work so hard they can't attend meetings or answer correspondence. I have wrote several letters to Lodge No. 2, and received one pitiful little letter of three or four lines long. May the Supreme Ruler shower the blessing of unionism in Atlanta and wash the soot from their eyes and revive up the old spirit again.

Our convention proved to be one of success. Was in session two days. I must congratulate the lodges for sending the men they did. I have never seen a more intelligent delegation of boiler makers together before. They were all conservative, deep thinking men and business from start to finish. I think it would be one of the greatest things the boiler makers could do if they would adopt the rule of having district conventions once or twice a year. It would be a big help to the craft at large. By doing so I believe we could organize every shop and man in the district. If there wasn't anything asked for it would keep us in close touch with each other. We have learned a good many things from our gathering in this city. We, the boiler makers of the Southern R. R., are going to try and keep it up once a year. I would be glad to hear from others on the subject. Keep a good thing going.

After we got through our business Lodge No. 143 gave the visiting brothers a smoker. Everybody had an old fashioned good time. Our silver tongued quartet took a prominent part. Brother Moore, better known among the boys as Dr. Moore, Brother Royer, better known as Bull, and Brother Sharp, assisted by Brother Sargent of Charleston, S. C., were the singers. They made fine music, you can just bet on that. The program for the evening was short talks, singing and tap another keg. Some of the visiting brothers got pretty badly scared. We all went in search of a photographer. After so long a time we found one. While we were posing for our pictures there was a big light flashed up. Some of the boys thought they were gone. After everything got quiet we were informed we were just having a flash light picture made.

I will bring this epistle to a close. I know the reader will tire before he reaches the end. I am taking up too much valuable space, so I hope the reader will take all mistakes in good faith.

S. L. HARMON, Cor. Sec.

LODGE 211.

A small space in our Journal would please Lodge No. 211. A little battle between two West Point soldiers and a member of Lodge 211, which ended in the two soldiers carrying souvenirs of the stove to West Point with them on a run, and it will be some time before the soldiers will smile on the girls of the Hilly city. Our president says he don't care to wear buffalo robes around him day and night and then not to feel the heat coming. No, it is warmer home.

"BOILERMAKERS BALL."

"I suppose you've heard,
On the twenty-third,
"Something doin'" at Estes hall!
With our ladies fair,
We'll be there,
At the Boiler Makers Ball.

Don't miss the chance,
To attend this dance.
We invite you one and all!
Shirt fronts of starch.
Will lead the march,
At the Boilermakers Ball.

The Grand Quadrille,
Our hearts to thrill,
With music serene to all!
With "all hands round,"
We'll own the town,
At the Boilermakers Ball.

A waltz in time,
Here's where we shine,
Around and round the hall!
We'll have no blues,
Nor "caulk any flues,"
At the Boilermakers Ball.

Ah! a two-step now,
We'll show you how,
As light as the ocean's foam!
We'll glide away,
With hearts so gay,
"Bill Bailey" won't even go home.

And you can bet,
The "Minuet."
Will be done in "Rag time," too!
The "dancers" time,
Is just as fine,
As the "Rye we just went through."

"When the clock says "Eat,"
We'll cross the street,
And move on a restaurant or two!

After we're fed
That's "Nuff said,"
We will schottish and polka a few.

Now bring the girls,
And "wife," too.
Don't dare to come alone!
We'll dance on and on,
Till early morn
And end with, "Home-Sweet Home."
Patch Bolt.

LODGE 293.

Local Lodge No. 293, Shawnee, Okla., gave their first annual ball Feb. 23, 1903, and to say that it was a complete success is putting it mildly. It was the event of the season. The hall was decorated in grand shape and the music was the best that could be procured, and the floor was fine. The grand march started promptly at 9 o'clock, and was led by our popular president, F. M. Hogan and his charming wife, after which, between waltzes, two-steps, etc., the crowd enjoyed themselves till early in the morning, and when they adjourned, it was the opinion of the crowd that the Boiler Makers of Kickapoo Lodge were the only people that knew how to give a successful ball.

We cleared $103.50 on the ball and we did not forget the boys on the U. P. you can bet. Now, hoping that this is satisfactory, I beg to remain,

Yours fraternally,
J. C. LEE, C. S.

LODGE 69, H. D.

Ivy Leaf Lodge 69 wishes to thank the brothers of Lodge 284 for the kindness which they showed to the helper's of this lodge while organizing. Do not forget J. W. Daniels, for he is a fine fellow, and a hard worker and a good honest union man and well liked by every one.

We also would like to state the officers that were elected: President, J. E. Stuart; vice president, J. J. Murphy; financial secretary, D. Herrigan; recording and corresponding secretary, D. Kelly; treasurer, W. Buonini. Meet in Good Templers hall second and third Thursdays in the month.

Yours truly and fraternally,
D. KELLY, Cor. Sec.

LODGE 43, H. D.

It may be of interest to the Brotherhood generally to know that since organizing last September we have succeeded in securing an advance of from 20 cents per hour to 25 cents per hour, or $2.50 per day of ten hours.

By judicious management and a determined policy of compelling attention to our moderate demands, we have also succeeded in general with the boiler makers in securing a nine-hour day without reduction of daily wages, to take effect the first of March. The working conditions will now be $2.50 for nine hours, instead of as formerly, $2.00 for ten hours.

With best wishes, I remain,
Fraternally yours,
J. C. WATTERS, Cor. Sec.

LODGE 222.

At a regular meeting of Lodge 222, Feb. 28th, a motion was put before the lodge to increase the monthly dues to $1.00 per month in order to get a little money in the treasury. Motion was unanimously adopted. After the first quarter the monthly dues of Lodge 222 will be $1.00 per month. Kindly publish this in the Journal and I will thank you very much.

I remain yours truly and fraternally,
O. D. FRANCIS, C. S.

LODGE 277.

Buffalo, N. Y., Mar. 22.—Will you please insert this in our next Journal, to let the Brothers know we have refused to allow Brother Steve Clift to work, because he refused to pay his fine. Also we wish the Brothers would look out for Brother Sam Lavery, for he has no card, and every time he comes to Buffalo we ask him for a card and he goes out of town again.

ALFRED WRIGHT,
Cor. Sec. 277.

LODGE 118.

North Platte, Neb.—If you will allow us a small space in the Journal I would like to say a few words for No. 118.

Well, we are standing pat, for God hates a coward. The non-union Pacific is still running on rag-time. They have done away with the time table, and if today's trains do not get in today they might get in tomorrow.

Old Scabby Chilcon is now foreman in the boiler shop. He could not hold a job in the cinder pit before the strike. His son is night boss boiler maker. We will make them hard to catch after the strike is over, for we are bound to win.

The whole Piddesck's family are scabbing on the U. P. at this point. They hail from Sioux City, Iowa. There the old man ran a small contract shop, and beat all of his help out of their wages. The whole family are a scabby outfit, and never did belong to the union, and I hope they never will.

The members of No. 118 wish to thank the members of No. 92 and No. 66 for the donation they made to No. 118.

Lodges No. 118 and No. 20 are giving a ball Easter Monday night, and have sent out tickets to our sister lodges, and hope to raise a little money to help us win this battle that we are engaged in with the U.

P. We have worked the business men of this place for the last 9 months, and it is rather hard to sell them tickets any more.

Therefore, we ask our sister lodges to help us by buying our tickets if they can possibly do so. Yours fraternally,

B. Z. MILLIKAN, Pres.

Sect. 2.—Boilermakers helpers: Rates of pay: From 12½ cents per hour to 20 cents per hour.

Sect. 3.—Overtime: Time worked after regular hours will be paid for at the rate of time and one-half, same for Sundays and legal holidays, ten hours to constitute a days work, except where regular seven day men are employed, where overtime will be paid after the regular twelve hours (1 day) service.

Sect. 4.—Rules and regulations: Boiler-makers paid the standard rates per hour, shall be competent to perform any work, including laying out, flanging, chipping, caulking, diamond pointing, hand riveting, setting flues, testing stay-bolts and all classes of new and repair work upon locomotive boilers, the number of men at this rate to be based upon the requirements for out-put of the shop.

Sect. 5.—Other rates for work performed, will be paid for in accordance with ability and length of service, the company's officers to decide compensation to the individual.

Sect. 6.—Helpers and laborers will not be advanced to the grade of boilermakers, except when boilermakers cannot be obtained to fill vacancies.

Sect. 7.—The boiler makers who have served the longest in any shop of the company, shall, if ability be equal, when there is a vacancy in the higher rates of boiler makers, be advanced to the vacancy.

Sect. 8.—Boiler makers sent out to do emergency work, will be allowed, not to exceed one dollar ($1.00) per day for living expenses.

Sect. 9.—Should it become necessary to reduce the force, men will be given preference according to their ability, merit and length of service. The company will not reduce the number of men, when in the opinion of its officers, it is practicable to accomplish the necessary economy by reducing the number of hours.

Sect. 10.—The Company will not employ any more boiler maker apprentices in a shop than can be given such work as will enable them to become efficient boiler makers in four (4) years.

Sect. 11.—Boiler makers will not be discriminated against on account of serving on committee.

Sect. 12.—In case there is a misunderstanding as to these rules and regulations, a boiler maker, if he desires to appeal the case from the decision of the master mechanic, can do so by reducing the same to writing and transmitting it through the foreman to the master mechanic, who will transmit it through the regular channel.

Sect. 13.—The above rules and regulations do not apply to special apprentices who are admitted to the shops by reason of their technical knowledge and for special purposes.

JOHN McNEIL, President.

W. S. MORRIS, Mechanical Supt.

LODGE 322.

What do you think of Dan? I want the attention of the brothers at large to a man by the name of Daniel Downey, an ex-policeman and would be boiler maker, who changes his mind about unionism about as often as the weather changes in St. Louis. He is a man who had a mortgage on the automatic hammers in this place, and as he was holding a boiler maker's job we thought he ought to hold a boiler maker's card, but he said to h— with the union, I don't owe them anything. But an agent for the Murphy Automatic Hammer Co., of Chicago, got Daniel Downey a job as a demonstrator of the power and strength of the Murphy Hammer Co. he was told that he had better get a card. Picture the smile on Daniel's face. When he asked us to take him in, he said, as a boiler maker or helper, so long as he had a card. We gave him a card in the shape of a tin can. There is only a few of us down here, but Downey couldn't clean out our cuspidors. He is going from here to Chicago or Detroit, so if any of you brothers around Chicago or Detroit see a man about 200 lbs in weight with a wash-boiler tied around him, give him another reception like he got here. Watch for him.

LODGE 272.

Galion, Ohio, March 12.—As the boiler makers on the Erie R. R. have reached an agreement by which they have received an increase from 27 cents per hour to 29 cents West of Meadville, Pa., and 28 cents East and the very best of shop rules, we wish to have the credit of our victory go where it belongs, to the delegates and our G. P. O. Brother, John McNeill, whose untiring efforts brought the officials to a very satisfactory agreement, and Lodge No. 272 wishes to state that if our G. P. O. was consulted when there is a grievance, our strike list would be smaller.

The brothers of Lodge 272 have nothing but best wishes for our G. P. O. and Brotherhood.

I remain yours fraternally,

LODGE 226.

Salesbury, N. C., March 13.—If you will allow No. 226 a little space in our most valuable Journal, I will endeavor to write up our grand smoker and open meeting, held on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 23.

The first on the program was the opening and expounding the object of the meeting, which was done with credit by our worthy ce, L. L. Householder, after which he introduced our city newspaper reporter, Mr.

 M. Julian, who gave us an eloquent address on organized labor. He quoted on old ne slavery and of combination of labor as organization with capital on one side and por on the other and as the dividing line drawn, that he be asked to do something for the upbuilding of the laborer, which us well received by everyone present, after which we all partook of a goodly feast, and was a feast right, too. You ought to have en the gang go after it. Why, a set of ngrny cannibals eating Pale Faces wasn't it with that gang. After getting filled th the good things provided, we adjourned wn stairs and had our photographs taken, d I tell you, a better looking and more intelligent set of B. M. never faced a camera fore.

Afterwards we opened up to business and ad a few communications and some literure from several helpers' lodges, who we ank kindly for their information, but after bating and discussing the advantages of ganizing for 2 hours or more, we had 4 lpers out of 15 to see the point, so it fell rough for the present. The helpers here, guess, are satisfied to work like dogs the lance of their lives for $1.30 a day. They and in their own light. Some of them uldn't come to the meeting and reason th one another. They said, "Oh, the ilder Makers are up to some trick," and r such words they will be sorry some day.
 organizing B. M. and Helpers is a trick, ank God for it, for it's the best trick at ever was turned for us.

Well, I'll not take any more space at prest, only I forgot that we had some fine aging, slight of hand work and a general od time all around. I'll enclose photo
 B. M.'s, hoping you can find room for it our Journal. Again thanking you for past vors, and let our motto and standard be,
 Excelsior," till we land on top.

Yours fraternally,

LODGE 56.

Vicksburg, Miss., March 13.—On Feb. 20, 03, Brother James Noonan, of Lodge 28,
 . Louis, Mo., was drowned at Vicksburg, iss.

Brother Noonan went to work here about
 b. 14, and only worked 4 days, when he it with the intention of returning to St.
 ouis. He told us at 6 o'clock the even-g of the 20th, that he was going to leave at night, and we saw nothing more of him id thought he had done so. The afternoon the 21st word was sent us that a body as found floating along side a wharf boat th a boiler makers card in the pocket. I ent down there and found it to be the body of Brother Noonan, and the the inquest was over, finding a verdict of accidental death.

I told the justice to have the body sent to an undertakers and prepared for burial, and he said they were just doing so. I told him I would telegraph his sister, and if I did not hear from her Lodge 56 would see to his burial. Imagine our surprise when after 6 o'clock we went to the undertakers and found he had already been buried.

We decided to await until morning before taking further action and see if we would hear from his relatives, when we found his sister had telegraphed an undertaker to have the body sent to St. Louis, totally ignoring us.

A local paper came out with a statement that he had no friends here, and it was through the efforts of the reporter of same that his sister was notified of his death.
 Now, Lodge 56 wishes to state we sent word to his sister and it was generally known about that we stood ready to see to his burial in a respectable manner, only awaiting instruction in regard to same from his relatives. We write this article to correct any misunderstanding that might arise from the article in aforesaid daily, and hoping you will have same inserted in Journal, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

LODGE 172.

Providence, R. I., March 13.—If you will give me a small space I would like to inform some of the brothers of the good time we had at our hall last month. Brother
 Frank Morgan and Miss Maggie Gibbens led the grand march with a hundred couples of merry makers following. It was a fine success and we must give the committee of arrangements credit for it. I won't give the details of it. I don't want to take too much space in your Journal, as I have other matters of importance.

We have a scab here by the name of Mc-Calley. He and a man named Trainer, went out on the U. P. R. R. to scab last fall, when the agent was here trying to hire me. Trainer isn't to blame so much, for he just came out of the asylum before he went away. The next we heard of him he was working on a tank that a Pittsburg firm was building here. The foreman of the job was O. K.
 for just as soon as we heard he was working, a committee went out to the job and told the foreman he was a genuine scab.
 The foreman fired him bodily and said if there was a man on the job that wasn't all right to point him out and he would pay him off. If there were many more foremen like him there wouldn't be so much scabbing going on.

There are a lot of hustlers in 172. They are working on another ball to be held in Bristol, April 17. The boiler makers and ship builders have combined together to run a ball in Bristol where the famous yachts are built.

We have lots of work at present, but if any of the boys come this way they want to have their cards up to date, as they won't go here.

I will close, with regards to all brothers.

LODGE 35.

Baltimore, March 15.—On Thursday night, March 12, Lodge 35 gave a grand smoker to its members. We had everything that could make a smoker a success, and I am sure that we all enjoyed it greatly.

First, we had a talk on labor by Brother Thompson, of Lodge 193, then we had a speech by our worthy president, Brother Donald Crawford. We had several songs by the brothers. Brother Carr sang several Scotch songs, then we had a song apiece by Brothers Hodgson and McDonald; next Brother McCaul favored us with a recitation, which was enjoyed by all, and last but not least we had a speech by Mr. Broenning, secretary of the Hon. Frank C. Wachter, one of the congressmen from Maryland. Mr. Wachter promised to be there himself, but was unable to get there, so sent his secretary, who made a speech which was mainly on labor, which Brother Crawford replied too. We all enjoyed the speech very much, and thanked Mr. Broenning for coming down.

With best wishes to all the boys, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

GEORGE BEAUCHAMP, J. C.

LODGE 77.

La Junta, Colo., March 19.—Just a few lines for our journal to let the craft at large know that Lodge 77 is still in the business.

Our president, Bro. Wm. Sprouse, has left us and has gone to Tucson. Lodge No. 98 gains a good member by our loss.

Lodge No. 77 gave a smoker in his honor. We ate, drank, sang and had boxing contests, and the merriment lasted until the wee small hours, and when we shook hands to say good-by every one declared that an enjoyable evening had been spent. To much credit cannot be given the arrangement committee, Bros. Magan, Hughes and McNamara, for the nice way things were carried through. The features of the evening were the songs by President-elect Streser, and the four round go-between Bros. Hiett and Hedley.

Well, our great U. P. strike is still on and seemingly as far from settlement as ever, but it is good to know that the boys are all standing pat, and from the Journal reports they are receiving good support.

Lodge 77 gives a ball for the benefit of P. on April 1st, and expects to receive aid from lodges on this system in making a success.

With best wishes and regards to craft general, I am,

Fraternally yours,
JOURNAL COR

LODGE 261.

Camden, N. J., March 16.—Since our offering was sent to the Journal, L. has increased in membership to the amount of five; two by card and three were new members to the order. So, brothers, you can see that 261 is in harness and slowly surmounting all obstacles that are thrown in our way.

It seems, in the opinion of the writer, that a great deal of jealousy or a lack of understanding exists between the different lodges in this vicinity. Brothers, this should not be the case. If we are in this cause for individual gain and profit, then let us be thus, but if we are united in the cause for the benefit of the whole order at large, then the sooner we drop all jealousies the better will be the results for the advancement of our cause.

At last we have instituted an advisory board, and it is to be hoped that ways and means will be found whereby the different locals can adjust their grievances to a spirit of brotherly love, and may thus become united, not only in word, but in deed as well. If our order is to be in such shape as to have our just demands granted, then it behooves us to be up and doing. To demand is one thing, to enforce a demand, another. To do the latter we must be in a position both financially and numerically to carry convictions with it. Therefore, brothers, the thing for us is to become thoroughly organized and instead of throwing obstacles in the way of new applications remove all such that are not absolutely necessary in upholding the integrity and honor of our beloved order. There are, in a rapid glance, scattered along the Delaware River in the different yard shops from 1,000 to 20,000 men employed. Out of this number, let us say, there are 700 or 800 organized. Brothers, this should not be the case. It is the height of folly to suppose for one minute that these 15,000 or 20,000 men will be dictated to by 700 or 800 men. Let us throw some inducements in the way of these unorganized fellow workmen. Take them into our order, each and every one of them. Grant them cards for the line of work they follow, such as chipping, caulking and riveting, machine or hand, holderons, bolters-up, drillers at the topers, etc., thereby securing control over them in time of trouble.

Another thing, brothers, don't be vindictive when we receive an application from a person who in the past may have done some act of indiscretion. You may not know how the poor devils might have been pushed to secure the necessities for their loved ones at home. Let justice for our order and cause be tempered with mercy for the offender, and finally, brothers, give every man that same courtesy and chance to redeem himself in the eyes of his fellow men, as you or I would ask were we in their place. Then, and not until then, will we reach the height to which we aspire, and instead of 700 or 800 men dictating to 15,000 or 20,000 men, it will be the reverse, and the 15,000 or 20,000 will order the 700 or 800.

While looking over each copy of the Journal I can not but admire the literary abilities of some of our brothers; and while I am pleased that our order possesses such shining lights, the thought struck me that instead of writing such flowery essays how much better would it be to write smaller articles telling their different views on the best plan to increase our membership. Instead of writing on an inanimate sheet of paper, let us go to the nearest shop or yard, mount an old box or barrel and tell direct by word of mouth the object of our order and endeavor to persuade men to our way of thinking, and take up the question of the proper way of voting a removal of headquarters afterwards. At present our first consideration is to place our order in a firm foundation financially and numerically, and when this object is attained, then we can attend to other matters as they may arise.

With best wishes for the future success of the B. B. M. and I. S. of America, I remain,

Sincerely and fraternally yours,
JOS. BOOTH, C.

THE BALL OF LODGE 16.

On the evening of Wednesday, March 4th inst., the members of Jersey Lily Lodge No. 16, Jersey City, N. J., held their seventeenth annual ball, which was one of the most successful financially, and socially one of the most enjoyable affairs of its kind during the past season in this city. The attendance was large and far exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine. The hall was tastefully and elaborately decorated and at extreme end of hall across the curtain in front of stage was emblazoned in large gilt letters, Lodge No. 16, B. B. M. and I. S. B. of A., which showed to great advantage.

The committee of arrangements, composed of Brothers Geo. Horn (chairman), Henry Kelly, Geo. W. Golden, P. J. Connelly, Francis J. Lyons and Thos. J. Lillis, deserve and should receive the congratulations of all for their untiring and ceaseless efforts in bringing the affair to such a jolly and pleasant ending as it contributed to the pleasure of those who attended.

Praise should be extended to the reception committee, Brothers P. Hepsheer (chairman), Wm. Goldman, Jas. Edgar, J. Horan, G. Andrews, Wm. Berger and Wm. Masterson, for their courtesy and efficiency in contributing to the many wants of those who needed their services.

The floor committee, under the able direction of Bro. Nic Fitzhenry and his capable assistant, Bro. Geo. F. Langon, are worthy of the highest praise for their excellent management of the vast and happy throng of merry dancers.

In fact, it was one of those brilliant and dazzling social affairs conducted by Boiler Makers to whom are attributed nothing but roughness and vulgarity, but who in carrying out this ball showed to outsiders that they are fully competent to bring such entertainments to a happy and complete success.

We had delegations from the various sister lodges, notably Bro. Jas. Ostrander, the esteemed and worthy President of Lodge No. 163, Hoboken; also from No. 163, Bros. Jas. Downs, C. Westphall, Jno. Hamilton, Geo. Bartholemew, B. Caine, J. Carney, Geo. M. Deely; also Bros. Leon Byrum, Wm. Cockran from Lodge No. 33, Bayonne. We also had our two business agents, Bros. F. J. McKay and D. Malloy; also the Sec.-Treas., Bro. H. H. Osborne, from District Board No. 2, N. Y. City, who, one and all, said it was one of the most enjoyable social gatherings of the season and Lodge No. 16 thanks one and all for contributing to its success.

WM. DEELY, Cor. Secy.

LODGE 335.

Grand Junction, Colo., March 17.—I am authorized to write a few lines in behalf of Alkali Lodge No. 335, one of the healthiest and youngest lodges in this state. We have every boilermaker in our jurisdiction enrolled and all are true blue.

We gave our first annual ball on February 27th, which was pronounced a grand success socially and financially. Fifty dollars of the proceeds was at once forwarded to aid our Brothers on U. P. in their grand struggle for our rights as well as their own. If all Brothers would donate one day's pay per month to this cause it would be but a short time before it would be won, and the benefit we would all receive from this victory would repay us a thousand fold.

I have enclosed a few more lines on another sheet. If you think it is safe to inflict any more punishment on the Brothers by publishing it, do so; if not, I leave it to your discretion. I know there must be room in the scrap pile. Yours fraternally,

Yours fraternally,

W. H.

U. P. STRIKE.

There is a load of worry on the old man's mind,

Now the boys are striking on the U. P. line.

They'll win out, I see clearly,

But it's taxing them severely—

That creates the worry on the old man's mind.

The cause the boys are fighting for is yours and mine,

That's another worry on the old man's mind.

Let's show appreciation by liberal donation

And take away the worry from the old man's mind.

The Boilermaker's Union grows stronger all the time,

The boys are flocking to it all along the line,

And when there's stormy weather you bet they'll stick together,

And that's a consolation to the old man's mind.

—W. H. Alkali 335, Grand Junction.

LODGE 41, H. D.

Baltimore, Md., March 13, 1903.—The following officers were elected for the year of 1903: H. Bradley, president, 627 N. Montford Ave.; J. Scroggs, vice-president, 1430 Richardson St.; W. Hatheway, financial secretary, 1435 Riverside Ave.; T. Burns, recording secretary, 1108 Hanover St.; S. Gibson, corresponding secretary, 1002 Forest Place; E. Erickson, treasurer, 1822, Canton Ave.; R. Kohldolph, inspector, 1423 Decatur St.

Will say a few words in behalf of 41. We were organized September 15, 1903, with only 20 charter members, but have been growing steadily until we now have over 160 in good standing and are still increasing. Think it is a pretty fair showing for so short a time. We have almost all our shop and yard organized now and every thing working smoothly.

Trade has been light here for sometime, but is looking up some now. I remain,

Yours fraternally,

S. C. GIBSON, Cor. Sec.

LODGE 35.

Baltimore, March 20,—After April 1st the dues in Lodge No. 35 will be 65c instead of 50c, and all brothers who are back in dues and do not square up by the first of May will be published in the Journal. I forgot to mention this when I wrote to you last.

George BEAUCHAMP,

J. C. Lodge No. 35.

LODGE 7—HELPERS' DIVISION.

St. Paul, March 16, 1903.—This being the first time we have sent anything to the Journal, I am pleased to say we are doing well. At our last regular meeting we balloted on four candidates and expect to initiate six at the next meeting.

Brother Jennis, who has been sick, was with us at our last meeting.

The Boiler Makers Union gave a smoke social March 4th to which we were invited and had the pleasure of meeting Joseph Schiedt, who represents U. P. strikers, who addressed the boys in a very pleasing manner.

Hoping this will find a place in our next Journal, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

JOHN H. YOEKS, J. C.

LODGE 128.

Toronto, March 18th, 1903.—I take great pleasure in writing you these few lines to let you see that Queen City Lodge is not behind the times yet.

At our last regular meeting after a few candidates were admitted and business was transacted, the brothers of 128 were much surprised when one of our best and most faithful officers announced that he was accepting another position in Bay City, Michigan, and would not, perhaps, be with us again for awhile, but at the same time wished the union every success and also its officers. Our worthy president gave a few remarks and announced what a loss it was to 128 to lose Brother Marshall, as he has been a hard worker and hoped he would work just as hard for some other lodge to do good.

He closed his speech by getting the members of 128 to join in wishing Brother Marshall every success at his new position. A few other speeches were delivered in Brother Marshall's favor, after which light refreshments were passed around.

With much hand shaking they all joined hands and singing Auld Lang Syne.

Respectfully,

NORMAN SMITH,

269 Palmerston.

LODGE 93.

Not having heard from this lodge for some time, I thought I would write a few lines to let you know that we are still in the harness. Business here has been good all through the winter. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, J. Simpson; vice-president, W. Cooper; financial secretary, J. McGee; corresponding and recording secretary, E. G. Glueck; treasurer, C. O'Brien; inspector, W. Diggan. The eighth annual ball, given by Lodge 93 on February 23rd, was a grand success, both socially and financially. About 75 couples participated. Would like to hear from J. Fitzgerald, registered number 16,215; last heard from at Youngstown, Ohio. S. Palm was expelled for nonpayment of dues and assessment.

LOOKING BACKWARD AND LOOKING FORWARD.

From Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders monthly report of Great Britain.

Worthy General Secretary, and Worthy Officers and Brothers.—The year 1902 has gone into oblivion like its predecessors and left its mark behind it; it has gone out of our hands, and we have nothing to do with it. We cannot change anything in it. If there have been mistakes and follies there is no use grieving over them; but, on the other hand, get new wisdom from the past, and use it for the future. Our eyes should ever be to the fore. That is where our work lies. I may say that the chief events of the year 1902 has been centered on trades unionism defining its position and liabilities. A host of trade unionists fully believe that we are and have been defeated by the different verdicts against trade unions during the year 1902. For my own part, I am not a pessimist in this matter, but an optimist, and I fully believe that ere long we shall see the foundations of trade unionism on a more solid basis than ever; and those who are now entrusted with its future destinies will emerge from the conflict clothed with victory. The year 1902 was not a fruitful year either for labor or capital, but for the trade unions it was a year full of lessons, full of anxious thought, a year wherein seed has been sown that will produce fruit that generations unborn will bless God ever it was sown. As I stated in the December Report, it was the jubilee of the amalgamation of the Friendly Boilermakers, the Iron Shipbuilders and the London Unity. Perhaps it would not be unadvisable here to state that when this amalgamation took place in 1852, the Friendly Boilermakers' Society composed 45 lodges, 1781 members, and a balance of £908 8s. 7½d. How the Scotch lodges and the London Unity stood regarding members and funds I have no evidence, but I came to the conclusion, according to the resolutions then passed, that they were not a large and wealthy body. In those days, and not a few years back, the general opinion among the old Boilermakers was this, that a great mistake had been made in amalgamating, but time, the great worker and revealer of all things, has taught us different, if we view the society in 1852 and in 1902. At the beginning of 1852, you have the whole composition of the Friendly Boilermakers in lodges and finances and members.

Now, according to our last financial statement for the quarter ending Sept. 30, 1902, our lodges numbered 287, finances £419,610 10s 11¼d., and number of members, say 48,000. This is the composition of the United Society of Boilermakers and Iron and Steel Shipbuilders. With all its fluctuations, its burdens, and its discharges, after 50 years' working, we claim today of being an organization second to none. However much the delegates at the Manchester Assembly in 1852 were blamed for their action in thus amalgamating, they were men of sound reason, and inspired with no sordid motive. They knew that in unity lay strength, and at the inception of the amalgamation is showed the wisdom of these men, and today we are the inheritors of not their wisdom and forethought only, but the fruits of their self-denial and self-sacrifice. To these hardy trades unionists we owe a debt of gratitude for shorter hours of labor and higher wages. Trade unionism is the lever that has lifted the worker from serfdom, and emancipated him from the shackles of service akin to slavery. With such a past to look back upon, and such glorious results of 50 years' toil, let it stimulate us for the future. Trades unionism has held its own for more than 60 years' in spite of all assaults, and we have nothing to fear for the future. Fifty years ago there was not 30,000 trade unionists in existence. Last Trades Congress, if report is true, there were representatives at that Congress, representing nearly two millions. What a vast army! This shows that labor is a force and, properly organized, it has the destinies of the empire at its feet. Let us take courage, remembering our work is before us, and let us try to bring the halting ones up to the colors, and what has been accomplished in the past can be done in the future. United we stand. Let unity be our motto, and success is ours.

Yours faithfully, in unity and trade,
WM. J. LOVELL, 73 Bridgeman Street,
Bolton.

FROM BROTHER SHEETS.

High Springs, Fla., March 20.—After a silence of two or three years I can't refrain from coming to the front again. So I will endeavor to write an article to the Journal in behalf of Brother J. G. Hill, of No. 30, and the Brotherhood at large.

Now, brothers, Art. 10, Sect. 5, is all O. K., in my estimation as far as it goes, but it don't go far enough. Every lodge can't say (as the professors of Little Rock can), go way back home and get a card. But I hope I may see the day that we can say that everywhere. But they can say we can communicate and will communicate with the Boilermakers or Iron Shipbuilders of said city or town where the wandering Willie came from, and find out who he is and what he is before he becomes a member of our Brotherhood. And every lodge should be compelled to do so.

Now, Brother Hill, you say that such men as we refer to above came back to Roanoke and expect No. 30 to be responsible for them. I say we are not responsible for any member securing his membership through falsehoods as these men have, and the card should not be honored. But wait a few moments. Lodge No. 30 has turned such men down and others have not. Why? Because one had a friend in the order and the other one had not. That is why and that is the God's truth too. So there are others violating the constitution. I say, brothers, our working cards do not now, nor will not stand for anything but a due book, as long as we tolerate with the lodges that will take anything in to have a large membership.

Here is an instance that happened not many weeks ago. A flue welder and ash pan man quit and went over to No. 222, got a job and went to work. Joined the union, and now is as good as any Boilermaker, as one of his kind told me one time.

But I told him his card would not be recognized by me nor none of my kind. No! A hundred times, no!

This will be continued in our next.

Fraternally yours,

F. F. SHEETS.

NO. 28 HD.

Omaha, Neb., March 11.—I have noticed in the Journal of the last few months the lists of donations made to some of the unfortunate brothers, and it makes me wonder whether the lodges donating to such raffles ever think of the brothers that are fighting the accursed piece-work system in the West. True we have no gold watches to raffle, but something far greater—that is the interests of organized labor in the West. Now, if the lodges that donate to such raffles would send as much to the struggling men of the U. P., it would help some other unfortunate striking brother. In the organized cities of the East the lodges have gone so far as not to allow any money to be donated out of the treasury to their striking brethren. They think as they get their demands that they have a fence around their high wages, but let me tell you, brothers, that if this strike is lost that the fence will gradually be broken down and it will take a long time to rebuild it. So brothers, just because you are working in a good union ship and get big wages, don't think that is all you want. Suppose you were thrown out of work, the first thing the majority of men do, is start West, and finding wages low, scarcely enough to live on, then they blame the men working in such shops. We are just trying to do this thing, improve conditions, and with a little assistance will do it if it takes another 9 months'; so brothers, keep away from the U. P. system, as the strike is still on, and don't forget to send on your spare change.

Yours truly and fraternally,

ROBT. LOWRY, J. C.

LODGE 1, H. D.

We brothers of Lodge 1, HD, do beg of you to publish the following in the Journal and that is, that Patrick Whaley, F. S., of our lodge, is one of the most desperately union men that the world has ever produced. Brother Whaley came into our lodge last June and since then he has got 63 men to fill out applications and be initiated. He attends all the district meetings and makes a decided report every regular meeting. He is near losing his right eye, caused by a piece of steel flying from a set hole cutting out rivets. Most of the brother's time is taken up now doing picket duty around the Standard strike.

He was born in Ireland in May, 1864. He graduated from high school and then spent two years in college; being sick of school he tended bar for his father, who runs one of the most prosperous hotels in Bayonne, which is located at 142 Avenue E. Bayonne, N. J., where the striking B. and H. meet every morning to make their reports. If any of the brothers ever run into town all they have to do is to drop in and show their card and they are good for any thing they want. The main thing about this man is when the president is appointing any committee he is always made chairman. We are running off an excursion and our brother is the main thing. He has made all arrangements for the excursion to be a success. Enclosed you will find a photograph of our dear brother.

JOHN GORMAN,

Journal reporter, Address 418 Ave. D., Bayonne, N. J.

DENNIS BUCKLEY.

Some time ago an article appeared in the Journal announcing a national contest to be held in behalf of Dennis Buckley, and was to be held in March. Said contest has been postponed until April 25th, as I understand some lodges have returned the tickets all together. Their actions in doing so does not commend the spirit of brotherly love which I read so much about in the columns of the Journal lately. Now, worthy brothers, this is a case which deserves our strict attention. The example as laid down by Brother Buckley commends itself to all fellow members in our organization. His health was impaired by his untiring efforts in our behalf in his younger days which eventually brought on that dreaded disease, neuralgia paralysis, which has prostrated him, and from which he cannot recover. I would like to ask if the laborer is worthy of his hire, or in other words, do we owe Brother Buckley anything? It seems not by the actions of some of our sister lodges. The obligation which each and everyone of us takes when we are admitted into this organization should be always carried out. No matter what he may have done so long as he is a good brother. Here is a brother in dire distress appealing to you, and some of you turn a deaf ear. Shame on you. You do not deserve to be called brothers. When history is recalled in years to come and your offsprings converse on matters that have happened in this generation, what will be their opinion on such subjects as this one? Their condemnation will be general on those who refused to contribute a mite to relieve the sufferings of one who has done so much in the upbuilding of this noble Brotherhood, and their condemnations will meet with the approval of the rank and file. We should always take great pleasure in having an opportunity presented to us where we could show our gratitude to one who has worked so hard for the betterment of the conditions of all concerned. We should show our Christian charity also. We should take pride in saying that the laborer is worthy of his hire. We should take a pride in saying Dennis Buckley, you worked hard for our welfare when you were able, and we will in return see that as long as you are upon earth we will see that it will be as agreeable as we can make it, and let me tell you how you can do it: By every member in this organization buying a ticket for this contest. It is only 25 cents each ticket.

We all know by experience that none of us can live on sentiment and sympathy. Why should we refuse to give one of our brothers what we would ask for ourselves? Take this home to yourselves and study it. Place yourself in Brother Buckley's place. Would you want to change with him if you could? Would you not expect that this Brotherhood should sustain you and see that you would not have to go to the alm's house and be buried in a pauper's grave? These are common tortures which confronts any man in the some position as Brother Buckley is placed in now. Now, worthy brothers, I will expect that when this contest is over with it will be an everlasting credit to this Brotherhood. It is by participating in such acts as these you build up and strengthen your Organization. Remember the old proverb, "Many can help one where one can't help many." I hope I have not taken up much of your time and will say in conclusion, brothers, when the opportunity presents itself do your duty.

EDWARD FOX, G. V. P.

SUCCESSFUL BOILERMAKERS' STRIKE DEMANDS AGREED TO.

The Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders, Local No. 333, and Brotherhood of Helpers, No. 50, of this city, were successful in bringing to a close one of the shortest strikes in their history.

The firms involved were the Marietta Boiler Works, Henry Strecker Boiler Works, Chas. Hick's shop, Ellsler's shop, M. C. & C. shops and Barker Bros., of Williams-town.

The boilermakers asked for $3.00 per nine hour day and their helpers an increase of from 10 to 18 per cent. About 40 men were affected. The scale of wages was placed in the hands of the different firms some time ago, and Manager Fox, of the Marietta Boiler Works, informed them that he would have to confer with the other officers of the company before signing it. President Leidecker was informed of the state of affairs and this morning wired back to sign the scale and for the men to return to work. The Marietta Boiler Works signed up and all the other companies except the M. C. & C. followed.

The strikers made no concessions and gained everything that they asked for. As the Marietta Boiler Works have a large number of orders ahead they thought it best to grant the wishes of the strikers and not have any trouble. Manager Fox deserves a great deal of credit for his treatment of the men. The men conducted themselves in a gentlemanly manner and not a bit of trouble occurred. Their claims were just and the manufacturers did the proper thing in allowing them. This was a very short strike and one in which the union is justified. It is a case where the union is recognized and the laboring man is given that which he rightly deserves.

The men will return to work Monday morning.

LODGE 50, H.D.

LODGE 64.

Jackson, Mich., March 18.—Month after month I have looked over your valuable Journal expecting to see something from my predecessors, but now being appointed Journal correspondent from Central City Lodge, No. 64, it is up against me whether they ready anything about this lodge this year. Although rather late in making a start I will try and tell you something about the doings of this lodge.

The officers elected this year are as follows: President, John Holihan; vice president, Fred Schempf; financial secretary, J. D. Osborne; recording secretary, Wm. Doyle; inspector, Joseph Parker; guard, Lewis Turcotte. Now, with these officers there is no reason why we should not have some hustling times. Some time ago a committee was appointed to make arrangements for a smoker, and with something to drink and some sandwiches and weinerwurst they all had a good time. Brother Will Hartwick had his phonograph and the way that machine talked was a fright. He gave us songs and speeches, in fact it was the whole program, excepting some boxing, which the brothers indulged in. Everybody went home feeling that they had a good time, and too much credit cannot be given to the committee who had charge of this affair, which consisted of Brothers Hartwick, Osborne and Burnside.

Now, there is one more thing that I notice more than anything else, and that was the attendance. If we could only get as many out to every meeting as there was to that one, we would have some good times. I suppose every lodge has those troubles, but it does seem to me that the brothers ought to get out to the meetings twice a month, and talk business instead of in the shop. Now, Mr. Editor, look out for the doings of this lodge, as you have not heard from us for sometime.

Yours fraternally,

WM. GEORGE, J. C.

LODGE 76.

Albuquerque, N. M., March 3.—I am requested to tell you that No. 76 had a grand ball St. Patrick's night, and a fine one it was. They did not come in one or twos, but by the scores, till Colombo hall was packed, and the way we had of entertaining them, it was no trouble. It took till 3 a. m. to find out when they had enough. The grand march was led by our foreman, Brother John Spellecay, and it was fine.

There is work here for some good card men if any wish to come, but there is a cold shoulder for men without a card, as No. 76 has got all the sand shoveled away and says no ticket no admission. We have some new men here now. All got cards up-to-date. Now is the time, boys. Put away a dollar for the rainy day. Let us all work for the good of the cause and weed the bad ones out and get this measly one out that runs to the boss and tells him all he sees and hears and what goes on at the meeting. Nearly always a black sheep in every camp. I tell you, the black sheep are nervous around here. We have to go at these easy and the right way. We have one up for trial now, and he is pretty white around the gills.

Well, I wish to thank all the brothers of No. 76 for the strong manner they took hold of the ball and for their untiring efforts to make it a success. The arrangement committee was, D. P. Murphy, C. E. Newman, O. Anderson, E. W. Cooper.

PRINCIPLES OF ORGANIZED LABOR.

The principle of a labor organization is to better the conditions under which man suffers in this world. With his short time in it as the span of life to derive care from the brow of toil, to keep bright the light in the eye of hope, to sustain with a smile the features of despair, to feed the hunger of the mind and the stomach, to quench the thirst for knowledge and love, to whip want from this land of plenty, to destroy despots and place liberty above greed, to make the world what nature intended it to be, an abiding place for men, and man himself the brother of his fellow; to have hopes whose function lies this side of the grade and aspirations, whose day of success looms bright above the clouds; to enjoy the beautiful gifts of our common mother earth without paying usury to those whose only claim is possession, and whose possession is guarded by a purchasable law.

LODGE 2.

East Atlanta, March 18.—By request from Lodge 46, Cheyenne, Wyo., Lodge No. 2 has made a donation to the strikers on the Union Pacific, and we have done something better than that. We have raised the dues here to one dollar and fifty cents per month and one dollar of it is to go to the strikers on the Union Pacific, and this assessment is to be kept up until the strike is won, and it will surely be if there is financial backing. Come on, brothers, every one of you can stand one dollar per month. Just think of it. If every boiler maker would just donate one dollar every month to these struggling brothers they could make the Union Pacific officials feel like 30 cents.

This is a small lodge in quantity here, but in quality it is as big as any lodge in the country. We have twenty in good standing, and that means twenty dollars every month for the struggling brothers of the Union Pacific. Now, let some of the sister lodges do the same as we have done, and let's quit this leveying assessments by the grand lodge. Let what money we pay them stay there. We may all be on a strike some day and if we leave our grand treasurer alone for a while we will soon have enough money on hand so we will never bother about any assessments at all, but will have plenty of money on hand to pay all strikers, and it will be done so easy, won't it. Now, that is easy to say and it is also easy to do. Show me a boiler maker in the whole country that cares anything about going to a saloon and spending a dollar and from that on up. Now, these are facts, and every one of you will agree with me. Now, I don't ask you to stop drinking, but it is just this, you can donate these poor struggling fellows one dollar just as easy as you can blow in a dollar. But I must say something in local affairs.

Brother Pat Clarke met with a painful accident by getting his leg broken in two places below the knee, but he is getting along nicely now, and will be out soon, but it will be some time before he will be able to do any work. Work is good here. We are working sixty hours per week, wages from 29 cents to 31 cents per hour.

Newport News, Va., March 19.—There are several matters that the brothers of this city and vicinity are very much interested in. One of them is a strict construction of that section of the constitution relating to the depositing of working cards. There are a good number of members of other locals from other places working here, and it is almost impossible to get them to deposit their cards, and while we may have been to blame in the past, in the future each and every one will be reported through the proper channel to be disposed of as we are sick and tired of being imposed upon.

We have, through our corresponding secretary, already forwarded one name. A man, who from the honors which have been conferred upon him, ought to have been one of the last to default in his obligation, but when he was visited by our shop steward he gave him no satisfaction whatever.

The members of No. 55 were given a chance to show their mettle last week, and it must be said that they measured up to the standard. It was reported by the press that a vessel from the Morse Iron Works was on its way here for completion, and while we knew our numbers were small every man was ready to do his duty.

We received a telegram from Brother M. Green, corresponding secretary of No. 176, warning us of the presence of an employment agent in this neighborhood. We had several thousand dodgers printed and distributed at the ship yard that afternoon, and at our next meeting, at which there was fully 100 members, the situation was discussed, and all warned to keep away until they were officially notified that all was O. K. You will always find No. 55 on watch.

In talking with the members here it seems that with the proper management we can increase our membership to a great extent, and that the time is ripe for the visit of an organizer. I understand that we were promised the aid of Brother Shaney, and if you can do so send him, by all means, as I am sure he will be a great help to us. The Machinists and Am. Fed. of Labor each have an organizer here, so if Brother Shaney is sent this way he will find a good field to work in.

I am about to open communications with the various locals in N. C., S. C., W. Va., and Va., in regard to forming a district lodge. What is your opinion as to that move?

Yours fraternally,

J. K. MOLLOY, J. C.

LODGE 14.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 12.—Any unbiased reader of the very laborous and ingenious arguments of writers in the Journal advocating abolition of the referendum and moving of headquarters to Washington, D. C., cannot but become impressed with the belief that Brother Van Nest of L. 32 is correct in his conclusion that Brother Crawford of L. 35 is disguising his intents and using the Journal to give vent to a few sarcasms and criticisms under the guise of a series of misleading essays. I, however, disagree with Brother Van Nest, when he says such articles as Brother Crawford's should be excluded from the columns of our Journal. Every member has a vested right to appear in these columns so long as they write on matters pertaining to the Brotherhood and do not indulge in personalities. Articles such as Brother Crawford's and a few others are good for analytical purposes, as in them the poison can be readily discerned without the services of a chemist of any sort, as all of them (to again quote Brother Van Nest), show a purpose to create a feeling against our grand officers, simply because of their belief in the usefulness of the referendum.

Articles in Journal (which I will endeavor to review), plainly show this purpose. With the end in view of drawing attention of members to these articles, not one of which gives even a plausible reason why the referendum should be abolished, and headquarters moved to Washington, D. C., I will take up the letter of Brother Nolan, of L. 57, in Nov. 1902, Journal, in which he expresses surprise at, and characterizes as strange, the arguments and ideas of Brother G. S. T. Gilthorpe, and in a sarcastic way refers to his communication in Oct. 1902, Journal, as the famous article of his against moving headquarters. Every line of Brother Gilthorpe's article contains the essence of good, sound sense and argument, why headquarters should not be moved to Washington, D. C. Brother Nolan endeavors to make a great noise about what G. S. T. (under date of July 23), wrote Journal correspondent that he (G. S. T.), has no use for any one that wants to abolish the referendum and Brother Nolan stoops to misquote Brother Gilthorpe and to make him appear as saying, our grand officers are going to be scheming politicians just as soon as they reach Washington. No such sentence appears in Brother Gilthorpe's communication in October Journal, and I protest against Brother Nolan's falsifications of facts and of treating members of this Brotherhood as if he regards them as a lot of illiterates and ignoramuses.

The following is what Brother Gilthorpe said: "We have under contemplation the changing of headquarters from Kansas City, Kansas to Washington, D. C. What for is a very natural question? To make politicians and schemers out of the officers and when they become proficient in that business, kick them out because they will not do what you desired to make them." This simply was interrogatory, but Brother Nolan overlooks the point of interrogation and misconstrues the sentence to suit his own purpose.

No one, not even Brother Nolan, believes G. S. T. meant to say our grand officers could not reside in Washington, and not become politicians. However, if Brother Gilthorpe thought so he had a perfect right to express himself accordingly and numbers of our members are impressed with that belief. I therefore advise Brother Nolan when quoting to quote honestly and correctly and leave out sarcasm and innuendo in which he indulges by saying that he (Brother Nolan), admits the rights of all will be protected who thinks his (Brother Gilthorpe's), way, but discrimination is always in order for those that think different. This from Brother Nolan to Brother Gilthorpe cannot be considered only as a direct insult, and bears out what I have said in the early part of this letter that there is poison in such communications quite unexpected from a man of Brother Nolan's mature years. In one part of his letter he says, let us reason together and in another calls for an organization of forces to stop all this bugaboo about the undeveloped West. I respectfully ask is our Brotherhood a force or forces? Has it become disorganized? Brother Nolan advocates the development of both the East and the West. His advocacy brings up the question, "Can the West be developed from Washington, D. C., any better than the East can be developed from Kansas City?" In concluding his letter Brother Nolan characterizes as rot all this talk about the East and the West, and no doubt considers this clinches his argument.

The next article taken up is the Baltimore convention, by Brother Keenan, of Lodge No. 9, which, as a brief review of the work of the convention and complimentary to the delegates, is all that could be desired. My object in taking up these questions of abolition of the referendum and moving headquarters from Kansas City, Kansas, to Washington, D. C., is to, if possible, induce members to take a proper interest in these matters of much importance to the Brotherhood and not allow the promoters of these schemes to pull the wool over their eyes by statements made in the Journal from time to time that are misleading and mischievous in the extreme. I therefore, as in the case of Brother Nolan, take exception to the statement made by Brother Keenan in November, 1902, Journal, wherein he says a distinct loss to the convention was the illness of Brother Cantwell, superinduced by the hot weather, and which compelled that brother to leave for home on the fifth day of the proceeding. The vote on the abolition of the referendum system was exceptionally close and had Brother Cantwell and the other brothers excused with him remained at the session when the subject came up the result would be the reverse of what it was.

I challenge this statement in support of which Brother Keenan should have considered it incumbent upon himself to give facts and figures. Any member has a perfect right to advocate any reforms he considers will be for the benefit of the Brotherhood, but I protest against any such misleading statement at this from Brother Keenan. He says the opinion is fast gaining ground that the referendum is not adapted to trade union affairs. Where, please, does this opinion prevail? Certainly not in Lodge 9 if vote of sick and death benefits is correctly recorded in February Journal. Not one yes, and 148 noes. An object lesson of the beauty of the referendum system of voting which should not be lost on Brother Keenan. He a delegate of L. 9, was on the floor of the convention, one of the strongest advocates of sick and death benefits. Goes home and has his action in the convention repudiated by 148 members. Lodge 9's vote is certainly a very interesting study.

Now, a few words on article of Brother J. B. Casey, L. 57, in February Journal, which for candor is unrivaled by any communication on abolition of the referendum system and moving of headquarters to Washington, D. C. It, like the others, however, contains inaccuracies and inconsistencies which I will endeavor to point out. Brother Casey says the referendum is much abused and misused and honestly believes is an indifferently understood question. Now, here is a broad admission to begin with. Where place the blame? Certainly not on the system. Again Brother Casey says even after six years of use in this Brotherhood he finds members who say it is all Greek to them. Now, no doubt there are such members to be found. Again I ask where does the blame for this ignorance lay? With the members, certainly. There never was a system that was not misused and abused some way or another. Give this some thought, Brother Casey. Your proposition to take all that has been said for and against the system and ascertain the means between the two extremes, you will arrive at about the actual worth of the system, is impracticable, as between a Kansas City and Washington member who is to decide. No, you cannot work out this question as you would develop the circumference of an eclipse. I cannot reconcile Brother Casey's admission that the referendum system has the advantage of being ever ready for use in a compact community of limited size with his objection to its use in the Brotherhood wherein every lodge is a compact community, therefore, if good for use by subordinate lodges why not for the full Brotherhood. I cannot see any point the writer makes against the referendum system when he says, "Take our two salaried officers for instance. As long as they have been in office I do not believe they are personally known to half of our members." Now, Brother Casey, would our two chief officers be more widely known had they been elected in convention, and do you know a chief officer of a labor organization having over (20,000), twenty thousand members, who is personally known to half of the members of his organization?

The next argument presented is a supposition case of two grand officers resigning to start a bank or open a mine, in which event Brother Casey says nominations would be called for to fill the vacancies, and judging from the past they would come in profusion. About one-third of the lodges would make nominations and in most cases each lodge would have a different name to propose. Now, how does Brother Casey know one-third of the lodges would make a nomination, and as he judges from the past, will he please state at what time and under what circumstances one-third of the lodges of this Brotherhood nominated candidates for offices of G. P. O., and G. S. T., each lodge presenting a different name. I seek enlightenment. A very interesting section of Brother Casey's letter is the one dealing with holding of conventions under the old system, but when he says delegates gather inspiration and wisdom from each other's discourses, it is evident Brother Casey was not a delegate in 1896 when wisdom was imparted in true John L. style. In this same section it is claimed that under the referendum system it is usually the minority that elects. For the information of Brother Casey I will state there were more referendum votes cast by individual members for any one amendment proposed than there were delegates to Baltimore and all other conventions held since 1880, including the celebrated Cleveland "Hit-A-Head-When-You-See-It-Convention," where such scenes were enacted as would disgrace a horde of Chinese boxers, and yet we hear the cry of minority rule from those who advocate going back to the old system, depriving individual members of their right to vote upon matters affecting the interests of the Brotherhood at large.

Brother Casey having expressed himself on abolition of the referendum takes up the subject of moving headquarters from Kansas City, Kansas, to Washington, D. C., says:

"It seems this matter cannot or will not be considered without local prejudices entering into the matter." Well, who injected and is still injecting local prejudices into the matter? Brother Casey having acknowledged that there are some advantages in having headquarters at the geographical center of the country delivers himself on the following: "In the past the masses of the people while not at work had their minds centered on some frivolous pastime or pleasure while the lawmakers were grinding out laws for their control, and the consequence has been that the few were benefitted at the expense of many. Now, this from Brother Casey is certainly refreshing. Will he please state at what time the masses of the people, while not at work, centered their minds on frivolous pastimes or pleasures?"

Can anyone see anything in the above argument in favor of moving headquarters to Washington, D. C? What use to legislate for the benefit of the masses who center their minds on frivolous pastimes and pleasures? There is no objection made to Brother Casey appealing to the vanity of members to vote in favor of moving headquarters to Washington, D. C., so we can legislate for natty uniforms for boilermakers in the navy the same as machinists wear. I however, object to his misstatement that machinists in the United States Navy receive more pay than the boilermakers, while the reverse is the truth, as shown by the following figures taken from United States posters at present covering the bill boards of cities and towns throughout the country: Ship Wrights, per month$25.00
Carpenters' Mates, second class 35.00

Carpenters' Mates, third class	30.00
Blacksmiths	50.00
Boilermakers	65.00
Coppersmiths	55.00
Machinists without seagoing service...	40.00
Machinists with seagoing service....	55.00

A glance at the above figures show that the boilermaker is the highest paid mechanic in the United States Naval service, and that Brother Casey's misstatement is made for the purpose of (as already stated), pulling the wool over members eyes, as he cannot be ignorant of the above facts and figures, therefore, quite inexcusable in him.

Having characterized as Tommy Rot the talk of making politicians of our officers if we move them to Washington, D. C., it is rather inconsistent in him to ridicule the views expressed by Brother Fox, of L. 7, expressed in January issue of the Journal, which Brother Casey confesses caused him some misgiving. Now, in conclusion Brother Casey, come near to me so I can whisper a few words in your ear. Nothing, you know, succeeds like success, and had you the means wherewith to carry out your proposition to move on Washington with a band of lobbyists, defeat the schemes of the corporations, and by one fell swoop capture the legislative machinery of the nation, you would knock out Ciceronian philosophy, give Cicero the black eye, and place your name away up higher than the highest on the scroll of fame. Your proposition is, however, in view of present financial condition of our treasury, quite impracticable. I therefore, advise you to remember and act in accordance with President Cleveland's admonition to the commanding general of the industrial army, "Keep Off The Capitol Grass, Coxey!" Fraternally,

JACK GRIBBEN, J. C.

WELFARE OF THE UNION.

Under the head of welfare of the union I have a suggestion to propose which, if it should become a law, would fill a long felt want. We all know how hard it is for some of the brothers to pay a dollar assessment, or to give ten cents to any charitable cause, but how easy they can spend a dollar for other enjoyments such as shows and keeping the narrow lane always damp for fear they might choke. Now, it is a pity that we have to admit this, but it is nevertheless, a fact. Good union men all the way through, but don't ask them to buy a ticket for a quarter of a dollar to help some poor widow women or unfortunate brother who has met with an accident.

Now, my suggestion would be that the grand lodge (through referendum vote), assess all lodges (25 cents), twenty-five cents per member in good standing per quarter, also to assess the helpers' division (10 cents), ten cents per member in good standing per quarter, stamps to be issued by the grand lodge, and they should begin on the first of the months of January, April, July and October. I would also suggest in case this would become a law that it hold good for three years. This might seem too small a sum for some of the brothers, but remember a daily drop will wear a hole in a granite block, and it will be money at hand in case of an emergency, such as strike or any other cause, but it should not be used for any other purpose.

I think this would be an easy way of paying for all assessments and the sum is so small that even those of us that are always opposed to the assessments cannot find fault for fear of being shamed. And at the end of a year your assessment is paid and you never missed the money while paying it.

Now, we will see what this would mean in so many dollars and cents to the Brotherhood. Take the March Journal of 1903. We find 279 lodges on the official roster of the B. of B. M. and I. S. B. of America, and 65 of the helpers' division. Now, we will take for an average in every lodge of this Brotherhood of the boilermakers, say (50), fifty and of the helpers', (25), twenty-five. We find by multiplying fifty by twenty-five we get the sum of $12.50 of one lodge for one quarter and of 279 lodges we get $3,487.50 for one quarter, and for four quarters or one year, we find the sum of $13,950.00, and for three years it makes a sum of $41,850.00. Now, we will take the helpers' division. We find by multiplying twenty-five by ten we get $2.50 from one lodge for one quarter. Now sixty-five times two and one-half makes $162.50, and four times $162.50 makes $650.00 for one year, and for three years it makes the sum of $1,950.00. Now, adding those two sums together would make a total of $43,800.00, which sum would be in the treasury or at least have been paid in to the same, for we must figure on strikes and benefits just the same as before. Now, I think every brother can see for himself what this means, as I tried to make it as clear for him as possible, and in case it becomes a law or comes to a vote he has the pleasure of voting for or against it. So much for that. Now, I have another suggestion to make. It is this:

For the grand secretary-treasurer to make out a quarterly report of all members of all lodges, giving names and numbers, the financial secretary of each lodge to furnish him with same. Now, brothers, you will ask what is my object in this suggestion. Simply this; I believe there is not a lodge in existence but who has been uncoined at one time or another through some traveling boilermaker misrepresenting himself or leaving a board bill unpaid. Or still more unpleasant to write some of our own home settlers leaving their homes and better half with half a dozen children. Now, this ought not to be tolerated. Let me tell you how one lodge was fleeced out of about eight dollars. (We were lucky.) A boilermaker hailing from — Pa., Lodge No. —, came here, got loaded up with fire water, got locked up, came before the alderman, got $10.00 fine or 30 days in jail, and as usually is the case he went to jail. While in jail he remembered he had a boilermaker's card which he gave to the jailkeeper with the instructions to hunt up some of the boiler-makers for him and show them his card, which the jailkeeper did. So a committee was appointed to go and see the brother, (out on the Farm breaking stone), which they did. Went before the alderman, had his fine reduced, paid for same, and had the brother set free. That was no more than right, you will say. That was union principles. Good. If it was principle on our side it should have been on his side also. He made all kinds of promises what he would do if we got him his freedom, but up-to-date he has not kept his word, and furthermore the very same day he was let out he went and got loaded up again. Now, I hope when he sees this in print the blush of shame will come over him and he will do the right thing to the lodge that favored him and got him his freedom. This is only one instance. I could write of some more, but space will not permit. Then there are those handymen in your town who can not get in the union. What do they do? Simply go out of town, tell them they came from some city where there was no union.

Then there is the delinquent member. He stays away for a year or two and if asked to pay up all back dues he goes to another town and gets initiated, comes back and produces his card in your lodge and you have to grin and bear it. Now, if every lodge was supplied with a quarterly report this would be avoided. Men would not become professional liars and bums. With this end in view I made the above suggestion. If there is a better way but of this dilemma let us hear of it in the Journal. This might be a bigger job than I imagine, but if it cannot be done quarterly why not every six months? Every lodge should have eyes on a brother (or no brother), so if one comes along and tells you he hails from Buffalo, ask him his name and number, and if it corresponds with the one on the grand secretary's list he must be O. K., or otherwise you can turn him down and show him the way out of town. At any rate let us hear through the Journal what can be done to beat the dead beats.

With best wishes to all, I remain,
Yours truly and fraternally,
G. M.

Grand President Official Communications and Decisions.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:

This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of the JOURNAL by Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

Since last issue of the Journal I have been called on by several lodges to assist them in securing higher rate of wages and better conditions to work under. The members working on the Erie R. R. made a demand for an increase of wages, regulation of apprentices and establishing of shop rules. The superintendent of M. M., Mr. Morris, called for a committee from each shop to meet him in Meadville, Pa. Said committee thought it advisable to have the G. P. O. at the conference, consequently they wired me to be in Meadville on the 24th of Feb. Being one day late, the committee held a meeting with the superintendent of M. M. before my arrival, but as no desire was shown by the officials to straighten matters out, the meeting was adjourned. The following day, with the committee, I called on the officials. The reception given your official by the Erie R. R. Co. was everything that could be desired. In 1901 they would not talk to or recognize a union man, but now they don't wish to do business with anyone except the officers of the organization. Time is a wonderful worker. After three days conference, we were successful in securing from the Erie an agreement that will compare favorably with any in the Eastern country, which you will find in another column. Before we could secure the agreement I had to promise the superintendent that I would visit the various lodges on the system, call in the shop committee of each shop and arrange with the several Master Mechanics as to who were the men entitled to the high rate of wages. Therefore, after talking matters over with the committee and arranging matters, I went to Susquehanna; from there to Hornellsville; then to Buffalo, which is the eastern division of the Erie. The Western division is Meadville, Pa., Cleveland, O., Galion, O. and Huntington, Ind. Each of those shops I visited and arranged matters as settled on. No member secured less than 2c per hour and others as high as 5c per hour of an increase. Taking into consideration the conditions that existed on the Erie in 1901 and compare the present conditions, I think the members at large will admit the boilermakers on the Erie are worthy of some consideration.

When in Cleveland I attended the meeting of lodge 5, where a committee was appointed to visit J. D. Farasey, proprietor of the H. E. Teachout Boiler Works, who refused to grant our members the 9-hour day. After a few hours conversation with Mr. Farasey, we were successful in securing from him the same conditions for his boilermakers as the other shops in Cleveland.

When in Buffalo brother Fox notified me that the helpers in Dunkirk made a demand for an increase of wages and wanted the assistance of the G. L. to secure same. I immediately went to Dunkirk and with a committee of the helpers, called on Mr. Naughton, superintendent of the American Locomotive Co., and secured for the helpers the increase of wages.

On my return to the office I called in South Chicago where our members were out on strike for 9 hours per day and increase of pay. With a committee from 39, I called on Mr. Brown, President of the American Shipbuilding Co., on the lakes. He is a gentleman who desires to treat with organized labor and if the shipbuilders on the lakes will only become thoroughly organized there is nothing to prevent them from having an agreement that will establish a uniform rate of wages for day work and a uniform price for piece work. Since my visit to Chicago I understand the strike in the shipyard has been settled and the men secured the 9-hour day and the increase of pay.

On the 13th of March I arrived in Kansas City, but only remained in the office until the 17th, when I was called out by 159, Wilkesbarre, Pa., to consult with the employers of the Fulton Iron Works of that city. On my arrival there I found the superintendent away from home and I could not secure an interview with that gentleman until the 24th. During the interval I visited New York, Brooklyn and Elizabethport. On my investigation of the trouble I found a great mistake had been made. Good business must be used or the employers will refuse to treat with us.

On the 23rd I returned to Wilkesbarre, Pa. With a committee held a conference with the superintendent and was successful in securing 10 and 15 per cent. increase of wages for boilermakers. The wages for general workmen is now $2.90 and $3.19 per day of 10 hours.

In reading this report I hope the members will not think because we were successful in securing increase of wages and better conditions to work under in those particular cases, that we have nothing to do only make demands and they will be granted. Such is not true. While the employers are showing a disposition to treat with us, yet our demands should be just. We have all the trouble on hand at present we can take care of and hope all lodges will keep down agitation until we dispose of what is now on hand.

WATCHFULNESS AND DUTY.

In a busy world where selfishness reigns, and where competition is so keen, where great masters are all endeavoring to become the greatest. Although the masters of commerce are very few, yet as a result of their watchfulness, some one of them become the superior of all others, even at the expense of all others, while the tremendous majority stands supinely by without even an effort to check this immense elevation of one. Is it not plain to the intelligent and observing mind that such a race for supremacy would not, nor could not, be attempted if the occasion was made the concern of all. We find it to be a fact that one person attempts some gigantic scheme, which if resisted by a small fraction of the majority—no such venture would be successful. We also know that each one of the majority takes notice of the methods pursued. By it it is as positively known that each one of the opposition is waiting for some one else to do the rebuking. Consequently, the scheme goes through without question. This does not look manly or even sensible, but yet, it is an every day occurrence, simply because the great majority neglect their duty to each other. If we desire to accomplish anything we must be up and doing. It should be the rule that ourselves make the start, taking it for granted that a beginning is absolutely necessary to create a finish. We are treated to doses of injunction with unusual regularity, sometimes at home, sometimes abroad, but injunctions all the same. The imagination need not be stretched to assume most positively that each and every injunction lie, or do not lie, according to the likes or dislikes of the judge of issue. It is very absurd to believe, or even expect that because one judge refuses to issue an injunction that all judges will do likewise. But it is very safe to say that all the appointees of the immortal Lincoln have refused to enjoin on pretext of property in danger or anticipated violence. With the great majority taking interest in these proceedings by mass meetings and other methods of disapproval, of so-called injunctions being issued, there would hardly be found one judge with nerve enough to enjoin on the say of one side only. An old saying, he that would be free himself must strike the first blow, while the community that sits idly by and sees themselves bound hand and foot, without making one effort to prevent it, deserves their fate and should not complain. Unfortunately for organized labor—one waits for the other and all wait for their leaders, never for a moment realizing that all power and force arises from the rank and file.

It matters not where we go we will find judges of different minds, just like common every day folk, and according to the selfishness, or rather to the environments of each judge is how the judgment goes forth. Self interest predominates in all humanity, while it is a positive fact that forcible demonstrations have changed both the sentiments and judgments of many judges, and there is no doubt of history repeating itself, especially if a forcible example be given, and it should not be a violent one either. The duty of organized labor is to be ready at all times to resent any approach to place shackles either on their limbs or citizenship.

We reprint below a note of warning from the pen of an expert on the rights of man, which will repay any one who desires to read it. It is now high time for sides to be taken, as on all sides combinations are the rule. Be watchful. It is you all such injunctions are aimed at, but if you are found doing your duty the powers of all judges cannot harm you.

"There is extreme need at this time of a careful study of the legal principles underlying all business relationship, unless the present legal status of competitors in business or in the field of labor is better understood serious difficulties must surely arise. It has been the policy of the law for ages to protect and promote freedom of competition. This freedom of competition is the legal foundation of our present industrial system. Business relations are at present interwoven with a multitude of contracts and agreements, the object of which is to limit this freedom of competition. Such agreements are for the most part illegal and for that reason cannot be enforced. If anyone suffers financial loss because of these contracts and combinations to restrict competition, whether in the field of labor or in the domain of capital, the parties who enter into the performance of these contracts may be held liable for such financial loss, inasmuch as the law considers the acts which caused the loss illegal. It must be apparent therefore that present effort to avoid the consequences resulting from unrestricted competition must fail sooner or later, or else the present law must be changed and made to harmonize with such undertakings. Moreover, it should be realized that the present contracts restricting competition by which it is now sought more and more to bind together labor and capital in the present industrial structure are but ropes of sand. If any considerable portion of legislation to destroy combinations of capital that has been proposed by those who are ill advised were enacted into law, labor organizations would also be destroyed and probably would be first to suffer. People generally wish to see combinations of capital which create monopolies and raise prices prevented by law, while the people generally may be at the same time in sympathy with the efforts of laboring men to raise wages through the efforts of labor organizations. The law, however, makes little if any distinction between combinations of capital to regulate prices and combinations of labor to control wages, and laws intended to destroy the one without injuring the other will need to be more carefully drawn than such laws have been in the past and more carefully drawn than they are at all likely to be made, unless the legal status of trade relationship that we have been speaking of is more generally understood. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor at the Trust Conference in Chicago, said: "We have seen those who know little of statecraft and less of economics urge the adoption of laws 'to regulate' interstate commerce and laws to 'prevent' combinations and trusts, and we have also seen that these measures, when enacted, have been the very instruments employed to deprive labor of the benefit of organized effort."

The present ought to be an opportune time to thoroughly discuss this subject from a technical standpoint without bias and without regard to any political issues. The editors of labor journals could not better serve their constituents than by arranging for such discussion in the columns of their periodicals through a series of articles on this subject."

New constitutions for boiler makers' and helpers' division are now ready. New helpers' division rituals are in stock. Be careful to order all goods on supply blank, giving number of local, city and state, full name and address, writing plainly the number of each article wanted, and price of same opposite. Don't forget to place number of lodge and address on all letters, and positively give return address on all packages so as to insure proper credit and return.

Quite a number of lodges are on strikes. All such must record full name, registered number, married or single of every member on strike so as to get credit for same, as assessment stamps are now ready, but no lodge can be excused for any members on strike unless said members are recorded on books of grand lodge. The assessment stamps now being issued will be known as March assessment for $1.00 for boiler makers' lodges and 50 cents for helpers' division lodges.

There is a great deal of trouble around the country, not being confined to one section. District No. 2 has had a very severe spell of it, with all hands out in sympathy with Lodge 176 on Schuter's Island. The sympathy part has been called off, but not on Schuter's Island. Lodge 33 has a tilt with the Standard Oil Company in Bayonne. Lodge 88 with the B. & O. Lodges on the Southern R. R. are all expecting trouble. Lodge 18 is out on the Detroit Southern for more money, as are also Lodges 32, 221 and 228 on the Kansas City Southern for same cause. The ten lodges on the U. P. are still tussling, and as determined as ever, while any number of lodges are seeking sanction to make and enforce demands for more money and fewer hours. While it is refreshing to chronicle that Cleveland and South Chicago have won out on demands for more money and a 9-hour day, Chicago's increase being compromised, giving until June 1, 1903, to go into effect, and incidentally it might be remarked the first large ship yard in the country to establish the 9-hour day.

Keep men away from all points above noted. Vancouver has also a demand for nine hours.

There is no keeping in mind the cities and lodges now on our roster, they are organizing so fast it taxes our ingenuity in keeping them posted from month to month, yet we hail all with a hearty and sincere welcome, having plenty of room for as many more.

An Answer to Jos. Scheidt of No. 38.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Mar. 24, '03—In regards his article about Phil. Tuite in March Journal. Now least said regards that case is better for both parties. I know Tuite and he is as good and as square a man as ever wore a hat and union from his feet up. He has belonged to lodges that I have and I know a little about the affair. I take this chance to help brother Tuite and also I don't think if brother Scheidt knew the case as I do and some other boilermakers on the coast, he would write up as square and as good fellow as big Phil. Tuite. Circumstances alter cases. Brother Scheidt, you ought to have heard both sides of the story before you tried to injure as good a head as ever worked in a boiler shop.

Also, while I am at it, in last Journal I see some of the secretaries are writing up some of the fine points of their union men and that they have been in the order so long. Well, about two years ago I was working in Cheyenne and some of these fine union men came along, and one that was wrote up as being so strong, No. 48 had to tell him to get in line or get out. Here is what I call good union points: Be honest, square, and have the glad hand and welcome for the brother who is on the hummer. That makes better fellowship and union men than all your fine talk, so, Brother Gilthorpe, no boy is writing this, but an old head and 21 years a member and I wish to say, big Phil. Tuite is always a good head to meet and for myself I would like to see a rule that any boilermaker who don't pay honest bills be expelled and followed until he will pay. I don't know where Phil is now, but he can always sleep in my bed and eat with me when he is around.

Yours respectfully,

James Cox.

P. S.—Big Phil has done more or as much to make union men and make shops good to work in as any boilermaker in the country, so I don't see where 38's secretary has a chance to speak of him as he did.

Lodge 170.

RICHMOND, Va., March 24, 1903—I am very sorry to state that at this late date we would like to publish the suspension of Bro. John Hickey, our late treasurer. He was tried by a trial board composed of Lewis Johnson, Frank Ewan and John Crane and counceled for by brother Devlin, for absconding with the funds of this lodge to the amount of $51.98, and was found guilty by said board and fined the sum of one hundred dollars and his name crossed off our roll till said fine and back dues will be paid in full.

Hoping to see this in our next Journal, I remain

Yours fraternally,

JOHN CRANE,

Cor. Sec.

To Paducah Lodge and H. W. Shang.

In January, '08, H. W. Shang came to work at DeSoto and when asked by a brother, said he belonged to Paducah, Ky., lodge, but was behind. Our cor. sec. wrote to the sec. of Paducah, Ky., lodge as to said Shang's standing and anything else that we ought to know. A few days before pay day in February, I told Shang we had not heard from the sec. of Paducah, but if he thought of quitting we would reinstate him on the showing of his old due book and take chances. He gave me his old due book, which was for 1901, and September was the last month paid. Pay day, said Shang quit and left that night, leaving his old due book behind. I wrote to the sec. of Paducah lodge again, informing him of Shang's actions and told them if I did not hear from them or Shang I would publish the whole business in the Journal.

H. W. Shang came here from Louisville, Ky., with 40 dollars that he showed to one of the brothers here and left with at least $90. The reason we inquire about boilermakers coming to work in a shop is to find out if they are desirable acquisitions to the shop force. A man may be such an infamous scoundrel that no respectable man would work with him and it is every secretary's duty to answer inquiries promptly so we can protect ourselves and others against dead beats and others.

Now, in the first place, the secretary of Paducah, Ky., lodge is as much to blame as the man Shang. A secretary that takes no interest in his duties should resign. Here is a case where a member owed 16 months dues and assessments and we tried to find out what amount it would take to square him, informing the secretary to let us know at once and we would collect, and the secretary who received the letter, as it never came back unclaimed, did not take the trouble to write a few lines. On the other hand, here is a man comes to a shop to work, with $40, which he blows in, mostly for booze—I have his friend's word for this—that is a suspended member and was not man enough to square himself with his lodge, so that he could show that he had principle enough to pay his debts. Lodge dues are debts as well as bar bills, and a man that is more interested in getting his whisky bills paid than his lodge dues, be they labor lodge or any other kind, is a very poor specimen of a man. These kind of fellows will borrow money from their best friends and leave them in the hole.

Any boilermaker coming to DeSoto that cannot give a good account of himself will meet with a determined objection to his going to work. We have had so many dead beats and would-be boilermakers, that we are compelled to demand a card or papers to show what the new comer is. A boilermaker with a good card cannot leave a town and beat his bills and carry a card long if secretaries will comply with the constitution and answer the letter where a card is returned, asking what is against the holder. That does not mean dues only, but anything against the holder's ability as a boilermaker and all dishonorable acts. No doubt some men carrying cards are not entitled to them and lodges would often be justified in taking the cards up and exposing the holders thereof and the lodge issuing same.

PRES. L. 117.

Lodge 24.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Mar. 26, '03.—On account of not being able to get a report in from lodge 24, I will try and give you a little news in regard to how all the brothers are and how everything is.

At present the boiler shop is working 10 hours a day and the machine department and the round house men also. It is not so rushing on the road but fair for this time of the year.

No. 24 had some good meetings last month. Several of the candidates for city officers called at the hall and some of them talked in regard to union labor. That is all right in time for office seekers, all that labor has gained is by their own fight for their own rights. A committee from the Trades Assembly was instructed to wait on the city council and present a letter in regard to having union labor employed on city contracts and I witnessed their love for union labor. It was turned down to a finish by some of those men that are running for office. The vote stood 3 in favor and 10 against, so union labor lost so far but will come out all right.

The teamsters had some trouble last month but it is all settled now in regard to a raise in wages.

Brother Peacock is working in the city. His feathers are as fine as any union man would want to see and his card is O. K. and so is brother O'Rourke, of lodge 246. Brother Myers is back again in the city and working and brother McSherry is in the city also. He resigned his job at Clinton and put his card in lodge 24. Brother Saige has returned to work. He was on the sick list. Those brothers are all good members. Brother Tom Gleason is on the sick list. He has been off all this month but is able to be around. He will try it again the first of the month.

Bill Williams dropped in the city. He was flying light. He got a job and only worked 3 days. This man is better known as "Whisky Bill." The brothers tried to have him stay and brace up. He lost his card he told the brothers I hope he will get a card as it looks bad to have a brother on the road without a card. The proprietor of the Old House at Home wanted Bill to do some work on some ships that have been started in his back yard, as some of the boomers have worked on them and some of them forgot to draw their pay for over time that was worked on them. Big Pat Lynes worked on them when he was here and Mack Bride. Brother T. Mackey worked on them when he was in the city. He is O. K. on the books. Brother Kelley forgot to get his time for his work. This is one-eyed Kelley of Chicago. Whisky Bill said that he would go to Washington, D. C., and make a sale of them as the government was in need of battle ships. Jim is waiting for high water and when the water raises in sugar creek the blocks will be knocked out. Brother Mike Farrell has done all the flue work.

Our brothers had some good smokers last month and brother T. Kennedy sang his old favorite song. I only wished Thos. McCabe was here to hear him. His voice is some broken down but he sang "The Cat Came Back," but Thos. McCabe has not come back. Brother Kennedy is all right and the brothers can always get a song out of him.

We also had a letter from brother Thos. McCabe who is located at Vicksburg, Miss., and all the brothers were glad to hear that he is well. He says the water is very high the date he wrote and that the people of that city were in great danger. We were glad to hear that he got the brothers all in good shape again. Brother McCabe is just the man to hustle them around and put them in line. I would like to state to brother Thos. F. McCabe that there is an invitation sent to him by the proprietor of the Old House at Home to try and be present when those ships are launched. He wants to get them off his hands as this will be a good time to let them go. He will wire a message to you so you will have time to be present.

I would like to state that some of our cor. sec. are slow in answering letters and it is the first thing that lodge 24 attends to and by doing so we will know more and also know where some of our members are. I will close for the present.

The John Hopkins University, Department of Political Economy, Baltimore, Md., is desirous of securing a file of the Journal of the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders, more or less complete. Any one having back numbers of the Journal which he would be willing to dispose of is invited to correspond with Mr. George E. Barnett, John Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

CORRECTIONS.

In the suspended list of Lodge 148, in the February Journal, it said Thos. Floyd, Reg. No. 15989, and should have been W. H. Tobin, Reg. No. 13498, and Ed. Lynch should have been Jno. Mooney, Reg. No. 15988.

LODGE 125.

Desires Brother Frank Dunn, No. 428, to write to Luke Reddy, Finan.-Secy.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 19th, 1903.—A fair and satisfactory settlement has this day been ratified, signed and sealed, between the Knoxville Woolen Mills and Federal Labor Union No. 7295, and approved by a representative of the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. The boycott existing on their products is hereby removed.

To the unions who have aided us, financially and morally, in this long fight, and to the business firms who discontinued the use of the goods at our request, we tender our heartfelt thanks. We take pleasure in recommending the products of the Knoxville Woolen Mills to the public generally, and to union or friendly firms particularly.

The Labor Press has our thanks for its efforts in our behalf, and we thank the Executive Council of the A. F. of L. for the financial aid rendered and the valuable assistance otherwise given.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 22.—On the 18th of February, 1903, Mr. Michael Noland, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Margaret Breslaham, of the same city, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, by the Rev. Father Langan, of St. Bridget's Parish. After the ceremony, which was performed at high mass, the party departed for New York, where a reception was held in honor of the newly married couple, which was attended by many friends of the bride and groom. Mr. Noland is a member of No. 277, and has held many offices of trust. He has always been found honorable and upright, not only by the members of the lodge, but by everybody who knows him. The young lady that Brother Noland linked life and fortune with is one of Buffalo's most popular young ladies, and we think Brother Noland very fortunate indeed in winning the love of so estimable a young lady. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful as well as useful wedding presents. We predict for them many happy years of wedded bliss. Mr. and Mrs. Noland will be at home to their many friends after April on Catherine street, Buffalo, N. Y.

LODGE 221.

Pittsburg, Kans., March 24, 1903.—As you are aware there is a strike on the K. C. S. R. R. Since March 13, '03, at 1 p. m., the boiler makers and helpers have been out to a man; also all machinist blacksmiths and their helpers, for shop rules and an increase of pay, and we expect to stay out until this is settled. We do not know when that will be, but let the time be long or short, we cannot tell, but hope it will not be very long until all are back at their post helping to do the business for the company, as this always has been a very good road, since we got things regulated here some. Of course, all know what new roads are, but to show the inconsistency of some people, there were eleven boiler makers here in this shop before the strike to keep up the work. In the first batch of scabs that came, there were twenty-five men that called themselves boiler makers and with all of that the engines are dying all over the road, all sidetracks are blocked with cars, passenger trains stand here at depot until engines can go to shop to get fire cleaned and prepared to take trains on through. We can see the boys are all firm as a rock and say all or none shall return and if it is return, scabs must go. There are some of the boys that are beginning to think of looking for another place to live, but most of them say no, we will stay and see the end. Mr. Bro. Editor, I will give you a list of boiler makers and helpers that were sent here. The boiler makers are: Yosef Baden, Frank Diamond, B. P. Nichols, Alex Stealmen, Lewis Sigel, L. J. Kern, H. Miller, J. Trast, Simon Harsberg, Walter Clark, L. J. Leffler, G. W. Oconor, Chas. Bryson, Michael Redmond, Morris Komil, Jean Cassleer, Jim Williams, John White, Matt Dame, Lewis Rafaril, Julius Jelber J. Brownfield, E. H. Estis, Joe Godfill, Frederick Harlman.

The helpers are: Mack Gatdfried, David Moonblat, B. Peterson, Sam Pepper, B. Hirsler.

You will see there are only thirty of them and my informant says there are several of them that cannot speak the English language, but still they are here and claim to be boiler makers. I am,

Yours fraternally,

THE SONG OF THE WORLD.

Action, unceasing endeavor—whether; with brain and brawn;
 Singing of hammer and anvil, thrust of the plow through the soil,
 Though born of thought in the night-time,
 ax-stroke in silence of dawn,
 Solving the secrets of silence—secrets that guerdon our toil.
 Action, strong action forever—this is the life of our time,
 This is the heart-throb of Manhood, the pulsing of purpose sublime.

Flickered the glaive long in battles, carving the future of Kings,
 Cutting the fetters of bondmen, doing
 God's will in his way,
 Now in its scabbard 'tis sleeping, here on the wall where it swings,
 Dust on its hilt and Time's sharp teeth eating its edge day by day.
 Hauberk nor casque brought it harming, yet
 all of its temper is gone,
 Vanished its puissant prowess—today labor rolls the world on.

Tides of the amorous ocean strive for the kiss of the moon,
 Rivers, full-bosomed and brimming, bring their broad blessings to men;
 Health from their restlessness rises; but,
 in the stagnant lagoon,
 Born is the pestilent vapor—born in the death breeding fen,
 Water, life's limitless solvent, its blessings
 will freely disburse,
 When it is stagnant and pulseless, lo, it is turned to a curse.

Action, untiring and constant, this is the law of our breath;
 Live, then! O brothers who labor; labor that ceases is—death.
 —Robert Mackey, in Success.

 THE DANGER OF INJUNCTIONS.

More and more are the corporations and monopolists coming to rely upon the injunction to enable them to win in their troubles with their employes. They have not been able to secure legislation sufficiently drastic to suit their purposes. They cannot always depend upon the executive of the state to carry out their wishes. They dare not turn to the public, for, in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred, the sympathies and support of the public will be found to have been tendered to the toiler. There is but one recourse, then, for the corporations and monopolists, and that is the judiciary with its power to issue injunctions. This faith in the courts is unfortunately not misplaced. Today a judge in West Virginia or Missouri bends the supple knee to corporate wealth, and tomorrow a judge in one of the other commonwealths follows suit. As Tuesday's dispatches inform us, it is now a judge of Lancaster, Pa., who has stretched his prerogative to permanently enjoin certain iron molders from picketing the premises of the Marietta Casting company. No violence whatever was used by the striking workmen. They were simply seeking to dissuade, by peaceable argument, other workmen from continuing to work for the corporation, and as these arguments were having weight with the "strike-breakers" the company sought the aid of the courts.

Without entering into the merits or demerits of writs of injunction, it may truthfully be asserted that they are akin to the mandates of a despot; and if the despot is disobeyed, he, and he alone, imposes the penalty for such disobedience. It requires no trial by jury nor by an impartial judge to name the punishment for the crime of disobedience to a court's injunction. But when the right of union men to use all peaceable means to gain their ends is taken away from them the unions must disappear forever. They become as the wounded in an army after a battle. Now, labor unions, their character, their methods, are not under discussion here. The only proposition to be considered in this connection by the American people is the power the courts are arrogating to themselves. If by fiat they can destroy labor unions, for instance, what may they not destroy or foster? Merely for the sake of the argument concede that labor unions are pernicious, or even dangerous, are the American people ready to make a judge of a court their executioner? If yes, then have not the people occasion to quake with apprehension before the precedent to which they have given their acquiescence? Do not such assumptions of judicial power foster that distrust of courts which now so largely permeates the working classe? The Minnesota Union Advocate is in no sense to be construed as making an attack upon courts, but upon the court injunction as wielded by judges whose sense of justice has become so blunted that they can perceive only the employers' side in any controversy. The power of injunction is easily abused—how easily is familiar to all—and its abuse is becoming entirely too common. If it is the fault of the system, then the working classes of the country may some day feel impelled to rise in their majesty and wipe out the system. If that time ever comes there may not be moderation enough to distinguish between the system and the instruments who have stretched their authority to carry out its provisions. If so, both will go down before the wrath of an outraged people. God grant that the sober thought of the American public may tend to a speedy correction of this abuse before it becomes so deep-rooted as to lead to grave results.—Minn. Advocate.

THE GREATEST HERO.

Here's a song for the man, the strong-hearted man
Who whistles and smiles through the hours of the day;
Who sets a high standard, does all that he can,
And scatters bright sunshine along his life's way.
We sing of the heroes on war's bloody field
Who faltered not, facing the battle's grim test,
But here is a song for the man who won't yield
In every-day life, but keeps doing his best.

We sing of the man who, behind the grim gun,
Brave, steady and true, with unfaltering aim,
For country and flag greater glory has won,
And honor by cheering the sound of his name.
But here is a cheer for the man brave and true
Whose patient endeavor knows never a rest;
Who cheerfully labors, ne'er downcast or blue,
And brightens the world just by doing his best.

We cheer when they mention the man of huge wealth

Who builds ornate temples of mortar and stone
With millions secured by a legalized stealth,
And gives them away that his name may be known.
But where is the cheer for the brave man and true
To whom fortune never has come as a guest?
Who, humble and honest, is hidden from view,
But never gives up, and keeps doing his best?

We've honored the heroes of sword and of gun
Who vanquished the foe by their valorous deeds;
We've cheered the gold kings who their millions have won
By profits they've wrung from their fellowmen's needs.
So now let us cheer with our uttermost might
The king of the mall who, four-square to each test,
Brave, humble, unknown, with his face to the light
Keeps pegging away and is doing his best.

SPRING FEVER.

Wife in tantrums,
House upset;
Beatin' carpets
Till ye sweat;
Picked up dinners,
All ye git,
Cook a-kickin',
Goin' to quit;
Baby squealin',
Dose o' squills,
Tired feelin',
Plumbers' bills?
Bones all achin',
Sign o' grip,
Think ye'd better
Take a trip;
Goin' fishin'—
Ting-a-ling!—
Got spring fever,
Sure thing!

"There are in every labor organization loud-mouthed members who never attend a meeting, but are always growling about the way matters are going on. They are of the self-important, egotistical stamp, and if honest in their objections would attend the meetings and ventilate their opinions in that proper place, and not in workshops and saloons, in the presence of strangers and spies."—The Railroad Telegrapher.

BRAIN LEAKS.

Some men never know they have a heart until something hurts it.

Only one thing is easier than making a good resolution—breaking it.

There are men who rejoice in notoriety because they imagine it to be fame.

The days are growing longer, but that promissory note will mature just as quickly.

Heaven will be enjoyed most by those who endeavor to secure a bit of it while here on earth.

Some men never feel charitably inclined until they discover something they can give away without discommoding themselves.

A man in Michigan by the name of Moon got married, and that was a change in the moon. In due time his wife presented him with a daughter, and that was a new moon. Then he went down to town and got drunk for joy and that was a full moon. When he started for home he had 25 cents in his pocket and that was his last quarter. His mother-in-law met him at the door with a rolling pin and there was a total eclipse, and he saw stars.

Down near Piedmont a man wanted his son to get up early and go to work. The boy had a habit of answering "yessir" and going to sleep again. On this occasion last week the father, to make no mistake, called the boy, got the "yessir," and then slid upstairs, turned down the covers and gave the person a good spanking. It happened that on that night the hired girl had been given the boy's room. When the tumult was over the old man sat down behind the barn and drafted a written apology to the hired girl.—Sugar City (Col.) Gazette.

The little boy in his night dress was on his knees, saying his prayers, and his little sister couldn't resist the temptation to tickle the soles of his feet. He stood it as long as he could, and then said:

"Please, God, excuse me while I knock the stuffin' out of Nellie."

"I haven't had a call since I opened my office ten days ago," complained the newly-fledged M. D. "Here I sit day after day like Patience on a monument."

"Oh, well, don't get discouraged," rejoined the sympathetic friend. "It's only a matter of time until you have patients under monuments."—Chicago Daily News.

He—Here's a dispatch that says a husband and wife were shot at for kissing on the doorstep.

She—The idea! I should like to know if a man hasn't the right to kiss his wife on his own doorstep if he wants to.

He—But it wasn't his wife nor his doorstep.—Kansas City Journal.

A clergyman, walking one day in the country, fell into thought. He was so accustomed to ride, that, when he found himself at a toll, he stopped and shouted to the man, "Here! what's to pay?" "Pay for what?" asked the man. "For my horse," said the clergyman. "What horse? There's no horse, sir." "Bless me!" exclaimed the clergyman, looking down between his legs, "I thought I was on horseback."

"Did youse git anything?" whispered the burglar on guard, as his pal emerged from the window. "Naw, de bloke wot lives here is a lawyer," replied the other in disgust. "Dat's hard luck," replied the first; "did youse lose anyt'ing."—Selected.

"What is a synonym?" asked a teacher. "Please, sir," said a lad, "it's a word you can use in place of another if you don't know how to spell it."—Sacred Heart Review.

"You can't go home when it's raining like this. You had better stay and have dinner with us." "Oh, it's not so bad as that!"—Golden Days.

An English railroad manager entering a station recently was stopped by a ticket-checker, who, not knowing him, demanded his ticket. "My face is my ticket," wittily replied the manager, who was about to pass on, when the checker informed him that his orders were to "punch all tickets."

A North Side boy, five years of age, who had recently become the brother of another little boy, was sent to the grocery store the other day to get some loaf sugar. By mistake the grocer gave him granulated, and the boy was sent back to have it changed.

"How do you like your new brother?" asked the grocer, as he was weighing out the right kind of sugar.

"Oh, I don't like him very much," the little fellow answered. "He cries all the time."

"Why don't you change him, then, as you do the sugar?"

"We can't change him now, 'cause we've used him three days."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Subbubs (desperately)—Great Scott! Mary, that cook is the worst yet. Why, I'll bet a thousand dollars I can cook better myself, without half trying, either!

His Wife—Oh, Henry, I wonder if she could do your work at the office and let you stay at home?—Puck.

"Mr. Conrow looks tickled this morning," remarked the grocery clerk as he brushed the flies off the cheese.

"He's gotter a right to," said Uncle Jim from the cracker barrel. "He poured a lot of oil in his well to kill the mosquitoes, and a week later that city feller what sold him a gold brick last winter come to board with him."

"Well?" said the clerk.

"Well, Conrow sold the farm to him for three times what he paid. He's goin' to bore for oil!"—Men's Wear.

"That your wife in the next room, Smifkins? What on earth is that language she's talking—Gaelic, Boer or ancient Scotch?"

"None of 'em. She is conversing with her maid with her mouth full of hairpins."—Baltimore News.

She (at the piano)—"Listen. How do you enjoy this refrain?" He—"Very much. The more you refrain, the better I like it."—Tit-Bits.

"Bother it! I left my watch upstairs on the dressing table. I feel too bad to run after it." "If you wait long enough it'll run down."—Sacred Heart Review.

"I've just been reading some statistics of births and deaths. Extraordinary thing! Every time I breathe a man dies!" "Great Scott! Why don't you chew cloves?"—London Judy.

Young Wife—"I received today a handsome parchment diploma from the cooking school, and so I cooked that dish myself. Now guess what it is." Husband (after tasting)—"The diploma."—Fliegende Blaetter.

WANTED.

To know the whereabouts of Tom O'Leary, boiler maker, of Aurora, Ill. Last heard of he was located at Wabash, Indiana. Please correspond with Tom Hollon, Aurora, Ill., City Boiler Inspector.

The only safe canned goods to buy are those with the union stamp of the can makers' stamped in the tin on the bottom of can, and are guaranteed by the can makers' union to be free from all dangers attached to the non-union product.

See that your wives, mothers and sisters demand union stamped canned goods.

The British trades unions have over $20,000,000 invested. One hundred trade unions of Great Britain have an income of $10,300,000 per year. The 1,236 unions in that country have a total membership of 1,922,780. To have an equally strong labor movement in this country we should have to have 4,000,000 members with $40,000,000 in the banks and a yearly income of something like $25,000,000.

The organized working men of Hawaii and the Philippines are opposed to Chinese immigration. It may be well to remark right here that most of the present immigration from the south of Europe are, with the one exception of members, as dangerous as Chinese. They live in the meanest kind of a way, they are ignorant and nasty in habits, and are willing to work for one-half the American standard rate of wages.

Three thousand Chicago painters are voting for business agent and a secretary of the Painters' District council in a most unusual but effective way. Every member of the union has received a ballot at his home by letter. He marks the ballot for those he desires to vote for and then mails it in a closed envelope to the Painters' District council. On a certain date all are opened and the vote counted.—Exchange.

The machinists' union of San Francisco is soon to inaugurate a campaign for the nine-hour day. That their efforts will end successfully seems reasonably sure. San Francisco is rapidly assuming a place in the front ranks of trades union cities, and this will prove a helpful feature. In all cities where labor is well organized its demands are readily acceded to, providing such demands are within the limits of reason.

Considering the recent investigation of the government in the matter of the adulteration of canned goods it behooves everybody when buying this class of goods to protect themselves. This can be best accomplished by demanding that the union stamp of the can makers appear on every purchase of canned goods. Many tin cans into which goods are packed for the market are manufactured by machinery, and acids and oils and other poisons are used.

An association of broom manufacturers was recently formed to be known as the Manufacturers' National Anti-Convict Association. This organization and the broom makers' union are to make war on convict made brooms. The convict labor is a greater menace to society than the criminal at large. Relieve the free, honest workman from the burden of convict competition. Buy only brooms bearing the union label of the broom makers' union, and every time your wife sweeps the floor she is also sweeping the pest of convict competition out of existence.

Comissioner Carroll D. Wright takes occasion to repeat his belief that the industrial freedom of women will tend temporarily to decrease the marriage rate, and to increase the divorce rate. Still, this doesn't scare him. As woman has power given her to support herself she will be less inclined to seek marriage relations simply for the purpose of securing a home. Furthermore, Colonel Wright reiterates his belief that the moral conditions of female wage earners is as high as that of any other class of women, and higher than that of some of those whom he declines to mention.

The old story has started on its rounds again. This time it is Mark Hanna who once gave a banquet in Ohio to fifty farmers. The dessert was to be twenty-five watermelons. So the day before the dinner Mr. Hanna had them pulled and poured a pint of Piper Heidsieck wine into each melon, then placed them on ice. After the dinner each farmer was given a half of a watermelon. They began tasting them, winked at each other, looked wise, and before the affair was over every farmer was slipping seeds into his vest pocket.

WHEN YOU'VE GOT A RAISE IN PAY.

here's a lot of satisfaction when you've got a raise in pay, and you whistle in a happy and self-important way, you sort of feel like getting down and buckling to your work, or it's rising now in value and is worth too much to shirk. and you feel a little bigger and you hanker for the fray—sort of confident and eager—when you've got a raise in pay.

may be just a little but it seems to be a pile and you change your figures over and you add 'em with a smile; a little more to lay away, a little more to spend, and if you're open hearted—why, a little more to lend; and all the castles you have built for some far distant day seem to move a little nearer when you've got a raise in pay.

for the little extra money, however small it be, is the step between necessity and luxury, you see; and all the rose-lined paths of ease you've hoped some day to win. just smile at you as you pass by and seem to say, "Come in." You spend it ten times over in your mind—but that's the way a fellow has of going when he gets a raise in pay.

Oh it means you're worth a little more; you've not been wasting time. it means you're on the ladder and are learning how to climb; And you breathe a little deeper than you ever did before, And you work a little harder and you think a little more, For work is just a pleasant thing and life is light and gay When you clamber up another round and get a raise in pay.

The cotton manufacturers of Lowell, Mass., who have been asked to grant their workers a 10 per cent increase have answered that they cannot afford to do it, despite that it is clearly shown that the Lowell factories pay less wages for the same class of work than do the factories at Fall River and New Bedford. Seven mills are included in the demand and they employ nearly 22,000 men and women. A strike will likely follow.

The Filipino labor unions protesting against Chinese immigration, and the labor members of Australian government protesting against appropriating $75,000 to bring in more immigrants are late advices from those quarters of the globe. Verily the Chinese standard is thoroughly debasing.

A recent report issued by the British government sets the number of labor unions existing at the end of fiscal year at 1,236 with an aggregate membership of close to 2,000,000, or to be exact 1,922,780. It further states that the number of unions decreased by 16, while the total membership increased 12,166.

A WHOLE SERMON.

A subscriber, without giving his name, sends an item from a paper, name not given, and suggests that it would form a text. It is not only a text, but a whole sermon. The argument which it presents would seem plain enough, and yet, strange to say, there are many honest and intelligent voters who seem perfectly ignorant of the manner in which the syndicates administer the finances of the government for their own interest and profit. The item is as follows:

The banks run short of money recently and the banker who heads the United States treasury rushes to their assistance with the people's money and loans to them without interest, millions. When the people to whom this belongs need money, do they get it from their dear, sweet government? Not on your penny. They can go to the banks and borrow their own money and pay well for it. But the bankers understand the art of voting for their interest, while the masses have no such understanding. When the rich need help they get it; when the poor need help they get it—in the neck. What an odd arrangement. And the people go blundering along and never see a thing.

"The race of life has becomes intense; the runners are treading upon each others' heels; woe to him who stops to tie his shoe."—Carlyle.

Chicago elevated railway has increased wages.

Now is the time to boom union made clothing.

Salem, N. J., is one of the best organized cities in that state.

Nearly all the glove makers of Gloversville, N. Y., are now organized.

The eight-hour day is now a fact in Spain. Are we to lag behind the Spaniard?

The Leather Workers' union will hold their next national convention in Lynn, July 4th.

The half holiday is universal in England. All branches of labor cease their weekly toil Saturday noon.

There are 8,856 trade unionists in Schnectady, N. Y. One year ago there was only 2,441. She is coming.

The local unions of the bricklayers' and masons' have nearly one million dollars in their local treasuries.

The carpenters' union holds the banner for increase in membership in 1902, having added 42,500 members.

Membership in New York State trades unions have increased during the past twelve months by 53,000.

The Union Garment Workers will endeavor to abolish the encroachment of the Chinese in their work. There are now 5,000 Chinamen in San Francisco employed as cutters and tailors.

The shipyard at Lorain, Ohio, is tied up on account of a strike of employes who want an increase in pay. Fifteen hundred men will soon be thrown out of employment if the matter is not settled.

There is a Federation of Labor in Japan embracing 300,000 members. This organization has been struggling for improved conditions for the working class in Japan and its efforts are being rewarded by the enactment of a factory law regulating hours of labor, age of workers, etc., and compelling employers to be considerate of the health and safety of their employes.

The members of the brotherhood of railway employes of Vancouver, B. C., have announced their intention of accepting the offer of the Canadian Pacific road to arbitrate the strike now in progress.

Machinists and helpers employed by the Chicago branch of the sugar trust are on strike in sympathy with the other trades which have gone out. The strike may spread to every branch of the great trust.

Over forty labor unions of Spokane, Wash., are voting on a proposition to join in a sympathetic strike which will affect 5,000 workers. The movement is directed against a gas company which refuses to recognize the unions.

It is now proposed to organize a national farmers' union to be affiliated with the A. F. of L. Eight states already have local farmers' unions. After all, no better farmers' union can be organized than the old Farmers' Alliance.

Organized labor is making a determined effort to unionize Kansas City. A general organizer of the A. F. of L. has his efforts ably supplemented by the business agent of the local Trades' Assembly. The results so far have been gratifying.

The board of education of Schnestady, N. Y., are influenced by the proper spirit. Owing to the increased cost of living the salaries of the teachers of that city were increased proportionately, averaging a yearly increase of $50 for each teacher.

The Supreme court of California has awarded to Mrs. Douglass of Sacramento $8,500 damages against the Southern Pacific railroad for the loss of her husband's life, who was killed while at work in the Southern Pacific shops. The courts have sometimes held that a railway company was not responsible for the death of employes.

Austria with something like 26,000,000 inhabitants has about 120,000 members in her organized labor bodies. This is not such a bad showing as would at first be supposed, for two reasons: First, a large number of her best workers immigrate to the United States, and second, Austria is only barely out of feudalism.

The recent conference of representatives of different unions of telegraphers resulted in the formation of a plan looking to amalgamation.

Beloit, Wis., though a small city, is growing fast and large in unionism. From 259 unionists a year ago she has increased to over 2,000.

By a new process in Holland it is claimed that a green hide can be tanned into leather ready to use in two or three days. That beats the Dutch.

Port Huron, Mich., is one of the best organized cities in the Middle West. She has thirty-six local unions and a good working label league.

The school teachers of Iowa still continue to agitate for more pay without gaining the desired increase. They do things differently in Chicago.

Railway brotherhood men in Chicago will raise $75,000 to build and equip a building that shall be a home for aged and disabled railway employees.

Binghamton, N. Y., has recently organized a label league which promises to do splendid work for union stamped shoes and all other union labels.

Five thousand strikers in Amsterdam, Holland have won a complete victory over the transportation companies. All demands of the men were acceded to.

The non-union cigar makers in New York state receive from $5.00 to $8.00 per week. The organized get from $12.00 to $23.00 per week. See the difference!

Portsmouth, Va., is favored by a nine-hour day for all branches of labor. The sentiment in favor of an eight-hour day has taken the form of strong agitation.

An effort will be made this spring to keep union van teamsters in Chicago from moving household furniture into flat buildings where there is a non-union janitor.

The refusal on the part of employers to pay union wages, caused the bakers of Winnipeg, Man., to start in business on the co-operative plan. Patronize the union bakers.

Plumbers' supply clerks in Chicago to the number of 700 are on strike for higher wages and shorter hours.

Sheet metal workers of Shamokin, Pa., have made a demand for a nine-hour day and an increase of 10 per cent.

Forty-five school teachers of Altoona, Pa., recently went on strike for a 10 per cent increase in pay. They got it.

Every branch of labor is organized in Albuquerque, N. M. Three months ago there were only three unions in the city.

Horseshoers, stablemen, blacksmiths and carriage and wagon makers and trimmers are preparing to launch a central body for mutual protection in Chicago.

The Jackson Knife and Shear company at Fremont, Ohio, has shut down. The firm was recently placed on the unfair list because the factory would not recognize the union.

Do not forget the label of the broom makers union when buying a broom. A broom, bearing the union label, in the hands of all housewives means oblivion for convict broom making.

The demand for union label goods in Williamsport, Pa., is constantly on the increase, and dealers who desire to increase their business see to it that the product they handle bears the union label.

The big strike of the coatmakers and affiliated trades in Philadelphia was ended by the manufacturers agreeing to cut the week's work from fifty-nine to fifty-four hours, with the same pay.

At a recent meeting of the Omaha Central Labor union a resolution was passed asking the A. F. of L. to exert its influence to induce all national organizations to declare a general boycott against the Union Pacific railroad.

Women's Union Label Leagues are rapidly spreading. Once the woman becomes familiar with the union label, what it stands for and the incalculable benefit their purchase of union label goods will return to them child labor, convict and sweat shop labor must go.

To know temptation does not dishonor.

The subjugation of the Indian has cost $845,000,000 and his education $240,000,000.

The man who feels like a king at night generally feels like the devil in the morning.

Modesty seldom resides in a breast that is not enriched with nobler virtues.—Goldsmith.

It isn't conscience that makes cowards of us all, perhaps, but cowardice that gives us conscience.

It's just as well that we don't always know the private opinions our dearest have of us.

Tobacco Trust is reaching over into Mexico and absorbing three big cigarette factories.

Nothing undermines the health of the soul so much as selfishness, which, in fact, is the root of all evil.

No man can do right unless he is good, wise and strong. What wonder we fail?—Charles Burton.

The employers of labor are making a strong fight against the pending eight-hour legislation in Congress.

The London, Ont., central body has an active labor committee that is doing fine and successful work for all union products.

The National Brewery Workers' union has a membership of 31,200. This union was organized in 1852 in the city of Cincinnati.

Boone, Iowa, has become a good union town and a good demand for union labels shows that they know what they are organized for.

No man was ever so completely skilled in the conduct of life as not to receive new information from age and experience.—Terence.

Thousands of men marching through the streets of Valladolid, Spain, looting bread wagons in order to keep from starving, and hundreds of thousands of Finns actually starving is the spectacle presented in those places because of the unemployed.

During the year 1902 we exported shoes to South America to the value of $172,13. It ought to have been ten times that value.

The little city of Bakersfield, Cal., is one of the best organized cities in this country only two trades are unorganized.

The Order of Railroad Telegraphers is growing rapidly, 4,000 new members were initiated during the last five months.

Reports for the month of November show almost 246,000 to have received an increase in wages averaging 15½ cents weekly.

The female employes in the mail bag and pair shops at Washington has organized and been granted a charter by the A. F. of M.

The farmers are rapidly organizing in unions. Throughout the West there are hundreds of these organizations of recent formation.

Pressmen in Chicago who are employed in union shops received $22.50 per week and have signed a contract with employers for three years.

I always watch a man that makes a racket when he prays, and I find it pays especially if you want to trade horses with him.—Elmo Register.

It will generally be found that men who are constantly lamenting their ill-luck, are only reaping the consequences of their own neglect, mismanagement and improvidence or want of application.—S. Smiles.

The miners' and mill men's strike in Colorado City, Col., is practically settled, according to reports. After the militia had loafed around that city for several weeks the governor finally convinced the mill and mine owners that there was something to arbitrate, and the demands of the union are now being canvassed and considered.

The teamsters' strike in Toledo, Ohio, where 125 men are out for a raise in wages and reduction of working hours, has taken a different turn. The teamsters are getting wagons and teams and going to work in co-operative manner, thus cutting out the big transfer companies for whom they have been working.

FOLDED HANDS.

Poor, tired hands, that toiled so hard for me!

At rest before me now I see them lying;
They toiled so hard; and yet we did not see
That she was dying.

Roar, rough, red hands! They drudged the live-long day—

Still busy when the midnight oil was burning;

Off toiling on until she saw the gray
Of day returning.

If I might sit and hold those tired hands,
And feel the warm life-blood within them beating,
And kiss the faded eyes and withered cheeks,

Some whispered words repeating,
I think tonight that I would love her so—
And I could tell her my love so truly—
That e'en though tired, she would not wish to go
And leave me thus unduly.

Poor, tired heart, that had so weary grown,
That death came all unheeded o'er it creeping;

How strange it seems to sit here, all alone,
While she is sleeping!

Dear, patient heart! that deemed the heavy care

Of drudging household toil its only duty;
That laid aside all deep, heart-yearnings
there

Along with beauty.

If I could look into those brave, sad eyes,
And kiss the pathos of her patient smile,
And tell her all her love has been to me,

Her hands in mine, the while—
Ah, learned too late! While yet 'twas mine, unheeded!

I kiss her hands, and moan, with bitter weeping;

Oh, sad, worn heart! Oh, sore-tried love!
Tonight

How sweet she's sleeping!

Mother, if in some realm of brighter day,

Your spirit, purified by fires of pain,
Should linger, listening for some half-missed voice,

With thoughts of Earth again,
And I could send one whispered word through space

One word of Earth to reach your higher sphere,

I would—low-groveling in my grief—sob out,

"You were so dear!"

A PLEA FOR THE UNSKILLED LABOR ON MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD.

Wages paid to unskilled labor on Mare Island Navy Yard by the great government of the United States is a standing reproach to those that prate about our so-called "prosperity."

If there is anything more than another that irritates an intelligent workman, it is to be told by flippant business men or ignorant persons that the lack of comfort among the masses is due to their extravagance and wasteful living.

Unskilled labor on the navy yard receives to-day, and for years has received, the enormous sum of $2.16 per day, while in the City of Vallejo the same kind of labor receives $2.50 per day.

The Act of July, 1862, which should govern the wage board, and which they should be required to comply with, says:

"That the hours of labor and the rate of wages of the employees in the navy yards shall conform, as nearly as is consistent with the public interest, with those of private establishments in the immediate vicinity of the respective yards, to be determined by the commandant of the navy yards, subject to the approval and revision of the Secretary of the Navy."

We do not know by what standard the rate for unskilled labor has been so long fixed at $2.16 per day on the navy yard at Mare Island, but we do know that the same class of labor in many instances is receiving a much higher rate in Vallejo to-day.

We also believe it would be complying with the law for the wage board, that will consider the question, to give due consideration to the increased cost of living in this vicinity for the past year. As a matter of sharp truth, it is absolutely impossible for the unskilled laborer now employed on the Navy Yard to keep out of debt, much less save, at $2.16 per day, unless he be without a family.

During the residence of the writer for the past eight years, having been employed on the Yard most of the time, there is never a pay day—twice a month—but the charity list is placed before us.

We have carefully noted the expenditures of a careful, sober man, with a prudent, saving wife, having three children, working on the Navy Yard for $2.50 per day, or $780 per year. He worked every day in the year, and at the end of the year was in debt just 40 cents. He thinks he lived economically, but he saved nothing, had no sickness in his family, spent nothing for amusements, or liquor, or tobacco. We present here a few figures which we would ask the advocates of economy to revise and give us their opinion upon, and show us how the unskilled laborer with a family, with a wage rate of $2.16 per day can live like an American citizen should live.

Actual expenses of a workingman employed on Mare Island Navy Yard, having wife and three children; income $2.50 per day, $780 per year:

House rent	$120 00

Two brooms	50
Bedclothes.....	5 00
Breakage	5 00
School books	5 00
Insurance on furniture.....	3 50
Light, gas or oil.....	12 00

Transportation to Mare Island and return, fifty cents per week.....	26 00
Life insurance, $1,000 policy.....	14 40
One newspaper	6 00
Dues, labor unions.....	6 00
Appeals for charity.....	3 00

Total expenditures for the year ending December 31, 1902.....$780 40

We hope organized labor will take this matter up and present such fact to the Wage Board that meets on the Navy Yard on the 1st of June, so that justice shall be done to the class of labor that needs it most.

Strike Headquarters, District Lodge No. 4.
Omaha, Neb., April 14, 1903.

To the Officers and Members of Subordinate Lodges of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Shipbuilders of America.—
Greeting:

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

The following is the piece work schedule now in vogue on the Burlington railroad at Havelock, Neb., and the same the U. P. system is trying to introduce, and for that purpose the management has engaged the foreman from that shop at a salary of $200 per month, and he promised and guaranteed he could introduce it on the U. P. system. We, the boiler makers and helpers on the U. P. system, have been on a strike for ten months against this proposition and will continue until the company makes up its mind to set it aside.

of a cent for tapping, 1 1/2 for putting them on, and 1/2 cent for driving. Where there is scattering bolts and three men on the job, the pay is 18 cents per bolt divided between the three men; where there is but two men on the job, each man receives 9 cents per bolt. Where there is but three or four bolts taken out the price is 30 cents per bolt. For taking out crown stays or bolts, 11 cents per piece. For tapping out holes, 5 cents. Putting in bolts, including riveting, 10 cents per bolt. Renewing patch bolts, 15 cents apiece. For putting on patch, 5 cents a hole for making patch. Patch with patch bolts, 25 cents per bolt; this includes making patch complete. Driving single hand rivets, hard to get at, per 100, $5.50. Putting in flues, per 100, $4.30; this includes testing, cutting them off and finishing them complete. Flanging door hole, 90 cents. Putting in flue sheet and laying it up ready for riveting, $2.20. Chipping and caulking by hand, 10 cents per foot.

The Brothers will readily see what efforts a man has to make to realize living wages under these conditions. The U. P. is only one of the many railroads that wish to introduce this system. The Kansas Southern has given it out that they intend to adopt it and also the Santa Fe in their new shops at Topeka. But by the united efforts of every member in our organization we can defeat them, as conditions were never better for us to win a fight. There has never been a time in years when boiler makers were in such demand. Now, brothers, let each of you take a personal interest in the matter and those that are working assist the brothers that are on the firing line. Money is needed, and if you can't send a dollar, send a dime. It will all help. Remit all money to J. C. Carroll, Box 107, Evanston, Wyo. Thanking you for the past assistance you have so liberally given us, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

E. F. KENNEDY.

WARNING TO WORKING PEOPLE.

San Francisco, March 30, 1903.—Having failed to crush trades unionism on this coast by direct attack, the Employers' Association of San Francisco has cunningly thrown itself back of a new scheme for injuring the working classes and weakening their industrial organization. Acting on the theory that unions are likely to decline when there is great competition for employment, because of the overplus of workers, this powerful Association of capitalists is studiously seeking to encourage the coming to this state of great numbers of persons under the necessity of continuously working for their daily bread—persons whose presence here will overload the labor market and produce distressing conditions. Leading members of the Employers' Association have become members of the so-called California Promotion Committee and within that Committee have stood for the distribution throughout the country of an immense number of circulars containing masses of false and misleading statements concerning labor conditions in this state—statements cunningly calculated to draw hither such classes of persons as would best work out the purposes of the Employers' Association.

The efforts of the employers to attract large numbers of workmen to this section are being effectually seconded by the transcontinental railways, which are also spreading broadcast pamphlets and circulars containing misleading statements concerning the labor market here, and are making exceedingly low railroad rates from Eastern and Missouri river points to California. In some sections of California—particularly the southern part—the extraordinary number of workmen arriving daily is fast creating a condition which not only menaces the welfare of the organized workers, but promises to soon become a great public danger, as the major number of these new arrivals are without funds, and the deplorable results of their ineffectual efforts to obtain remunerative employment may be readily foreseen.

Fairly reliable figures are at hand showing that one thousand workmen per week have landed in San Francisco for several weeks past. Lodging houses are filled up and fewer residences are for rent than ever before in the history of San Francisco. Traveling cards are being deposited in the local unions at an unusual rate.

To minimize the deceptions referred to, to protect the working people designed to be misled by such deceptions, and to save from injury the labor's cause in the West, we warn all people that there are now on the Pacific Coast far more workmen than can possibly find employment and we request all labor organizations and all newspapers to assist in making known the truth in these regards.

SAN FRANCISCO LABOR COUNCIL.

G. B. BENHAM, President.

T. E. ZANT, Secretary.

LODGE 65, H. D.

I would respectfully request that you print a little correspondence for 65, H. D., as it is the first time since it has been organized that I have asked for the privilege, and also to let our brothers all over the country know we are in existence.

We are running along on pretty good lines and since we gave up our charter to the A. F. of L. on February 10, 1903, and took out a charter from the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, I will state we have been very busy initiating under the new charter, in fact we have been so busy I have been unable to write until now. We have every shop in town working the nine hour day, with ten hours pay, which we went out for on May 20, 1901, and who we have compelled to honor our union, and we have enforced the working card rigidly all over the city, with the exception of the Risdon and Union Iron Works, of which I am pleased to say that the Risdon Iron Works last week posted a notice all over its shops to give all employes the nine hour day with ten hours pay. I would also ask the Journal to contradict the report that Franklin K. Lane, a politician who ran for honors in the gubernatorial line and got defeated, has circulated to the effect that he has got for all the iron trades a concession from the ship building trust that the Union Iron Works employees would be given the nine hour day with a 10 per cent increase. As justice is always due the right parties, I wish to state that the Iron Trades Council of San Francisco have worked for the same for the past three months, and now when success is at hand a politician comes up and wants to take the credit for the same in order to enhance his prospects for election next term. The following resolutions are self-explanatory:

At the regular meeting of the Iron Trades Council held last Monday evening the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, An article appeared in the Bulletin, a newspaper of this city, on Friday, the 27th of March, 1903, to the effect that Mr. Nixon, president of the United Ship Building Company, had been influenced by Mr. Franklin K. Lane to change the regular working day in the Union Iron Works of this city from ten to nine hours, and that such change be made without any reduction in pay to the various working trades in their employ; and,

Whereas, We, the Iron Trades Council, the representative body of the different iron trades organizations of this city, do firmly believe that this statement originated and was made public through the efforts of some irresponsible party or parties, and that we, the Iron Trades Council, have been more or less involved; this being so, we deem it advisable to publicly express our opinion in the matter; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Iron Trades Council of this city, do declare that the above statement appearing in the Bulletin of March 27, 1903, was not expressing the sentiments of the iron trades represented in this council in any particular, and we request of the press of this city that these resolutions be published in their respective papers.

This lodge tenders its best wishes to the lodges on a strike on the U. P. system and hopes they will be successful in gaining their demands in the near future.

As there are quite a few helpers in Vallejo who have communicated with us in regard to affiliation, I would ask Lodge No. 148 of Vallejo to organize a lodge of helpers in that town.

I would earnestly request all subordinate lodges to beware of one James Mahoney who we have run out of town for refusing to join the union. He is a first class helper and is liable to crop up anywhere.

Faternally yours,

JOHN M. HOGAN,

Pres. and J. Cor. No. 65, H. D.

LODGE NO. 39.

Chicago, Ill., Apr. 3, 1903.—I hope you will allow us a little space in next month's Journal, so as the brothers at large will have a clear understanding of how we made out in the strike at the South Chicago Ship Yards. I am a little late, but thought it best to see how everything turned up before having it published that the strike was settled as I thought we would have trouble in reinstating two of the brothers that have taken an active part in this strike.

The following is the agreement arrived at between the Chicago Ship Bldg. Co. and the employees:

That the men go back to work for the same wages and ten hours to constitute a day's work, until the first of June when they are to receive a 10 per cent horizontal increase and the nine-hour day.

All piece work to be settled by the committee within ten days, and if no settlement is reached, the matter to be placed in the hands of the C. F. of L. for a settlement.

Well, I am glad to state that the piece work was settled satisfactory, as we got about all we asked for.

Two of our brothers, Bro. Riddell and Bro. Rooney, reported for work the morning we returned, and were told to go to work at 27½ cents per hour, and they refused. These two brothers were assistant foremen and were receiving $3.50 per day before the strike, so they waited on the superintendent. He told them there will be no more riveter foremen. They placed their grievance in the hands of the Executive Board of C. F. of L., and had the two brothers reinstated. Bro. Riddell, our president, we knew would not last long in there, as he was accused of leading the men, so we elected him business agent for No. 39 and he is the right man in the right place.

We have gained a good point, the nine-hour day and made this a union yard throughout as every trade is organized so any one coming this way will be sure and have their card. This strike was conducted in a quiet way from start to finish and we were given credit by the officials of the company and the people also, as there was no violence of any kind. There was no need of it any way, as there was not a man in the place, as all the foremen were laid off.

Yours respectfully,
M. KRIEPS.

"THE BOILER MAKER."
(From Boy to Man.)

Trades of every kind
In this world you will find,
And all kinds of people too;

But the one I was going to tell you about,
Is the Boiler Maker through.

After leaving school some work he tries to do;

But passing rivets then is all he can do,
In a year or so he thinks he is a heater too,
But tell him, "don't burn them rivets, you!"
When he'll give you a look that will see you through.

Years they pass and stronger he's getting as you see,

Of course, a helper he's going to be;
When at that a year or two,
You'll find him holding-on, not 1 but 2.
And singing (We are the boys that stand the noise) Hurrah!

Look at him now over there,
Swinging a hammer on a rivet, that's where
He gets his muscle and knowledge of work
And next you'll find him (Bingo!)
On those poor fingers you know.

At caulking he goes with many a blow,
On those poor fingers you know;
But after a while he's onto his job,
That hitting the chisel all day
Was a trick he never thought of.

At flanging he works 4 years or more,
To make sure he's at home in every line;
And many a night he's tired and sore,
Just thinking of the twists and the curves must be fine,
When at laying out he throws a line.

At laying out he starts in slow,
For there he must think you know,
Or the fitting-up gang will pull him around
And say, where does that sheet and that bar go;
Here is the boy now a man, a boiler maker
through.

April 9, 1903. Yours very truly, by Got-fried Safstrom, Chicago, Ill. Reg. No. 2639;
Lake Side Lodge No. 39.

LODGE No. 60.

Peoria, Ill., March 29th, 1903.—You will kindly allow space in our valuable Journal for a word or so from Lodge No. 60, as this is the first time since we were organized Lodge No. 60 has been doing fairly well as far as holding its own, but brothers, you all know that it's very hard to keep some of the boys in line. Now, Lodge No. 60 has got a few, and I was instructed by the members in good standing to have these dear members names reported in our Journal. They are as follows: Martin Hurly, John Burly, John Aimen, Louis DeTrempe, Jos Cramer, John Scanlon, Chas. Dee. Now brothers, I don't think it's right for a lodge to have any such men on their list, as Lodge No. 60 has had them for 6 to 12 months, but I am going to keep my pen moving now and suspend every member 3 months in arrear with dues.

Please excuse mistakes, if there is any for this is my first experience in this kind of work. Hoping to see this in your next issue, I remain, Yours fraternally,

EMIL HESS,
F. and C. Sect.

LODGE NO 164.

Bradford, Pa., March 29th, 1903.—Brothers I have a very disagreeable duty to perform. Lodge No. 164 held their second annual ball on January 16, and some of our brothers have not as yet turned in for tickets sold. Bro. C. W. Logan, Registered

No. 24440, had twenty tickets, sold 16 and turned in 4, but no cash. He found time to lay off 2 weeks to sell tickets and blow the money, and Lodge No. 164 has done more than right by him in giving him two months to get square, but he has not squared up as yet.

Bro. Edward Kirk, Reg., No. 8454, had five tickets and has turned in no tickets or cash, but about the 1st of March left town under the pretext of going to Buffalo to have an operation performed, but I understand he is working at Lanawanda, N. Y. I also understand that he left several bills unpaid and his family in destitute circumstances. His wife had to borrow money to get to her folks with. Now, such brothers are but a detriment to our brotherhood, as when such men get on the road, one dead beat will spoil the prospects of a dozen square men, as after one beating their bills, merchants or boarding house keepers don't care to trust another. And the two Bros. C. W. Logan and Edward Kirk have been suspended from Lodge No. 164, until they pay up, if in a reasonable time, and if not paid, they will be expelled.

Faternally yours,

LODGE NO. 27, H. D.

Knoxville, Tenn., March 28, 1903.—Lonsdale Lodge No. 27, H. D., last month lost by death two of its best and most respected members, Brothers Samuel T. Cates and Gus E. Dykes. They had quit the boiler shops, but had not as yet been given their withdrawal cards, consequently they were still our brothers at the time of their death, and we shall ever member them as such. Bros. Cates and Dykes had taken employment with a switching crew in the Southern railway yards at this place, and had only worked about four weeks when they were killed by the cars. Both of them either fell or were knocked under the cars, and both were mangled in much the same way, the car wheels passing over their bodies almost at the same point. These two boys were happy-natured, good-hearted, hard-working helpers, and had the respect and friendship of all with whom they came in contact, and we feel safe in saying that the boiler shop here lost two of the best helpers it ever had. Another point about this sad, double death report is, that there were not more than forty-eight hours between the time of the death of Bro. Dykes and that of Bro. Cates. There are especially sad features in both cases. Bro. Dykes was to have been married next Easter. He was a kind son and brother, and his family and his intended wife are almost distracted with grief. In the case of Bro. Cates, that day when he went home to dinner he was in unusually happy spirits. He had a very happy time for a few minutes with his good wife and his little girl, and, kissing them goodbye, told them that he was going to quit the yards that evening and return to the boiler shop, but the loving husband and father returned to them a mangled corpse. Every heart in the boiler shop is saddened by the death of these two good men, and likewise every heart goes out in the deepest sympathy to their stricken relatives, and, while neither of them professed to be Christians, still we cannot but hope that they may be judged in mercy.

H. B. G.-C. S. No. 27, H. D.

LODGE NO. 191.

Victoria, B. C., April 6th, 1903.—It has been a long time since Lodge No. 191 has had anything to say in the Journal. Our Journal reporter is a little slow in sending in his news items, but we will have to excuse him as he has had a lot of business to deal with. Well brothers, I might tell you the Lodge notified the different firms 3 months ago that on and after March the first 9 hours would constitute a day's work in and out of shop without any reduction in pay. We received a letter from the different firms saying they were perfectly willing to accede to our demand, so nobody lost any time.

Everything in Victoria is just lovely. The boiler makers and iron ship builders and the helpers' division had a combined smoking concert on the 21st of March to commemorate the event of the nine-hour which was attended by a large number of friends who kept up singing and recitations till the wee small hours of morning, and everybody went home and said it was one of the grandest entertainments they ever attended in the history of British Columbia.

The members of the Lodge also showed their appreciation of the services rendered by our P. W. President, Bro. G. Penketh, he having been W. President of Lodge No. 191 for 5 years, by presenting him with a handsome gold locket, suitably engraved as a token of their esteem.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am very pleased to report that everything is going on here very well. We and our employers are the best of friends and we intend to keep so if possible, and we have come to the conclusion that the only way to do this is to make every man adhere to the laws of our union in every particular, and one very important particular that we would like to have everybody's attention is this, no man must come to Victoria if he has not got a good, up-to-date card. Nothing short of this will serve him. And we are of opinion that it is time the traveling community without cards had a stop put to their actions all along the line, which we believe would result in untold good to our order. So I now conclude my first attempt at letter writing with best wishes to all.

GEO. W. PENKETH,

LODGE No. 341.

Philadelphia, April 14th, 1903.—I have been requested to write a few lines for Southwark Lodge No. 341. It is trying to do its part of the work in this vast army of working men. We are taking in quite a large number every week and are over run with work at present, but do not mind that. Although new to the workings of the brotherhood, we would ask some of our sister Lodges to follow our doctrines. Do not place any obstacles in the way, for if we wish to succeed, we must take all in, for in my mind there runs an idea that if we do not use the powers endowed upon us by our Creator, and follow the doctrines of help one another, we will stand a very poor show of obtaining our aims. By saying, take all in our organization, I mean all worthy, honest men, for I admit that there may be some who wish to join our ranks, who ought to be thoroughly investigated, as we recently had one application for membership in 341, that we had to turn down. Last week a man by name of John Williams, hailing from Trenton, applied for membership in 341, as a chipper and caulker. Stated that he worked in a number of shops, but could not name his foreman, and did not know any workmen in any shop he worked in. Now brothers, this looks suspicious, and I caution all brothers against such candidates, for as you know there is always paid spies following us up and the only way we can guard against them is to make them prove an alibi, for if we wish to be honest men, we must have honest associates. I remain,

Fraternally yours,

SAMUEL CALLAN.

MAKING THE BREACH WIDER.

It is as certain as anything can be that the reports and papers read and speeches made at the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers in this city, will result in making wider the breach that now exists in this country between capital and labor. The convention of manufacturers would have acted more wisely had it declined to either consider or discuss the labor question, and devoted its time and attention to other matters such, for instance, as the best means of extending our foreign trade and the opening of new markets for our manufactured products. It is the baldest of nonsense to talk about suppressing labor unions, because the whole country recognizes the fact that labor has the same right as capital to organize for profit and protection and this right will, if the test is made, be upheld by a vast majority of American people who have seen enough to convince them that if it were not for organization the condition of labor today would be pitiable.

Instead of seeking ways and means to crush labor unions it would be the part of wisdom for capital to conciliate the work class and bring about a better feeling and understanding. Capital should not be blind to the fact that if it makes war upon organized labor as some of the hotheads at the manufacturers' convention advocated will give a great impetus to Socialism which is already growing with a rapidity sufficient to cause conservative men to pause and ponder. It is merely a question of time when there will be another great merger in this country that of Socialism and Unionism and hostile talk such as has been heard at the manufacturers' convention will have the effect of hastening and not delaying the merging of these two forces.

These be not the days to instigate strife between organized labor on the one hand and organized capital on the other, but rather to work and pray for peace between them to the end that the country may have peace and uninterrupted prosperity in its lines of industry. This we can not and will not have if capital undertakes the impossible task of crushing labor. Once this is attempted the country will be plunged into the horrors of a revolution. Reason instead of temper should prevail at this time. Earnest and intelligent effort should be directed at bringing capital and labor together on common ground where concessions will be offered and accepted by both sides and such a perfect understanding reached that the treaty of peace will be gladly signed.—New Orleans States.

FROM THE FIGHTING THIRTY-EIGHTH

Omaha, April 17th, 1903.—The cause of the Union Pacific strikers continues to prosper. Slowly, yet surely the roll of honor is increasing. Pittsburg, Pa., is one of the latest to be placed upon the list. The Smoky City succeeded at last in catching a glimpse of the light and forwards a contribution of fifty to help the cause, and the surrounding country has caught the fever and takes up the wave of enthusiasm as one by one the locals are falling into line. Only last week the secretary had occasion to look up his map and locate "Old New England," No. 61 of New Haven, Conn., being heard from with a substantial contribution. Now then brothers, in view of the fact that it took us ten months to break into the sanctum of the "Old Dominion, we beg you to keep the movement up until every local in your favored land has contributed its might of hard-earned and practical sympathy, to the support of our Western brave's and the complete abandonment of this state's prison task system, commonly called piece work, but by some preferably known as the premium or merit system.

Every brother no doubt knows, at least from observation if not from actual experience, that the piece work system has in no way assisted, either in strengthening or maintaining our brotherhood. On the contrary its principle, like the rule of interest, works day and night, and like the rule of interest, hands all the profits over to the master, leaving the unfortunate workman nothing but his record to live upon. In view of the fact that the "betterment of our conditions," is one of the primary objects of our organization, why not start in right here taking up one section at a time, and continue in this way until we have swung around the circle, thus gaining not only the profits, but also increased strength, through the repeated efforts at a complete, concentration of our forces. Hoping that the remainder of our locals, who have as yet not assisted in this fight,, will soon recognize its importance, and proceed to assist the men of District No. 4 in a substantial way, in this, the fight, of their lives. Also thanking all the brothers, who have continued to supply the wherewith to date and wishing you all prosperity, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

J. S.,

A REPLY TO JAS. COX, OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Omaha, April 17, 1903.

With regard to your answer in the April Journal on page 209, permit me to inform you that in publishing, Bro. Tuite, I was acting entirely under instruction as Journal correspondent of Local No. 38, furthermore we have no record of the numerous good things you credit Bro. Tuite with, as doing in behalf of the brotherhood. He is a stranger to me and thus far have not found any member of No. 38 who is acquainted with him. However, notwithstanding this fact, I assure you that there was no haste or any other disposition on the part of Local No. 38, or any of its members, to do Bro. Tuite any injury whatever. Bro. Thos. Thompson, a member of this local, came in person to our meeting and there presented a receipted statement from one of the merchants of his town, and was asked by me if he had paid the amounts shown on the statement, and he stated to me that he had. He had already made this same statement to the chair who referred him to me. It having been the custom to treat all such cases in the manner I did this and being told by the chair that this was the practice and to proceed on those lines, and I believe this is about all that was done. So that if we have done Bro. Tuite a wrong, then it must be that some other person is traveling under his name, and if this is the case, we want it to be known immediately, so as to prevent any further imposition. However, Bro. Cox states that he and others are acquainted with the facts or rather "if Bro. Scheidt knew the case as I do and some other boilermakers on the coast." Now then, in view of Bro. Cox's interest in the case we shall assist him in every way possible to help Bro. Tuite out of the dilemma, that is, if it was really Bro. Tuite who was at Fairbury, Neb., last July, and no one else. We here give you Bro. Thos. Thompson's address which is Raton, N. M., or write Local No. 58. Bro. Thompson will give you all information desired and will be only to well pleased to acknowledge in the Journal satisfaction rendered or mistakes made as the case may prove to be. Trusting that my explanation may be satisfactory to Bro. Tuite and his many friends on the coast, I am fraternally yours,

JOS. SCHEIDT,
Journal Cor. No. 38.

ATTENTION MEMBERS OF ROSE CITY LODGE.

Omaha, April 17th, 1903.

The members of Local No. 38 extend you one and all our most hearty thanks for your kindly interest and substantial sympathy shown and extended us of recent date. Wishing you all every prosperity and hoping to hear from you again, I am,

LODGE NO. 161.

Boone, Iowa, April 16th, 1903.—I take the liberty of trespassing on your valuable time and a little space in the Journal, and will write a few words to let the sister lodges know that Lodge No. 161 is still on the top and at all times striving for the welfare of the organization.

Its the old saying that after a cloudy day comes sunshine, and so it is with us. We have our ups and downs and expect them as long as Lodge 161 is on the map. But nevertheless we are as sturdy a lot as they generally make them, and will fight at the drop of a hammer.

Business has been good with us all winter, and is fair yet for this time of the season. Our number has been reduced by four men. Brother Hounseit and Brother Geise is back with No. 149, and two has been transferred to headquarters at Chicago for the company. Now this action on the company's part is uncounted for and the brothers of this Lodge looks at the same with an indignant eye.

There seems a kind of forgetfulness among some of the members and especially on meeting night, where they should, and where they do spend the evening. Its always the usual can't be up tonight. Have some business to attend to. Will be up after awhile. Now brothers, this is a serious mistake. It causes mix up in Lodge rooms and a half brotherly feeling among the members. Lodge No. 161 now meets twice a month. The first and fourth Wednesdays. Owing to some of the brothers leaving at our last meeting, the following officers were elected. Chas. Nicholson, president; Chas. Rocho, vice president; A. E. Murphy, financial secretary and treasurer; Herman Shering, corresponding secretary; M. McDermott, recording secretary.

Since the last writing to the Journal there has been some happy faces among our midst. On February 24th the wedding bells sounded joyously while Brother Herman Shering and Miss Mary Ambs, of Carroll, Ia., were united in marriage. Brother Shering is a young man, brought up among the boys of No. 161 and always proven himself faithful and loyal to all his associates. The young lady he linked fortune with is one of Carroll's popular young ladies. This Lodge extend congratulations and wish them many years of married bliss.

Shortly before this occurrence, our foreman and formerly brother and corresponding secretary, came over one morning with a beaming countenance, reporting a 11-lb baby girl at his home, and surely he should smile, but he seemed to realize his responsibility for a short time afterwards he took a day for a little recreation and a hunt, and came back with 48 ducks, which proves him a good provider. McHedberg makes us a fine foreman as his previous record proved a No. 1 man.

Now brothers, stop and think for a few minutes what is going on around. Wake up boilermakers. Stand to the front, reach out and learn what the struggling mass is doing even in your behalf. Have you or I any work to do? If so, do it quickly, and with determination in your mind to down anything and everything which might prove a curse to every honest toiler of the land. So brothers do not think yourself a Gibraltar, because your pocketbook is full and a good sized check every month, that you are out of reach. Possibly your turn next, but throw your extra pennies in good ground and you will reap tenfold.

With best of wishes for the future welfare of this organization, I remain,

Yours fraternally,
FRITZ JOHNSON, J. C.

BORN AT BUFFALO, N. Y.

Lodge No. 7 was very much delighted with the news that a newcomer had arrived among one of our worthy brothers who, the way, is our vice president, Bro. Frank Geary. On his return home from work on day last week, his wife presented him with a bouncing baby boy, whom we are told weighs in the scales about 14 pounds. Mother and babe are doing very nicely and we hope that the boy will follow the footsteps of the father. The boys of Lodge No. 7 heartily congratulates Brother and Mrs. Frank Geary, and wishes them ever success through life. Also wishes to congratulate the baby's grandfather, Bro. J. Marks, who is chairman of the Board of Trustees of Lodge No. 7.

JOURNAL CORRESPONDENT.

Just being organized under great difficulty, I beg for a small space in the Journal.

After two months of hard work we have succeeded in organizing a lodge in Hammond, Ind. Have been running for one month. Things running favorably, for which we owe great thanks to Bro. Sam Moriarity, of Chicago, Ill., our organizer. Started with six charter members and now have thirteen members and two applications.

Work has increased some in this vicinity due to the fact that there are a better class of mechanics coming to this town now they have a place to deposit their cards when they arrive here. There is no doubt there is nothing like having a good lodge. If every man were organized we would have entirely different people to deal with in every branch of the different trades.

Yours fraternally,

F. C. HASSE,
Corresponding Secretary.

LODGE 221.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 19, 1903.—I will try and give a little news on the K. C. S. strike. As most of the brothers know the boiler makers and their helpers, with all other mechanics on this road, have been out since the 13th of March, and I must say, or am proud to say, that so far as I know there has not been a break in our ranks—that is by returning to work—and the company is putting up a hard fight and getting lots of scabs from some place, as there are more men in the shops now than there were before the strike. No doubt there is some few fair mechanics, but we do know there are lots of them that are not good helpers. Mr. Knott has fenced them in with a high board fence with two wires on top so these people cannot get out and hurt anybody, and then to make sure of them they have put guards all around this fence with Winchesters (it must be to keep them in, as we do not try to get in) to look after their safety. But for all that I hear that some of them a few nights back did run against something and got badly peeled up. I think it must have been that barbed wire.

But, brothers, we are up against a hard Knott, and we propose to fight it to a finish, and will say right here that we may have to resort to some means to raise finances to help those that have no benefit, so if anybody has money that they do not know what to do with you can send it to No. 221, B. of B. M. and I. S. B. of A., and you can feel assured that it will be used for a good purpose.

Now the company, we have been told, will never settle, but we do not have to believe that. Again they say that we can declare the strike off and make application individually and we can (the most of us) procure work. Now mind you, this in the face of the fact that they have more men in there now than there were before the strike. Now we will never go back that way. We will make a scab road of this for all time to come, and, brothers (all mechanics, I mean), we want all of you to help us. If you see a man traveling talk with him and tell him for the sake of humanity, for the sake of our organization, and for the sake of his own soul (if he has any) to keep away from the Kansas City Southern railroad, and if we can keep the scum of the earth away from here we will win this fight, this month, this year, or next year.

Fraternally,

SECRETARY No. 221.

LODGE 281.

It is some time since you heard from 281. Well, if you can give us just a little space I will try to tell you what we are doing here. Well, in the first place, we are on the high road to victory, and have got a committee here that can lead us on. I will give their names, and a great many of the brothers in the East will bear witness to what I have just said:

Our committee begins with our grand old man, J. J. Slavin. He is tried and true right from start to finish. Next is J. F. Donovan, a young man, but he is coming all the time, and by the time that his head is half gray he will be at the top of the ladder. The last, but not least, is Thomas Danheau, a boy that is right after all that is going and not afraid to say his bit when the time comes. They were the three that went before the management of the road, and with the other brothers from the different shops, got an advance of 12½ per cent for all boiler makers and helpers.

Well, we had a lot of men here that thought the union was no good, but when they saw the pay roll after our committee got back they changed their mind very sudden. It took a lot to do it, but we held on till we did and we will change other people's minds at this shop yet. When they saw that we could do some good they were all willing to fill out their bit of paper. Well, they are late, but welcome all the same, and now that we have got them all where they ought to be I think that you will hear from Norwood, and it will read like this: If you have not got a good clear card you need not come inside the fence. That is what it is coming to, and let it be soon.

We initiated six at our last meeting and have about six to follow at our next meeting, so all the brothers can see that we are not idle out here in this little town.

Hoping to see this in your next Journal after you have used your editorial ax on it, and that all the order is going ahead faster than we are, I am,

Yours fraternally,

P. DALY,

RICHMOND, Va., April 4, 1903.—At a meeting of trial committee held October 8, 1902, in the case of Bro. J. J. Hickey, late treasurer of Lodge No. 170, alleging that said John Hickey left the city with $54.08 belonging to said lodge and leaving money box, papers and property of said lodge carelessly around and exposed to the public, we, the trial committee, find Bro. Hickey guilty of said charges and put a fine of one hundred ($100) dollars and suspension, to stand suspended until all back dues and fine is paid.

Trial Committee: Thomas Clark, President; J. F. Ewan, Chairman; John Crane, Corresponding Secretary; G. W. Smith, Financial Secretary; J. Crane; L. Johnson. Council for J. J. Hickey, Jas. F. Devlin.

A small space in our Journal would please Lodge 211. We had a visit from Business Agent D. MARRIAGE BELLS.

OELWEIN, Iowa, April 8, 1903.—On February 24 occurred the marriage of Jacob George and Miss Derley O'Connor, both of Oelwein. They were married at 5 o'clock a. m., in the Catholic church, by Rev. Father O'Connor, and afterward departed for St. Paul, where a reception was held by their relatives. They received many useful gifts, and were at home February 28. Mr. George being a member of Lodge 212, he has their best wishes.

Yours fraternally,

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9, 1903.—Brothers, do not take advantage of excursion rates to the Pacific Coast. There have been sixteen thousand men shipped out here in two months, and ninety per cent of them are now out of work and dependent on their various unions for support.

There are now too many men on this coast, so, brothers, for your own and for our good keep away from California. With best wishes to brothers in the East, I am,

ATTENTION BROTHERHOOD OF BOILERMAKERS AND IRON SHIP BUILDERS.

Omaha, April 17th, 1903.

All members of the brotherhood will take notice that one Albert Summers, formerly of Local No. 38, has been found scabbing on the Union Pacific at Grand Island, Neb., and in consequence thereof Local No. 38 has fined him ($300.00) three hundred dollars, and suspended him from membership in this organization. Also there remains upon our books and unpaid loan of $14.00 and dues and assessment to date, making a total of $17.50 in addition to his fine of $300.00, or a total of $317.50. This duffer is 49 years old, born in Germany, learned the business there and has been in this country a number of years. Notwithstanding this fact, he speaks the language poorly. He is about 5 ft. 10 in. high, weighs about 180 pounds, has blue eyes and sandy mustache, reddish-brown hair with a very crooked little finger on either the right or left hand. His registered No. was 604. This is the critter No. 38 nursed in the fore part of the winter through a severe attack of pneumonia, providing him with money and looking after him in general. The brothers of No. 254 will remember him as he was employed at the Hicks Loco. Wks last fall.

LODGE 3.

ST. PAUL, March 17, 1903.—Please insert in the Journal the following account of a special meeting held March 4, 1903, by Local No. 3 and Auxilliary No. 7 in behalf of the Union Pacific strikers:

The meeting came to order at the call of Jos. Materna, president of No. 3, who occupied the chair. Bro. Yorke, president of No. 7, started the ball a rolling in a neat and most convincing little speech in behalf of the "heroes of our Brotherhood on the Union Pacific." He was followed by Bro. J. Eichler, who spoke pretty much in the same strain, and closed with calling up Bro. Ball, chairman of the committee on entertainment, to make a report. Bro. Ball responded in his own inimitable and affable way, closing with a few choice pleasantries and introducing Bro. Moznets and his band of twelve accomplished musicians. These immediately proceeded to get busy and the boys didn't have to stop and listen twice, like some, in order to discover good music. Bro. Moznets and his musicians struck the responsive chord in the boiler makers after the first number and continued to hold it long after the last encore was given and the boys by a rising vote tendered the musicians their most hearty thanks and generous good will for the enjoyable program rendered.

While all this was going on our unassuming chairman of the committee on entertainment, Bro. Ball, with an able corps of assistants, passed around the Havanais, after which refreshments of all kinds were handed out in large and juicy bunches, and everything proceeded as merry as a wedding bell.

After this little lunch the boys proceeded to show the outside world the artistic side of the boiler makers and more than convinced the doubting Thomases that they knew a thing or two about music and the fine arts. Bro. Dvorak led off with a pleasing vocal rendition of "Because I Am Old and Gray," Bro. Ball presiding at the piano with all the grace and elegance of a foreign professor. Bro. Deliden was then heard in the outer ante room singing in a most happy strain, which was quite a surprise, as everyone thought he was still on his wedding trip, and for his sudden reappearance he was brought forward and sang "May the Wedding Bells Ring On Forevermore." This opened the flood gates of melody and they remained wide open to the closing hour. The next number was the charming duet entitled "Sweet Gena Lee," by Bros. Kovec and Mattock, and as an encore Bro. Mattock sang "The Tie That Binds," which was warmly received. Then followed Bro. Stedham with a highly interestign and amusing exhibition of hypnotism and mind reading. It was then moved and seconded that the helpers foot the bill of $1.60 for peaunts, candies and milk served to Bros. Stedham and Haupt. The motion prevailed. Bro. Busby then sang a very sympathetic ballad entitled "Because We Were Poor," which was roundly applauded. Bro. Haupt followed with a few well chosen remarks on the importance and the necessity of every brother lending all the assistance possible in order that the Union Pacific men may win their contest against this subsidized railroad. Then followed Bros. Walsh and Trelor, singing the duet entitled "When the Roses Bloom Again," which was well received. The chair then introduced Bro. Jos. Scheidt, of the U. P. R. R., who is visiting here in behalf of the Federated Board also District No. 4 of the Boiler Makers, and he gave us a short history of the strike, which was attentively listened to, and proved not only instructive in regard to the way our brothers down there are handling themselves, but also was very amusing in the accidents and experiences falling to the lot of a scab. A recess of five minutes was declared and the cigars and refreshments were again passed while our worthy president took Bro. Scheidt around and introduced him to one and all present.

The second part of the program opened with a song by Bro. Mattock, "My Old New Hampshire Home." Songs then followed in quick succession—one by Bro. Dvorak, another by Bro. Busby, and one by Bro. Kovec entitled "Just Fifty Years Ago," and which was warmly received. Another by Bro. Eichler was entitled "Dream of Heaven," and finally the last number entitled "The Dear Home in Ireland," by Bro. Busby. It is needless to say that it brought down the house. The chair then called on Bro. Scheidt to make a few remarks on the good of the order. Bro. Scheidt's remarks were most attentively listened to. They were clean and clear cut, to the point, and were warmly received and appreciated by all the brothers present. One of the brothers then called upon President Materna for a few remarks. Another brother proceeded to count the empty schooners that covered one of the tables and then announced that the president was a boiler maker beyond question, as there was sufficient evidence that he believed in keeping his "crown sheet" well covered. Bro. Materna's remarks were brief and to the point, stating that at the present moment money talks and appears better than words, at least to those of our brothers on the U. P. system; that he was pleased to announce that Locals Nos. 3 and 7 would forward the next day $75.00 to the striking boiler makers, and that he expected every man to continue his contribution until the strike ended. A rising vote of thanks was tendered the committee on the splendid entertainment and everybody departed delighted and wishing the boiler makers all kinds of good luck.

Faternally yours,

JOS. MATERNA,
Pres. and C. S.

LODGE 186.

HORNELLSVILLE, March 1, 1903.—Our brothers are feeling much elated over the result of the recent conference between the boiler makers and the Erie officials by which an advance in wages was secured and the apprenticeship system regulated. The conference was attended by delegates from all the boiler shops of the Erie system, and was held at Meadville, that being the most central point for all concerned. The bone of contention was wrangled over for several days and both sides united in calling for Grand President McNeil, of Kansas City, to come to the rescue. His good judgment and well balanced head soon had the desired effect and a satisfactory arrangement was made. The best of good feeling prevailed. Bro. McNeil's executive ability during the last strike of the boiler makers convinced the officials and all concerned that he was entitled to the highest respect, and the marked consideration shown him was quite different from what it was during the last long strike, and when the conference had ended Mr. Morris, general superintendent of motive power, took Bro. McNeil by the hand and told him he was a hard man to talk with, but withal an honest one.

Hoping to see this in your next issue, we remain,

SEE HOW JUDGES DIFFER, AND RESULT OF FAIR AND UNBIASED INVESTIGATION.

Patrick Duffy et al. vs. the People of the State of Illinois.

Opinion filed June 19, 1902.

1. Criminal Law—What will not sustain conviction of crime of assault. If the chief evidence tending to connect the defendants with the crime of assault is the unsupported testimony of the prosecuting witness that he identified them by their faces and voices, the conviction cannot be sustained where the defendants and four other witnesses testify to facts which prove an alibi.

2. Same—Personal experience of judge in another case should not go against defendants. In a trial for assault, where the evidence against the defendants is slight, it is not proper for the judge to put his personal experience in another case of assault into the scales against the defendants, and to refuse to allow them to prove that the place where the alleged assault was committed was a public one and that there were persons within hearing and seeing distance.

Duffy vs. People, 98 Ill. App. 34, reversed.

Appeal from the Branch Appellate Court for the First District—Heard in that court on appeal from the Criminal Court of Cook county, the Hon. Theodore Brentano, judge, presiding.

Charles B. Stafford for appellants.

H. J. Hamlin, Attorney General, and Charles S. Deneen, State's Attorney (W. S. Elliott, jr., of counsel) for the people.

Mr. Justice Ricks delivered the opinion of the court:

Appellants, Patrick Duffy and John Keim, were indicted with one Ole Olson in the Criminal Court of Cook county for an alleged assault to commit bodily injury upon one Henry Hornburg. A jury was waived by the defendants, Duffy and Keim, and the issue submitted to the court. Olson was never arrested. The court found the appellants guilty and sentenced them to the county jail each for the term of ninety days and to pay a fine of $50 and costs. Appellants appealed to the Appellate Court. There the judgment was affirmed, and the defendants, Duffy and Keim, bring the record to this court for review.

It is urged that the finding is not justified by the evidence. The testimony of the complaining witness, Hornburg, is that he was proceeding homeward upon a South Halstead street car on the evening of December 13, 1899; that as he was about to alight therefrom near Thirty-first street, Keim coming from behind, pushed him from the car, jumped after him and seized him, and that while Keim was thus holding him the defendant, Duffy, came up, and he, together with Keim, assaulted the prosecuting witness by striking him upon the head with some blunt instrument; that during this time Olson was standing near and encouraging them in their acts. Hornburg testifies that during the scuffle he was able to see the parties face to face, and having been acquainted with them some fourteen or fifteen years, he distinctly recognizes them as the three defendants. The main question raised by the defendants is the correctness of the identification by Hornburg, and it is also urged that there was no motive for the assault on the part of these defendants, and that the testimony established an alibi in their behalf. Hornburg's testimony is clear and positive that he identified them, not only by their faces but by their voices as well. The testimony of Hornburg, however, is the only evidence tending to show that these defendants were at the place at the time of the assault or that they were in any way connected with it, except that there was testimony that when Keim was arrested Shober asked him what he was arrested for, and Keim replied "For licking Hornburg," and that Shober then said: "You ought to have killed this _____," using a vile name. We think it clear from the evidence that the assault took place in the evening, between 5:30 and 5:40. Both Duffy and Keim testify positively that they were not at the corner of Thirty-first and Halstead streets at the time of the alleged assault. Keim was employed on the 13th day of December at 937 Ewing avenue, at the shops of Kibben & Hill Company, and the evidence of the timekeeper of that company was to the effect that Keim was at the shops at half past four that evening. Keim testifies that at 25 minutes to 5 that evening, having quit work about five minutes previous thereto, he left the shops in company with Shober, a fellow workman, and took the street car at Ninety-second street to go home. Shober's testimony agrees with that of Keim and is to the effect that he was on the car with Keim from 25 minutes to 5 until 10 minutes to 6 that evening, when Shober left the car at Thirty-first street and Cottage Grove avenue, about two miles from the place of assault. Nathaniel White, a lace merchant and disinterested witness, testified that Keim arrived home in the neighborhood of a quarter of 6 that evening. Duffy testifies he was employed at the corner of Halstead and O'Neil streets, about ten blocks from the place of the assault; that he quit work at 4:30 on that day and immediately took a car, in company with John Morrison, a fellow workman, for home; that they proceeded together on the O'Neil street car until they reached Fifty-ninth street, where Morrison got off. This was about thirty-two blocks from the scene of the altercation. This point was reached at about 5 or 10 minutes after 5 o'clock. Duffy is corroborated in his statement thus far by the testimony of Morrison. Duffy testifies that he then proceeded on the car to Sixty-third street, at which point he took a Sixty-third street car to Stony Island avenue and then proceeded to his home, which he reached about 5 minutes to 6 o'clock that evening. As to Olson, he was not apprehended and not on trial.

The chief evidence of importance in the record to implicate Keim and Duffy in the assault is the testimony of Hornburg. In direct contradiction of this testimony both defendants, and also Hibben, Shoher, White and Morrison testify that Keim and Duffy were not at the place of the assault at the time it must have occurred. The defendants had been friends of Hornburg for many years, and between them had never risen a word, discussion or feeling of any character other than that of friendship and good will. While it is true the evidence seems to show there were labor troubles then existing among the boiler makers in Chicago, the record also shows that the defendants and Hornburg, though boiler makers, were not participating therein, and that all were engaged at their trade without interest or connection with the strike then in progress. It also seems from the evidence that at the time Hornburg was assaulted, Olson, the other defendant, was in the kingdom of Norway, or at any rate not in the city of Chicago, and hence it was impossible for him to have been one of Hornburg's assailants.

To sustain this conviction we must do so on the unsupported testimony of the complaining witness, against the equally emphatic testimony of the appellants denying that they had anything to do with the assault or that they were even at or near the place at the time it was committed, and against strong corroborating testimony of several reputable witnesses to the effect that the accused could not have been present at the assault. True, the presiding judge, who heard and saw the witnesses testify, had better opportunities than we have to judge of their credibility, but we cannot, on the record before us, sustain the conviction on that ground. We fear that the frame of mind of the learned judge who tried the case without a jury was not as impartial and unbiased as it should have been and that the defendants may have suffered from that cause. Hornburg had testified that at the time of the assault he saw a man standing in a drug store on the corner, and counsel for the defendants asked the witness, "Well, is there any other store about there?" The record then shows the following:

The court: "Why; what do you ask this question for?"

Mr. Stafford: "Why, just simply to show your honor that there were stores around there, with people in them."

The court: "Yes?"

Mr. Stafford: "And his statement that there was nobody in the mix-up there, and excitement and assault—"

The court: "Yes?"

Mr. Stafford: "That those people, none of them that were there, came to his rescue."

The court: "Why, I saw that assault made last Saturday upon the people at the corner of Fifth avenue and Washington street, and I stood there—there were as many people there as there are in this court room—and there was not a soul that lifted his fingers when those men were knocked down. I saw it. Where is the improbability about it? I saw that. Now, to talk about the improbability of nobody raising a finger is absurd. Go on."

Mr. Stafford: "It is also improbable that if those people saw it—"

The court: "Go on. I will put my personal experience in these matters into the scale here."

The personal experience of the judge in another case was not a proper matter to put in the scales against the defendants, and there was danger that innocent men might be convicted under the influence of an honest indignation excited by personal observation of the judge of another assault made upon peaceable men without any justification. Besides, it was proper to prove on behalf of the accused that the place where the assault was committed was a public one, and that there were other persons, few or many, within hearing and seeing distance at the time, as bearing upon the question whether the defendants did in fact commit the assault or not. In support of the motion for a new trial an affidavit was made by one James E. Dixon that he was at or near the place where the assault was committed, and witnessed it, and that he was acquainted with the defendants and with Olson, and also with Hornburg, and that the defendants Keim, Duffy and Olson were not the persons who committed the assault.

After a full consideration of the case as disclosed by the record, we have reached the conclusion that the case should be remanded for another trial, in which the guilt or innocence of the appellants may be made more clearly manifest.

The judgments of the Appellate and Criminal Courts will be reversed and the cause remanded to the Criminal Court for another trial.

Reversed and remanded.

RESOLUTIONS

Adopted in Magic City Lodge No. 4, of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, March 18, 1903.

First. Resolved, That Lodge No. 4 form a District to be controlled by Lodge No. 4.

Second. Resolved, That this District will reach half way between Lodge No. 4 and sister lodges mentioned below: Lodge No. 2, Atlanta, Ga.; Lodge No. 14, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Lodge No. 344, Sheffield, Ala.; Lodge No. 312, Selma, Ala.

Third. Resolved, That all work done within this District shall be paid for not less than Birmingham prices, for contract work, which is 35 cents per hour for regular work hours, 52½ cents per hour for night work, 70 cents per hour for Sunday and holiday work, and expenses paid while out of the shop.

Fourth. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to said adjoining Lodges and ask them to furnish contract shops with a copy of said resolutions.

Fifth. Further Resolved, That Lodge No. 4 ask Lodges Nos. 2, 14, 344 and 312 to furnish Lodge No. 4 the limit and prices to be controlled by their respective Lodge.

Sixth. Further Resolved, That all Boiler Makers that desire to work in Birmingham District shall deposit his card in Lodge No. 4 and shall have receipt for same from Business Agent before going to work. This takes effect on and after April 1, 1903.

Seventh. Further Resolved, That on and after April 1, 1903, no Union Boiler Maker be allowed to work with any member who is more than four months in arrears or a non-Union Boiler Maker.

WANTED.

Two or three good railroad boiler makers with good cards. Address Mr. E. J. Smith, M. M., A. C. L. R. R., High Springs, Fla.

Fraternally yours,

F. F. SHEETS.

LODGE 281.

NORWOOD, April 10, 1903.—We have written to Lodge 175 and our investigating committee has also written and we have waited for thirty days and still have no answer. That man we are inquiring about left here and forgot to pay his bills. We want to trace him; that is the reason that we wrote to 175. If you would mention it to Lodge 175 perhaps they would wake up. Hoping this will not give you extra trouble you will please accept our thanks in advance.

AN ADDITIONAL EXPENSE.

Mrs. Blackfields—Dear me! my milk is sour again. They told us if we'd get a refrigerator we'd have no trouble about things keeping; so we went and bought a real pretty one, but the milk sours worse than ever.

Mrs. Sittways—Do you keep enough ice in it?

Mrs. Blackfields—Ice? I hope you don't think, after spending all that money on a refrigerator, we'd go to the additional expense of buying ice!—Judge.

CONTRAST.

The labor movement is doing much in regenerating the old ideas and in educating the present members. It is demonstrated every day that labor's intents, purposes and methods are taken kindly to in many high places, as the inevitable has happened. A few years ago a man would have been thought crazy if he asked his employer to sign a contract or agreement for any length of time. Today the employers are seeking agreements, as they realize labor organizations are here to stay. The first fright being over, the bosses, or employers rather, feel that the employees have some right to live comfortably. With all the philosophy sung and preached in high and low places, which reverberates with force the world over, yet we are confronted with people of prominence who don't seem to be acquainted with the advancement made and positive up-to-date methods used by organized labor. Nor are they willing to accord the same rights in all avenues of thought to labor, as they themselves exact, and apparently hold as exclusively their's. No, no dangerous ground when labor aspires to equality in human rights. Those same people don't fail to belittle every attempt made by the wage earner to better themselves and use very plausible language in doing so. And yet it has been said with much force and truth that they don't deceive any but themselves, being so blinded with egotism, that one who is not bred to a certain station has any right except to receive. It is wonderful to see how far some will deceive themselves on this question, and very strange, too, that this kind of people are not confined to any class. They abound in all grades of society, while the hatred of the shallow brain is constantly moving and therefore very transparent to the observer. History can scarcely trace a brighter brain than that of the immortal Lincoln, who forty years ago recognized the rights of labor in unmistakable terms, which are as fresh today, and will keep green down the avenues of time to the end of humanity. His was an honest brain. So unselfish that he turned profit aside because it came through the degradation of a fellow citizen. What do we find today, forty years later? Vast improvements in methods used by organized labor; great strides forward on peaceful and conservative lines, which has brought about stability and protection to the land, and if only given a fair field would do much better. But we cannot, nor don't find any improvement on the honesty of the lamented Lincoln, but instead of that fearlessness and high native integrity of forty years ago, we are treated to proclamations and edicts of the dark ages at which time the word masters was the common name applied to the rulers of all enterprises and employment, and then it was that the common people received little or no education at all. Compare the difference between the martyred president's sayings and doings of forty years ago and the sayings and doings of our present manufacturers' president. Comparisons are odious. One breathing peace and good will to all, the other war, hatred and extermination to all that don't agree with him in his mad desire to subjugate the toilers to his own standard of the eternal fitness of things. If ever any man tried his best to degrade humanity the manufacturers' president, in his voluminous report to the convention in New Orleans, endeavored to do, and without stint. He fired his colleagues with such arguments, as if we don't check labor, then labor will bring all dire calamities on us. Labor will divert trade from us, will reduce profits, will raise commodities, raise wages and lower the hours of toil. The gentleman made one generous statement, viz: That organized labor was here to stay, but he failed to follow it up with advise, or even an argument as to how best to utilize it, or kill it, but only, the opportunity passed, he failed to take advantage of it, like a philosopher would, and all the abuse he hurled at organized labor will only annoy himself in his dreams, as he must know that organized labor has benefitted millions, made the country richer and happier, while he was in obscurity, and his association was benefitting themselves. Exit Parry.

Now is the time to prepare for labor day, and such a day never has been seen in the past, fully one million more toilers will celebrate the year of 1903 than last year. Order your badges in time. A warning is hereby given, that it is possible orders cannot be filled unless same are placed fully thirty days before the event. See cut of new badge in another column. It is a reversible badge about 6 inches long, 2½ inches wide with a loose pendant hanging in front, whereon emblem is engraved. Two bars run across the top half with name and number of Lodge, red field with gold lettering. Order early—54c each. Remember all printing, badges and supplies must be ordered through the office of the G. S. T. under the Constitution.

All eyes of the labor world are now centered on the U. P. strike. It is well understood by all who are in a position to know that the U. P. is under the control of the S. P. Much as the latter desires to throw the wool over the eyes of the strikers, but the strikers and the public know that the above is a positive fact, and the only legitimate means to hasten a settlement is to make common case between the two roads. Why prolong the struggle? Why procrastinate? Are the burning questions we hear every day. Better by far for all, that the crisis be reached now, by calling out all hands on the S. P. than temporizing any longer with the tail of the thing. Once let your determination be known to bring war into the head and brains of the subject, then it will be terminated one way or the other in short order. Better by a thousand fold have ten times the number of men out for a few months, than having the number of men out we now have for an indefinite period. With the number of men out now, and the number contemplating demands for nine hours and more money, it becomes imperative to finish one in the shortest time possible, and one that holds, one of the highest principles good men ever fought for, viz: The rejection of the piece, premium or merit system of daily labor. Our men simply demanded 35 cents per hour, refused and went out to enforce same June 18, 1902. One week after the company discharged many machinists and blacksmiths, as the striking boiler makers tied up most of the work. Again, one week later the company posted notices, that the merit system must be introduced in the service. Then it was that all the balance of the machinists and blacksmiths walked out against the system. They are out yet. More power to them. They are a credit to any organization. The rank and file of all crafts on strike have been true to their principles, manhood and families, and deserve a better fate than forced to emigrate, or do the penitentiary premium debasing work offered to them by one railroad that is the tail end of a syndicate under cover. Just as sure as water runs down grade, just as certain will piece work be introduced on all roads at the first opportunity if ever this U. P. strike is lost, and from its insidious nature, little by little, manhood, womanhood and organization is gone. At first, no doubt the company will be lavish in its patronage, and unseemingly determined to please by having a system of perquisites just to prove the beauties of the system, only to find the tentacles closing in around the workmen, and finally all are in the meshes of the corporation net. Then it is, you must eat, drink and sleep at the option of your masters. So it will appeal to all fair-minded trade unionists and citizens generally, that every possible weapon be brought to bear to bring this U. P. controversy to a successful termination.

We dislike to write disagreeable things, or note some event of hardships, but as every cloud has a silver lining, we should endeavor to make the best out of passing events. We reluctantly followed the struggle in San Francisco for 9 hours and saw it lost, and also the 15 months' struggle in Seattle for the same cause, all of which made us feel despondent, but now, the sequel of those long sieges is: The Union Iron Works of San Francisco and Moran Brothers of Seattle have posted up notices that 9 hours with ten hours' pay will be the rule hereafter. So the boys did not fight in vain. South Chicago, Lorain and Newburgh are the latest to follow suit, and no doubt the agitation of a year ago has brought forth these results. So there is hope for the weary and a bright future to the brave trade unionist.

PERSONAL REFLECTION.

"I see the scoundrel in your face," exclaimed the angry man.

"That," replied the other calmly, "is a personal reflection."

When the angry man figured this out he was even angrier.—Chicago Post.

Grand President Official Communications and Decisions.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:

This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of the JOURNAL by Corresponding Secretary.

To the Officers and Members, Greeting:

Since the last issue of our Journal we have held an Executive Board session in Kansas City and the proceedings of same have been mailed to every lodge in the Brotherhood. At that meeting the Council recommended several very important matters, and they recognized the advisability of increasing the revenue of the Grand Lodge without calling for assessments.

The most important matter taken up was the strike on the U. P. and the relative position of the S. P. with that company. The members on the U. P. claimed that the S. P. was furnishing power to the U. P. and requested the Council to call the S. P. out on a sympathetic strike, but as the officers of the S. P. and the members working on that road claim that no power has been furnished by them to the U. P., and the officials have positively stated that they are not in any way, directly or indirectly, assisting the U. P. Relying upon the statements of the members who were at the meeting, the Council decided to send Brother Kane along the S. P. System to find out for himself, the feelings of the men, and if he is satisfied that we would be justified in calling out the men on a sympathetic strike, we would do so. Brother Kane is now on that system, and as soon as we hear his report officially, action will be taken accordingly.

Immediately after the adjournment of the Council I was called out to Meadville, Pa., there to consult with the officials of the Erie in regard to straightening matters out regarding the agreement lately made by that company. It seems, through some misunderstanding, our members in Huntington had come out on strike, believing that the company had violated their agreement. Upon receipt of telegram from that city, I ordered them back to work pending investigation. Upon arriving in Meadville I called upon the superintendent of motive power, who showed a willingness to straighten matters out to our satisfaction. The misunderstanding was brought about through the round house men, but I am satisfied the arrangements lately made regarding those men, is satisfactory.

While in Meadville I tried to straighten men to work for the Phoenix Iron Works. The Boiler Makers there were working away below the standard rate of wages, and they were only paying time and one-fourth ($\frac{1}{4}$), for over time on new work, and time and one-half on repair work. As this company is in direct competition with several other boiler manufacturers who are all paying time and one-half and double time, and a much higher rate for their labor, it would be an injustice on our part to allow our men to work for the Phoenix Iron Works for the rate of wages they were receiving and the other conditions they were working under. Consequently by the company refusing to increase the wages or better the conditions of the men in any way, I was compelled to call the men out, and they are now on strike and don't expect to return until their conditions are as good as the other companies with whom the Phoenix is competing.

When through in Meadville I went to Cleveland, and from there to Lorain, to talk matters over with some of the officers, and I was very much encouraged with the improvement shown in Lodge No. 190. The Ship Yard men are beginning to realize that the only way they can secure some of the prosperity now going around is to become thoroughly organized, and I hope in the next month's Journal to see a statement from Lorain that "No card, no work," will be the rule in that city.

My next stopping place was Bay City, Mich., where I had the pleasure of reorganizing a lodge with one hundred members, and also organizing a lodge in the Helper's Division. There is no city on the Lakes that requires to be organized more than Bay City. There does not seem to be any uniformity in the rate of wages or the price of piece work. They were not only keeping down the rate of wages in that city, but their condition had a depreciatory effect upon all the Ship Yards on the Great Lakes, consequently, it is absolutely necessary that we should have Bay City in line. The men themselves realize that fact and were much pleased to have the opportunity of becoming members of this Organization. There is good material there, and I am satisfied before very long the man who has not a good card, will be required to keep on going should he happen to arrive in Bay City.

When through in Bay City I went to Kewanee, Ill., as instructed by the Council, and there presented an agreement to the Kewanee Boiler Company for a nine-hour day and ten per cent increase in wages for Boiler Makers and Boiler Makers' Helpers. We had arrangements to meet the superintendent, but unfortunately he was called away to Chicago to a meeting of the stock holders; but in talking the matter over with the assistants, I am satisfied there will be no trouble in securing the nine-hour day and ten per cent increase in wages by the first of June.

From that town I came to Kansas City, where I am at this date. In traveling through the country, it seems to me that all our members are impressed with an idea no better their conditions all at the same time. While we are desirous of assisting every lodge in the Brotherhood to do so, yet it is a matter of impossibility with our present income, to think of granting all the lodges who have made requests, the privilege of making demands. We should be conservative, and as the old saying is, "Cut our coats according to our cloth." We have the whole of the U. P. and the K. C. Southern on strike at the present time, with the possibility of the S. P. coming out. Then there is Pittsburg with 512 members, who expect trouble, and we have a notification from a few of the lodges in District No. 2, that they expect to come out for an increase of wages. The two lodges in St. Louis are also about to make a demand, as well as Lodges No. 61 and No. 237, and the various lodges on the Lakes who are about to make a demand for a nine-hour day, ten per cent increase in wages and a relative increase in the prices of piece work.

These are only a few of the requests upon this office, which I think is sufficient to show all the lodges in the Brotherhood that they ought to be careful and allow us to dispose of what we already have on hand before we permit any other lodges to make demands.

I also desire to call your attention to the conduct of some of our members. It is a very unpleasant duty for me to perform, but conditions are becoming such that it is absolutely necessary. In some of the shops where we have lately increased the rate of wages, bettered conditions all around, it seems our members have forgotten themselves, or in other words have forgotten their duty to themselves, their employers, and to this Brotherhood, by laying off work and drinking. It is somewhat surprising to see men who a few months ago were working for twenty-two and twenty-three cents per hour, and now receiving as high as thirty cents, who cannot control themselves and work steady. Conditions at the present time are favorable and such men can secure work in any place, but the possibilities are that the day is not far distant when it will be the reverse. Instead of such men wasting their means they ought to take advantage of the times and of the increase in wages, and prepare for a rainy day. I assure you it is not a very pleasant thing for me to meet employers and railroad officials and be held responsible for the action of such men; and unless they work more steady the possibilities are that they will be laid off, and then they will be wanting us to call the shop out because they were discharged. No such work will be tolerated by this office, and men who do not work steadily and who drink, will receive no support from this office.

I also desire to call your attention to a feeling that seems to run in the minds of some of our men, that is that we should not be bound by a contract when the opportunity presents itself to secure demands through the scarcity of men. I am sorry to say that one of our lodges that I gave credit for better judgment, violating their agreement by coming out on strike without first investigating and giving the company an opportunity to correct any error that they imagined may have occurred. It is always advisable to give the other fellow the same consideration we ask for ourselves; and if our men would use a little better judgment there is no reason why we should not secure an agreement from the employers, but if men are going to violate agreements just when it suits their fancy, we might as well give up the idea of securing contracts. The man who will not honor the sanctity of a contract is not worthy of making a contract with, and we hope that any of our lodges who have contracts will live up to them even though we get the worst of it. If at any time you imagine the company is violating the contract, place the matter in the hands of a committee, have them call upon the officials and give them to understand the reason for calling upon them. If no satisfaction is given, communicate at once with this office, but above all things don't stop work, because by doing so you create a feeling in the minds of the employers that a contract with our Organization is worthless.

John McNeil

Grand President-Organizer.

ARBITRATION AND CONCILIATION.

By Samuel Gompers.

In the abstract, all men agree that to labor is always honorable, and to the laborer honor is always due. In the concrete and in general practice, it is simply a question of how much product can be gotten out of the workers, and how little wages they can be forced to accept in return.

That there is a perceptible departure from so grave a misconception of economic wisdom, is a source of gratification. That this change is due to the united effort of the tollers, no intelligent observer now disputes.

It is not my purpose to deliver an apothecosis to labor, or to indulge in any flight of fancy, describing how, from the crude and raw material, through the brawn and muscle, the exercise of the brain and the gentle finger tips of the laborer, comes the great result, the wealth so useful and ornamental to our lives.

Nor yet to point out that those who grow the grain, yet oft go a hungered; who weave the silken robes of pride, yet go threadbare; who mine the precious ores, yet go cold and penniless; who rear gorgeous palaces, yet are herded in noisome tenements.

Sufficient for us to know that in this marvelous age of ours, with our prodigious power of production, enormously increased by the application of steam and electricity and the introduction of the highest developed machinery in manufacture and transportation, and the toiling masses of our country and our time find the struggle to secure the necessities of life keen. The alternating seasons of employment and idleness burden them to the uttermost.

Concentration of capital on the one hand, and advancing intelligence of the workers of the other, makes the burden of the workers the more onerous, and the sense of the wrongs they endure the more intense.

The workers produce more than enough to supply the essential wants of society, and are happy in the thought that they are permitted to do so. It is, therefore, no fault of theirs that, despite our marvelous resources and wonderful industrial progress, conditions prevail inconsistent with our advanced state of civilization.

There are some, failing to appreciate the duties they owe to society and their fellowmen, who not only fiercely engage in the mad rush for self-aggrandizement, but also antagonize any effort made to bring about more humane conditions for the toiling masses and all our people. Aye, the course pursued by many employers of labor suggests the thought that they live in an atmosphere of gold dust, whose very exhalation coins the phrases: "Everybody for himself, and the —take the hindmost;" or, "After me, the deluge."

The workers press their claims with such force of logic that even the most critical and selfish can not resist them. They argue that as all wealth is the result of labor, why should we, who produce all this wealth, possess or enjoy so small a portion?

If there is not enough wealth to furnish the means to make us comfortable, why are we permitted to remain so long in enforced idleness? Why are we not more fully employed? Is not idleness a crime against society which needs our services?

Why are shoemakers and tailors permitted to walk the streets begging for employment, when thousands are in want of shoes and coats? This is a typical illustration, and applies to all other branches of productive industry.

We are not wanting in appreciation of the progress in civilization. We grant you that the condition of the laborers has been somewhat ameliorated; but on the other hand an interrogation presents itself at the end of all our boasts of civilization, and asks why it is that thousands of human beings, earnest, honest men, are periodically confronted with conditions of hardship and misery even such as savages are not called upon to endure. Even in our day the awful spectacle confronts us in the mills and factories where men have been displaced by women, and women again by children. Sad commentary upon our time, to find idle men in the play-ground or school room rather than in the mills, factory and workshop.

It is not my purpose, either here or elsewhere, to draw lurid pictures of suffering and want; but it would be an insult to public intelligence, and unfair to those whom I have the honor to represent, did I not speak plainly and without affectation.

In our time, with out great concentrations of wealth and industry, vast powers are exercised by their possessors. The very concentration and possession is potent organization. Unless the workers had combined in unions of labor their condition today would be such as to shock the mind. That any hope for material improvement, moral advancement, or higher ethical consideration is possible without the organization of labor, few now seriously believe. Yet, when that which we call the labor question is discussed, there are not many who will undertake to ascertain the laborer's side of it.

I can do no more in connection with this than to suggest to those who assume to speak or write of the trade unions, that they ascertain from the organized workers the causes which produce these organizations.

It is our chief cause for gratification to find, without exception, that they who undertake to learn why we organize and the methods we employ to attain justice and fair dealings, always become converts to our cause. Unreasonable and deep-rooted prejudices disappear before the vistas of new knowledge.

The natural form of working class organization is the trade union—which has for its function the regulation of the relations between the employed and the employers.

It demands of the working class a minimum wage, which will provide the workers and their families with the necessities of life according to the requirements of modern civilization.

The trade union demands the 8-hour workday, or a comprehensive reduction in the hours of labor so as to afford the workers sufficient leisure in which to cultivate their mental and moral faculties. It demands better homes, better surroundings, better opportunities for the cultivation of the higher and nobler functions of human activity. Asking nothing but what is just for ourselves, we impose no injustice upon others.

The trade union and a federation of organized effort enable the workers to maintain order and to perform efficiently the work of organization. The trade union cultivates self-respect, manhood and character. Its influence for good encompasses the whole human family. It seeks systematically to attain better relations between the employers and employed. It compels a higher ethical consideration for the rights of all.

As means toward this end the principal essentials are:

1. Organization.
2. Conciliation.
3. The strike; that is, when conciliation has failed to restore mutual relations, recourse is had to the cessation of production in order to achieve an honorable peace.
4. Legal intervention in certain cases; such as legislation to prohibit and regulate the labor of the women and children; abolition of sweatshops, unsanitary and unsafe workshops, mines, mills, and other establishments; the abolition of the store-order system and the passage of such other legal enactments as tend toward industrial liberty.

In a word, the organization of the trade union is the determination of the working people to have a more potent voice in the regulations of the conditions under which they work.

Perhaps, the point in which the average citizen will be most interested is the strike. I grant that a strike is not the most desirable occurrence in our economic life. In fact, there are none who make such great efforts to prevent and avoid strikes as do the organized workers. I may say that I have yet to make the acquaintance of any man, who, having given some years to the organized labor movement of our country, does not exert his every effort to avert strikes.

Experience demonstrates, however, that the organized workers of this country, who are best prepared to maintain themselves during a strike, are those who least frequently indulge in one.

And after all is said and done, while strikes are to be avoided, if possible, and to be deplored, there yet are some things worse than strikes. One of them is a degraded and demoralized manhood.

Strikes should be avoided; but when there is no other alternative to obtain redress for a grievance or to secure a right to which the workers are entitled, I join with the martyred Lincoln in saying: "Thank God, we have a system of labor where there can be a strike. Whatever the pressure, there is a point where the workingman may stop."

As an individual gains strength by the exercise of natural functions, so do the laborers gain strength in proportion as they assert and manfully stand for their rights, and even make temporary sacrifices in order to attain them.

The assertion of the wage-earners of our country that they will not only organize, but constantly press their demands upon society for a better recognition of rights to which they are entitled, really assures freedom and peace and the perpetuity of American institutions.

Through these battles, sacrifices and burdens, the labor movement has forged to the front with the gratifying result which we have recently witnessed of a movement by the representatives of organized labor and the largest employers in our country. In an earnest effort for industrial progress with economic peace. The event has been hailed with hearty acclaim by the well-wishers of humanity the world over.

But we should not fancy ourselves in an elysium of bliss, or delude ourselves into the belief that the millennium has been established.

The workers must still more thoroughly organize than ever, and with clearness of purpose and an earnest desire for better conditions. If these, our efforts, are met in a cordial and conciliatory spirit by employers and the general public, it will make for the uplifting of all our people. As a nation we will not only lead the industry and commerce of the world, but also be the beacon light of hope, sympathy and co-operation for the masses of all the nations of the earth.

"IT IS THE DUTY OF EVERY WORKING-MAN TO JOIN HIS TRADES UNION."

"It is the duty of every workingman to join his trades union," said Dr. Lyman Abbott in an address in Chicago on the "Duties of Man."

For years Dr. Abbott occupied the pulpit of Plymouth church, Brooklyn. His successor, Dr. Newell Dwight Hiles, has bitterly denounced trades unions.

"A man's first duty," Dr. Abbott urged, "is to put into the world by his productive power as much as he takes out of it; his second duty is to his home instead of to his shop; his third duty is to his neighbor, whose rights he must aid in preserving.

"Every man owes a duty to the man working at his side at the bench." He asserted, "If I were a laboring man I would not be without a union card. The more independent a man is the more able he is to do for himself, the more imperatively it is his duty to join a labor union and help those who are less able to help themselves. It must not be a battle of capital against labor or of classes against classes, but a combination of all the forces for the accomplishment of mutual good."—Dayton Daily Press.

A RANTING KNAVE OR RAVING LUNATIC.

In the last month's issue we referred to some of the quasi-official circulars issued by I. M. Parry, president of the American Manufacturers' Association. Since our comments were penned Mr. Parry has thrown off the veil of semi-secrecy and opened an aggressive campaign against labor organizations. He delivered an extraordinary speech before a prominent Chicago club in the course of this scurvy and wretched crusade, and it is gratifying to be able to record that he was promptly repudiated by spokesmen of his own class, and especially by the leading newspapers of Chicago and other cities.

If the American manufacturer can stand Parry, organized labor certainly can stand him. He is dangerous only to his friends and his associates; to those he chooses to treat as enemies he is perfectly harmless.

In fact, it would not be worth our while to pay him the compliment of further attention and criticism in these pages. He cannot open his mouth without injuring his own cause. He is a ranting, intemperate and bigoted; ignorant of the history of labor and the emancipation of industry; fanatical and tyrannical. Even the element he represents in a measure recognizes the inexpediency of his methods, and gently admonishes him that he is too radical.

Our object in animadverting here upon his Chicago performance is not to correct him, but to warn those employees who permit themselves to be led or represented by men like Mr. Parry. Capitalists are now organizing on the basis suggested by their more rational confreres. In Chicago a secret association of employers has been formed to protect the interests of employers and to resist aggressive demands on the part of organized labor. If these organizations mean to treat labor fairly, to "recognize it," abjure obsolete notions and accept accomplished facts, we expect to have no difficulty with them. But the first thing for the organization of employers to do is to send the "capitalistic agitator," to use the expression of the Chicago Tribune about his business, and to secure reasonable, broad-minded, sagacious men to manage its affairs.

Progressive employers should read Mr. Parry's utterances in order to know what to avoid—"how not to do it." For the amusement of our readers we cull a few choice specimens.

Referring to the affiliation of the Teachers' Federation of Chicago with the Central Labor Union of the same city, Mr. Parry said:

"As I say to you, the entire country stood astonished when Chicago announced that its public school teachers were hereafter to wear the badge of trades unionism, to march under the banner of Gompers, chief boycotter of America; Max Hayes, socialistic confiscator of Cleveland; John Mitchell, apologist for dynamite and property wrecking. To the mind of the average newspaper reader outside of your city this seemed like the fabled straw that broke the camel's back. To think that the educators of the future citizens of Chicago were to parade the streets on Labor Day in company with men who put a premium on violence and hatred of the employing class!"

This is how the man, tolerated in the office of president of the National Manufacturers' Association, describes the chosen representatives of organized labor—men who speak for nearly two millions of the most intelligent and virtuous American citizens; who are cordially invited to serve on local and national committees seeking to prevent industrial war; who are gladly heard by state legislatures and by Congress, and are received in a friendly way by the most representative, intelligent men of our land.

In another passage Mr. Parry refers to the American Federation of Labor as "that great octopus which has for its purpose the dissemination of socialistic doctrines and brazen-faced insistence on the right, justice and legality of the picket, the boycott and organized persecution."

We have no intention of re-arguing here for Mr. Parry's benefit the question of the right, justice and legality of picketing and boycotting. He has not the open-mindedness (assuming his possession of intelligence) to entertain and weigh rational argument. Suffice it to say, that it is an absurd self-contradiction to denounce as socialistic an organization which claims justification of its probity and acts in existing principles, and appeals not to any possible ideal of government, but to the fundamental doctrine of the present political-industrial system. Organized labor is opposed to war upon the existing order. It believes in equal rights, and asks nothing for itself which it does not concede to employers and citizens generally. Yet Mr. Parry says:

"Public attention must be drawn to the menace to peace and progress that lurks behind the labor movement. Organized labor today is saturated with socialistic tendency and anarchistic impulse. The leaders boldly proclaim that they intend to conquer the employers of the country. Labor, with its giant-like strength, threatens to pull down the temple of our government like Samson of old."

Every sentence here is a puerile and atrocious libel. No leader of labor wants to "conquer the employers." No leader would pull down the temples of government. Trades unions as such do not (whatever an individual member may think) stand for socialism.

Organized labor stands for freedom to combine for lawful purposes; for free speech and moral suasion; for collective bargaining for what is supposed to be a free market. It believes in bestowing its patronage where it sees fit. It objects not to law and order, but to plutocratic perversion and judicial abuse and usurpation. It will not permit its right to quit work or to "induce," "persuade," and peaceably "cause" others to do the same to be abridged. Tyranny or license by injunction it will check, not in the name of any unrealized ideal, but in the name of American liberty and justice.

Mr. Parry, as we have said, urges organization among employers and assuredly labor has no objection to such organization, provided it be not inimical to the rights of American citizenship. Employers must accept unionism as a fact, and reckon with it in all their calculations. To declare war upon the "powerful organizations" whose growth alarms Mr. Parry and his friends is to invite industrial disaster. Labor will neither disband at the behest of an employers' association, nor abandon any of its claims. It will not ask even Mr. Parry to revise its programme, and the pretense that the employers who are organizing to resist labor are engaged in a work of national defense is hollow and absurd.

The interests of employers are not the interests of the nation. By insisting upon a high standard of living, on a reasonable rate of pay, on restriction of child labor, on the substitution of real contracts for sham and one-sided "industrial agreements," labor promotes not merely its own welfare, but the welfare and progress of the whole nation. The opposition to labor's reasonable demands is not altruistic, but selfish, sordid and perverse. And it is idle to assert that it is only to aggression, violence and lawlessness that employers object, for labor is far more sincere than capital in fighting these.

The plutocratic element of the employing class is the chronic, systematic, unblushing law-breaker. Think of boodle legislation, franchise grabbing, rebates and other illegal practices, blacklisting, violations of labor laws, and so on. Reform should begin at home.

Mr. Parry is either a ranting knave or a raving lunatic, and in either case a most unfortunate and dangerous person to longer be permitted to represent himself as the spokesman of employers.—Blacksmith's Journal.

UNION LABOR TRIUMPHANT IN SAN FRANCISCO.

After a fight lasting nearly two years, victory has perched upon the banner of the iron workers on the Pacific Coast, and today victory is written in large letters in every local of iron workers in San Francisco. It will be remembered that in May of 1901, the blacksmiths, machinists and boiler makers of the western metropolis went on a strike for a nine-hour day and a corresponding increase in wages. After a bitter struggle, lasting ten months, the unions agreed to let their members return to work pending arbitration on the matter by the National Civic Federation. That august body, however, from that day to this, has never been further heard from in connection with the fight, and the men of San Francisco, realizing that if better conditions were to be obtained in the iron industry of their city, they would be compelled to get them by the strength of their own good right arm. The fight was therefore kept up. Firm after firm capitulated and granted the nine-hour day until all the minor concerns in the city were on a nine-hour basis. The two largest firms in the city, however, namely: the Risdon Iron Works, engineers and ship builders, and the Union Iron Works, the Western branch of the Ship Building Trust, still held aloof and depended upon their own strength to continue the ten-hour day indefinitely, and all overtures from their former employes were treated with scorn and contempt, and the "nothing to arbitrate" flag was hung out. However, the utter impossibility of building seaworthy ships with scab labor was soon made manifest to them, and although a kind government allowed them the full latitude of the "strike clause" in their contracts, they began to find out that if they were ever going to get the new war vessels off the ways it would be necessary to hire mechanics to do it. The dividends of the concerns were below zero, their stockholders were making a roar, and generally speaking, things were in a very unsatisfactory condition with them.

Then, and not until then, did the directors of those plants realize that they were up against it, and that the easiest way out of the difficulty would be to grant the reasonable and just demands of their mechanics. They had fondly hoped at the beginning of the struggle that after the first few months the union ammunition would give out, the men would desert their organizations, and the firms would again be "monarch of all they surveyed." The very reverse, however, proved to be the case. The union men of San Francisco were made out of the right kind of stuff, and their organizations seemed to flourish in adversity, their members waxed fat and their leaders continued to be "sassy." So it came to pass, on the twenty-third day of March of this year, that the Risdon Iron Works started their men on a nine-hour day and a ten per cent increase in wages, and on Wednesday morning, April 1, the Union Iron Works followed suit. This is particularly noteworthy at this time, as the capitulation of these large ship building firms in the West who have always claimed that they were working at a disadvantage in competition with the Eastern branches of the combine, means that ere long every large ship building and engineering firm in the United States will be on a nine-hour basis. The wedge has been entered and will be driven home until every concern in this country is on an equal footing as regards hours, and to the men of San Francisco who gallantly stayed with the cause for twenty long months, the credit and honor is due. As an object lesson of what can be accomplished by determination, perseverance and good generalship, this fight has no equal in the annals of the Iron Trades. Long may the unions of San Francisco flourish, and long may their members live to enjoy the improved conditions that they have so manfully fought for and won.—Blacksmiths Journal.

THE COST OF LIVING.

The Toronto Globe of January 10 contained an editorial under the caption "Wages and Cost of Living" in which it is made very clear that since 1897 the cost of living has increased about 38 per cent, and the man whose wages has not been increased in an equal ratio is really working for less wages (when measured in products) than he received in 1897, notwithstanding the great prosperity of the present time. The Globe's figures are based on reports made to Dun's Review and are therefore accepted without question.

While the great captains of industry are piling up colossal fortunes their employees even in cases where wages have increased 10 to 25 per cent, must figure more closely than ever before to keep their living expenses within the limits of their income. The only feature of the present industrial situation, therefore, which is favorable to the laboring man is that employment is continuous and more easily obtained. The profits to the employer are the gauge by which the demand for labor is set, and the fact that the demand for labor is so great at the present time simply indicates the further fact that the employers of labor are making greater profits than ever before on their contracts. But the Globe argues that, "even if the wages for an average day's work do not purchase as much now as in 1897, the returns for a year, making allowance for the stronger and steadier demand for work, supply in the aggregate a better standard of living." That may be true in a general way, but it is not satisfying to the workers who always have steady employment the year round, and it should not cause even those who in the past have been irregularly employed to be content with less than a fair equivalent for their labor just for the sake of being employed for if there is ever a time when labor can ask and receive a fair reward it is, to use a metaphorical expression, "when there are two jobs looking for one man." Even then labor is not fairly compensated until it is intelligently sold through an organized agency.

There are men employed in the maintenance-of-way department of some of our Southern railways who work from sunset to sunrise and receive less than 60 cents a day, and the only reason this condition of affairs exists is because there is no organization among the men. But that is reason enough, and until the men organize and demand better wages their present status will remain unchanged, even though prosperity's wave reaches mountain high and shows no sign of abatement.

Millions upon millions of dollars' worth of work, now under contract throughout the country, is being delayed on account of the scarcity of labor, but at the same time, in many instances, laborers are working ten to fifteen hours per day for less than the actual cost of living.—The Advance Advocate.

When papa was a little boy his mother sent him for some vinegar. He went to the store, handed the man the bottle and said: "I want five cents' worth of—of—"

"Of what?" asked the storekeeper.

"O smell the bottle, and you can tell."

A COMPLETE SUMMERSAULT.Machinists' Annual Convention.

The International Association of Machinists will hold its annual convention at Milwaukee May 4, and its official organ urges the selection of delegates with "cool and clear judgment" to handle the questions of great importance which are to come up. Among these are the piece work and premium systems, the shorter work day in the railway service, and the organization of the less skilled men in machine departments.

Piece work is strongly opposed by the Machinists' Union, and the constitution contains a clause to the effect that any member accepting piece work in any shop where it does not exist shall be subject to expulsion. The subject has been debated at every convention of the organization and is prominent in many of its disagreements with employers. At the recent conference of the National Civic Federation both sides of the question were forcibly presented by labor representatives, while the secretary of the Machinists' organization in Great Britain, the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, advocated what he called the "safe guard premium system," lately adopted by his society. In commenting on the attitude of the coming convention of the machinists toward piece and premium systems, the editor of their official journal says:

The way it will be settled means much for our organization. The Journal has always advocated its recognition and control as being the better way to settle the question. This has been demonstrated over and over again by the leading and most successful labor organizations of our time. If the organization acts wisely and conservatively it will adopt this policy with good grace. We must face the inevitable sooner or later. —Civic Federation.

LODGE No. 30.

Roanoke, Va., April 19.—I will again endeavor to sound the note from down in Old Virginia in order that Brethren at large may know what is going on in this section. There has been something doing, and don't you forget it. We have at last got an article of agreement and a straight rate of pay with a strong corporation, but it is only right and justice and was bound to be settled fair. Brother Sheets, I would infer from his writing, has taken some exceptions to my writing in March Journal. Frank is an old war horse from No. 30 and certainly ought to thoroughly understand the situation in our last several conferences. We had these very people (so-called chunkers), thrown square in our faces for the protection we afforded them. As the Holy Book says, "The laborer shall be worthy of his hire," and how can this end ever be accomplished when such material as this is being floated over the country and being forced upon us. But leaving this for the present, will say that our actions will vouch for same, that No. 30 is full of staunch union men. Your humble scribe had the honor bestowed on him to be elected chairman of this successful wage committee, and we have opened the future for the entire Southeast. Talk about your blow outs, but No. 30 gave one in grand style in honor of this committee, and there were smiles galore among all. W. D. Cassidy, of Bluefield, W. Va., is the man who made the point that carried the straight rate question to success. All did well, but this was a point that our General Manager and Vice President, Mr. Johnson, was compelled to openly acknowledge. We are sorry to say that we are losing our best friend and a great union man in our esteemed brother, G. H. Hann, who leaves for Baltimore to engage in handling booze instead of drudging in a boiler shop. I hope No. 193 and No. 35 will endeavor to help him in his new vocation, as he will always be found O. K. and well worthy of a boiler makers patronage. We gave him a little surprise last night by presenting him with a diamond set ring, a scarf pin, a watch charm and a pair of cuff buttons—all good articles. When the presentation was made you could see eye balls floating in tears everywhere in the room. Then came singing after speech making, and next, as usual, a grand blow-out, and last but not least, 12 o'clock, when we wended our ways homeward, all with best wishes from our hearts for the veteran boiler maker and father to us all, Brother Hann. As I have now taken more space than I ought to, will close saying that all can look this way for samples of Unionism. Following is agreement:

Roanoke, Va., April 14, 1903.

To Committee, Boiler Makers, Norfolk & Western Ry. Co.

Gentlemen:—With reference to your request for an increase in pay, and in accordance with agreement arrived at our meeting yesterday, an increase of two (2) cents per hour is granted to all men receiving 28 cents per hour, or over, with a further agreement that all men who are at present receiving a less rate than 28 cents per hour shall be advanced to a straight rate of 30 cents per hour:

Section 1. Time worked after regular hours shall be paid for at the rate of time and one half time, the same for road time, Sundays, Christmas, New Year, Decoration Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day and Thanksgiving. Straight time will be allowed while traveling to and from work.

Sec. 2. Boiler Makers work shall constitute the following: Layin out, flanging

FOUNDRY JIM'S LAMENT.

I met her by the foundry door,
Her looks were cold and stern;
Her eyes looked daggers into mine,
While mine looked pitchforks into hern.

For we had loved in days gone by;
Her dad, the founder, said, "Jim take her,"
But my Union dream is gone, she wed
A scabby round-house boiler maker.

A message—"caulk Five-thirty's flues."
At 2 A. M. he leaves her side;
With me naught could have marred her snooze,
Why wasn't she a moulder's bride?

Ah! no more girls for me that I knows of,
Frauds, chuck full of spite and whim;
As Jimmy Burns says "Not for Josoff."
I'd merely add, "No not for Jim."
—PROF. ODD JOBS, No. 11.

TO THE BROTHERS OF OUR NOBLE ORDER.

Pocatello, April 27.—We, the brothers of No. 52 hope to find space in the Journal for a few words.

We have had a hard struggle to get a few more cents per hour on the O. S. L. To begin with, we have been somewhat handicapped with the want of good loyal men to the cause. We presented our superintendent with the request for 5 cents more per hour on the 5th day of February, the machinists and blacksmiths with all helpers got in line after we made the start. Our request was given little notice by the company, as they made no reply to our request.

We afterward, by the consent of our Grand Council, made a demand giving them ten days to comply with our request. That was also ignored by their silence. We then gave them 48 hours to comply or we would all lay down our tools. That brought our superintendent to Pocatello in a few hours. He then told us he could do nothing for us so we informed him we were all ready to quit. He then offered us a 1 1-2c per hour raise. We rejected his offer and they afterward offered 2c, which was accepted, making us 37c per hour.

The point I wish to get at is this: When it came to the show down, we had three boiler makers left to finish the fight. The greater part of them got weak kneed, and took a lay-off and some quit. Some went on a drunk, but there were three that endeavored to back up our demand, let what come what would. We hope to do our duty by the craft as long as we are connected with this organization, but it left us in an embarrassing position, and I hope the brothers of this organization will endeavor to back up their demands when made. We need ten good card men at Pocatello. Nothing else need apply, as the three who are left will work with nothing else.

GRAND BALL.

Lodge No. 107, local order of the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, gave their eighth annual Easter Ball April 13th, at Westside Turner hall. It was one of the finest and a social success. The scene of the ball was a large dance room. It had been beautifully decorated and was brilliantly lighted, and pretty costumes were seen in the hall, and they all wore American beauties for the evening, and everything looked merry. Music, the finest in the land. At 9 o'clock sharp the grand march was led by Brother Ridgeway and lady. When this dance was ended programs having been distributed, they all made a rush to get them filled and then it went on very cotillion. As popular pieces were played for the evening and the crowd enjoyed themselves very much. At 12 midnight the supper march was played and we found the tables decorated very nicely and good things to eat and they all enjoyed it very much, and then a waltz was played, "Rose of Kilarney."

It was at an early hour when the dancers left the ball room, while the last medley was played, Home, sweet home." It was a great success to the boiler makers.

Reception committee: J. Schwitzer, as he must get credit for what he did; F. Ramus, he was the right man to prefer; P. Morrissey, he was always on time; Wm. Meyers, there is another that was on the hop; T. Armstrong, he kept a moving; Wm. Berns, he was not seen but heard.

Arrangement committee: Chas. Mangless, O! I believe he had his share; J. Thomas, he was on deck; J. O. Connor, he is small, but kept in step; John Ridgeway.

Floor committee: Fred Miller, Lawrence Long, Peter Sonnenberg, Ed Hogan, Conrad Mintz, H. Wessel.

Now, brothers, all stick together and all hold fast and we hope our Union will always last.

Yours fraternally,
C. S.

Lodge 194.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 13, 1903.—I feel it my duty to my craftsmen all over this continent, to warn them through this Journal of the way the U. B. R. E. have been acting on the C. P. R. R. here in Canada. This union, which takes in every class of labor from the engineer on the road to the man who sweeps the shops, has done its utmost to disrupt the International Unions which have been in existence for years, and of which every one of them have agreements with the company which the company has lived up to as far as they are concerned. The first move made, they organized all the Railway Clerks. These men induced the Freight Handlers to give up their charter and affiliate with them, which they did in a body. The mechanical department all being organized except some of the laborers, these they got into their union. Up in the town of Revelstoke they induced the laborers there to go in a body into their union and succeeded in getting a number of the International Machinists to join their union together with one of the boilermakers belonging to lodge 194. Now, these laborers and machinists, through their several unions, were working under an agreement with the company, the schedule being signed by the officers of the several unions and the Master Mechanic of the road. In a short time the railway clerks and freight handlers got dissatisfied and declared a strike of all members of the U. B. R. E. on the Pacific Division. This brought out the machinist members of the U. B. R. E., the one boilermaker and the laborers who had joined the union. No. 194 called a meeting of its members to discuss the situation in the shops. The shops were in a state of ferment—a number of them wanting to go out in sympathy with the U. B. R. E., but the boilermakers and the machinists refused to go out in sympathy with a union whose aim was the disruption of the International Union on the road. Another reason was, these men had their schedules signed by their officers and the company and their contention was that if they break their agreement with the R. R. company they could never expect the company to keep their agreement, so they decided not to be the first to break it, but determined to show the company they were men and capable of being trusted, even under the most trying circumstances, so the boilermaker who broke his agreement in Revelstoke was fined $25 and ordered to withdraw from the U. B. R. E., as this union considered that no member of this brotherhood can hold allegiance to two unions and fulfill the obligations of each faithfully. I may say here the fine of the brother was at a later meeting remitted on condition he furnished us proof he had resigned from the U. B. R. E. He had not been long out from the old country and was not up to the ways of these false union agitators and this was taken into consideration by this lodge.

The Machinists' Executive sent their 3rd Vice-President out here and he ordered all the machinists back to work at once or give up their card in the International Union. They went back to work the next morning. The blacksmiths would not work with fresh men and the company, rather than break their agreement with the men and give them a chance to complain, allowed these men to come to work of a morning and go home at night without doing one tap of work because they had no helpers. For 5 weeks this went on, when the company appealed to the Executive of the Blacksmiths Union who sent out a Vice-President to settle the matter, but before he came the men in the shops at Vancouver and Revelstoke met and talked over the situation and finally declared the shops fair because they had no grievance with the company and ordered all men back to work who were on strike by the first of April as after that the company was at liberty, as far as they were concerned, to fill their places, as the shops were fair, and when the blacksmiths' Vice-President came and inquired into it he ordered his men to work with the men provided, or else declare a striker. This they refused to do so he told them they had to go to work or give up their International union card. They went to work.

Now, brothers, you see what these people's game is. They play upon the ignorance and susceptibilities of the laborers who are not organized, as a rule, thinking if the laborers go out the mechanics won't work with men who take their places, but they have been completely fooled in this case. Brothers on railways must be aware of any boilermaker joining it, and anyone belonging to our boilermakers union should be compelled to give up one or the other. If it will pay a boilermaker to throw up his International union to go into this mongrel union let him do it. If there are any boilermakers working on any railroad in the states belonging to this union, the U. B. R. E., what earthly good will it be to him if he quits the road?

Their card would be no earthly use, even in the same city. In a private shop you cannot work there, your card not being recognized by international trade unionists. The U. B. R. E. is a disrupter, and at our next convention the obligation must be altered, binding men not to belong to any other union while a member of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders union. The U. B. R. E. asks for recognition from the C. P. R. R. Co. What does it mean to the International unions now in existence on the railroads? It means disruption if it is granted, because many men are carried away with the idea of every man on a railway system being in one union. The idea seems grand but what does it mean to the company? It practically means the handing over of the roads to this irresponsible body to run and I, for one, would rather be governed by the aristocracy than by mobocracy. Any union that will encourage a body of men to break their agreements with their employers is no good for this world nor the next, therefore, brothers, I write this as a warning to all boilermakers, if any there be in the U. B. R. E., to quit it as soon as possible. If you don't you should be compelled to.

Yours fraternally,
J. H. WATSON, Sec. 194.

ALAMAGORDO, N. M.—I herewith send a list of members who are six months or more back in their dues. Please publish them in the next Journal:

W. E. Richardson 22075, 6 months; Milton E. Britton 4294, 6 months; J. M. Murphy 21667, 6 months; Frank Doborker 4493, 6 months; M. J. Moran 8134, 10 months; J. M. Campbell 17511, 10 months; Wm. Sanders 8956, 12 months; W. A. Elhridge 6175, 10 months; Harry O'Hagan, 6 months.

I heard from 38. Moran is working there and they say he has a card out of 76; 294 would like to know how he got it. Give this man a write-up in the Journal as he jumped out of here beating a board bill and money he borrowed to send to his sick wife. It will cost him $53 to get a card out of 294. From what the brothers here tell me, he does that most every place he goes. Harry O'Hagan beat a board bill of $25 and a clothing store bill of $22 which one of our brothers had to pay, so please give Moran and O'Hagan a good send off in the next Journal.

OMAHA, Neb., April 20, 1903.—Lodge No. 38 has fined and suspended the following members for scabbing at Omaha, Grand Island and North Platte, during the U. P. strike: Albert Summers 604, fined $300; also owes $17.50 for loan and dues. Matthias Troutin alias Dick Troutner, ex-member of the old defunct 38, fined $250. Samuel Chilson 18049, fined $250 for scabbing at North Platte.

J. H. Davenport 4994, believed to be a suspended member of No. 130, nothing done in his case, and Joseph Davenport, a brother of the above, both at Grand Island. Charles Brown, a non-union helper now at the U. P. shops in Omaha. James J. McCabe, a non-union helper, now working at the U. P. shops as a boilermaker.

M. J. DOUGLAS, C. S.
J. D. MURPHY, Pres.

RICHMOND, Va., April 8, 1903.—Notice is hereby given that John J. Hickey, age 30, ex-member of lodge 170, has been fined $100 and suspended until said fine and all back dues are paid for absconding with funds belonging to lodge 170.

JOHN CRANE, C. S.

Our Navy Yards.

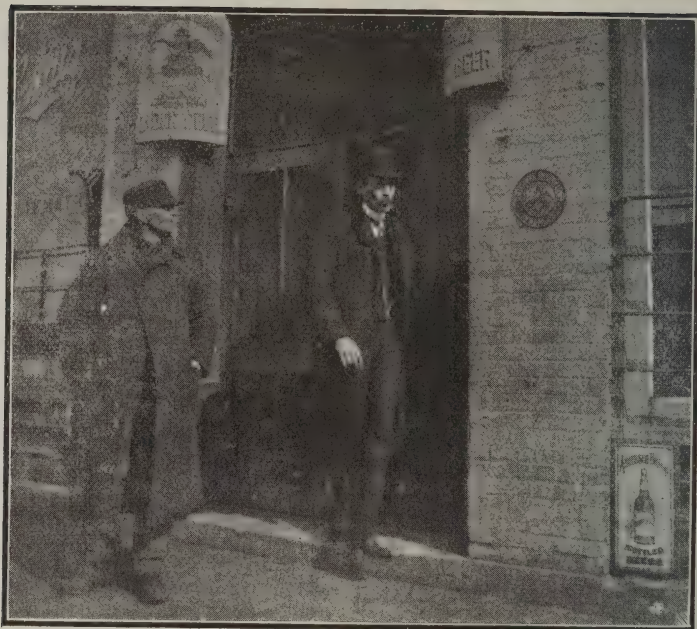

The country owns twenty-seven navy yards and stations, which, according to the Paymaster General's report of June 30, 1901, represented a value of $78,899,580. Seven of these are navy yards at which ships are repaired and contract-built vessels receive their final completion for service, while the Washington yard manufactures guns and other ordnance outfit. The value of these ten repairing yards and stations is given as follows:

Value of ten United States Navy Yards and stations for repairing ships:

Navy yards and Stations.	Real Estate and Chattels.	Machinery and Plant.	Total
Portsmouth.....	$ 3,070,842	$ 473,897	$ 3,544,739
Boston.....	12,712,149	841,926	13,554,075

The last two named are rated as naval stations.

In 1882 the aggregate value of the seven above named navy yards was $40,520,211 for real estate and chattels and $3,034,486 for machinery plants. The increase under these headings during the past nineteen years has been $13,614,185 and $756,407, respectively, but the latter is not to be assumed to represent solely tools and appliances purchased since 1882, for most of the old tools have gone to the scrap heap and the plants have been largely renewed. The Boston yard, for example, which had a machinery plant in 1882 valued at $1,038,594 is now credited with only $844,928, showing an apparent loss of $193,568, when as a matter of fact the old plant has been almost entirely taken away and modern tools substituted. It has been estimated that the cost of new tools and other labor-saving appliances purchased for the above-named yards has exceeded $3,000,000 since 1886, of which Mare Island's share was upward of $500,000.

Notwithstanding the enormous expenditures incurred in fitting out these yards, it is still asserted that they are 'morally and physically' unfit to compete with private establishments. The cost of their maintenance, preservation and improvements during the fiscal year of 1900-1901 was $10,854,546, and their product in repairs of ships, to which should be added work done on contract-built vessels, was less than $6,000,000. To expend $1.085 in order to do work valued at $6 is a heavy outlay and it would be more profitable to abandon all the navy yards and have the ships built and repaired by contract, unless Congress realizes the absurdity of the present system and utilizes the vast amount invested in a businesslike manner. At least three of the navy yards have the facilities for shipbuilding, and they should be made to give some return for the money expended on their outfit.

The opposition appears to be directed with particular vigor against Mare Island. It is asserted that the California navy yard could not build nor launch two such battleships as are in course of construction at Fore River, Mass. It is alleged that there is not sufficient space to permit the launching of a ship and that the depth of water has decreased to such an extent that vessels could not float when launched. The facts are that the Mare Island strait is three-eighths of a mile or 1900 feet wide in its narrowest space and that the depth of water ranges from twenty-two feet at the seawall to over thirty feet in mid-stream. Vessels exceeding 600 feet are launched on the Clyde where the river is much narrower than at Mare Island. It is not imperative that the vessel should be built on slips at a right angle with the water front; the vessel can easily be launched at an acute angle up or down stream, and other means, such as cables with stops, are usually employed to check the headway of the vessel when it leaves the ways.

BAYONNE, N. J., April 13, 1903.—Here is a list of our unfair men to be printed in the Journal. I would like to say a little about each one but it would take too much space:

Joe Wetowich, 18417; Steve Kovensky, 18421; Joe Mascock, 18422; Frank Laana, 18423; Samuel Kablish, 18425; Thos. Carbary, 20162; John Carbary, 20163; J. Drilsky, 23814; Joe Cubby, 18286; Tony Maliski, 18289; Steve Morris, 18293; John Gofa, 18303; Albert Masha, 18304; Joe Smith, 18307; Tony Benish, 18323; John Karaffe, 18328; Frank Demko, 18330; Daniel Frenze, 18334; John Irish Smith, 18335; Jos. BAYONNE, N. J., April 4, 1903.—I wish to say a few words about the strike in the Standard Oil yard here in Bayonne. They have succeeded in getting quite a lot of Hungarians to take our places. In fact the Huns that came out with us have gone back. A large number of them belong to lodge 1, Helpers Division and No. 33, but these men are not capable of fixing the boilers on the Standard Oil boats and we had done quite a lot of work on those boats up to the strike. The engineer of the oil boat "Northwestern" told me last week he had his boilers fixed up in Texas. Now, the only way we can win out here is to stop work on any and all of the Standard Oil boats and oil barges.

Will send list of scabs later on.

Trusting you will find space for this in your next month's Journal, I am

SALISBURY, N. C., April 17, 1903.—This old lodge is progressing slowly and surely and we intend to keep on moving forward till we land at the highest pinnacle we can reach. Our brothers were well pleased with our photo in last month's Journal and we feel better and closer united than ever before.

I would like to call the attention of corresponding secretaries to answer letters quicker and save so much delay and trouble. It is for the good of the order that they should do it. I was requested to hold a certain brother's card. I did it, notified the lodge that asked it and also the lodge that returned it to me over a month ago and haven't heard a word from either one since. Brothers, wake up, and let's do a little better in the future. Work for one another's interest instead of pushing one another down the hill. Let's turn right about face and go up the hill and keep on going till we land on top. Help the weak and extend the hand of brotherly love and fellowship to all, instead of prejudice and backbiting our fellow man and if we do this we are bound to succeed in anything we undertake to do.

I see in the February Journal that J. G. Shephard is suspended. I wish to state that this brother has been suspended by this lodge since 1900 and how he came to be in Atlanta lodge I don't know. I think he will do well to correspond with this lodge before settling with No. 2 or any other lodge. As per constitution I shall hold him here.

Hoping you will insert this in your most valuable Journal, I remain

Lodge 128.

TORONTO, April 14, 1903.—

"May those smoke who never smoked before,
And those who always smoked, now smoke
the more"

At the last regular meeting of the above lodge it was unanimously carried that on their next meeting night they should hold a social smoker. That night falling on Good Friday eve, a most enjoyable time was spent, there being quite a few visiting members from outside lodges. Collingwood lodge 343 was well represented. Buffalo had a few in line. Toronto Junction had two delegates. We were also paid a visit by brother Thos. Wood, of Southern Star lodge No. 12, Macon, Ga., who sang us a few of the latest songs, also Mr. Dooley.

The best hit of the evening was made by Joseph Carr, Jr., son of brother Joseph Carr, who is going to be one of Toronto's best singers. He sang four or five of the latest sentimental songs and was loudly encored. They all wished him every success.

The program for the evening was:

Wm Lebar, Song.

Messrs Baker and Bennett, Banjo and Guitar.

Master Joseph Carr, Song.

Wm. Warwood, Song.

Wm. Downing, Song.

Brother Springate, Song.

Brother Mitchell, Song.

Wm. Woods. (F. B. M.) John Ingles & Son,
Piano Solo.

Brother Schofield, Phonograph Selections.

Joseph Carr, Sr., Song.

Brother Sailor Bennett, Comic Song.

Mr. Lafferty, Recitation, entitled "Kelly's Dream."

Mr. Wilson, Song.

Messrs Woods, Piano Solo and Songs.

Mr. Woods kindly acted as pianist for the evening.

" 'Tis late, 'tis late, 'tis time for bed ;

Don't call me early—Oh, my head !"

It was early in the morning when they left the hall and every one said it was the best time they ever spent,

The committee for the occasion was: Bros. Joseph Carr, Pete Taylor, J. Wilson, Norman Smith H. Pollard, D. Woodworth, Wm. Damp, H. Kellor.

Yours truly,

NORMAN SMITH, J. C

On March 31, 1903, brother Thos. Dusket presented lodge 193 with two handsome gavels and a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the brother.

NOTICE.

Information wanted of James P. Eagen, boiler maker, son of Mike Eagen, of De Soto, 31 years old, 5 ft. 10 in. high, 175 lbs. red hair, sandy complexion. He served his apprenticeship at the I. M. & S. R. R. shops at De Soto, Mo. Any information as to his whereabouts will thankfully be received by his father at Piedmont, Mo., or this office.

ADDRESS WANTED.

The whereabouts of Brother Frank Malonson, late of Lodge No. 126, Winnipeg, Man., would gladly be received by yours truly. His brother is anxious to hear from him. Last heard of in Kansas.

Yours fraternally,

ROBT. MILLIKEN.

GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION.

At the meeting of the miners' national organization last week, John Mitchell spoke of government by injunction as follows:

"Government by injunction is one of the most insidious, harassing and dangerous methods resorted to by the enemies of the workmen to destroy labor organizations and to circumvent the constitutional right of trial by jury. The whole system of government by injunction grows from the distrust of the ultra-capitalists for democratic institutions.

"The reasons given for the issuing of injunctions are always misleading and generally false. So far as these injunctions are issued in labor cases, they are never issued excepting in such cases as call for the exercise of the criminal law.

"Government by injunction is not only hostile to organized labor, but it is hostile to constitutional liberty. If the American people do not check this arbitrary power it will result in the annihilation of labor unions and then of all other forms of organization disliked by capitalists."

Vice-President T. L. Lewis in his annual report reviewed his year's work in settling disputes and troubles and discussed injunctions at length. In closing his discussion, he said:

"When we remember that we have nearly 500,000 voters directly engaged in mining in the United States and that they are distributed through the country in such proportions that we may determine the composition of Congress, we ask in all sincerity, whose fault is it if we do not secure remedial legislation? It is our own. Let us burn that into the minds and consciences of every mine worker in this country—then we will get our rights.

"If we expect to secure relief, every laboring man must act. Not by denouncing the courts or those who issue injunctions, but to demand of our representatives in Congress to know where they stand with reference to the growing evil of government by injunction.

"Let the congress of the United States by laws classify cases that are subjects for the jurisdiction of the federal courts when issuing injunctions affecting the rights of members of labor organizations when engaged in a strike.

"Have a law enacted that federal judges can issue injunctions in labor disputes only on the application or approval of two or more elective judges. Fix the time within a reasonable limit when the defendant shall answer to an injunction issued against him. Compel the applicant for an injunction affecting the rights of labor unions to submit reasonable proof that his allegations in support of the application for an injunction are truthful. Embody in that law a provision that those arrested for contempt of the restraining order in labor disputes shall have the same right to a trial as that accorded a person charged with a crime.

"A bill covering our demands should be drawn, and then insist that it must be enacted with every vital feature embodied and that politics will positively be thrown aside in securing the record of every candidate for congress on this question."

THE USUAL WAY.

Just as Mr. Payreuter dozed off in his easy chair there was a ring at the front door. Hastening into the hall Mr. Payreuter admitted his landlord, who entered with a pleasant smile and a hearty greeting.

"Good evening, Mr. Payrenter, glad to see you."

"I've been expecting you for several days," said the landlord, taking the proffered easy chair, "but as you didn't come around I thought I'd drop in as I went by."

"Glad you did. I—"

"Well, here I am. I suppose you want some repairs made on the house this spring?"

"Well, I thought you would be willing to fix up a little bit in view of—"

"Glad to do it; glad to do it, Mr. Payrenter. Always a pleasure, I assure you, to accommodate a good tenant. House needs papering. You have Mrs. Payrenter go down to the wall paper shop to-morrow and pick out the paper she wants and I'll send the paperhangers right out."

"I thank you most—"

"O, that's all right! Woodwork needs touching up, too. I'll have the painters come out and attend to it right away."

"You are very kind I'm—"

"Not at all. Not at all! Glad to do it. Better have a new set of window and door screens made while we're about it. The old ones must be in pretty bad shape."

"Yes, the—"

"And while we're about it I guess we might as well paint the house all over."

"It would add to its looks and we'd—"

"I'll have it attended to at once. Let me know what color you'd like best. Guess I'd better have the plumbing overhauled, too."

"Well, it does need it. The bath room is not in the best shape, and some of the gas fixtures are pretty badly worn."

"Yes, I think I'll have an entire new and fashionable lot of fixtures put in. I always like to keep things in nice shape for my tenants. How's the cellar?"

"Well, the cement is badly cracked in some places."

"Better let me look at it, I guess. Then I can tell just what it needs and have a man attend to it."

"All right, we'll go down and have a look at it," said Mr. Payrenter.

Just as Mr. Payrenter started for the cellar he stumbled over a chair and fell sprawling on the floor.

The shock woke him up.

A FINE GIRL.

"No, mother, I'm not denying that our Parmely is a fine girl. She certainly ought to be after all the money we've spent on her. Not that I'm begrudgin' the money, nor yet sayin' that Parmely ain't worth what she cost. As I said before, she's a fine girl; but, mother, I'm most afraid she's too fine."

"Of course, it's a pretty sight to see her slim white fingers a flyin' over the pianner, and never seemin' to think where they're goin' to light, yet hittin' the right place every time; an' I suppose it's a fine thing to have a daughter that can paint picters (if they don't always resemble nater); an' I ain't denyin' that Parmely can entertain folks mighty handsome in the parlor. But, mother, them things ain't all—an' when I hear the pianner goin' jiggy jig, an' see Parmely settin' up with her white dress on, lookin' so cool an' pleasant; and then come to the kitchen an' find you churnin' and stringin' beans, and all het up an' frustrated—why, mother, I mistrust there's a screw loose somewhere.

"'Cookin' would spoil Parmely's hands,' you say, 'an' stove heat ain't good for the complexion?' Now, mother, you an' me have been scrimpin' an' scringin' early and late; to send our girl to school an' have her what they call 'accomplished.' You've washed an' ironed, an' cooked an' made butter an' set hens an' done without things to help me pay Parmely's bills; an' I never onct heard you talk about savin' your complexion or keepin' your hands soft. An' I mind the day when your hands was as cottony as Parmely's ever dare to be.

"You thought I 'believed in educatin' our women?' So I do, mother; so I do. If I hadn't, you'd never caught me payin' all them sky-scrappin' bills for Parmely; but if educatin' a girl is going to make her too fine for any room in the house but the parlor, she'd better let it alone! Yes, if you a' me have denied ourselves an' done without to put it on Parmely, an' made her too fine to help her own mother, or to be happy at home, it would a been better for you an' me, an' Parmely, too, if we'd a just let her gone to the old field school house an' learn to read an' write an' cipher, an' to cook an' help to keep house between times.

"For, mother, I'm gettin' along in years, an' you ain't so young as you onct was—an' all along I've been comfortin' myself, thinkin' that our girl would soon be at home to help you with the work an' cheer us both up. An' now that she's here, her head is that full of sonotters (or whatever she calls 'em) an' of the things she done at her fine school, that she can't see when the house needs sweepin', or lend a hand when her mother is worked to death. I don't say there's any harm in sonotters an' paintin' an' 'the like, but I'd rather see my girl go in the kitchen an' get a comfortable meal, an' let you set out on the verandy with your white apron an' your knittin' than to play sonotters till the cows come home! Now, mother, that's my opinion; an' if you don't let Parmely have it, I will;" and the old man picked up his hoe and went into the garden to weed the potataes where the sound of the "sonotters" could not reach him.—Mrs. Eva M. Malone.

THE MEAT TRUST'S FAREWELL TO MISSOURI.

(With Humble Apologies to Fitz-Green Halleck).

You've played a mean trick on yours truly,
Missouri,
And hit me a lick that has blackened my eye;
And though at this moment I'm madder than fury,
Yet still I'm not feeling like saying good-bye.

All round your wide borders has been some rich stealing,
And I have been busy at filching from you;
And when I but think what I've missed I'm not feeling
Like bidding so rich a field a fond adieu.

Oh! mock not that pang, for my heart is still yearning
For only one chance greater profits to clear.
My heart still doth yearn one more trick to be turning,
But, blame it, you seem to enforce the laws here.

Like an infant asleep on the lap of its mother
I hoped to remain—but you treated me sore;
And my sobs and my wails I can ne'er hope to smother
Because, false Missouri, I am slammed on the floor.

The years may go by but my memory'll cover
With tinges of sadness this suffering hour;
And still round your borders you bet I will hover
And wait for the time when you'll be in my power.

So hope lingers near me, her wildest song breathing,
And points to a future day near-by and bright
When in your long locks my deft fingers are weaving.
And bumping your blamed head, and bumping it right.

BRAIN LEAKS.

Salvation is free, but it costs money to keep it.

A happy home is an earthly annex to heaven.

A sun-faded front room carpet is a whole lot better than a boyless house.

The man who never makes mistakes never has anything by which he may profit.

The heart that never aches is the heart that is always cold and unsympathetic.

There is something lacking in the ex-about mother while the mother is alone in the kitchen washing dishes.

Personal neatness is desirable and necessary, but do you not know some people who would be better off if they manicured their little more?

There are a lot of people willing to go to church and sing "Toiling On" and "Work for the Night Is Coming" if the pew cush-

UNIVERSAL EXPERIENCE.

Barker—How could we ever get along without street cars?"

Parker—Oh, we could survive. The world waited over eighteen hundred years for street cars.

Barker—That's so. And, by jimminy, I've waited quite a lot for them myself.—Kansas City Journal.

One cold day little Tom, in his first trousers, was walking out with his tiny overcoat turned back to its utmost limit, when his father said to him:

"Tom, button your coat!"

Tom hesitated awhile.

"Look at mine," added his father.

"Yes," said Tom ruefully, "but everybody knows that you wear trousers."

FLOORED WITH HIS OWN WEAPON.

An obedient husband up in Franklin county, Maine, was objecting to doing certain work about the house, and he quoted Scripture to his wife, showing that the household duties should properly be assigned to the woman. The good wife replied by reading to her astonished liege II. Kings, xxi., 13: "I will wipe out Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." That husband has wiped the dishes ever since.—Exchange.

Corrections for May Journal.

In January Journal lodge 307 reported H. Walter 19990, on the suspended roll, which was a mistake.

In March Journal, 171 reported Nelson Fountain 1856, which was a mistake.

Within the last year the Iron Moulders' Union of North America issued thirty-six charters and increased its total membership 15,000.

When my grandmother was about two years old she saw an elephant. She said: Oh, papa, he has got two tails."

MURPHY.

Lima, O., April 23, 1903.

At our last regular meeting, held April 19, 1903, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It grieves this Brotherhood of Helpers and brothers of Local 51 to think how suddenly our deceased brother has left us, and

Whereas, While we do not understand the motive of his untimely passing away from this earth, yet there reigns one Supreme and invisible being that knoweth all things and this brotherhood prays and trusts that He who has given our deceased brother blood and life while on earth, will also cheerfully and forgivingly forgive him, our brother, who has thus ended his career on earth, and take him in peaceful rest with Him who created all beings, and be it

Resolved, That while we lose a good and well liked brother, we feel deeply moved to sympathize with the parents of our deceased brother, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Grand Lodge for publication in the May Journal, and that lodge 51. Helpers' Division, of Lima, O., spread a copy of these resolutions on its minutes of the meeting to respect and uphold our sincere brotherly love for the remembrance of our worthy deceased brother and that our charter shall have its apparel of mourning extended 30 days longer in token of respect for our deceased brother in unionism.

LYNCH.

It becomes our painful duty to report the death of Mrs. Lynch, the mother of our brothers William and James Lynch. We extend the bereaved ones our most profound sympathy. May the Divine Ruler who giveth and taketh away, give the sons the strength and chrigtian fortitude to bear up under this great sorrow in the prayer of the brothers of Capitol Longe No. 3.

WILLOUGHBY.

Chicago, Ill., April 22, 1903.

At a regular meeting of lodge 227, held April 20, 1903, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God in His divine wisdom to take unto Himself the baby girl of our worthy brother, Walter Willoughby, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, his brother members, extend to him and family our sincere sympathy in this their sad affliction and commend them for consolation to Him who doeth all things well, and further be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions

CATES.

Knoxville, Tenn., Mar. 28, 1903.

At the regular meeting of Lonsdale Lodge No. 27, H. D., B. M. and I. S. B. of A., the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to gather to his fold brother Samuel T. Cates, therefore be it

Resolved, That we bow to the will of Him who rules all things for the best; and be it further

Resolved, That we, his brothers of lodge No. 27, H. D., do extend to the family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy in their hour of affliction. Also be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our meeting and a copy be sent to the bereaved family and also to our Journal for publication.

Brother Cates was a young man of excellent habits and good disposition, well thought of by his employers and associates. Just the day before brother Dykes had come to his end, and the next morning brother Cates bade his wife and baby good-bye, telling them that it was his last day in the yard, as he expected to return to the boiler department, but he met his fate at 3:30 p. m. He leaves a wife and baby to mourn his loss.

SCHULZ.

Dubuque, Ia., April 16, 1903.

The sad duty has fallen upon me to inform you that the merciful God has brought sorrow and sadness to the home of our beloved brother, Frank Schulz. Not only leaving a husband without a helpmate through life, but two motherless loving children. Deceased, Mrs. Hulda Schulz, died Mar. 21, 1903, at the age of 42 years, 6 months and 13 days. She was born in Milwaukee, Sept. 8, 1860. Resided there for 30 years, thence to Dubuque, where she lived until the end.

Fraternally yours,
HARRY WIEDNER,
J. C. Lodge 15.

Correspondence

"JACK THE RIPPER."

Hurrah! for Jack The Ripper,
For he certainly is a skipper.
At 6 o'clock every morning,
You'll find him journeying
Down the business street,
On his automobile, (two feet.)

And for business he is walking,
And only business he'll be talking;
And God bless the member in bad standing,
For on him Jack The Ripper will be landing
So—very—very—hard,
And demanding money on your card.

He's small, but tough,
He's frank, but not rough,
And as watchful as a government spy;
For on all non-union men he has an eye.
And into the Union they go running,
When they see Jack The Ripper coming.

Chicago's employers all know and respect him;

Of course, at first they try to bluff him;
But Jack's motto is business,
And to time they come with quickness,
When they learn our Jack The Ripper
Never lost his slipper.

Jack The Ripper is our president;
Jack The Ripper our business agent;
So, if you don't want to be in line,
Keep away from the entire district of 39.
For he'll send you out making hay,
If you don't get in line this very day.

By Gottfried Salfstrom, Lodge 39.

P. S. John Riddel, president and business agent of Lake Side Lodge No. 39, is better known in Chicago as "Jack The Ripper."

Yours very truly,

G. S.

LODGE 289.

Warren O., May 10.—Having been appointed Journal Correspondent I would ask you to kindly allow us space in your next issue of the Journal, and I will try and let the brothers know that a lodge exists in our little city. Ever since the birth of our organization and up until just recently there had been nothing said or done in regard to having a J. C. However, at our last regular meeting the thought struck one of our worthy brothers that a J. C. would add very much to the welfare of the Union, and the matter was taken up there and then, which resulted in my election, so I will, to the best of my ability, keep the brothers at large posted as to our success in reaching the golden shore. To this, I can not say more, I will not do less.

We have somewhere in the neighborhood of sixty members enrolled on our books, but sorry to say that out of this number there are a few who are on outside work and who are unable to attend meetings at home, and according to the last report of our F. S. I am very much afraid that they are unable to attend meetings elsewhere. So we hope that all members of 289 who are in arrears and who are interested in their own welfare, will call on our F. S. and settle up such arrears at once, and thereby do honor to themselves as well as to their lodge. Hoping that I have not taken up too much space, and that I may be able to see these few lines in your next issue of the Journal.

I am, yours fraternally,

JERRY F. RICE, J. C.

P. S. It might be beneficial to the brothers at large to know the state of business at our shops, which I regret to say is somewhat dull at the present, but we are looking forward to see things brighter up in the near future.

LODGE 308.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 8, 1903.

Hoping to receive a little space in the Journal I send the following article. It is very brief as this is my first experience:

The brothers are all doing well, and we are all working. Some of the brothers don't attend the meetings as often as they ought, but they keep their dues up all right. It is nothing but labor trouble in this town. Every labor society in this town is on strike, and the brothers are beginning to kick on some of the shop rules. Now, the shops do not recognize our Union as yet. Well, we have to work nights in the shop for single time and on new work. Sundays for single time. We are the only Union in town that works 10 hours a day in the shop and ten outside on new work. And in one of the shops the foreman says he is going to bust up our Union. Well, the brothers are beginning to talk and I thought I would write this article and let some of the other lodges see the way we are situated. We have just lost one of our active members by his leaving town, and we don't know where to, but what ever lodge gets Dan Brennen they will get a hot Union man.

Hoping you will give this article a place in the Journal so the brothers of Lodge 308 will think they are alive, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

D. J. KELLY,
Correspondent.

LODGE 31.

I would like to have you put a notice in the Journal. I want to find Jas. F. Mulskee. He put his card in Lodge 74 April 3rd and they carded him out before I could answer their letter. He owed the February assessment and I didn't take his name off of our books. I don't think Lodge 74 ought to have carded him out till they heard from Lodge 31 and I answered as soon as I got his letter. His register number is 5858. Would like to have him correspond with Secretary of Lodge No. 31. They must have changed secretaries in Lodge No. 74 for the name of the secretary that wrote me that letter does not appear in the Journal. He wrote me that Mulskee had gone and he didn't know where he was, so I thought I might find him through the Journal and would like to know if I should transfer him to Lodge No. 74. They collected one month's dues from him and gave him a card. He had his dues paid up with us till the 1st of April. I think Lodge No. 74 ought to have to pay his assessment and then they would learn to wait till they see how a brother stands before giving him another card.

Yours fraternally,

ED GOSNELL,
Cor. Sec.

LODGE 302.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 5.—If you will allow us a small space in the Journal I would like to tell the boys of our first anniversary of No. 302. We had a fine time from start to the end. We had some of Milwaukee's best, also some good smokes. Brother B. gave us some good songs and good singing but he made one trip down stairs that caused his tongue to get a little thick, but he will not do it next time. Brother R. Smith sang two songs. We gave Brother A. Young the prize for the most prominent boiler maker in the hall, and like a good hubby that he is he gave it to his wife, and that means I will have to stay away for a while.

Brother Murry gave the committee a box nearly as large as a cracker box, and said there was a Do Do inside, so we raffled it off for two for 25c and you bet the boys all had a hand in the deal. Brother Wm. Shanahan was the lucky one. Well, when the Do Do came in sight it would fit in a box a little smaller.

O, yes, we had a nice lunch, even if some of the doughnuts had thread in them. Most of the boys did their part to help the thing along, so I had to take their pictures to keep up with them, and some of the good looking ones asked me to send one to the Journal so the others could see them.

Bro. R. Berger has been entertaining company at home for a few days. A fine boy. We all hope he will follow the footsteps of his Pa.

Yours truly and fraternally,
JOS. D. SMITH, J. C.

LODGE 31HD.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 4.—We quit work May 1, 1903 for a demand of $3.50 and an eight-hour day on outside work; $2.00 shop work; $1.00 on all duty work and a nine-hour working day. We are glad and proud to break the news. Well, three firms have already signed our agreement and the boys are working on the said jobs. We have some of the best Union men in the country belonging to our local, and by standing united I believe that before the week is over we will be all working as usual with our demands adjusted.

With you,
MICHAEL McNUTTY,
Vice Pres.

LODGE 32HD.

Oelwein, Ia., April 30.—Onward Lodge No. 32HD would like to tell the Brotherhood to be on the lookout for one Andrew Ring by name; small in stature, but still smaller in ways. He left this city owing the merchants something over $50, also a board bill, but could not find out just how much.

He is way behind in dues and has been suspended. Some time ago he appeared in Chicago and wanted one of the lodges there to get him transferred, but we said

"Oh, no; not till he squares up in this town first."

Now, this man may appear in some other town and may want to be initiated over thinking it cheaper to do that than pay up, thinking all the while who will know the difference.

If this man shows up anywhere turn him down as he is no good.

C. S.

LODGE 337.

Lodge 337, of Winslow, Ariz., gave a grand benefit ball on Easter Monday, April 13, for U. P. strikers and it was a grand success financially.

Each member working here is assessed $4.00 a month until strike is won. Any boiler maker without a card will find Winslow a poor city to stop in, but we always have a glad hand and a meal ticket to those who can produce their little "pasteboard" card and due books up-to-date. No card, no work is our motto. Let all brothers in this Brotherhood dig down in their pocket books and send the U. P. boys a dollar, for if you help them win out you also help your selves.

Hoping you can find space in your valuable Journal, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

KOKOMO.

LODGE 30.

Roanoke, Va., May 15.—I will again make an effort at a write up for your valuable Journal just to remind the brethren that prosperity is still with us in this remote section. Before our late success we had a few men at isolated points who were out of the fold, but now they are coming forward as they can plainly see the dawn of the future before them as this system will be no card no work hereafter. The Union is not recognized by the company, but the first question from an official is, when a boiler maker tries for a job, "Are you square, if not go down and square up and I will talk to you." This has been the case in three instances of late, so all can see just how we stand and expect for the welfare of the Union and company also to continue along these lines. But, furthermore, if the ability and manhood does not accompany a good card don't come as something might probably drop and drop hard. The officials require this and consequently it is only justice. Good money down here boys, and plenty of work. Remember, brethren, these sacred words, only four of them, Welfare of the Union.

I may be a little different from some of my brethren in this, but these four words do sound grand when the president repeats them, but after all it is only the true

Union man that sees beauty in them. Dear brethren, let us try and not have friction and misunderstanding; let us do good instead of finding fault that we will satisfy our conscience and do justice. Let us unite truly to fight the working classes' common enemy, but let us work with patience and determination. When we have united as one man for the Welfare of the Union, then we will accomplish something.

With best wishes and success to all for our own welfare, I am,

Fraternally,

J. G. HILL, J. C.

LODGE 262.

New London, May 13.—Maybe some may think that we are asleep, but not so; we are wide-awake. No. 262 is doing business at the old stand.

We have great up-hill work here, as our organization is the only one in the yard, that counts. We cannot, under these circumstances, make much of a show.

But our lodge is growing all the time, and quite a large number have become members of our lodge. Discouragement does not count with us, we are game, and red hot for Unionism.

We mean to have the banner of Unionism floating to the breeze, and come what may, we will never haul the old flag down.

Hoping all the good luck possible for all the brothers of the boiler makers and iron shop builders of America I am,

Fraternally yours,

DAVIE WILKIE, R. C.

Brooklyn, May 10.—In these troublesome times in this section, when good Union men's motives are questioned, it does one good to relate a little incident that occurred here shortly after his arrival home from the executive session of our esteemed brother, Philip J. Brady, and which shows the metal that this vigorous brother is made of.

Brother Brady was one of a party one evening, who were enjoying a social drink and talking over things in general and after having emptied their glasses, cigars were called for, and the proprietor blandly produced two boxes, both without the Union label. Brady detected this at once, and politely refusing the proffered boxes, asked for one with a Union label. The proprietor upon saying that he had no Union cigars, and Brady still refusing to take those non-union make, and adding that he would also refuse to drink any more in the hotel, at once waxed wroth and heaped abuse upon the head of Brady, and with an introduction of much vile language he ventured to bet $5 that Brady could not produce a Union label on any of his garments.

"Done," says Brady on the spot, "and I'll raise you $5 to $10 and if you like, we'll make it $10 for every stitch I have on me."

The proprietor was game, and produced the $10 which was placed along with Brady's in a bystanders hand.

Brady immediately pulled off his coat, hat, and shoes, all with the Union label, and was divesting himself of his vest, shirt and pants, when the proprietor, who had seized Brady's coat, and knew where to look for the label, found it, and stopping Brady in his disrobing act, said, "put it there, old man," at the same time proffering his hand, "although I lost my money I am proud to pay it over to a man of your calibre, for if you were in my place and hear the talk of the men who come in here and with much loud-mouthedness, pretend that they are staunch Union men, yet who seek out the cheapest "Sheeney" sweat-shop tailor they can find to buy their clothes and hats, you too would be disgusted as I was when I saw you refuse my cigars.

"But I ain't sore on you for winning my money, and I only wish that some of the so-called Union men that I have referred to were here to see you act. Shake hands again, and let the drinks for the house be on me."

But Brady, true to his word, refused to drink in the place, declining the invitation with thanks.

The $20 was handed over to Brady, who intends to have a Union label put on it, and have it framed.

This is just mentioned to show that in Brady's campus, where Unionism of the right sort is not rampant, he was the "right man in the right place, at the right time."

It has been rumored that since the above incident, the afore mentioned hotel keeper has laid in a stock of all brands of Union cigars. Respectfully and fraternally,

"ONE OF THE PARTY."

LODGE 118.

North Platte, Neb., May 11.—We, the members of Lodge No. 118, Boiler Makers, and Helpers No. 20, want to express to every lodge in our noble order a thousand-fold thanks for the manner in which they assisted us in buying our Easter ball tickets. No grander response was ever made to men on strike than has come to us by our brother workmen all over this country.

Day after day we received both money and words of cheer wishing us success and complete victory. We are just as firm today as the day we came out. They cannot get mechanics, but they expect their capital to defeat our organization.

"If it were not for the grand and noble response of you men, we could not long withstand the great power arrayed against us. May God repay you a hundred fold, for the cause is a just one. Our efforts of today will be a lesson to our children that their fathers battled with the trusts and combinations that are trying to exterminate the workmen of this country. Don't withhold ammunition or believe false reports of surrender; we are your soldiers, and when victory has come, with pride we shall announce it.

B. J. MILLIKAN,
Pres. No. 118.

FROM OMAHA.

For the first time in the history of Organized Labor the Omaha Unions have turned the tables on their oppressors and gave them a dose of their own medicine with a vengeance. Judge Dickinson, of the District Court, has granted them an injunction against the Business Men's Association, which is a peach. It restrains the association from importing or engaging agents and servants to import any laborers into the City of Omaha for the purpose of taking strikers' places and destroying labor organization. It restrains the association from paying or offering a bribe to any of the members of Labor Unions or their officers for the purpose of disrupting the organization. In fact, the whole injunction could not be any stronger if the Labor Unions had written it themselves. Long live Judge Dickinson we say.

Fraternally yours,
E. F. KENNEDY.

CORRECTION.

In the May Journal it was reported L. Gehl as suspended from L. 18HD and Thos. Keena as transferred from 18HD, which was a mistake, as L. Gehl was transferred and Thos. Keena suspended.

Bayonne, N. J., May 17, 1903.

I shall now write you and let you know that my card was stolen last week.

It was issued from Lodge 216, El Paso, Texas, to George Lynch, Reg. No. 8403. I had it in a constitution book that is an old book from last year, and one due book with two stamps on from 216 and traveling card and due book with two stamps on from Lodge 33. Now, I would like to have this published in the Journal as soon as you can. There were two more cards stolen, but I don't know the brothers' Reg. Nos., but I think that if we have to continue working with scabs like there is in Shuders' Island and the conditions we have to work under, there isn't much use of carrying a card.

Now, I haven't averaged three days a week since the strike in the Standard Oil yard on the 25th of February, and I am assessed $4.25 local assessment for the U. P. strikers by 216 and $1 a week by 33 while this strike here is on. Now, how do you think a person is going to get along on that? I think it is too much when a person don't receive one bit of benefit for it. Things are very strange around here and I would like to hear something about it.

I shall close, hoping to hear from you soon. I am,

Yours fraternally,

MR. GEORGE LYNCH,

41 W. 18th St., Bayonne, N. J.

LODGE 71.

On the 21st of this month (May) ten years ago Brother Joseph Gordon, of Brooklyn, N. Y., came here to Scranton and started Branch 62 of the I. B. of B. & I S. of A., what is now known as Lodge 71. The boys all gathered in St. Nicholas hall, on Lackawanna avenue, and there the foundation of Lodge 71 was laid. The following is an item that appeared in the June Journal of 1893:

"On Saturday, May 20, Organizer Brother Jos. Gordon, of Brooklyn, N. Y., took his departure for Scranton, Pa., where he organized a very big and strong branch on Sunday, May 21. Brother Gordon had been in communication with Scranton boiler-makers for a short while, and after due deliberation and consideration the men were determined to organize, they seeing the benefits of organization throughout the country and progress made by this grand old Brotherhood, who, in reality, has only begun its great mission for which it is intended, viz: Organization, education and legislation. There was a large number of the craft present at St. Nicholas hall, and Brother Gordon installed the first set of officers for Branch 62, viz: John Flynn, President; James Donnelly, Vice President; Price Thomas, Recording Secretary; August Ziegler, Financial Secretary; John J. Orr, Corresponding Secretary; George Hammer, Treasurer; Jos. Wagner, W. W. Lees, Thomas J. Kennedy, Trustees; M. J. Hicks, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Brother Gordon thanks the brothers of Scranton through the Journal for their kind treatment towards him during his short stay among them, and wishes No. 62 long life and prosperity."

Yes, long life and prosperity. May our numbers never grow less. But, in looking back over those ten years, we find a big change. Better wages and less hours are worked—from 21 cents an hour to 27½ cents, and from 59 and 60 hours per week to 55. Two deaths in ten years is all I can recall. James Gallagher, who died while at work in D. L. & W. boiler shop from a paralytic stroke, and James Flynn, assistant fireman, who fell off a scaffold while superintending the erection of a stack for the D., L. & W. railroad company. Both had been members at one time, but at the time of death were not.

We also had two strikes in ten years. I will only recall the last one of 1901, when the machinists struck all over the country to enforce the nine-hour work day, but which met with a flat failure here and in a good many other cities. The boiler-makers, blacksmiths, moulders and patternmakers all went out, but, as I said before, the strike was lost, as we were up against the real thing. This same strike lost Lodge 71 some of its best members on their failure to stay out one day longer, or till Lodge 71 declared the strike off. For this offense they were fined and suspended, and up to date they have not shown any inclination to pay the same and Lodge 71 has not tried to enforce or collect the same. So there we are, one on the hill and the other in the hollow. One says you must come up to me, and the other says "I'll be d—d if I will; you come down to me." That is the way things stand at present. Would that this strike had never occurred, as it left a bad feeling in its wake among the brothers. Something should be done, as this thing has hung fire long enough and should have been straightened out long before this. If those brothers can show cause why they were justified in going to work before the strike was declared off, why not let them do so before an unprejudiced committee, and if found in the wrong why not ask them to once more become members as before and restore peace and harmony among the members. Surely life is too short to be at war among ourselves, hating and spitting one another. We are all liable to make mistakes, both old and young, but we also should forgive and try and mend our ways.

Hoping this will have a good airing among all concerned, and wishing to see those brothers back again, I will close and write the following poem:

OF THE GENTLE ART OF FORGIVING.

How good we feel when we forgive another who has done some wrong!

It thrills us like the cadences of some joy-laden, tilting song.

We feel the true nobility of gentleness; of how to live;

We mark his thankfulness with pride when we forgive.

To know that we may rise above the pettiness of rage and hate

And wipe away all trace of hurt, is something fine, and something great.

To let our deep resentment flow, like heedless water through a sieve.

It makes the better men of us when we forgive.

To clasp hands with the erring one and vow that what is past is past,
Will chase the sun of gladness out where now the sky is overcast.
Ah! life is happy, after all, and more than worth the while to live.
We always realize our good when we forgive.

We understand the weakness of the other man;

And so at length we come to grasp the wondrousness of our transcendant moral strength.

When we forgive we only learn our better part,

And do not see that we are being kind to one as bad as we!

—W. D. Nesbit in Chicago Tribune.

Yours truly,

G. M., L. 71.

LODGE 18HD.

Boone City, Ia., May 16.—Readers of the Journal, we all have our task to do, so dear brother, let us try to do it right. On page 264, of the Journal of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders, of May issue, you will find Grand President's official communications and decisions, which I am satisfied without any conviction whatever to say that it is one of the grandest letters that we have ever seen in our wonderful corresponding pages. I am satisfied to say that we have the right man in the right place, and I hope that these warning words of sympathy will be a lesson to a great many of them that are following the evils of liquor.

Now, dear brother corresponding secretaries of all lodges, do not under any circumstances fail to read them to your dear brothers, for it is one of the most important duties of a man's career to be a sober a truthful and obedient servant to his fellow men. I say that without a doubt, and I believe Brother McNeil will agree with me, that if we would be more perfect in every day life that we would be more successful in every thing that we want to accomplish. Now, brothers, there is so much angry passion which is all for our downfall.
We must always try to be reasonable and fair and be true, and I know we will be a successful Brotherhood. I sympathize with Brother McNeil with what he has to contend with, when he has to do business, when the members are off down town in a saloon and gambling house when the right place for them is at home or to work, and fulfilling their contract at home as well as to their employers. I believe the day is not far away when there will be a great change in the conduct of the employee or they will be without employment, and also out of this organization. I believe, and I know that it would be one of the best steps that this organization ever took to be more perfect in soberness and to work more steady for your employer. I hope that every communication and decision of our Grand President, issued in the columns of the Journal in the future, may bring beneficial results, and bring the employees to be more sincere and faithful servants to their employers.

Hoping I have accomplished just a little good I will close with my best wishes for the welfare of our noble organization.

Fraternally,

JOHN STEMPEL, C. S.

HIS EGG SAUCE.

"Well, my man," said the visiting physician of a Dublin infirmary to a patient,
"how do you feel this morning?" "Purty well, sorr," was the reply. "That's right.
I hope you like the place?" "Indeed and I do, sorr!" said the man. "There's only wan thing wrong in this establishment, and that is I only get as much mate as wud feed a sparrow." "Oh, you're getting your appetite, are you?" said the doctor. "Then I'll order an egg to be sent up to you." "Arrah, dochter," rejoined the patient, "would you be so kind as to tell thim at the same time to sind me up the hin that laid it!"

DUTY, NOT CHARITY.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 18, 1903.

On the night of May 29, 1901, Brother John Hawley, Reg. No. 7104, was killed in the freight yards of the Alabama Great Southern railway, Chattanooga, Tenn. Nothing being known of him here, several points were wired for information concerning his identity, and failing to receive replies thereto, it remained only for L. 14 to give the remains Christian burial, which was accordingly done.

It was, however, after the lapse of a year and a half, learned that while L. 14 was paying the last sad rites to all that was once mortal of Brother Hawley, his loving and devoted wife and children in their far distant home in Kankanna, Wis., were waiting, watching and praying for the return of the husband and father who never came.
Further suspense as to the whereabouts or fate of the absent one becoming unbearable,
Mrs. Hawley, in Nov., 1902, Journal through Brother P. Phillips, Corresponding Secretary of L. 311, made inquiry as to the whereabouts of her husband, which was replied to and full information furnished by the writer of this, resulting in extremely painful correspondence, which developed the fact that she was left with seven young children, six girls and one boy, the two youngest about 6 years old and the oldest about 14, to provide for by her own personal exertions, she being so to speak all alone in the world with her seven helpless children. Brothers, this surely is a case calling us to duty, and not for the exercise of charity. It is an admitted fact that there are many appeals to the generosity of our members, all for very worthy objects, but few, if any, more worthy than this. Had expectations of compensation from the railroad company sufficient to educate Brother Hawley's orphans been realized, this appeal would never have been made, but after several months of fruitless endeavor by Mrs. Hawley to obtain the smallest compensation from the railway company, I, without exaggeration, present her case and appeal to all brothers to contribute to the relief of the widow and orphans of Brother Hawley. Just think of it, what a fund would be realized for this worthy object if each member of this Brotherhood would skip only one amber colored beverage on a Saturday night. I think I hear some brother say, who would send 5 or 10 cents? Just let every member in every lodge contribute 5 or 10 cents each and send it along. It will be very thankfully received, promptly forwarded to and appreciated by Mrs. Hawley and her fatherless children. All money received will be acknowledged in the columns of the Journal.

By yours sincerely and fraternally,

JACK GRIBBEN,
Journal Correspondent Lodge 14.

LODGE 191.

Victoria, B. C., May 5, 1903.

Just a few lines to say that we here in Victoria, Lodge 191, are getting along all right, and that nine hours a day seems to agree splendidly with the boys, and nothing would please us better than to know that every member of the Brotherhood was enjoying the same.

One of our members, Brother Medwedrich, has found out that owing to the changed conditions and having the extra time on his hands, the best thing he could do was to ask a young lady to share the good things of this life with him. She having accepted, they were accordingly joined in the bonds of holy matrimony, and I am sure many of the brethren as well as the members of 191 wish the young couple every joy and happiness that this world can afford them.

I may say also that our members are always ready for the excellent articles that appear in our Journal from the various lodges, and they would appreciate it very much if they could get them a little earlier in the month, as it is generally about the end of the month before we get them.

that we cannot help giving expression to.

There is also one very important matter as having a great deal to do with the marked success of our order, and that is the promptness of our G. P. O. and G. S. in answering all communications and in dealing with the various matters submitted to them, and we as a Lodge feel sure that our organization must prosper under such favorable conditions. I am,

Yours fraternally,

G. W. PENKETH.

THE RIGHTS OF LABOR UNIONS AND THE RIGHTS OF THE TRUSTS.

Judge C. C. Bland of St. Louis, Mo., recently rendered a remarkable decision relative to the rights of labor unions and trusts.

In a nutshell, his decision is that capitalists have a right to do as they please with their money so long as they do not become public charges. He states that the capitalists have the right to form trusts and to drive out of business all competing firms.

On the other hand, he declares that workmen too have the right to combine and form a labor trust, and that after the trust is formed they have the right to fight the capitalist trust "by lawful means."

The decision was handed down from the appellate court, and two other judges concurred in the decision.

The case was one that has been in the courts for some time, and is a reversal of a decision of another court. The court held that the local Plumbers' Trust was a lawful one.

The trust was, however, held to be wrong in its refusal to sell supplies to a non-member engaged in the same business, and this would seem to be a contradiction of the first part of the decision.

At any rate, this decision is most remarkable in its claim that organized labor has the legal right to fight a trust. It is not stated whether the case will be carried to the Supreme Court, but it undoubtedly will because of the reversal of another court. It will be interesting to learn what the Supreme Court of the greatest state west of the Mississippi has to say on this startling decision.

LODGE 35.

Baltimore, Md., May 17, 1903.

There was a strike at Sparrow's Point on Monday, May 1, 1903. A committee from the Lodge asked the general manager at the Maryland Steel Co. to grant the men a nine hour day, instead of ten hour, as they have been working, and on being refused the men all quit work at 5 o'clock Monday, and they will not go back until demands are met. That includes all of the fitters, riveters and caulkers. So far we have been gaining ground right along. Every union man quit work, and the only ones that were left in were a few helpers, and the most of them have come out since Monday. We are just asking for a nine hour work day and no increase in pay. As far as the pay is concerned we have no cause for complaint. Our main object is the nine hour day, the same as our brothers, and we all think that we have a good chance of winning. All of the non-union men came out along with the brothers on Monday.

Hoping to see this in the June Journal, I remain,
Fraternally yours,

GEORGE H. BEAUCHAMP,
Journal Correspondent.

LODGE 367.

Charter and supplies received all O. K., and glad to say we are getting things in order. We have had quite a lot of trouble in getting organized at this point, as there are so many coming and going all the time. However, we are successful at last and intend to stick, and I wish to inform all who have not got a good up-to-date card to give Havre, Mont., a wide berth.

We had a visit from a boilermaker by the name of Delaney. It seems he got run out of Sacramento, and also Pocatello, and he then favors us with a call. On being asked if he had a card, he politely told us to go to h——. Of course we knew it would be a warm country to strike, but we would very much prefer it to working with scabs. However, Mr. Delaney got a check for a couple of days' pay and was requested to move on, which he did in short order, like any other good mongrel would do.

I guess this is all for this time, so will close. Hoping you will find a corner in your valuable Journal for these few lines, I remain, with best wishes,

Fraternally yours,
S. J. LUPTON, President.

P. S.: Brothers passing through our town are invited to call on us. We meet every Wednesday night in Marble Hall on the Banks of the Bullhook. S. J. L.

CORRECTION FOR LODGE 294.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 18, 1903.

I take this method of informing 294 and all other Lodges that one Mike Moran, Reg. No. 8134, has not got a card out of No. 76. He had one and deposited same in 294. He tried to obtain one out of 294, but failed on account of too much booze, and he left Alamogordo without either card or due book, and since 76 has learned of him being a member of 38 before he came here and being suspended for non-payment of dues. He now stands suspended from Lodge 76 until he squares up with 38. If justice was given he should be expelled from the order for misrepresenting himself by claiming he was never a member of the Brotherhood in his application to 76. Seventy-six will turn his case over to 38 and they can deal with him as they desire. This man is a professional dead beat, and thinks more of booze than he does of himself or the interest of the Brotherhood. I understand a brother went his security here and had the bill to pay. Hoping to see this in the next issue of the Journal, I remain,

CHAS. NEWMAN,
Cor. Sec. Lodge 76.

AN ACT REGULATING HOURS OF LABOR IN MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENTS AND PROHIBITING LABOR OF CHILDREN UNDER 12 YEARS OF AGE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That no child under twelve years of age shall be employed or work in any factory or manufacturing establishment within this state: Provided, this act shall not apply to oyster canning and packing manufactories in this state, where said canning and packing manufactories pay for opening and shucking oysters by the gallon or bushel.

Sec. 2. That not exceeding sixty-six hours shall constitute a week's work in all factories and manufacturing establishments of this state, and no person under 18 years of age shall be required to work in such factories or establishments a longer period than sixty-six hours in one week: Provided, that this section shall not apply to engineers, firemen, machinists, superintendents, overseers, section and yard hands, office men, watchmen or repairers of breakdowns.

Sec. 3. All parents, or persons standing in relation or parent, upon hiring their children to any factory or manufacturing establishment, shall furnish such establishment a written statement of the age of such child or children being so hired, and any such parent, or person standing in the relation of parent to such child or children, who shall in such written statement misstate the age of such child or children being so employed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished at the discretion of the court. Any mill owner, superintendent or other person acting in behalf of a factory or manufacturing establishment who shall knowingly or wilfully violate the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 4. That this act shall be in force from and after January 1st, 1904.

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified this 6th of March, A. D., 1903.

GRAND VICE PRESIDENT KANE'S REPORT.

Leaving New Orleans, Houston, Tex., was my first stop. My dispatch did not reach the brothers until after I had arrived, owing to their corresponding secretary being out of town. I made my presence known by calling at the round house. We held a special meeting to poll the members, and I found them about equally divided. The brothers gave me a strong in-vation to stop over, the next day being a state holiday in commemoration of General Sam Houston defeating the Mexicans near that town. I thanked the brothers, but had to keep moving, as my time was limited.

While in Houston I found out that San Antonia Local 345 was on the S. P., and should have been my nearest stopping place, but I had already wired to El Paso that I was coming. I wrote to 345, telling them the object of my journey and asking them to send their vote to Portland, which they did. The boys in El Paso received my very well. I found everything in a very prosperous conditions. It being their regular meeting there was a good attendance. I started for Tucson at 5:15 a. m., arriving there at 4:30 p. m. The old war horse, Harry Cody and the president, E. E. Miller, were at the depot. Cody has quit boiler making for a more congenial business, but he still retains his interest in the welfare of the order. While there I met Brother Sprouse, late president at La Junta, Col., and I am glad to have done so, to say the least. We held a good meeting, and I started at 1:30 a. m. for Los Angeles. I was met seven miles out of the city by Brother Harington and District Vice President Frank Haywards, who showed me all of the beauties of their lovely city, that my time would allow. I found the members in general a fine crowd of fellows. Well, I arrived in Kern 2 hours late, but although 10:30 a. m., the boys were there waiting at the depot. I was very sorry I did not have time to do more than make their acquaintance. Two hours after I struck town I was again on a train for Oakland, where I was met by Geo. McKeon, the district president, a whole souled man, and an enthusiastic Unionist. We held a special meeting Monday night of the two lodges of the S. P. system, 233 of Oakland and 359 of San Francisco.

On Tuesday night I met with the helpers' lodges, 44 and 65. Both meetings were very enthusiastic. Wednesday night I rested and started for Sacramento Thursday morning. Held a meeting that evening and started for Wadsworth, Nevada, same night, quite a number of the boys seeing me off. They gave me a very courteous greeting. Well, I arrived in Wadsworth about 10 a. m., and was met by that well known and well respected boiler maker, Geo. R. Still. Held a meeting there and started for Ogden 10:30 that night. Arrived in Ogden next evening at about 8:30. At this town I believe every boiler maker in town was at the depot. I got a very pleasant greeting from each one of them. They held the meeting in a large store where organized labor is starting a co-operative store, and our members are the leading spirits in the movement. The president of the company is also president of No. 198, which goes to show you that Ogden boiler makers are progressive.

My next stop was at Pocatello No. 52, and from there I gave my decision after getting their vote. It was useless for me to wait until I went to Portland, which has only seven men of the S. P. system, and whose vote could not make any or hardly any change in the vote. I went next to Portland, where I met a very kind reception. Held a meeting that night the last of a long and tedious trip. I believe I got what I started out from Chicago to get, the honest vote of every member on the S. P. system, and I decided accordingly.

I take this opportunity of thanking all officers and members for the universal courtesy and kindness shown me along the entire system. A copy of the vote follows:

REPORT OF ED FOX.

Erie, Pa., May 20, 1903.

On April 21 I was called to Cleveland by Grand President Organizer John McNeil, and with him went over the ground and also looked into matters in Lorain. After we had gone over the situation, Bro. McNeil went to West Bay City and I returned to Buffalo to straighten out a few minor matters and returned again in a few days and I assure you I had quite a job on my hands. We had a meeting of lodge No. 20, and they would not come to the meetings.

Being due in Lorain, I went there as arranged and attended their meeting and I want to say that lodge has taken quite a boom, and I would advise any man to keep away from there if his card is not in good standing. After I was satisfied everything was moving along nicely I again returned to Cleveland and settled down to good hard work among the shipbuilders, and this time I was successful. All the misunderstandings having been explained and the road cleared. We are going to have as good a lodge in Cleveland as we have in any lake shipyard along the entire lakes, and that up-to-date business agent, Bro. James Green, has charge over the two lodges, No. 5 and No. 20.

While I was there I organized a lodge of Holder Ons, and the boys better keep their eye open for these young recruits, let me tell you. Now, if your card is not up to date keep away from Cleveland shipyards.

In looking over Cleveland, I find we have boilermakers who are not worthy of that name—men who have fought our brothers there at every stage of the game—but we will be able to cope with these men in the near future, and I want to say to the brotherhood at large when a man comes from Cleveland without a good card, send him back there to get one, and you will be giving great assistance to your brothers in Cleveland. There are three large shops there, and while our men have secured the nine-hour day and $2.90 per day, these men are working ten hours and getting any old wage up to $3.15 per day. Such men don't deserve any consideration whatever, and I hope they will get what belongs to them should they leave Cleveland, and I am satisfied lodge No. 5 will in the near future get control of these shops again, and you can bet there will be something doing then.

Having done all I possibly could this time, I went on to Detroit and met the boys of No. 169, and in the City of Straits you will find up-to-date union men, and I am pleased to state they have been doing good work lately. Every shop is organized, but their conditions are not as good as other cities surrounding. Our boys there have made arrangements to better their conditions, and I would advise all boilermakers to keep away from Detroit until their grievance is adjusted.

I then proceeded to Wyandotte No. 166. This lodge being newly reorganized is going on splendidly, and I question at this writing every man in that shipyard is organized. And, again, it will be no card no work there. So brothers, pay strict attention to this.

I then came on to Buffalo and straightened out a few matters and at this writing I am in Erie, Pa.

I am not very familiar with the conditions that exist here, but I will do all in my power to bring these men together, and will report my experience again. I find in the various cities I have gone through a very encouraging state of affairs. Everyone wants to do what is right and want instructions, and a lot of lodges are requesting my presence. It clearly shows the spirit of unionism that prevails throughout the country, which looks very bright indeed, and I have no hesitancy in saying business is now being done on a stable foundation.

Fraternally and respectfully yours,
EDWARD FOX, G. V. P.

LESSONS FROM THE COAL COMMISSION.

With the return of the decision of the Board of Arbitration or Coal Commission, the great anthracite coal strike has passed into history, but the lesson it has taught will never be effaced from the memory of man while disputes between labor and capital continue to hold a place in our industrial life and to shadow its progress. The decision of the public, ever since the controversy showed abuses to exist, is truly indicated in the award of the commission.

The concessions granted to the miners by the award, are no greater than has been conceded by the intelligent, conservative public, who throughout, impartially considered the evidence presented by the miners in justification of their demands. Almost universal satisfaction follows the decision of the commission, and although the radicals may be disappointed because everything asked for by the miners was not granted, it is a reasonable assumption that the award was as fair as expert, broad intelligence and sober judicious judgment could arrive at after a thorough acquaintance with the conditions governing the industry, and a careful review of the evidence presented by both miners and operators.

The burden of responsibility for the great suffering entailed by the strike rests entirely with the operators. Before the strike, and every day after, the power to settle rested entirely with the operators, and their insolent pretensions that there was "nothing to arbitrate" was the only obstacle in the way of a peaceful adjustment of the differences between miners and mine owners. Their persistent refusal to arbitrate was as persistently met with an offer to arbitrate on the part of the miners. That there was something to arbitrate, needs no other comment than the findings of the coal commission. That a strike would, or could take place without anything to arbitrate, is almost beyond the imagination, and the last vestige of excuse for opposition to arbitration, has been swept aside.

The most valuable lesson, amongst the many taught by this strike, is that there is always something to arbitrate, and the necessity of arbitration, or some conciliatory method of settling industrial disputes.

Combinations of capital and labor are great economic institutions, and our highest point of productivity will be reached when both are perfectly organized and working in economic harmony. This never will be, without the aid of their great economic ally, arbitration.

Our present system of legal regulation or laws, grants the employer, to the fullest extent, the right of ownership, and permits him to hire for the lowest possible wage that necessity compels employes to submit to such employes as his business requires, regardless of whether his profits would allow him to pay a much higher wage. On the other hand, the same right of ownership of his labor is granted to the employe, and although the more intense state of competition, lack of facilities and dependent position, does not permit the same freedom of ownership; our laws do not question who he will work for, or what wages he wills to work for. In either instance, the law simply prescribes that the lawful rights of others shall not be interfered with. No legal regulation that denies the freedom now enjoyed by employer and employed, could be considered as the best method of relief from strikes. Competitive conditions, (though such is not the case with the mine owners or any other monopoly) is the primary cause of industrial disturbances, and economic law holds out to both employer and employe the fairest possible method of adjustment, and clearly defines arbitration as the best method of settling labor disputes, and gradually moulding competitive conditions to a closer conformity with economic principles.

Arbitration, unless we wish for the sake of argument to discuss the possibilities of its being corrupted, is fairer, in most instances, than either of the contending factors, and in almost all instances, is as fair as both contending factors will give it the opportunity to be.

The coal strike was the strongest possible proof of the economic value, and in fact necessity of arbitration, and had arbitration been resorted to in the first place, there would have been no strike, and none of the privations, sufferings and monetary loss incident to it.

It is not a question of "nothing to arbitrate," relative to either side's contention, when wasteful force, arbitrary power, violence of corrupting methods must be employed to maintain their position, and cause an innocent third party to suffer. The tendency on the part of the public is to assert its right to be relieved from the inconvenience growing out of the refusal of either capital or labor to arbitrate their differences, and either party refusing to conform to a system eminently fair, will merit and receive public contempt and condemnation.

The commission's award is a practical recognition of the mine workers as an organized body, regardless of the fact that they were not formally recognized.

Where there is arbitration there is recognition, and recognition that carries with it material improvements, is the recognition that all trades unions desire. A distinct step towards that conciliation of labor and capital, that will make strikes a condition of the past, is the result of this commission. Revolutionary methods that interfere with production and its distribution must depart and give progress a clear road, that will carry us on to that higher civilization for which we are always striving.

Did you ever stop to consider what trade unionism really is, what it stands for and what is its ultimate aim? If you have not, you can't spend a few hours more profitably than in studying this phase of social development. And the more you study it the more will you be convinced of the high moral plane upon which it is founded. It is condemned only by those who have not investigated, whose ideas upon the subject are clouded by ignorance. Prejudice, also, distorts and wilfully maligns anything that even suggests the unification of labor's forces. This prejudice undoubtedly affects the casual observer and prevents him from gaining a true knowledge of trade unionism, what it has done, is doing and will do to solve the social problems of the day, and advance our crude ideas of existence to a higher form of civilization.

Trade unionism is self-help. It is the highest form of co-operative effort. Its ultimate aim is that complete individual liberty which can only be gained by concerted action on the part of the units which compose society. It would prevent the strong man from taking advantage of the weak one, until the strong man refrains from doing so, not because he is restrained by law, but because it is wrong that he should do so.

Trade unionism stands for equality of opportunity. It would give the individual—every individual—a fair chance, by education and training to render useful service to society and guarantee to the laborer the entire product of his labor.

Trade unionism stands for education. Education is the prime factor of civilization, without it no advancement can be made.

For countless thousands of years, labor, in its blind superstitious ignorance, allowed itself to be gulled and robbed through that lying absurdity, the divine right of kings. But education has dispelled that delusion and driven it out forever. Other superstitions—equally as absurd and impertinent—yet remain, but trade unionism in its new form and by its educational influence will drive them from the minds of men for all time.

Trade unionism is opposed to the pretentious claims of privilege. It believes that no man has a right to rule over or enslave another man, no matter how arrogantly the claim may be asserted. It denies the right of any man or number of men to own the earth or its natural resources. It says that the coal measures of Pennsylvania and elsewhere belong to all the people in spite of the pretentious claims of vested rights.

Judging from the material progress trade unionism has made in the past, it looks to the future with great hopefulness, and predicts a time when the great social equalities that now exist shall exist no more; when ignorance will be considered a shame and poverty will be but a memory; when idleness will be a disgrace and the most honored will be those who render the greatest and best service to society; when all the children shall share equally the joys of childhood, and true womanhood shall find its highest incentive in ministering to its happiness.

That time is a long way ahead and can't be reached by a single bound. The way is long, and, as it has been in the past, must be paved by sacrifice, for as we are today reaping the good which the sacrifice of the past has sown for us, so we in our turn must sacrifice ourselves for the good of the future. Honest work and effort now not only improve present conditions, but they assure an assurance of our ideals in the future. Work, then, for trade unionism—the solidarity of labor.—Machinists' Journal.

Some very economic datta is given by Mr. John McMackin, Labor Commissioner of New York, in his report for 1902. Of particular interest are the facts submitted in connection with tenement house industry in New York City and the miserable pittance earned by the workpeople engaged in these tenements. Conditions have greatly improved among these workers since the enactment and enforcement of the anti-sweatshop law, but there is still great room for improvement. Long hours and little pay is their reward, and the whole family is often employed to earn barely sufficient to keep life in their emaciated bodies. One wonders what their condition was like before trade union influence moulded public opinion against sweatshops, for this report shows anything but a rosy tinted picture of existing conditions in the tenement districts of Greater New York. But let the report speak for itself:

"The report says in part:

"The great majority of home workers are women. The average income of 823 female home workers in the first six months of 1902 was $83, or $3.20 weekly. Moreover, one in four of these women had a helper in her work. The attempt to ascertain the daily hours of labor among these workers was not altogether successful, owing to the inevitable regularity of such work. But it is well known that these home finishers receive from five to seven cents for 'finishing' a coat or pair of trousers, and that they can 'finish' only one garment an hour.

"Seventy-nine dollars represents the average six months' earnings of home finishers and their helpers. The 722 female finishers had 195 helpers, of whom thirty-two were husbands, fifty-eight relatives or grown-up sons and daughters and 105 minor children. It is probable, however, that more children than that actually rendered some assistance, as parents realize the prejudice against child labor and hold back mention of the same.

"Of the 105 child helpers none was under eight years of age, although there were 634 children below that age in these families.

"Small as are the earnings of the home finishers, they were superior to the income of makers of artificial flowers. The average earnings of sixty women, nearly all Italians, engaged in this trade in the first half of 1902, were only $70. Besides the 'home finishers,' who comprise the vast majority of all the home workers in New York City tenements, there are a few custom and journeymen tailors, each of whom makes the entire garment at his home as in former times, so that the workers on clothing comprise more than 23,000 of the entire 27,000 persons who at last accounts worked in the licensed family workrooms in New York City.

"The sanitary conditions of family workrooms have been frequently investigated in the interest of the protection of the public health against the danger of disease transmitted through tenement-made goods. But the economic condition of the home workers themselves is also a matter of general interest, which has not as yet been adequately described, chiefly on account of the difficulties attending the collection of statistics among our foreign born persons ignorant of our language.

"The old-time 'sweat-shop' in the dwellings of the poor has well-nigh disappeared, in consequence of the legislative policy initiated in this State in 1892. An act of that year, amending the factory law, made unlawful the employment of any but immediate members of the family in a workroom in any dwelling. The effect of this law was to divide tenement work places into two distinct classes—the family workroom in the dwelling and the workshop in a tenement building, but outside the dwelling.

"The average earnings among the male home workers was $290 for the first six months of 1902, but nearly two-thirds of them (96 out of 157) were skilled workmen (tailors) employed in making the entire garment. The average earnings of male home finishers, who had an average of one helper apiece, amounted to only $213 for the six months.

"The average number of weeks worked by the 157 male home workers in the first six months of 1902 was 22¾, and of the 823 women 22½ weeks. The majority (407 of 722) of the women who did 'finishing' worked more or less steadily throughout the entire twenty-six weeks; the average number of weeks worked by all having been 22¾.

"The average age of all the male home workers, so far as the fact could be ascertained, was forty-six years. None were under twenty-one years of age and thirteen were more than sixty years old.

"The average age of female home workers was thirty-seven years."

No other social force except trade unionism can successfully improve the condition of these toilers. A sympathetic handshake—as recommended by Mr. Rockefeller—may be all very well in its way, but the good practical assistance that one worker gives to another when they organize is worth the handshakings of a million years, and will do much in a short while toward solving the tenement house problem. It is a labor problem and can only be solved by organized labor.—Machinists' Journal.

ADDRESSES WANTED.

West Bay City, Mich., May 3.—Any person knowing of the whereabouts of Albert Genack will please communicate with the secretary of Grand Lodge, Kansas City, Kansas, or his sister, Miss Sarah Genack, 217 State street, West Bay City, Mich.

Huntington, Y. Va., May 10.—Will you kindly allow me space in Boiler Maker's Journal to advertise for my son, P. H. Pfeifer, machinist by trade, who left home the 23rd of July, 1902, and has not been heard of since.

He is 5 foot 11½ inches high, weight 150 pounds. Any information will be gladly received by his widowed mother, Mrs. Lucy Pfeifer, 1114 Seventh ave., Huntington, W. Va.

Needles, Cal., May 12.—Anybody knowing the whereabouts of Robert Hopkins, last heard of in Shawnee, Okla., or Pat McCarry, last heard of in Hoboken, N. J., will oblige by corresponding with D. J. Meister, Needles, Cal.

Canon City, Col., April 26.—Some time ago I wrote to Mr. T. W. Wilson, the secretary of Boiler Maker's Union No. 44, for information concerning a friend of mine.

His name is Harry Wagner, and he was initiated Aug. 25, 1901, in Union No. 44, of Pueblo. Mr. Yillon could not give me any information concerning my friend, as he left Pueblo shortly after that date, but advised me to write you concerning him. Any information you could give me concerning his whereabouts, and where a letter would reach him, would be highly appreciated by me. Hoping to hear from you at your convenience, I am

Yours very truly,

C. S. DUNCAN,
Cannon City, Col.

In Roanoke, Va., Lodge No. 30, the shop rates are 31, 32 and 34 cents per hour. All roundhouse men are boilermakers and receive 30 cents per hour.

LODGE 233.

Oakland, Cal., April 30.—Lodge 233 would like C. Kennedy to correspond with them. Thanking you for this space in Journal, I am

Yours fraternally,

H. CUNNINGHAM.

WANTED.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 16, 1903.

Brother Milton E. Britton to correspond with Secretary of Lodge 76 in the near future, or he will see something in the next issue of the Journal. Reg. No. not known.

CHAS. NEWMAN, C. S.

FINED FOR SCABBING.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 3, 1903.

Philip C. Briele, Reg. No. 13352, by L. 59, and fined $25 and back dues and asst.

Albert Knott, registered No. 23179, by lodge No. 8. Fine, $25.00.

LODGE 94.

The Financial Secretary of Lodge No. 94 would like to hear from these brothers, as they have not been heard from in several months:

Bro. G. E. Shanley, No. 16843.

Bro. J. J. Humbert, No. 10232.

Bro. Ed. Powers, No. 1419 or 1479.

Bro. Jas. Irving, No. 9298.

Bro. E. M. Murray, No. 23,750.

Write to W. H. McMorris, 419 L Street, Sacramento, Cal.

MOUNTAIN CITY 248.

Du Bois, Pa., May -0.—Some time ago an article appeared in the Journal accusing Bro. Jas. Hyndman of driving stay bolts with his helper and being desirous of reducing wages when an advance was in view. Since that time we have discovered the accusation to be false and wish to exonerate the brother, as he is entirely innocent.

JOURNAL COR.

LODGE 21HD.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 30.—I wish to state to you that if any of you meet L. E. Leader, Reg. No. 20254, and he should present his card, that you would remind him that there is still a fine of $50 upon him at Cheyenne for absconding with lodge funds, and tell him to go back and settle with the boys. Yours fraternally,

A. SUNDSTROM, C. S.

NOTICE.

Brooklyn, April 27.—Will you kindly publish in the Journal that the letter containing money, of which Harry M. Davis was accused of failing to turn over to the lodge, has been found and due acknowledgment made of same at last meeting.

I trust you will find space for this, as by its publication it is to be hoped he will be cleared of any suspicion that may hover over him.

Fraternally yours,

C. DOUGHERTY.

NOTICE.

Albuquerque, N. M., May 18, 1903.

It is a constant occurrence that brothers come to this city to work with books stamped up ninety days ahead and cards issued for same. Now, brother secretaries, do you ever stop to think that you are not living up to our constitution. You surely know, or should know, that it positively forbids cards to be issued for more than thirty days. Other Lodges must exist the same as yours, and when you issue cards and stamp due books for more than thirty days you are taking undue advantage of them. If secretaries of other Lodges do not discontinue this violation, 76 will surely have to follow in their footsteps, but we trust we will not be imposed upon in the future as to compel us to do so.

CHAS. NEWMAN,

Cor. & Fin. Sec. Lodge 76.

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

Is it worth while that we jostle a brother
Bearing his load on the rough road of life?
Is it worth while that we jeer at each other
In blackness of heart that we war to the knife?

God pity us all in our pitiful strife.

God pity us all as we jostle each other;
God pardon us all for the triumphs we feel
When a fellow goes down 'neath his load on
the heather,
Pierced to the heart. Words are keener than steel,
And mightier far for woe than for weal.

Were it not in this brief little journey
On over the isthmus, down into the tide.

We give him a fish instead of a serpent,
Ere folding the hands to be and abide
Forever and aye in dust at his side?

Look at the roses saluting each other;
Look at the herds all at peace on the plain,
Man, and man only, makes war on his brother,
And laughs in his heart at his peril and
pain;
Shamed by the beasts that go down on the plain.

Is it worth while that we battle to humble
Some poor fellow down into the dust?
God pity us all! Time oft soon will tumble
All of us together, like leaves in a gust,
Humbled, indeed, down into the dust.

—Joaquin Miller.

THACKERY'S TRIBUTE TO WOMEN.

A good woman is the loveliest flower that blooms under Heaven; and we look with love and wonder upon its silent grace, its pure fragrance, its delicate bloom of beauty.
Sweet and beautiful! The fairest and the most spotless! Is it not a pity to see them bowed down, or devoured by grief inexorable, wasting in disease, pining with long pain, or cut off suddenly in their prime. We may deserve grief, but why should women be unhappy? Except that we know that Heaven chastens those whom it loves best;
being pleased, by repeated trials, to make their pure spirits more pure.—Thackeray.

John T. Hunt, at one time prominently connected with the shoe cutters' union, has been elected to Congress from the twelfth district of Montana.

A PRACTICAL TREATISE FOR USE OF BOILER MAKERS, IRON SHIP BUILDERS AND MAST MAKERS.

By I. J. and H. Haddon, Cardiff.

The above work contains 167 pages and 133 diagrams and is devoted entirely to the needs of the workmen. It deals with all kinds of developments in connection with the above trades, general templating and also a vast amount of formulae. It contains a considerable number of new and original methods, which, with the rest of its contents, may be relied on for thorough accuracy and simplicity.

We may say that problems 21 and 31 are each worth more than the price of the book and with many others of our problems cannot be found in any other published work.
Price, $1.75, postpaid.

Peacock's 50ft linen chalk lines, two for 25 cents. Sole Agent, Brother Wm. Harvey, Lodge 200. Address Box 89, Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y.

The following Lodge notes were intended for the June Journal;

LODGE 65HD.

San Francisco, Cal., May 1, 1903.

On behalf of Lodge No. 65HD, I would earnestly request a little space in the June edition of the Journal.

As stated in the May Journal, the Union Iron Works agreed to the nine hour day and 10 per cent increase, and since May 1, such has been the conditions existing in those works with all iron trades. The San Francisco Examiner should be praised for its good offices in our behalf in obtaining the aforesaid results. Unionism is gaining growth in this city and everybody belongs to a union, even common laborers, who won a successful strike lately, having been granted a nine hour day and $2.25 per day on all contracts taken after March 1, 1903.

This Lodge is now making preparations for holding a grand picnic at El Campo on Sunday, June 28, 1903, the receipts of which are to go toward a fund for badges and banners for Labor Day and other festivities.

Our helpers working in the S. P. R. R. shops have been given an increase of wages from $2.25 to $2.50 per day.

I would also ask the Journal to publish our scale of wages in order to acquaint visiting brothers with our rates of wages and save our business agents a great deal of trouble.

In regards to this city's business agents, we desire to extend thanks to Brother John R. Matheson, of 65HD, and Brother A. D. Porter, of Lodges 25 and 205, for their untiring efforts in behalf of unionism.

I will close with a request that all visiting brothers, whether helpers or boiler makers, be prompt in depositing their traveling cards.

Fraternal yours,

JOHN N. HOGAN,

Pres. and J. C.

In order to have no trouble hereafter, as has been the case formerly, we present to you our schedule of wages, as they represent our present wages in the various shops:

Experienced men shall receive the sum of $2.25 per day.

Helpers going on as holder-ons shall receive the sum of $2.50 per day.

Helpers on flange fire shall receive the sum of $2.50 per day.

Nine hours shall constitute a day's work.

Any helper going outside shall, if he works nine hours, receive one hour extra for each day he is on outside work.

All overtime shall be paid at the rate of time and a half up to midnight and double time after on all shop work.

All overtime shall be double time on outside work.

All Sundays and holidays shall be double time.

Indorsed by Iron Trades Council, August 11, 1902.

Indorsed by S. F. Labor Council, August 15, 1902.

This schedule to go in effect October 6, 1902.

Respectfully submitted,

BOILER MAKERS & IRON SHIP BUILDERS OF AMERICA, OCCIDENTAL NO. 65HD.

Respectfully submitted,

By order of Executive Committee.

There's plenty of good in this bad old world,

In spite of what cynics say;

There's many a hand held out to help

Another on his way.

The world is selfish, the world is cold,

And its idol is success;

Yet it often steps aside for fear

On the fallen it will press.

There's many a hero gives up his life

In humble duty done,

With no hope of glory to shrine his name

Past the setting of the sun.

Dearly the world loves dollars, and yet,

In spite of its grasp and greed,

There's many a dollar freely spent

On the widow and orphan's need.

Bad as it is, with its vice and sin,

This old worn world of ours,

It bends with awe before pure things,

And love and faith are powers.

It may follow the winner and homage and cheers,

Though his right lies in a log;

But there is plenty in it who'll boldly still

Stand up for the under dog.

LODGE NO. 165.

Duluth, Minn., May 19, 1903.

A few short line to let the brothers at large know that No. 165 is still doing business. The past two months has ushered among us a number of new men and all carrying good cards, with two exceptions. One was an Andrew Daniels, hailing from Winona, Minn., who tried to steal the trade there and come here and make it stick. But it's not so easy, "my Buck." The other one was a Geo. Beeson from Brainerd. Both made application but were turned down with a bump. Since the last report to the Journal, we have got rid of the one and the only scab at the head of the lakes, Harry Loan. So if he should come your way pass him up quick.

Our recording secretary, Ernest Hempel, has left for St. Clair, Mich. So kindly insert Alfred Nelson's name in directory. There has been two dead beats here in the last six weeks. One a Chas. Cooper hailing from Oelwein, Iowa, worked here a month and left his board bill unpaid. The other, Chas. Foster, better known as Shorty Foster, left a week's board unpaid. Now brothers this has got to be stopped some time, so start right in the first time these fellows show up. Bros. Jake George, Jos. Butler, Ed Maloney and Frank Selchal are here from No. 212 and all doing nicely. War Horse Thos. Cummings was badly scalded in round house Sunday the 17th, by a defective blow off cock. At the present writing he is resting easy, but will be unable to work for some time.

M. P. Sheehan has taken round house job at Allonez.

The benefit ball game to be played between boiler makers of Duluth and Superior, will have to be postponed indefinitely on account of Pitcher Thos. Cummings being scalded. However, as soon as Tom rests up and gets his arm in condition the game will surely take place.

Contract boiler shops at the head of the lakes report business very good for this time of the year. I remain,

Yours fraternally.

Journal Correspondent.

M. P., ST. L., I. M. & S. CONTRACT.

The following Rules and Regulations are issued for the government of Boiler Makers and Apprentices of the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway companies:

Rule 1. The standard working time shall be 10 hours per day. This time shall be worked between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Rule 2. Should it become necessary to reduce expenses, the time shall first be reduced to 8 hours per day. Any further reduction of expenses that may be found necessary will be made by reducing the force, in which case senior and married men, and single men with families dependent upon them, will be given preference of employment.

Rule 3. All time over the regular 10 hours, including Sundays and all legal holidays, such as New Year's Day, Christmas, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Washington's Birthday and Decoration Day, shall be paid at the rate of time and one-half per hour. This to include round-house men and night men; monthly salaried men excepted.

Rule 4. No boiler makers or apprentices will be discharged or suspended without just or sufficient cause. If discharged, clearance will be given showing actual cause of discharge. If, after proper investigation, it shall be found that a boiler maker or apprentice has been unjustly discharged or suspended, he will be re-instated, the investigation to take place within five days, in presence of chairman of shop committee, after discharge or suspension. A boiler maker or apprentice having been unjustly discharged and being re-instated, will be paid for time lost pending investigation.

Rule 5. The Company will not in any way discriminate against any boiler makers, who from time to time represent other boiler makers on committee duly authorized to see the management.

Rule 6. When requested, the Company will grant leave of absence and furnish free transportation over its own lines at earliest convenience, to boiler makers who may desire to go before the management for the adjustment of differences.

Rule 7. Should a vacancy occur in the shop, the oldest boiler maker, if proficient, in point of service, shall be considered in line for promotion.

Rule 8. Should a boiler maker or apprentice be sent out on the road, he will be allowed pay from the time he is called until he returns, 10 hours for each day, with over time, if earned under the usual shop rules, with $1.00 per day for expenses for the first thirty days and 50 cents per day thereafter. A boiler maker or apprentice being called to work at night, Sundays or holidays, shall receive five hours' pay for three hours and twenty minutes or less.

Rule 9. The boiler makers shall enjoy the same privileges in regard to free transportation over the lines of the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Companies as other employees of these Companies.

Rule 10. The minimum rate of wages for all boiler makers on the Missouri Pacific and St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway at the following points will be as follows:

|                                                                                                                                                      |          |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| St. Louis, and from St. Louis to Kansas City, including Jefferson City and Sedalia.....                                                              | 33 cents |
| Kansas City, Atchison, Omaha, Nevada, Osawatomie, Ft. Scott and all other points in Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, except Hoisington and Horace..... | 34 cents |
| Hoisington, Horace and Pueblo....                                                                                                                    | 35 cents |
| The minimum rate of wages per hour for a boiler maker on the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway at the following points will be as follows: |          |
| St. Louis, and from St. Louis to Poplar Bluff and Belmont, including De Soto.....                                                                    | 33 cents |
| From Poplar Bluff to Texarkana, including Baring Cross.....                                                                                          | 35 cents |
| From Wynne to Memphis, and Van Buren to Alexandria and other points in Arkansas and Louisiana. ....                                                  | 35 cents |

All men working at flange turning in all shops, shall receive  $2\frac{1}{2}$  cents per hour more than the standard boiler makers' pay. This rate to be paid any boiler maker occupying the place of a regular man six days or more; less than six days the regular rate will apply.

Rule 11. One apprentice shall be employed in every shop irrespective of the number of boiler makers employed, and one additional apprentice may be employed to every five boiler makers; this ratio not to affect apprentices already in the service. Any apprentice hereafter engaging himself to learn the trade of a boiler maker, shall serve four years of not less than 300 days per year. He shall be between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one years; he shall in no case leave the service of the Company without just and sufficient cause. He shall receive 10 cents per hour for the first year, with an increase of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  cents per hour every six months thereafter until he has served the required four years, and at the expiration of his time he shall receive the minimum rate paid at the place of employment. A service letter shall also be given when he leaves the service if on account of reduction of force, or if he has served his four years of apprenticeship. This article to be construed to mean that apprentices employed previous to this contract may be retained regardless of number, if given the benefit of this article of the wages and promotions.

Rule 12. No one but boiler makers and apprentices shall do any boiler makers' work.

Rule 13. Defining boiler makers' work: All work such as cutting apart, marking of, or laying out any work pertaining to steam, air, water and oil-tight; the laying out and building and fitting up of any sheet iron work made from No. 16 gauge iron or steel and upwards; boiler inspecting and testing, flanging, patching, riveting, chipping, calking and tube work.

Rule 14. A special effort will be made to furnish filtered or condensed water and ice for drinking purposes on the entire system.

Rule 15. In case either the Companies or the boiler makers employed by them wish to change the above agreement, a notice of thirty days is to be given.

These rules and regulations and rates of pay shall become effective May 1st, 1903.

J. W. LUTTRELL,
Supt. L. & C. Dept.

Approved: Wm. Cotter, Manager.

A joint committee of the recent session of the Louisiana Legislature visited the State penal farms at Angola and Hope, for the purpose of reporting on the work done by the Board of Control. The members of the committee spent some time talking with the negro convicts, and presently one of the negroes recognized a member of the committee, who is a rising young lawyer, not a thousand miles from New Iberia.

"You know Mr. B——?" inquired one of the gentlemen.

"Yaas, sah, I knows B—— well. He's de one dun gin sent me heah," replied the ducky, with a grin spread all over his face.

The gentleman had not heard of Mr. B—— officiating as a prosecuting attorney, and wanted to know how he came to send the convict there.

"He wuz mah lawyer, sah."

Mr. B—— acknowledged that the drinks were on him, provided the incident did not get any further.—New Orleans Picayune.

He sat with his head bowed, and a sad, faraway look in his eyes.

"What's the matter, old man?" his friend asked.

He sighed, pulled a little slip of paper from his pocket and answered:

"I saw this ad in one of those weekly papers they print down in Maine. Read it..

It was as follows:

"How to win the girl you love—full directions furnished in plain sealed envelope. Ten thousand dollars reward for a single failure. Send 50 cents, silver or stamps. Address——"

"Well, did you send for the formula?"

"Yes, here's the answer: 'Get a million dollars and let her look at it.'"

Then he emitted another sad sigh and his head drooped forward again.—Chicago Record-Herald.

LODGE NO. 24.

Bloomington, Ill., May 24, 1903.

I will again give you and the brothers of our great order a few lines to let all the brothers know how Lodge No. 24 is up to date. There is a fair amount of business on the road for this time of the year and the shops have had lots of work. There is more work in the shops at present than there has been for a great many years and it has been hard to get good men in all departments to do the work, as there has been a great demand for skilled labor for the past three years, as the work is heavy and requires more men to do it of late years. There is some as fine engines on this road as there is on any road in the country and the finest train in the world is running on the Chicago & Alton. The shops have been all lighted with electric lights and power of the same, and crains to handle all class of engines. The last two engines that came here are fine engines and 601 has done good work so far. There will be some more here in a few more months. I don't want the brothers to think I am writing road news, I only want to give them a little idea of what kind of a road and shops are here. Now, Mr. Editor, I want to let you know all about the brothers, as we have had lots of new faces in our city the past 5 months, and some of our old time men have left and new ones took there place. As all know it is a roving trade and good demand for their labor, and I hope it will be that way to the end. Of all those brothers, Brother R. Dewire resigned here last month and is working for the I. C. railroad at Clinton, and so is Brother Potter in the city, as we hear from him often, and it would be better if some of the corresponding secretaries would write to each other and all the brothers would know more in regard to where some of their friends are, and if corresponding secretaries would only let our editor of the Journal know he will do the rest. Brother Myers has resigned his job here. He has been working on a patent ice machine and he says it is a success. He left here for Vicksburg and will explain how it works, where he will form a company with Brother Thos. McCabe, as he has the boilers completed. The brothers of No. 24 wish them good luck with their plant. Brother Nick Duggan has charge of the ice house in the city since Brother Myers left, but he will give it up as it gets to much saw dust on his clothes.

I wish to state that Bill Williams has returned from Washington, D. C., and his trip was a success. In regard to the shops that he sold, he got his commission from the proprietor "Of the Old House at Home." Bill stayed in the city a few days and was the guest of Brother Peacock. Bill is porter in a colored barber shop at present in Clinton.

Brother D. Norton is again working in the shop and Ed Sweney has put his card in No. 24. Brother John Luther is working and Brother J. E. Dancee and Brother Getze is in the city. When those brothers came here and had no cards and had to write and get Brother Dancee's card and due book from No. 4. Brother John Luther's due book had no stamps but he has paid some of those lodges. Don't want to have brothers go like that as it takes lots of time to get a letter from some of the corresponding secretaries. Brother Cusick is the most prompt corresponding secretary in answering correspondence that I have had dealings with and the brothers of No. 256 ought to feed proud of him.

Bro. A. Faigelburg has been transferred from the roundhouse to the backshop as foreman. Bro. Wm. Carthy has charge of roundhouse work.

Brother S. J. Peacock resigned last week, and Brother L. Murphy has also resigned after three years' service in the boilershop. All three were good men and will be missed by the brothers of No. 24.

Brother Sullivan of Freeport (Ill.) Lodge No. 284 called on some of the brothers of the city and was the guest of Brother Butler, whose father was engineer of the plant that the boiler exploded. Mr. Butler is getting along well at present.

Brother Murhaw was back to Stoney City last Sunday. He went there to pitch for that team. He is an all around ball player. Brother Iver Maloney has resigned his job in the boilershop on account of sickness. The doctor said he could not stand it. He served his time here and has worked five years in the shops. Pat Hayes resigned and was gone two weeks and is back again.

Lodge No. 24 was hoping some of the corresponding secretaries would answer the corresponding secretary more promptly and am willing to answer all correspondence of all lodges at any time.

Hoping to see this in the Journal,

Yours respectfully,

J. W. H., No. 24.

DIFFERENCES SETTLED.

Montgomery, Ala., June 22, 1903.—In the settlement of the differences between the Mobile & Ohio Railway Co., and its boiler makers, it is agreed:

First. That the differences are hereby settled, effective from and after to-day.

Second. It is agreed that the three boiler makers formerly employed at the Murphysboro shops be and are hereby reinstated in the service of the company. It is further agreed that the two men formerly employed at Tuscaloosa shall have the privilege of returning to work if so desired.

Third. It is further agreed that two of the five boiler makers, formerly employed at Whistler and Mobile shall be reinstated and the remaining three to be employed as fast as vacancies occur.

Fourth. The rules adopted by the Company for the government of its boiler makers, bearing date August 1st, 1902, is still in force and will remain so until its expiration, August 1, 1903, or as near after that date as a conference can be arranged for.

A FEW LINES FROM LODGE 52.

Pocatello, June 19, 1903.—Kindly allow us a space in the Journal for a few remarks we feel justified in making, concerning the late struggle with the U. P. Ry. We, the members of Lodge 52, would like to know why the Sixth district lodge had granted a fifteen day armistice after a vote had been taken and passed unanimously by the brothers on the Southern Pacific and the Oregon Short line and placed in the hands of Vice-President Kane, which resolution was to go out in sympathy with the brothers on the U. P. on May 11. The reason that Lodge 52 calls for an explanation through the Journal is, that the superintendent of motive power on the Oregon Short line informed us on May 9th that there would be no strike on the S. P. system on May 11, and that they, the superintendent and management, were informed, satisfactory to themselves, that such was the fact and we would like to know who gave the information to the Oregon Short Line. And to our surprise May 18, we received a telegram from Bro. McKeon, stating that the strike had been postponed.

On May 11 at 7 o'clock a. m. we received a telegram from Bro. Gilthorpe. The telegram read:

Kansas City, May 11, 1903.

C. A. Mann, Pocatello:

McNeil extended time fifteen days over my protest. Also U. P. Obey McNeil to avoid confusion.

W. J. GILTHORPE.

We, the boiler makers on the O. S. Line feel hurt by this unreasonable delay, which has caused an unfair settlement with the boys on the U. P. and we are sorry to think that we, as men and brothers, would go back on the U. P. boys after their hard and faithful struggle. And we, the members of Lodge 52, appreciate the action of Bro. Gilthorpe in protesting against this unnecessary delay by the boiler makers on the S. P. and O. S. Line, and we sincerely hope that this matter has opened the eyes of the officers of authority of the Brotherhood, and that they will not be so slow in taking action in our behalf, when an opportunity of the like occurs again. We do not write this article because we were anxious to strike, but because we had brothers who were more than worthy of this action.

C. A. MANN.

JOURNAL REPORT BY EDWARD FOX,
G. V. P.

Chicago, June 23, 1903.—At the expiration of my last report I was in the City of Erie, and this city is in very bad condition. The employers there are all in the Boiler Manufacturers Association. While some of these firms are very antagonistic towards our Brotherhood, others don't seem in any way to stop any of their boiler makers from being union men, but one firm in particular, the Erie City Iron Works, discharged any of their men who became members of No. 151, after that lodge was reorganized, which I was successful in doing on June 4. I had a detective agency to contend with, but paid no attention to them.

I was called into Buffalo to straighten out some matters there, and immediately returned to Erie again, and went down to Titusville No. 184 upon request. While there I found a few individuals who are using all their efforts to discourage any man from becoming a member of that lodge, but they might as well try to stop the grass from growing, as our men are very determined to thoroughly organize Titusville. From there I returned to Erie, and our boys there are working with a will, and, I must say, are doing good work.

I had to proceed to Washington by a call from our worthy G. P. O. to attend a conference with the representatives from Drillers and Tapper's locals, who are organized under the A. F. of L. Our Brotherhood has made a demand that these men be turned over to us as they are part of our trade. I submitted proof to Bro. Samuel Gompers, and their case will be taken up by the executive council of the A. F. of L. June 22, and a decision on this matter given.

I returned again to Erie and was called again to go to Detroit, where all our men are out to enforce a demand upon the various firms, which I must say, is very reasonable. At this time, the various firms refuse to deal with our men only as individuals, while they, themselves, are in a association. The boys in Detroit are very determined, and have all shops closed completely, and this will be a fight to a finish, and you will find in Detroit up-to-date business men.

In taking up this matter with our worthy G. P. O. we had arranged a meeting with W. L. Brown, President of the American Ship-building Co., and, as we have other important matters to discuss with that gentleman, I had to proceed to Chicago, and, in company with Bro. McNeil, to meet Mr. Brown, but being called out of town we have not met him as yet.

I also want to state that our boys in Hammond, Indiana, are out on strike for 40 cents per hour. Chicago Heights have also made a demand for the same rate, and the boys in Lodge 1, are all ready to present their demands for the same rate. Remain yours, respectfully,

EDWARD FOX,
G. V. P.

Friends and Brothers:

Omaha, Neb., June 21, 1903.—As our great struggle is ended we deem it our duty to inform you as to the basis of the settlement also to thank you in our humble way for the assistance you gave us, as your assistance made it possible for us to put up the best fight in the history of our organization, also to gain for us the grandest victory in the history of organized labor. After a struggle lasting almost one year, we succeeded in getting an agreement as good as the best; we also received a substantial increase and the peice work proposition set aside, but best of all, all men are reinstated and no discrimination. True we were compelled to compromise and return to work with the scabs in the shop, but we have it in black and white, that under no circumstances will we have to work with them and it will only be a question of a short time until they are forced out entirely, as they are leaving very rapidly at all the points along the line. At North Platte there is only two left, at Kansas City forty-five quit in a body. Omaha, our toughest proposition, there is quite a number left. On the morning of the 28th, when we returned to work, there was 150 scabs in the boiler shop at Omaha, when we went out on June 18, 1902, there was sixty men employed in the boiler shop, nineteen of these being organized and walked out. We returned with thirty-seven men. I may further state that our agreement states that the company cannot hire any Boilermakers or Helpers until all strikers are back at work. They have all returned to Omaha, and the master mechanic came to the shop committee and told them to get him five or six Boiler Makers, and as many Helpers, so you can see that the union is doing the hiring, and as soon as we can get competent men to take the places of the scabs, they will have to go.

We understand that the Machinists have circulated the report that the Boiler Makers turned them down on the settlement. We wish to state that we struck against an agreement that the machinists accepted, and after the machinists were locked out, they came to the Boiler Makers and wanted us to enter into an agreement whereby we would not settle until the company had settled with them. This we refused to do, and never entered into any agreement with them. Furthermore, had it not been for the Boiler Makers on the S. P. and Short Line taking a hand in the fight, there would have been no settlement for any one, and it is a Boiler Maker's victory, and they should receive the credit. The Machinists went so far as to circulate reports concerning the Boiler Maker's Committee, and claimed they would accept no settlement that was not honorable, and they tried to induce our men to stay out and not return to work, and they the Machinists, would get them greater concessions and a larger increase of pay; well, the Machinists' Executive Council made the settlement for them, and they settled along the same lines as the Boiler Makers, excepting that they did nothing for their Helpers who had staid with them throughout the trouble, and returned to work and are working now without them. The Boiler Makers on the other hand got a greater increase for their Helpers than they did for themselves, and the Helpers on the U. P. system are getting the highest rate of pay of any Boiler Maker Helpers in the country and they all returned to work.

As we stated before, the action of the Brothers on the S. P. and Short Line won the fight for us and virtually changed defeat into victory; the Brothers and friends who assisted us financially are also responsible for our victory, for had it not been for their liberal assistance we could never have stood it so long, but thanks to their liberality, none of the strikers suffered to any great extent, and we firmly believe that this victory has placed us in a position where it will not be necessary for the Boiler Makers and Helpers to put up another fight in order to gain something near living wages and favorable conditions to work under.

Extending you the heartfelt thanks of the Boiler Makers and Helpers, their wives and families on the U. P. system, we remain, sincerely and fraternally yours,

A PIECE FROM SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN ABOUT TWO OF OUR BROTHERS WHO ARE FORGING TO THE FRONT.

The Iron Trades Council is presided over by John R. Matheson, one of the foremost labor leaders of the city. During his incumbency the employes in the iron industry of the city have been greatly benefited, both in wages and hours. Only recently the Union Iron Works raised the wages of its men 10 per cent, and nine hours is universal at all iron works in San Francisco.

The Iron Trades Council is enjoying a season of prosperity it has not experienced for a long time, and it is in a great measure owing to the ability of its officers and Executive Committee. Mr. Matheson has been in the labor movement in San Francisco some four or five years, and in that time his comrades have honored him with many positions of responsibility and trust. He seems to be the right man in the right place.

A. D. Porter of the Boiler Makers' Union is a native son and has been twenty-five years in the labor movement. He is at present business agent for two lodges of Boiler Makers, and by his systematic business methods and strict attention to his office is making the unions he represents a power in the labor field of this city.

Recently commodious offices have been opened at 87 Third street, where these two gentlemen can be found. Mr. Porter is a thorough mechanic, having learned his trade at the Union Iron Works.

Headquarters California State Federation of Labor, 278 Thirteenth Street, Oakland, Cal.

To Organized Labor, Greeting:

For more than a year past a Los Angeles concern known as the "Independent Labor Bureau," has been flooding the eastern states with misleading statements regarding conditions of the labor market in Southern California, said circulars causing many men of limited means to leave their homes to come to this state in the hope of obtaining employment at the fancy wages told of in the circulars.

The Los Angeles Times, the notorious foe to unionism, has aided and abetted the said "Independent Labor Bureau" in the nefarious scheme of flooding our state with idle men in the hope of weakening our unions, and we deem it a duty we owe to laboring people everywhere, whether organized or unorganized, to warn them against being misled into leaving their homes and employment in the east in the hope of finding lucrative employment here.

The agricultural districts of the Pacific Coast are being flooded with Japanese and Mexican cheap labor, against which it is impossible for white men to successfully compete, so that mechanics and artisans who fail to find lucrative employment at their accustomed vocations discover it to be impossible to secure employment even in the most menial classes of occupation except at the lowest standard of wages.

It is therefore urged upon all labor organizations that as much publicity as possible be given this statement of facts pertaining to the labor situation in California, to the end that the harmful results of wholesale immigration to California under misapprehension of the true conditions, may be minimized as much as possible.

JOHN DAVIDSON, President.
GEO. K. SMITH, Secretary-Treasurer.

Notice to Helpers' Divisions of Boiler Makers.

Don't take in your Union a person by the name of Marion Adams, as we do not recommend him to be fit for a member in any Union of the Boiler Makers or Helpers' Division. By authority of Golden Rule Lodge, No. 51 H. D., Lima, Ohio. Fraternally

STEPHAN P. CURRAN,
Secretary.

LODGE 39.

The following due books have been lost, which please advertise. They are members of No. 39:

Chas. Deytz, Reg. No. 29703.
Wm. Duframe, Reg. No. 27097.
Paul Stange, Reg. No. 28883.

GEO. RAYBOULD,
Cor. Sec. No. 39.

The above picture is that of an animal employed at present by the Kansas City Southern Railroad, by the name of Jake Begley. He has a title attached to his name since the strike, as Foreman Boiler Maker.

This thing was a member of No. 221. He came to Pittsburg from Wellington, where he served his time in a small round house. After coming here he was helped by the boys and shown how to do his work. He only worked a short time when he began looking for a large job, where he might get a chance to show his ability. He went to Shawnee on the Choctaw, where he made quite a spread and got chummy with an engineer. He is great on standing in with some outside person, where he can pour his tale of woe into their ears and receive their sympathy. While at Shawnee one of his children was taken sick, and this engineer friend stood good for his drug and doctor bill and is still standing for it, for this deadbeat don't pay anything. A boiler maker who was friendly to him also had a barber bill to pay for him. From Shawnee he went to Omaha and worked a short time for the Missouri Pacific, but did not seem to be doing well, so the boys interceded for him and got him reinstated in the shops at Pittsburg again. He was only here a short time when his mind began to ramble and yearn for higher honors. He began writing to different master mechanics for a foremanship, and not meeting with success in this his mind began working and he conceived the idea that were he to start a contract shop that it would only be a matter of a short time until he would own Kansas.

He quit the shop and started his contract shop and in a short time the strike of the boiler makers took place and then this cur began running around sympathizing with the strikers and at the same time trying to get the foremanship.

He even went so far as to go to the grand secretary and treasurer and tried to get him to fix it so that he could scab and still be a union man.

Failing in this he went to work on the sly, but his conscience seemed to hurt him. He turned the keys back to the master mechanic and came out again for a couple of days, but as he was the only man that could fill the place, he felt that he was doing the company an injustice by staying out, so he returned to the bull pen with the rest of the scabs. He now sneaks up town with a deputy sheriffs star in his pocket and a big gun.

He looks like a bad man by his sneaking around with a bodyguard wherever he goes.

He also has some friends in the form of women who are acting as spies for him by watching some of the boilermakers and their families and listening to what is said and reporting to him.

Now, this scab foreman has two of his brothers-in-law scabbing with him. One of the brutes is a narrow minded cock-eared son of a gun by the name of Frank Burr, and was, previous to the strike, a helper in the boiler shop, but has since the strike been promoted to boiler maker. He is a first-class specimen of a scab.

Scab Begley, not satisfied with scabbing himself, is making scabs of all of his wife's people. Now, brothers, should any of you ever meet this scabby scab turn him down as he should be.

Lodge No. 221 has placed a small fine on him of $500 and suspension, and are not at all particular as to his ever paying it.

Yours truly, LODGE No. 221.

Lodge 221.

PITTSBURG, Kas., June 2, 1903.—I will try and write a few lines for the Journal again. Our strike is now going over to the fourth month with no prospects of a settlement as yet, but the boys here are just as solid as they were the 13th of March. Of course, we could return without contract and at the same rate of pay that we quit, but we will not do that with scab foreman and scabs all around us. To think of a member of 221 going in there, one that quit the shops to make a fortune in contract work (and just quit to get out of the strike), and then as soon as this strike come on went in and took a job of scab foremanship, and now has all the helpers and relation he can get at work in the boiler shop. We have one consolation. We have placed $500 on his head and suspension until fine and all back dues and assessments are paid. You can take a look at him in this Journal. His name is Jake Begley. Now on top of all this low work we intend to win this strike if the brothers will stay away from here. There have been several here who claim to be card men. Of course we cannot get their names and registered numbers, but there is one old time scab here, who came from the U. P. and goes by the name of Brown. For the month of May he turned in time for ninety days and seven hours, but the company cut him down to sixty days, and that surely should be enough for any man (but he is not a man) in one month. Well, brothers, the south end of this road only has two men doing boilerwork, and they are only handy men or helpers, and the engines show the class of work done on them, for there are 21 dead engines on that division, and only six able for service on this division. The company is faring better, as they had 12 new engines to start in with, but some of those have been dying on the road already.

Now we have another trouble before us. There are some C. & A. engines being brought here, but we hope to see that shut out at once by Bro. McNeil.

We will have the face of another elsewhere in this Journal, and hope if anybody can name and locate it that they will please do so in our next Journal. Hoping you may find space for this in the Journal, I am

Fraternally,

LODGE No. 21.

PITTSBURG, Kas., June 15, 1903.—The above is the face of J. A. Begley, Reg. No. 8307, a member of No. 221 of Pittsburg, who was duly tried on the charge of refusing to come out of shop when asked to do so by the president of local No. 221 and also shown a letter from the grand president calling the men out, for which offense the committee found him guilty of scabbing; also for working incompetent men, and the lodge placed a fine on him of $500 and suspension until fine and all back dues and assessments are paid.

Just think of a man closing up a contract shop of his own to take a scab job of foremanship. Look at that face and always remember it.

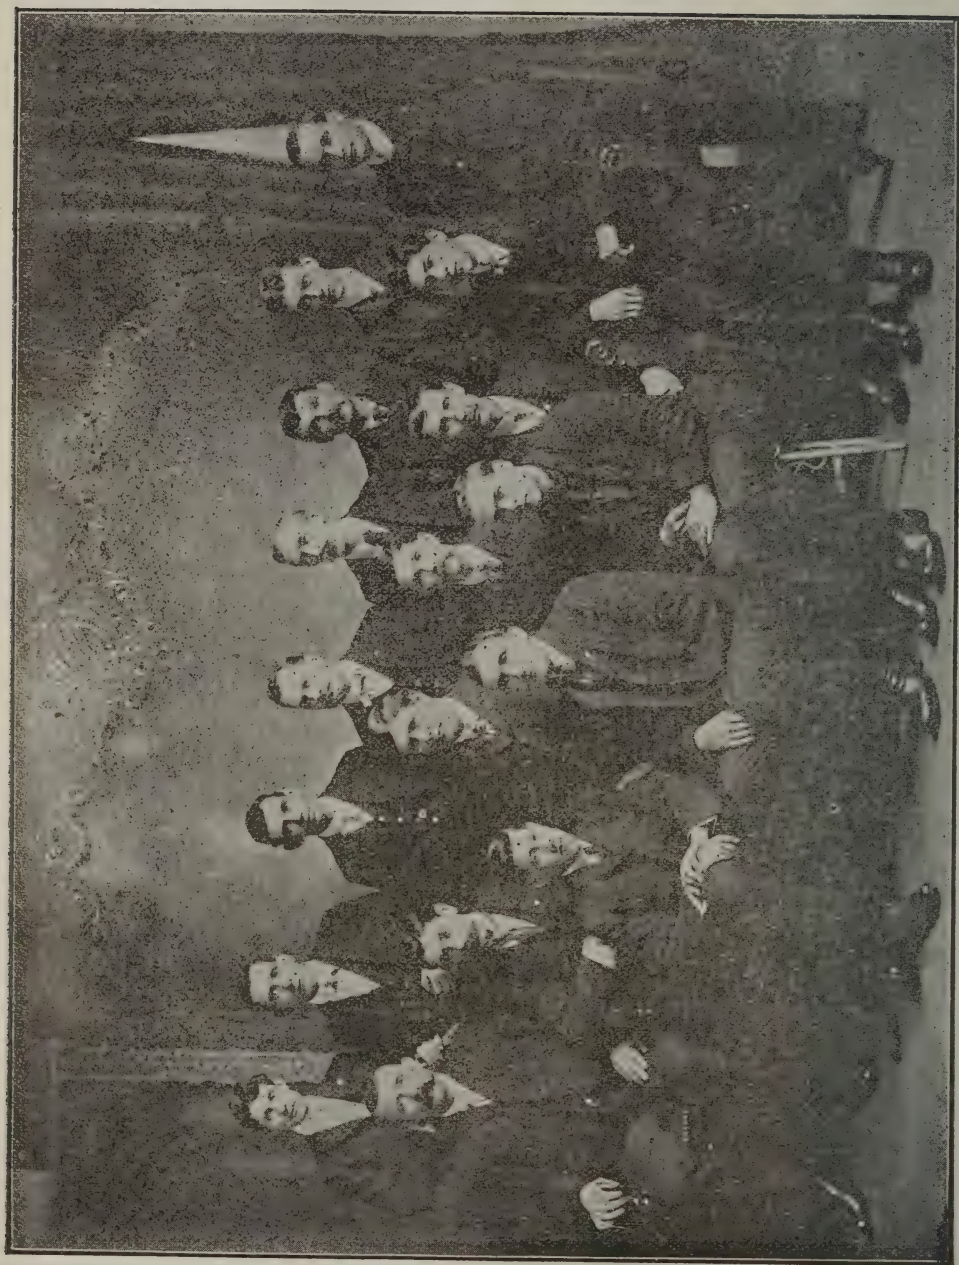

Yours truly,

LODGE No. 221.

Anybody knows the location or name of this please report through the next Journal, and oblige members of Pittsburg Lodge 221.

Lodge 326.

GRAFTON, Va., May 31, 1903.—I think you will be surprised to receive a letter from me for the Journal, as I have not written one for a long time. Enclosed find picture of seventeen members of our lodge, which you can print in the Journal of next month. Lodge No. 326 is in a prosperous condition and is still growing. We called a special meeting last Saturday night, May 30, and we had a very interesting meeting.

We have thirty members in our lodge, an increase of six since our organization, and are still reaching out for more.

We have one happy-faced boiler maker in our shop over the arrival of a "baby boiler maker" in his home in the last week. We extend congratulations to Bro. Garlow in his success.

With best wishes and regards, I remain,
Yours fraternally,

H. J. KOCH.

REPORT OF DOMINIC KANE, G. V. P.

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., June 18, 1903.—After asking the G. P. O. to call out the Southern Pacific at Pocatello, I started for Portland, that being the last lodge on the Southern Pacific. Of course, I knew already how they were going to vote, being advised by private letter. As they had only seven members it did not effect the result. After holding a meeting and polling the members I started for home, tired and for the first time in my life completely played out with traveling. After a day's rest I went over to Tacoma, Wash., where there was and is, so far as my knowledge goes, a little trouble to square up between No. 247 and the Grand Lodge. When I came back to the hotel after talking the matter over with some of the boys, I got a telegram from the G. P. O. telling me that the strikers on the U. P. demanded my presence at the conference, and asking me when I could be in Omaha. Of course I felt it an honor to know that I was chosen by the heroes of the U. P. to look after their interests at the conference. Owing to circumstances already known by the public the conference was called in New York. Well, I met Bro. Gilthorpe and Bro. Waters of Lodge No. 32. The latter was going with me to the conference at Omaha and had matters explained. After a three-hour rest in Omaha, Bro. Waters and myself started for New York. The result of the conference will be covered by pen better adapted for that kind of work than mine. The G. P. O. at the end of the conference asked me to go with him to Pittsburgh, Pa., where a conference was held between the committee of No. 154 and the boiler manufacturers. That also will be written up by others. I started for Chicago, leaving the G. P. O. in Pittsburgh. When I got to Chicago I was requested by the G. S. T. to take a hand in the Chicago Heights strike and to investigate thoroughly the reasons for striking. Well, to make a short story of the affair it was a very bad mistake of the shop committee. There was nothing left for me to do after I had polled the men but order them back. They have a very good agreement with the firm, and as the latter seems to be willing to excuse the committee for the indiscretion they and all committees should be very careful in their future actions.

From Chicago I started for headquarters just in time to get tied up by the flood on the Missouri side. The devastation and desolation is something terrible to contemplate. One of the first men I met in Kansas City was Mr. Meseraull the printer who gets out our Journal. Here was a case, only one in hundreds, who saw his savings of a life time swept away in one night. It brings a man to realize how small human ingenuity is when the elements take a hand in running matters.

On the second day I got over to Kansas City, Kas., in a steamboat and started out on a trip over the U. P. system as there seemed to be a great deal of misunderstanding between our members and the master mechanics at the various divisions. I arrived in Omaha about five hours late. Sometimes we were afraid we would have to get out and walk as the track was very dangerous, owing to late washouts. I was met at the depot by Bro. Kennedy, district president, and together we went to see Mr. McKeen, Supt. of Motive Power of the Union Pacific, who satisfied me that his intentions were honorable and that he intended to live up to the very letter of the agreement. I promised him that I would request our members to do the same. We held a meeting on Monday evening of the boiler makers and helpers and after mutual explanations everything seemed satisfactory to the men. The following morning I started for North Platte, Neb., and held a very satisfactory meeting there. I was going to mention the good fellows here, but I find I cannot as I am lacking the roster of their lodges and they all come under that head.

I started at 1 a. m. for Denver, and after visiting some of the shops called a special meeting the following night, which was well attended and very successful. I intended to start for Cheyenne on the early train Saturday, and had wired them to that effect, but late in the evening Mr. Turtle, the master mechanic, sent a message asking me to meet him the following morning. Of course I did so and found out that Mr. McKeen had wired him to find out what conditions I had found at North Platte. I answered by advising him on a point of policy to leave conditions as they are there at present. Well, I came on to Cheyenne and found out that here I would have the most severe task of my journey. The men to a man were dissatisfied with the conditions and from an unprejudiced feeling (that I have tried to carry over this system) I saw they had a good reason for dissatisfaction. I wired Mr. McKeen at Omaha to arrange an interview for me with Mr. Niland, master mechanic here to try and arrange matters satisfactory. Well, Mr. McKeen was starting out on an inspection trip that very day and he wired the office at Cheyenne to have me meet his train here. Owing to some mistake on their part I did not get notified until after he had passed through. Well, the grievance was so strong that I thought it my duty to stay here until he came back. In the meantime we had a meeting and a committee was appointed to go with me to meet him. Well, we got together at noon today (Wednesday), and while everything did not come our way, yet I believe that Mr. McKeen satisfied the committee that everything would work itself out to our advantage. I started for Ogden on the 3:40 train en route to Frisco.

D. KANE, G. V. P.

ORGANIZED LABOR'S CRISIS.

Coming from Clarence Darrow, attorney for the anthracite miners and friend of John Mitchell, a warning to organized labor to come to its senses and consider whether it is going cannot be regarded by reasoning workmen with distrust nor can it be resented as unfriendly criticism. Mr. Darrow's address on "The Perils of Trades Unionism," delivered before the Henry George Association in Chicago, is not a "blow" at organized labor, as some have been overquick to hail it. It is the earnest remonstrance of a thoughtful man against the follies into which workmen have drifted and which menace them and the social structure with disaster. It needs courage for a friend of the laborer to rebuke his selfishness, ignorance and recklessness, and only a true and wise friend, an unselfish friend, could dare so much and speak so plainly.

What Mr. Darrow says will be misunderstood, distorted and resented by the ignorant and denied by the selfish and designing, but the men of brains and heart at the head of labor organizations know that he speaks words of wisdom and truth, and that his warning comes none too soon. It is true that the greatest peril of trades unionism is its rapid growth; that organization, which should be but a means, has become an end, and its true purpose forgotten. As Mr. Darrow says:

"Labor has caught the fever of trades unionism and, without knowing what it means or realizing how it may be of real service to the world, has turned its power and energy in the direction of building up organizations.

Unless this force is turned to substantial methods of bettering industrial conditions, rather than to gaining temporary or personal advantages, then all this great movement must be for naught."

Local conditions illustrate this point. Unions in the building trades in Philadelphia have grown numerically to enormous proportions within the last two or three years, but instead of bettering industrial conditions and adjusting relations between employer and employed on a basis of reciprocal benefits, they have striven for power, wrangled over questions of authority and control, promoted reasonless strife and turmoil and paralyzed progress. Building operations involving enormous outlay are suspended, not because employers are unwilling to pay good wages, but in many cases because wrangling unions refuse to recognize each other. If the builder accedes to the demands of one union, another calls its men out. Situations have arisen something like these: The carpenters refuse to work with the plasterers, the masons with the carpenters, or the hod-carriers with anybody, and half a dozen men digging a pipe trench may stop all work on a million-dollar building contract because the plumbers belong to a rival combination of unions.

In many of the controversies which have tied up building enterprises of vast proportions in this city it is virtually impossible for an impartial investigator to discover what are the real merits of the case. The quarrels are not between capital and labor; no principles governing the creation and distribution of wealth are at stake, or even mentioned. It is all chaos and empty strife, a mere welter of industrial anarchy. Labor is possessed by the demons of aimless organization and selfish jealousy and is running down a steep place.

Now, these words of Clarence Darrow are as eternally true as the axioms of Euclid:

"When all is said and done the power of public opinion is the one controlling power in the world. A sufficient public opinion will preserve trade unionism. A strong enough hostile public opinion will destroy it. Trade unionism has fought its long battle and won its well-earned victories because it stood for something more than individual selfishness; because it really meant the upbuilding of the race. If it should lose its moral force and descend to pure selfishness it is bound to fall to pieces."

No strike important enough to attract general notice ever was won in defiance of public opinion, and no great movement of labor toward betterment of its lot ever failed when supported by public sentiment. The great coal strike succeeded because the public recognized the justice of the miners' demands and supported them as against one of the strongest, richest, most arrogantly obstinate combinations of capital and corporate power in the country. Without that support the anthracite miners would have lost the greatest battle ever fought by organized labor. That they know and freely admit. Whoever does not recognize and admit that fact is unfit to counsel or lead any organization of labor.

Public opinion has not found full and definite expression as yet concerning the fantastic muddle which union-mad labor is making of industrial conditions, but it is distinctly not sympathetic with frivolous strikes and reasonless quarrels of warring unions. When trades unionism perverts its power to the promotion of wasteful strife and ceases to be a constructive force in the development of the country, public opinion will declare the situation intolerable and find the way to end it.

Until labor realizes that "organization" means something more than mere agglomeration of units; that it means adjustment of parts, regulation of movements of the industrial mechanism, efficiency in production, equalization of opportunity and unity of effort to establish equity in distribution of products, it will waste its strength in futile scuffling over non-essentials and remain at the mercy of brains more cunning and more intelligently selfish in counter-combination.

A crisis in the life of organized labor in the United States is impending. It is foreshadowed in aimless strikes, in irrational unrest, in the seething turbulence of masses of men who can give no lucid reason for their turmoil, in the defensive drawing together of harassed employers, in the growing hostility of public opinion to purposeless disturbers of business. The need for sane counsel, sharp rebuke and earnest remonstrance against foolish action is great; and the man who supplies that need takes his courage in both hands if he values the friendship of those whom he would save from their own folly. Clarence Darrow has dared greatly. Will organized labor understand him and heed him? Will its leaders stand by him and tell their followers that "faithful are the wounds of a friend?"

SENT BY LODGE NO. 2.

Lodge 369.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 7, 1903.—Alexandria Lodge No. 369 of the Boilermakers' Brotherhood and Iron Shipbuilders of America was organized on May 18, in the old historic Friendship Fire Engine Co. hall.

The Friendship company was organized in 1774 with George Washington as one of the members.

Bro. Reames of No. 254, acted as organizer, assisted by myself, of No. 143, Marble City. Bro. Reames occupied the chair that Washington presided in under the shadow of his portrait. Everything passed off as if old veterans had hold of the lever.

Our numbers are small, but let us hope that they will be as loyal to the cause as Washington was to the American colonies.

Our president and vice president were duly installed to their duties. Our vice president (James Travis) and known in the shop as Uncle Jim, used to run with the Friendship machine—a veteran fireman and boiler maker.

Bro. Charles Reames leaves the employ of the Southern railroad to return to the Hicks Locomotive Works. We are sorry to lose him as he is a good shop mate and a first-class workman and a true blue union man.

We wish him success back in the windy city.

Yours truly,

C. W. SANDS,
915 King street, Alexandria, Va.

P. S. After we get in shape, no card, no work here.

IN REGARD TO FINES.

In looking over the May Journal, I see where Lodge No. 38 of Omaha has fined one of its members $300 (three hundred dollars) for scabbing. Gee whiz! that's a stunner. Just think of it! Five months' work and wages at $60 per month, for the pleasure of working when others are striving to better the conditions. Some time ago I also saw in the Journal where a brother was fined $200 (two hundred dollars) by his lodge, and according to our Journal, his wife paid it. Lucky for him to have such a wife. But how about this other fellow? Will his wife come forth with the long green and also pay up? I won't say that Lodge No. 38 was not justified in fining this member. No doubt they know their business, but surely this ought to be the limit in fines. I would not be a bit surprised to see in the near future where some lodge will fine a brother $500 (five hundred dollars); yes, a thousand, and then it would be good business policy on his part to pay same, for if P. T. Barnum was still alive he would have this man if money could procure him and then put him on exhibition in the side show. Then the showman when announcing what he had on exhibition would go on thus: "Ladies and Gentlemen, etc.—I will not introduce to you Mr. Peterze Truchizowskowsky, one of the greatest wonders of our age. He is a boilermaker by trade, having worked at the same during the last famous strike at the U. P. R. R. boiler shops, for which his lodge fined him $1,000 (one thousand dollars), and he paid it!"—Now, brothers, this is a very serious matter, and we should give it our attention. When a former brother should stoop so low as to go and scab we should always take in consideration whether it is his first, second or third offense; then when you are imposing a fine always make it reasonable so the brother can be able to pay for same. Make him subject to you; make him feel his error; but when you go to work and say $200 or $300 fine, I don't see how a brother is ever going to pay for same if he is rearing a family, and should he be well off and have the means to pay the same the chances are he will not do so. He can get along without working at boilermaking.

Now, let me ask the brothers in general would you pay such a fine? What do I hear? Not by a jug full. No, and a thousand noes. When you impose a fine of such an amount you simply make it impossible for the brother to make his error good again. You simply don't want him in your organization. There is where we are wrong again, for goodness only knows there are enough delinquents in every lodge who fall by the wayside every six or eight months. We need each and every boilermaker working at the business, and the sooner we come to realize this the better for all concerned. Why not make the fine $25, $50 or $100, according to the means, and have the fine paid within a reasonable length of time; if not, put on 5 or 10 per cent until paid. High fines will never abolish scabbing no more than hanging will murder. Many a poor devil would gladly go to the scaffold if by so doing the party murdered could come back to life and make his deed undone. And so it is with many a scab. If you only give him a chance to get back on his feet and find his bearings probably he would never commit such an offense again, for remember a burnt child shuns the fire. Now I don't want to be misunderstood and have some of you think that I am encouraging scabbing by having light fines imposed, not in the least, but if I were to be placed in this same position and the lodge insisted upon having the whole amount, I could not or would not pay it. I would appeal to the grand lodge and if I did not get any satisfaction there I would say farewell boilermaking, adieu. I would turn scavenger than my name would fit to my surroundings. Or grave digger, and in the course of time some of you would die and as chance would have it I might dig the grave and do you the last friendly act that was done to you by man on this earth. I whom you despised, whom you hounded all over this earth and in a little while again it would be my turn to cross the great beyond, and kind hands would also dig my grave and put me to rest and as chance would have it beside you. There we lay both of us side by side waiting for our Creator to come and call us on judgment day.

Now brothers let us make common work of this, let us not be too avaricious. Just because we hold the whip hand over some erring brother, let us not drive him to death. Show him some kindness even if it does hurt our pride in doing so. Remember what you dislike in another take care to correct in yourself. With best wishes to all I remain,

Yours fraternally,

G. M. L. 71.

BEWARE OF HIM.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—At a regular meeting of Los Angeles Lodge No. 92, held on the 27th ult. I was instructed to have W. T. Newton, Reg. No. 11909, published in the Journal, and suspended until further notice from this lodge. Our finance committee after a due and careful auditing of his books report a shortage of $117.25 which he appropriated for his own use. He was duly notified by our finance committee to appear and show cause why he should not be made to pay the shortage, but ignoring all communications sent him, I informed No. 337 where he was employed and they gave him 30 days to square up with No. 92 which he promised to do. Before the expiration of this time he quit and went to Jerome, Ariz., where he tried to organize a lodge. (Why not, there is money in it.) But he got fired for some reason not known to the writer and that's the last we heard of him. Brothers, this man, W. T. Newton poses as a deputy grand organizer. He came to Los Angeles presumably from Terre Haute, Ind., and reorganized No. 92 and the members here placed a great deal of confidence in him and elected him to the office of corresponding and financial secretary, which he held from the date of reorganization Aug. 22d, 1902 to March 15th, 1903., which gave him full swing without bond to conduct the lodge business to suit himself (on the W. T. Newton plan).

Besides the shortage on the books there is other evidence of his dishonesty. Nearly every mail we receive cards issued by him and the president's name forged, and no record of them on the books. It seems that he issued cards to any one that came along with the price.

Now, Mr. Secretary and Brothers, No. 92 insists that this be continued in three issues of the Journal unless otherwise ordered, and we further insist that W. T. Newton must pay every dollar that he defrauded this lodge out of before he can get a clean card in this brotherhood, and that he be accorded such treatment as men of his type and character deserve.

Fraternally,

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD COMPANY, OFFICE OF SUPERINTENDENT OF MACHINERY.

Chicago, June 5, 1903.

Article No. 1.—All Boiler Makers at Burnside shops, Chicago, shall be paid at the rate of 36 cents per hour; boiler makers employed in shops on the Illinois Central outside of Chicago will be paid at the rate of 34 cents per hour. It is to be understood that boiler makers not coming up to the requirements of first class boiler makers will not be retained.

Article 2.—Referring to request that nine hours shall constitute a day's work.

The committee concedes that it will be impossible for the railroad company to make this concession, and agrees that ten hours shall constitute a day's work.

Article 3.—That the boiler maker employed as the layer-out at Burnside shall receive 37½ cents per hour; also the man employed as flanger shall receive 37½ cents per hour. In shops on the system outside of Chicago, the flanger to receive 35 cents per hour.

Article 4.—That apprentices receive full rate of pay at the expiration of their apprenticeship of four years, if qualified; if not qualified, to leave the service.

Article 5.—The boiler makers are to be accorded the same privilege in regard to transportation as is now had, or will be had, by other classes of employes at Burnside shops.

Article 6.—The superintendent of machinery rules that it is the policy of this company when vacancies occur or new positions are created, to promote its employes. The same policy will be continued, based on the judgment and recommendations of the officers in charge.

Article 7.—When it becomes necessary to reduce expenses, that the number of hours first be reduced, then after reaching 8 hours a day and still further reductions must be made, the boiler makers last hired shall be laid off.

Article 8.—Request that wages shall be paid semi-monthly, instead of once a month. Request cancelled.

Article 9.—In places where there are flue setters and handy men doing ash pan, smoke stack and front end work, this rule will remain in force until such men in the employ leave the company's service, and when positions become vacant they are to be filled with boiler makers, who are to do this class of work. At such shops on the system where boiler makers are doing this work they are to continue the same.

Article 10.—Request time and one-half for legal holidays.

This request granted; it is understood by the committee and the company that legal holidays will consist of New Years, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Article 11.—"That any boiler maker or apprentice called on to work over time shall not receive less than 5 hours."

It is conceded that when called upon to work in over time hours, they will be furnished 3 hours and 20 minutes work, and at the rate of time and a half will warrant the amount of five hours pay.

Article 12.—That reply be given to their communication.

This request complied with.

Article 13.—Request that rivet boys receive ten cents per hour.

The superintendent of machinery rules, and it is accepted by the committee that this is a matter that should be governed by the officers in charge.

This agreement to take effect June 1, 1903, and remain in effect for one year and thereafter until thirty days notice shall have been given by either party desiring a change.

Fined for Scabbing.

J. A. Begley of Lodge 221, Reg No. 8307, foreman boilermaker at Pittsburg, Kans.; fine $500 and suspended until paid and all back dues and assessments.

Daniel Miller of Lodge 313 Reg No. 21632 at Brooklyn, N. Y.; $100 fine and expelled.

Lodge 79.

GARRETT, INDIANA, June 2, 1903.—Saturday, May 30, being Memorial day the brothers of Lodge No. 79, B. of B. M. and I. S. of A., turned out in a body and marched to the cemetery to pay their tender tribute of love to our deceased members, which are enshrined in our memory, and in which we are reminded of their virtues and encouraged to emulate them. By them we are reminded of the uncertainty of life; and from this we should deduct the lesson, that each opportunity to do good to our brothers and the world around us should be embraced, as we, like our deceased brothers, may soon be beyond the reach of opportunities. This not only brings honor to the dead but is of benefit to the living. Each year hundreds of names are added to roll call of our honored dead. One year ago how little did we dream whose name would be added to the list during the year. No more accurately can we now surmise whose names will make the list for another year.

My brother, it may be your name, mine, or some friend who will accompany the B. of B. M. and I. S. of A. to the cemetery to participate in their memorial service, feeling proud that you were a member of the B. of B. M. and I. S. of A.

This is indeed a beautiful custom, and am proud to say that No. 79 has practiced this for some time and we should feel it a sacred duty to perpetuate it.

Lodge 107.

MILWAUKEE, WIS., June 2, 1903.—All boilermakers went out on a strike this morning, June 1, for a demand of a nine hour working day and a minimum wage scale of $2.75 a day. There are eleven shops in this city who are effected by the strike. The men have been working nine and ten hours a day for various wages. Most of them receiving more than $2.75 a day, will stand as before. There was a committee appointed to wait on all shops. The committee that was appointed was as follows: Jacob Schwitzer, President, Loreme Long, John Sonenberg, John O. Coners and George Berger. The committee waited upon all shops, and the committee reported that the bosses agreed upon having a meeting and they would report to the committee, but no report received yet, but from one shop, that's the Galling and Henning Drum Works. There is about eight boiler makers and twenty helpers working there. They have signed the agreement. That's the only shop so far. Hoping this will come out all right, and hoping you will do all in your power to keep all boiler makers from Milwaukee, I remain yours fraternally,

Lodge 222.

FERNANDINA, FLA., May 20, 1903.—At the last regular meeting of No. 222, the following officers were elected:

W. E. Tuck, President; H. R. Semkins, Vice-President; M. S. Heenesey, R. S.; S. A. Berner, C. S.; W. P. Lacy, F. S.; Trustees H. R. Semkins, W. E. Tuck, M. S. Heenesey. We have a clean shop. All card men. Business fair.

There is one unpleasant and serious harmful characteristic about many who have strong convictions. It is more especially noted among reformers. It is a stumbling block that often assumes vast proportions and the accomplishment of important results is frequently impossible because of it. I speak of the ever ready inclination to most scathingly condemn all those whose conclusions appear to differ from their own even in small detail.

The mind of no two persons are exactly alike and we must expect a difference when the power of reasoning intelligently is possessed. Why can we not get rid of this narrowness of mind? Why can we not be generous? Why can we not realize the great value of encouraging and combining with all those who are working for similar objects. This quarreling and quibbling over hair splitting details should not be allowed to stand in the way. We desire to crush oppression; we want better food and clothing. We desire to secure for ourselves and our brethren all our just dues. In a recent issue of this publication there appeared an article entitled, "From Bro. Sheets." It seems as though he wants to throw slurs at No. 222. Now Bro. Sheets I think you ought to be a little more careful and investigate a little before you write an article for publication, as you of course know No. 222 has been very lenient on you in the past and don't think you should speak so harsh until you know the circumstances. The man whom you have reference to came to Fernandina and was a stranger to all but two. He got a job at standard pay and held it all O. K. He put in his application and the committee reported favorable, so he was taken in and his conduct here was gentlemanly, and he was here about six or seven weeks. He paid his own bills and left town like a man.

Of course there is often mistakes made and a great many times they can not be corrected after they are made, but to avoid trouble in the future they all must come with a card or go way back after it, as several has had to do lately. Hoping this explanation will be satisfactory to Bro. Sheets and the Bros. at large.

Yours truly and fraternally,
W. E. TUCK.

Lodge 52.

I hope to find space in our Journal for a few words in regards to U. P. and S. P. troubles for the satisfaction and benefit for all concerned in our noble order. I wish to say a word from No. 52 in regards to the movement of District Lodge, No. 6. I wish to say they are very slack in doing their duty as Bro's., man for man, as we disapprove of the action taken by McKeon and McCracken. In the first place they had no right to travel in Mr. Harriman's private car. In the second place they had to be persuaded to leave his car and attend the meeting in Omaha. Now if you call this brother unity I have a different name for it. We stand on record as being as quick as any subordinate in taking up any matter and with any person who fails to do their whole duty. I have also been informed that McKeon and McCracken has made some remarks, as to Bro. Gilthorpe not doing the right thing in regard to S. P. and U. P. troubles. I wish to state that when they step on his toes they are on ours, as he has proved himself to be a grand and noble Brother, and doing his whole duty and we believe him to be a man who loves honor and our brotherhood better than gold. Hoping the U. P. trouble to be settled right or not at all, as those Brothers have fought long and hard for their rights, and No. 52 says to fight on or get your rights and we are with you, to the man, in any way you may ask of us. With many happy wishes to the U. P. we are yours as ever, No. 52.

C. A. MANN, C. S.

Lodge 346.

As No. 346 has been in the Union for the past four months, we have been having two good meetings each month which takes place on the second and fourth Sunday of each month. We have good men in our lodge as good as you will find in any shop. We have for foreman Mr. James Duffie, as fine a man as we could wish to have, and then good natured Jim O'Neil and Bro. Tim Mahoney, who is trying his hand on the flange fire these days. Then comes our president, J. W. Press, who is a great fisherman as well as boilermaker. Also our young orator Bro. Wm. H. Westbrook and a good Union man also, and then comes our secretary, up to our last meeting with a big smile on his face and box of cigars on account of a handsome young boilermaker, which came to their house about the 18th. The wife and son both doing well. May there be lots more young boilermakers to keep up our ranks. Bro. Taylor has his share of them already, one of them is apprentice now and two more to follow their big brother. We are getting along fine in our lodge, the brothers all being in good standing. We have had no trouble excepting a little with the helpers which was quickly settled after matters was explained to them. We all look for our Journal as soon as we think it is due and like to read the letters from the Brothers of the Order. I have to close for this time as this is my first, hoping its lot won't be in the waste basket.

I am yours fraternally,

WM. H. T.

No. 346's Night Hawk.

LODGE 51.

A Word from Marquette Lodge No. 51 of the World's Fair City.

ST. LOUIS, MO., June 16, 1903.—I think this the first time we have been heard from through the Journal. We, the members of this lodge are all sheet iron workers, which is the making of tanks, breechings, smoke stacks and all work that is done around the boiler yard with cold rivets. Our gauge of iron is from eighteen iron to one-fourth iron. Our rivets in said work run from 12 lb. rivets to seven-sixteenth rivets drove cold. We have to get out our own work and put it up complete, shearing, punching and riveting done by ourselves, also bending of angle iron and our own flanging. My reasons for explaining our line of work was for to let the brothers at large know that if they should come across a traveling Bro. of Lodge No. 51 with a card reading most experienced at sheet iron work, for them not to think that he can not also do some boiler work, for we are raised right up in the same shops and have experience.

Now in regard to our little lodge I wish to say that we are doing fine. We have a membership of between 90 and 100 and we make them all keep a clear card or no work. We are just after getting our agreements signed for another year which means an increase in wages. Trade conditions at present here are very good. There is a few of our members that don't attend meetings, not even quarterly meetings, but think the lodge will put a fine on them hereafter. They think by paying their dues and assessments that they are good Union men, but if we all done that we would not have a lodge and there is no telling how many hours we would be working for a day's wages and what wages we would be receiving if we did not have a lodge. At present our scale is 35 cents per hour for nine hours work. Double time for all over time and Sundays and the following holidays; Christmas, New Years, Independence Day and "Labor Day."

There is a good many "Hobos" coming this way saying they are sheet iron workers. They have no card and cannot give a good account of themselves so they can not go to work here, as we are sure that they are drifting from the Union Pacific where the big strike has been settled and there is no more room for scabs and I will state that when they come to St. Louis they will get a cold reception as it is a case of no card no work in this town. I think I will come to a close thinking I have said enough for a beginner, but will try to write oftener hereafter.

Fraternally yours,

M. J. GLEASON, J. C.

Lodge 104.

SEATTLE, June 11, 1903.—The following is a true copy of the settlement that No. 104 made with Moran Bros. Iron Workers on June 4th.

The following is not objectionable:

(Sec. 6.) That no contract for any one boat or full piece of work shall be let to one or more, so as to monopolize it for subcontracting.

(Sec. 8.) Overtime on new work shall be time and one half until midnight and double time thereafter. All over time on repair work will be double time.

That wages offered to new and competent men applying shall not be less than 37 cents per hour, though we reserve the right to scale up or down, after man has demonstrated value of service to us. When considering over time it shall start after five o'clock, p. m., 9 hours considered a working day on old work outside of shop and yards and including old work on board ship at our docks, men to work 9 hours and paid for 10 hours. Overtime on old work nine hours and get 9 hours and get paid 20 hours. All work on plant straight time until midnight and time and one-half after 12 o'clock, including Sundays and holidays.

Fifteen Years Ago.

I wandered to the grogshop, Tom; I stood beside the bar,
And drank a bowl of lemonade and smoked a bad cigar;
The same old kegs and jugs were there—the ones we used to know
When we were on the round up, Tom, some
fifteen years ago.

The barkeep is a new one, Tom. The one who used to sell
Corrosive tanglefoot to us is roasting now in—well,
The other has a plate-glass front; his hair is combed quite low,
And looks just like the one we knew some
fifteen years ago.

Old Soak came up and called for booze,—he had the same old grin,— While others burned the lining from their throats with Holland gin.
And women stood beside the door, their faces seamed with woe,
And wept just as they used to weep some
fifteen years ago.

I asked about our old time friends, those cherished, sporty men;
And some were in the poor house, Tom, and some were in the pen;
And one, the one we liked the best, the hangman laid him low.
The world is very much the same, dear Tom,
as fifteen years ago.

I asked about that stately chap, that pride marked as its own.
He used to say that he could drink, or let the stuff alone.
He perished of the James H. Jams, out in the cold and snow—
Ah, few survive who used to booze some
fifteen years ago.

New crowds line up against the bar and call for crimson ink;
New hands are trembling as they pour the stuff they shouldn't drink;
But still the same old watchword rings,
"This round to me you know!"
The same old cry of doom we heard some
fifteen years ago.

I wandered to the churchyard, Tom, and there I saw the graves
Of those who used to drown themselves in red fermented waves;
And there were women sleeping there where grass and daisies grow,
Who wept and died of broken hearts some
fifteen years ago.

And there were graves where children slept,
have slept for many a year,
Forgetful of the woes that marked their fitful sojourn here.
And 'neath a tall white monument, in death
there lieth low
The man who used to sell the booze some
fifteen years ago.
—J. S. Holden, in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Brought Him to Time.

Henry was a bashful lover. He scarcely dared touch his lady's hand. He loved her well, and she was worthy of his affection, for she was modest, intelligent, sweet and honorable; but, like all good women, she yearned for the respectful caresses that are the evidences of a pure affection.

She, however, yearned in vain.

Henry worshipped her. He might kiss the hem of her garment, but to kiss her lips or cheek—the very audacity of the thought made him tremble.

They sat together by the Southern sea, looking out on the track of the moon's light, which white winged yachts were crossing now and then.

It was a witching hour—a scene for love and calm delight.

Suddenly she moved slightly away from him.

"Please, Henry, don't do that," she said.

"What?" he asked in genuine surprise.

"Oh, you needn't ask me!" she replied.

"You were just going to put your arm around my waist—and you were going to try to kiss me."

"Dear Lillie—"

"Oh, you needn't tell me different; you were going to do it. Well, after all, I suppose you are not to blame. It is just what a lover would do to his sweetheart, and I suppose I must not be offended if you do do it."

And Henry grasped the situation and did exactly what Lillie supposed he would do;
and the moon grinned, and the stars winked, and the wavelets laughed, and a wasp, that was about to alight on the maiden's cheek, flew away and settled on the nose of an old maid who was sitting near the band stand.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL ROAD RAISES BOILERMAKERS' PAY.

Men in the Burnside Shops to Receive 36
Cents an Hour.

The Illinois Central Railroad Company has granted a substantial wage increase to all boilermakers on the system.

The agreement was reached Saturday after a seven day's conference between the Boilermakers' Grievance Committee, headed by Chairman J. T. Maloney and John F. Wallace, general manager of the Illinois Central Railroad Company.

The Burnside shop employes will receive 36 cents an hour and the outside shops 34 cents an hour.

Lodge 98.

TUCSON, ARIZONA, June 15, 1903.—After they have all had space, allow lodge No. 98 one little place, in the Journal next. As you have not heard from No. 98 for some time, we would like to say a few words. We have a first class lodge at Tucson. Every meeting night finds all the brothers present. Our representatives to the U. P. settlement passed through here some time ago and gave us a detailed account of the same. We are glad to know that the long hard struggle is at an end, and hope that all will work out well in time. The brothers that has struggled so hard all these long months have our sincere sympathy for the hardships they have endured. They also have our esteemed respect in regard to their manly principles in the way they stood together. Now brothers there is work here for ten more boiler makers and they are wanted bad. But you must have a good card as all others will be promptly turned down.

With best wishes and regards for the craft in general, I remain,

Yours fraternally,
FRANK E. DAILEY,
Cor. Sec. Lodge No. 98.

Lodge 208.

PATERSON, June 16, 1903.—I would like to know if you can give me any information of one William Handbrige who was suspended from Lodge No. 208, some time ago for non-payment of dues, and who was stopped from working here for trying to cast reflections on the members of 208, although they gave him plenty of time to make himself in good standing in the lodge. It is reported around here that he has a card and that he defies 208. The lodge would like to know if he has been taken into any other lodge around this vicinity, as we would inform them of the condition under which he is obligated to 208. With best wishes,

Fraternally yours,

JOHN MURPHY, F. S. L. No. 208.

The brother who is mentioned cannot join any lodge in this Brotherhood legally until No. 208 gives him a clearance.

WM. J. GILTHORPE.

Lodge 190.

LORAIN, OHIO, June 16, 1903.—I expect to be in considerable evidence this summer, having been elected corresponding secretary to the Journal. Lorain certainly has a great future before her, especially for men in our line and it behooves us to try by all honorable means to have an agreement with our employers that will be satisfactory and place us on a good basis with one another, for what is to their interest is certainly to ours. Our lodge is prosperous and harmonious, taking in new members at every meeting.

The main stay of all lodges being good officers, we are very fortunate in that respect. The only thing wanting now is recognition of our Union and everything else will be plain sailing. The committee appointed to meet Superintendent La Marche, of the ship yard with that end in view, and also for a nine hour day system at the present rate of wage were received very kindly. He made them an offer of 10 per cent increase for skilled laborers only. That being the only terms was not satisfactory and the lodge returned it with the hope that Mr. La Marche will see it in a better light and come to a more amicable agreement. We are not seeking trouble and will do everything we can to avoid it. Like all other lodges we have our joys and sorrows. Our President, Charles Maher and his estimable wife, a worthy young couple, have had a life time experience in the past few weeks. Death took her sister suddenly while mourning the loss of her grandmother. The lodge sent flowers and their condolence. Since then God has blessed them with a nice baby girl. Let us hope that out of darkness they have come to the sunshine of their life. Bro. Otto Hack, one of our popular young boilermakers in the B. & O. shops took unto himself a wife, thereby setting a good example to a few other young men, this while smoking good cigars on Bro. Hack. No. 190 offered their best wishes and hope that he will get in line with Bros John Hess and Wm. Ludt and increase the number of boilermakers. For a boomer and hustler in unionism we certainly have it in Bro. James Keenan well known to No. 5. For chairman of a committee and right down business principles our respected treasurer Walter Jordan is the man. He and Bros. Keenan, Ryan, Wiles and several others are engineering a picnic for Sunday, June 21st, at Oak Point, a pleasure resort near here. It is expected there will be a big time. A game of ball between the boilermakers and shipbuilders seems to be one of the big events. If I am not trespassing too much on you valuable space I will say more about that in my next. Visiting brothers will always find a welcome in Lodge 190. They will find we have talent to make it pleasant.

Yours fraternally,

P. J. KELLEY.

SEATTLE GAINS A VICTORY.

Seattle, Wash., June 15.—Lodge No. 104 after two years and twenty-one days continuous fight, against Moran Bros. Iron Works has made a very good settlement, considering length of strike. Our demand was $3.50 for nine hours. At the present writing I cannot give the agreement word for word. But I can give the substance. First, that no man shall contract for any portion of a boat so as to sublet it to others.

Thirty-seven cents per hour shall be the wages of new men starting to work, the company reserves the right to scale up or down in wages according to workman's value to company.

Nine hours to constitute a day's work. Time and one-half on new work until 12 midnight and double time thereafter. On repair work outside of yards and on boats at company's docks 10 hours will be paid for 9 hours work.

Double time will be paid on repair work after five p. m. Double time for Sundays and holidays. All work on plant straight time till 12 midnight.

The agreement was signed by Robert Moran and No. 290 of Bremerton navy yard, kindly volunteered a committee to assist No. 104 in the settlement and was gratefully accepted and we hereby tender our thanks to the brothers of No. 290. The committee from No. 290 was Wm. Fountain, Andy Hanna, and Martin Barthos. The committee from No. 104 was Robert McKim, Thos. Fleming and Edward Doyle.

There is a few scabs from Belfast working, but their names will be brought forward later on.

Yours fraternally,

G. W. REINHARDT,
Cor. Secy. No. 104.

Lodge 161.

Boone, Ia., June 17th, 1903.—Please find a little space in your valuable Journal for a few remarks from the fighting 161. We have got the reputation and might as well keep it. Once more have we with a peaceable feeling coaxed out of the company a few more cents per hour, and we all look brighter of late as we are now among the head rank of wages. A representative from each lodge of the C. and N. W. system met with Mr. Quayle (the superintendent of motive power), the last week of May and a very satisfactory agreement was concluded to, with the exception of the helpers who are now waited upon by Mr. Quayle.

The following wage scale agreed upon, at Chicago shops, 36 cents and all outside points 34 cents.

Now Lodge 161 has watched with eager interest the movement of the struggling U. P. brothers, and it is with pride we point to the results, obtained by their steadfastness for the right, and who by their gain plainly showed that, with a united effort a better result can be had for the betterment of the struggling humanity. Now let us all gain a lesson of this fighting band; stand firm together with a brotherly feeling.

I will a little more fully describe this boilermaker in verse.

Who is this lot of sturdy steel?
With mighty power makes elements yield;
Who looks and touch and stitch in time,
And very often saves the nine.

The Boilermaker.

Who was this little band of tried and true
That fought combines and millions too,
With Busters threats and promises few;
Arose above bullpens and scabbing crew,

The Boilermaker.

Who is this man with rusty hue?
A grip of hands will reveal to you;
For with a good card and dues all paid
His wants will readily be okayed,

The Boilermaker.

We see him often in time of need
To reach out with double speed,
For his hand and heart we generally find
Is built up of the broadminded kind,

This Boilermaker.

If for the right this man is tried,
He often the job will sacrifice;
But on the grievance committees stand,
He'll nobly stand as a gentleman,

This Boilermaker.

Now brothers in the future's fight,
One and all stand for the right.
With mighty powers around us reign;
Will this organization never feign,

All Boilermakers.

Yours fraternally,

By FRITZ JOHNSON, J. C.

WITH THE "MOSELEY INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION" TO THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

PHILADELPHIA.

I left off last month with the statement that the majority of the Commission arrived in Philadelphia on Sunday evening. After fixing up our sleeping apartments, we refreshed the almost famished inner man, stretched our cramped legs by a quiet stroll around the Quaker city, and retired to bed tired out with the day's journey.

On the following morning in conjunction with others, I paid a visit to Messrs. Cramps, of Philadelphia. Both the Mr. Cramps, father and son, were pleased to bid us welcome, and, along with their managers, accompanied us round the shipyard and shops of their large establishment.

In the course of my enquiries I found that the firm were obtaining large quantities of of ships' plates from the old country. The cost per ton, notwithstanding freightage and the tariff duty charged was much below what would have to be paid in America.

This firm may be said to be more typical of our British shipyards than any other shipbuilding firm in the States.

Founded in 1830, 73 years ago, by William Cramp, it has gone on from wood construction, developing and developing until it is looked upon as one of the leading Iron and Steel Shipbuilding yards of the world.

It is modelled upon British lines, the imitation of our methods being the sincerest form of flattery and the present Mr. Cramp considered the remark that his yard resembled our British yard more than any other yard we had seen, as the highest compliment we could pay him, here again admiration of British shipbuilding was expressed by Mr. Cramp giving expression to the opinion that our country's position as the leading shipbuilders was unassailable and not likely to be seriously menaced in the next quarter of a century. Pneumatic tools were certainly used here to a larger extent than we used them, but the shipyard manager would not commit himself to saying that they were cheaper than our home methods, certainly said he the necessity of pneumatic tools would not have arisen if our men could have tackled successfully the heavy rivetting of to-day, as you Britishers tackle it and make a living at the prices paid.

Apart from the pneumatic tools, machinery was similar, except that a novel method of softening by a blow pipe arrangement just the part necessary to drill holes in the nickel steel armour a method of concentrating the heat through a cone to a given spot and which the inventor claimed only softened just the part required, viz:—the size of the hole wanted.

Drop forging for handrail stanchions and other small work was in extensive use but non-union as the yard was they boasted that it always paid to put upon machines the skilled men whose work the machine undertook, in fact, it may be said to be the invariable custom in the States to put skilled men to labor saving machines, a custom that certainly avoids the friction caused by introducing labor saving machinery and displacing the men who have hitherto done the work, and putting unskilled men in their place.

The boiler-shop like the shipyard was very British, in fact the officials and foremen of the shops were extremely anxious to know whether similar machines to theirs were in use in Great Britain, and if any remarks was made about a superior machine, they were not satisfied until they got sufficient details to enable them to make experiments of a similar character.

We took luncheon with the officials of the firm, the same simplicity characterising it as I have before mentioned; no intoxicants, not even light dinner wines, being in evidence.

During the luncheon Mr. Chas. Cramp specially requested me to sit at his table his object being to have a chat over British methods versus American methods of shipbuilding, and a very interesting discussion took place. Mr. Moseley who was sitting at the same table taking a lively interest and part in the discussion. It was at this time that Mr. Chas. Cramp acknowledged the superiority of the British system.

That expression has received confirmation during the last few weeks in a very dramatic manner, for Messrs. Cramp have had to succumb to the Shipping Trust. The reason given for their doing so being the prolonged strike of some two or three years ago, a strike of extreme fierceness and passion a good few lives being lost in the rioting, and greatest of all the impossibility of being able to compete with Great Britain. To use Mr. Cramp's own words, when advocating a large government subsidy to American shipbuilders, they (meaning our British shipbuilders) are able to build from 30 to 40 per cent. cheaper than the shipbuilders of the States.

Speaking of subsidies, it is worthy of notice that at the American Convention of Labor (which is a similar body to our Trades Union Congress) when this question was discussed, Mr. Gilthorpe, General Secretary of the American Society, in advocating the measure argued that it was impossible to compete with Great Britain where wages in the shipbuilding trade was at sweating rates. Strange to say I found this the prevailing opinion of our fellow-craftsmen on that side of the Atlantic, and in justice to Mr. Gilthorpe, I must say that the figures quoted were even in excess of those paid in time wages on the Clyde, from which district he without doubt got his information, and I had therefore to give many explanations of us being, as shipbuilders, piece workers, the time rates being but seldom worked to. However, Americans judge us by our time conditions.

At the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, near Philadelphia, ocean-going steamers are certainly being built upon similar principles to that adopted on the lakes. Elaborate shops, elaborate machinery, elaborate staging, are the order of the day. Templates are almost exclusively used, but although the firm claim to use templates completely, yet such, we found, was not actually the case. Every practical ship-builder ridiculed Camden methods, and my own convictions are that they were correct in their criticism. The advantage gained by templating flat sides, decks, and flat bottoms, was lost by the management carrying with the employment of three template makers in the loft than the Camden yard can with 50 template makers and a large array of draughtsmen.

The erection of portions of the vessel in wood skeleton, in order to make a bored template for each plate accurately, each template only being used for two plates, viz., port and starboard, was evidently so costly a proceeding that it would appeal to the practical man as the carrying out of a good idea to the height of absurdity. The central idea governing the minds of the management seem to be building ships on the bridge building principle; in fact, the plant seem designed with that end in view.

The equipment of the works was costly, and the returns under the system adopted may turn out to be a sorry speculation for the shareholders.

Much that we did hear, even inside the works, was not of a too reliable character, for there was more than a disposition to convey the impression that they even did more than was actually the case. We were accompanied by an engineer-draughtsman, not a shipbuilder, who, when pressed upon salient points, apologised for that not being his department; and when we sought to ascertain particulars from the men, were politely told that questioning the workmen was against the rules.

Altogether the visit was a disappointing one, and the method at Camden, so much belauded or advertised, is certainly one that no level-headed American or British ship-builder would dream of adopting.

Baldwin's great locomotive works at Philadelphia (they claim to be at present averaging 36 locomotives per week) was next visited.

The American locomotive is a type very different from our own, though they also vary somewhat in America, the Baldwin being a class distinct from those built at other large works at Schenectady. American locomotive boilers have steadily increased in size until it is almost impossible to build them larger without having to alter bridges and other overhead structures.

Care is not always displayed in this particular, for so large an engine was built recently at the Schenectady works that the dome top had to be removed before it could pass under some road bridges in one of the Eastern States.

Baldwin's great works, with its 8,000 day shift men and 4,000 night shift men, compares unfavorably in many respects to our own locomotive shops. Fearfully congested, it was difficult to pick one's way in safety, and the method of continually using loaded overhead cranes, while underneath numberless men were working, seemed to savour of a disregard of injury to life or limb that our own employers would, I am convinced, not tolerate for a moment. On the other hand, an excellent custom prevailed. Men were encouraged to make improvements, and the incentive to do so lay in the fact that they got the full benefit of the improvement while life lasted and they remained in the firm's employ. No doubt the output of 36 locomotives per week causes a greater rush and congestion than would be the case in normal periods.

This firm, although so busy to-day, has known what depression is, for in 1892 and 1893, instead of a night and day shift, the average time made by their men was only equal to four hours per day.

Some three or four years ago this firm built some locomotives for our British railways, but one of the principals informed us that they should not attempt to do so again, unless they were allowed to build them in their own way.

The requirements wanted by the British railways made the contract a loss to them, and the result is, that while they could build an American locomotive cheaper than our better finished and much better made British locomotive, it is now admitted that they cannot compete with our British locomotive builders in the making of the very much superior finished British article.

The life of an American locomotive is not to be compared with the life of a British one; in fact, American makers candidly admit that they do not aim for long life, and it is not an uncommon thing for new fire-boxes to have to be put in before the locomotive is twelve months old; some have returned for new boxes in nine months.

Copper boxes are unknown in the American locomotive, steel being used exclusively, although in the contracts they received from this country and Europe copper boxes had to be made.

Punching is also largely done, holes being broached out to the size required. Finish, as we understand it, is practically unknown; even in the engine works, or other parts necessary to be machined, only those parts are done that are absolutely necessary, all the rest being left rough and ugly. Summing the whole matter up, American locomotives compared with our own are extremely ugly, and of inferior work and finish; and although it may be argued that they serve their purpose, yet I would be sorry to see such an age of utility in our country, an age of utility that sacrifices all beauty and finish for a monetary and momentary gain. Any thing worth doing at all is worth doing well.

Before finishing with Philadelphia, which we left on the following morning, it will no doubt be interesting to some to record that Philadelphia is fashioned somewhat after our north country cities and towns, and were it not for the large quantities of colored people, we could have fancied ourselves suddenly deported back to the old country.

It was not difficult to find mannerism and customs similar to those of Tyneside, which can be explained by the fact that the early settlers who helped to found what was once known as Penn's Sylvania, of Model State, came to a large extent from Northumberland and Durham.

We left Philadelphia the following morning for Washington.

I purpose in our next report bringing these notes to a conclusion. I have been asked by some to reprint them in book form, and if I found our members really desired it, I would undertake to revise and publish at the cost of a few pence per copy to cover expense of printing and postage.

Mr. A. Moseley has, during the past month, published the combined reports of the Commissioners, and a copy can be obtained for 2s. 4d. post free by applying to the Co-operative Printing Society's establishments at 118 Corporation Street, Manchester; Rutherford Street, Newcastle; or Tudor Street, London, E. C.

M. Moseley has also supplied each Commissioner with one thousand copies of their individual report. My individual report has been sent to each branch; a few more copies are available, and if any one branch specially desires another copy it will be sent on to them, if any are still in hand when the application is made.

D. C. CUMMINGS.

LODGE 10.

At a regular meeting of Jeffries Lodge No. 10, May 28, Brother Wm. Presser after four years' continuous service as recording secretary, tendered his resignation to take effect at once. It was with deep feelings of regret that Jeffries Lodge accepted Brother Presser's resignation, and as a body, tendered him their thanks for his capable conscientious labors, as he hardly ever missed a meeting and ordered that the same be published in our Journal. Our loss will be any Lodge with whom he affiliates gain, as he is a man who can always be relied upon to do his duty to his fellow man and also to his organization.

WM. S. FROHLIGER,
P. and C. S.

LODGE 274.

Owosso, Mich., June 10, 1903.—Please spare me a little space for 274. I must say that Brother John Bartley has a two-fisted boiler maker at his house, and Jack says he is either hand. Brother Quigg has left here with a good card. We wish him good success. Charles Nogel has come here from Cleveland. Brother Johnson was out fishing, but his luck failed again. No. 274 is still in the ring. Work fair; plenty of men. Yours respectfully,

F. M. AULT,
C. S. & J. C.

LODGE 235.

Columbia, S. C., June 5, 1903.—Would like to know the whereabouts of one J. T. Wilson, a boiler maker, formerly of High Springs, Fla., and this city, but last heard from in Mobile, Ala., some two or three months ago. Any information in regard to him, will be thankfully received by his grief-stricken wife, Mrs. J. T. Wilson, No. 805 Lumber Street, this city, or by this lodge. Yours truly and fraternally,

J. F. CASEY,
C. and F. S. No. 235, Orphanage P. O., Columbia, S. C.

LODGE 148.

Vallejo, May 27, 1903.—I have been requested to write to you and see if you could obtain any information as to the whereabouts of a boiler maker named John McEaw, who was last heard of in Arizona in 1891. His brother, Dan, inquiries if you are able to obtain any information, and you would do me a favor by sending the same to Dan McEaw, No. 1114 Filbert Street, San Francisco. Hoping that you will give this matter some attention, I remain, fraternally yours,

S. J. RIORDEN.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN.

Cleveland, June 7, 1903.—I would like very much to know the whereabouts of Brother Charles R. Mason, boiler maker, initiated in Oak Lodge, Lima, O., No. 259. Please correspond with Geo. Owens, 204 Woodland Ave.

J. L. HUTCHINGS,
Corresponding Secretary.

LODGE 170.

Richmond, Va., June 12, 1903.—Here is an article I would like to have published in the Journal of July if one is to be published for that month. That the Financial Secretary of Lodge 170 requests the following members to settle with said lodge or else their names will be suspended from the roll: Bro. Alex Neave, 20,377; Harry Norton, 2,838; Bro. Jas. Kefarver, 30,321; Thos. E. Shaw, 8,586. Will give them until the 20th of July to settle. Hoping this Brotherhood will ever go upward and onward, I beg to remain, fraternally yours,

G. W. SMITH,
Cor. and Fin. Secy, Lodge No. 170.

EDITORIAL

PERSISTENCE AND INSISTENCE HAVE THEIR OWN REWARD.

We, as an organization, have had many vicissitudes, remarkable as to their ultimate result in point of vantage, but it is not recorded yet a more determined clean, trial of strength than our late controversy with the greatest aggregation of wealth and influence this country has ever seen. Manly bearing and dignified deportment marked every act of our men, which called forth the greatest praise from our exalted opponents. Dogged determination in upholding that principle of justice, together with the lawful methods used, has endeared the participants to every lover of right, nor would we detract in the slightest manner the fame ability and great generalship of the officials of the Union Pacific railway. The true man recognizes worth, courage and bravery in his opponents and it is not saying too much to repeat here that a harder fighter, or more skillful general in this whole country than Mr. E. H. Hariman is not to be found, and today is far more respected by his employees than ever before as when his identity was located by the members of this organization he did not retreat, but instead marshalled his forces in solid phalanx and gave battle from his own chosen ground. His well understood abilities of a leader of trade and finances, did not deter his gallant opponents from entering his domain, and presenting their cause in such a dignified manner, as to receive such consideration as what is due to brave men and worthy gentlemen. What a source of pride it is, to both parties to look back over the struggle of eleven months. Each respects the prowess of the other, mutual admiration takes the place of the desire to conquer, which will endure as long as brave men lives.

No man, let him be who he may, but what must admire the persistence, and energy along lawful lines that have been used by the officers and members of this organization. Far more is this noticable in the men who stood sentinels over the line from one end to the other of the great system. It must be remembered what sacrifices those men were making for the cause, any one of whom could find employment at day work with remuneration for same like others, but only so many was permitted to do so, while the rest kept watch over the struggle. Self-interests was ignored, inconvenience, discomforts and privations was endured by those worthy men, in order to hand down to posterity pure and spotless the precious inheritance of free men. No task, or a price set upon each man's mechanical abilities. What glorious thoughts inspires us, when we consider that those honorable men, who had pledged their honor, and their all to stand together until all their human demands were granted, or go down to defeat together. While the unselfishness of those men will be better understood by keeping in mind that, that the principle of being made a slave by the Union Pacific on the premium plan system carried, nor held no terrors for them, but the mental anguish which all those men suffered were for their fellow craftsmen, because once defeated in this fight, then followed the same nauseous medicine to every craftsmen upon all the great railway lines of the country. So all energies were put forth to prevent it, and to the determination of the craftsmen all over the country is due in a great measure the success attained, for without their help and encouragement the enthusiasm and novelty of the action would soon have died out, and many of the poor fellows who stood watch on the ramparts would have to give way to the inevitable. So the victory is a community one, and will be hailed as such by all. Patience, honorable conduct, with persistence and insistence, will accomplish wonders when directed with and by intelligence. Congratulations to all.

The events of the past few weeks will remain stamped on the hearts of all connected. The impress of same will be fresh incentive to unity of action as unity will overcome all obstacles when properly directed. It should be our ambition now and always to command unity between ourselves as fellow craftsmen. Division reduces our strength and leaves us vulnerable to our adversaries. Unfortunately this thought is either forgotten or purposely ignored at times by men of some trade or calling, but why, always remains a mystery, and as men must have a motive for all their actions, whether public or private, but men on the same mission, with a common cause to protect, it really seems incredible to believe that they can differ in the accomplishment of any object alike beneficial to each. Unionism means a oneness. The aims and objects of one is the cause of all, and where's the room for difference when all are working strenuously for the same thing, in a common cause. The only philosophy in this is that selfishness cut the caper, it should not be allowed to cut. If self-interest was not there, all would agree, and every one be immeasurably benefited. If men will let selfishness go for the mutual benefit of the whole organization, then it is that unionism will reign supreme.

The tide of battle has shifted ground since last issue. Heretofore it was in the west. Now we have advices from Sparrows Point, Baltimore, Md., that all our members are out for a nine-hour day. All efforts at settlement have failed. The Baltimore advisory board has it in charge. Keep all men away from that point.

The Kansas City Southern railway is still unfair. Men all out at Shreveport, La., Pittsburg, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo. No prospects of a settlement in sight. Keep men away from all three mentioned cities.

The Union Pacific Railway strike is settled, but at this writing the full particulars are not at hand. We have been advised that piecework is cut out altogether, all men return to work on May 27 at increase of wages demanded and shop rules.

Strikes are still on at Columbianna, O., Shooters Island, New York, Bayonne, N. J., in the Standard Oil works, and at the Continental Iron Works, Brooklyn, N. Y. Keep men away from these cities.

We have no official notification of strike settled at Hammond, Ind., but unofficially we hear it is settled.

Kewanee, Ill., has been successful in procuring a nine-hour day. Springfield, Ill., has also demanded, and same received the sanction of the council, for a nine-hour day. Detroit, Mich., is demanding more salary from all shops in the city. It is badly needed, as wages have been very low. Cincinnati, O., is also demanding higher wages, and it is no shame either. Very low wages paid in that city. The lodges on the Southern R. R. have just been increased on demands made, and peace reigns.

Chicago Heights, Ill., boilermakers and helpers have received nice increase of salary on demand. No strike.

Meadville, Pa., has recorded a win. Nine hours per day—lost four weeks over it.

L. 15, Buffalo, N. Y., is making demands for more money. The lodges on the New Haven & Hartford R. R. have just received an increase of wages on demands made.

Lowell, Mass., are out on strike four weeks for an increase of wages. Are still out. Keep men away.

Shawnee, Okla., has just received an advance in wages on demands made.

Pittsburg, Pa., are on strike, nine hundred men, for an advance in wages and eight hours per day. This is very important, as the structural iron workers have been enrolling boilermakers right along because of receiving four dollars and fifty cents per day of eight hours, so No. 154 has decided to have some pay and hours.

L. 31, Helpers' Division, are also out for a couple of weeks for $3.50 per day of eight hours. At this time Pittsburg is a good place to keep clear of.

Remember the tremendous increase and consequent rush for badges. Order early so as to be provided with them in time for Labor Day. By a change in the badges the cost is increased to fifty-six cents each—the finest badge in the country for the money.

Let us appeal to all Kansas City Southern, Union Pacific, Standard Oil, Shooters Island, and all other lodges that have had trouble in the recent past to forward names and all particulars of all unfair men for recording. Remember each lodge having jurisdiction must give each unfair man a trial and report findings on trial blank to G. S. T., where future generations will gather information that their fathers left.

One of the worst floods in the history of this country visited our little city on Sunday, May 31, 1903. In the language of an eye witness to both disasters, the Johnstown flood and this one, that the Kansas City flood caused more destruction to homes and property than the former. No pen or tongue can adequately describe the devastation wrought. Houses, Pullman, freight and passenger coaches; street railway tracks, oil tanks and every conceivable thing that belongs to the comforts of humanity piled up in the streets, six to eighteen feet high. The Missouri Pacific round house went down, but the floods in their mad journey to find an outlet, left a piano on the blacksmith's forge. Such are a few items of the destructive nature of the flood. Lodge No. 32 deplores the fact that 20 of their members and No. 4 H. D. ten of their members lost everything they owned but their lives. In this connection it is worthy to note the prompt and ready response to Bro. McNeil's call for assistance, as on June 29 the fund had reached the sum of $723.52, from 90 lodges, over four hundred to hear from, and it must be remembered the Helpers' Divisions are contributing wonderfully and liberally, and with the $500 contributed by order of our Executive Council, already has given Boiler Makers and Ship Builders a high place among the several benevolent and protective orders that have attended to the needs of their members.

We are confronted with more men on strike at one time than at any time in our history, and let him that does not like more wages and shorter hours throw the first stone at any one of one thousand members on strike and entitled to strike benefits under our laws. L. 221, 328 and 32 are out on Kansas City Southern R. R. No. 342, Columbiana, Ohio, 154 Pittsburg, Pa., with sympathizers in Buffalo, N. Y., Detroit, Mich., St. Louis, Mo., Sharon, Pa., and talk about men on Riter & Conley jobs in Brooklyn, going out. No. 31 Helpers' Division in Pittsburg, are also out, and Executive Council doing all they can for them. They are deserving of all praise. In Lodge 169 every member is out, and who would blame them, as for a go-ahead city like Detroit the B. M. and S. B. are the poorest paid of any craft in the city. Helpers' Division No. 72 in Detroit are also out, and it will be a hard fight. Lodge No. 308, Bridgeport, Conn., are poorly paid and want better wages. Lodges 190 and 166 have accepted a nine-hour day and ten per cent increase of wages. Not very bad, but not as much as they and all others are entitled to, as the men that make millions for others should in all honor receive thousands anyhow. Lodge 62, Helpers' Division, are out as long as the Boiler Makers of same city, but simply through a misunderstanding their case was never acted on by Executive Council, consequently they suffer, but at this writing their case is before the Council. Lodge 222 and a few others have again broken through the lines of discipline and are out, like all union men, for better wages and conditions on their own hook, like Paddy Ward's goat. Lodge 156 are out against unfair treatment by foreman giving the men who pay dues the worst end of it. We hope to bring the tyrant to terms and make him respect decency as exacted by white men and all Christians. Kewanee Lodge 195 and 11 Helpers' Division have just established peace and the nine-hour day, but their neighbors in Springfield are compelled to strike for same terms. This makes Lodge 81 of Springfield, Ill., on the strike roll. With St. Louis and Kewanee working nine hours there is no just reason why Springfield should work ten, so it is going to be a fight to a finish and with our forces arrayed in solid phalanx it is easy to call the winner. As the world moves, don't you forget it, so do the boiler makers and ship builders. Lodge 105 of Cincinnati and Helpers' Division of same city are out on strike and no where can be found such small wages in the states, yet they have to resort to the last degree of modern methods to make the upper ten believe they have a soul and body to keep together. Boys, help them.

Lodge 262, of Groton, Conn., held a meeting to arrange for a conference with the bosses one night lately. Next morning the gates were locked on all of them. Ah! my brothers, this tells volumes of treachery and the lowest depths of depravity, together with violated honor, perjury of all decency and manhood. Anyhow, they are all out for the nine-hour day. Blame them if you can, and let us hope they will win, and win they must if you all say they will, but sacrifices are in order. It's a good cause, and will return you a hundred-fold, by keeping you abreast of the times with no need to strike, but receiving the benefit of their endeavors and your own by letting go of a few dollars.

Lodge 35, of Baltimore, is another very hard proposition, as all are out in Sparrow's Point for the nine-hour day. Everyone will enjoy the result of their successful endeavors on the Atlantic Seaboard. They are confronted by the crown heads of high and mighty silent manipulators of commerce, both on sea and land, but the best of them are only men, but they use their brains to advantage. Why not you and I? Of and by themselves they cannot control outside of their homes, and they know it. They think we don't know it, but we do. They lay plans to consolidate and pool their interests so as to accomplish their ends quicker and surer. Well, of course, as the old cock crows the young one learns, but according to the would-be masters of creation, must not crow too loud, or at least not until permission has been obtained. Well, the young cocks will not be cowed, but are determined to follow the same tactics of the older heads and co-operate for mutual advantage, so it is with the men of Baltimore. As long as they submitted to the desires of the masters and worked ten hours per day, oh, they were models of workmen, but now when they aspire to demand nine hours they are destroying their usefulness. Well, not much, but they are coming in on the dividends, which is much tenderer to touch than manhood or honor. All of us might as well resolve that we are in this struggle, as we will profit or lose according to the result. So make up your minds you must win, and remember, you won't win by sitting idly by contemplating how hard your fellows are striking. You must help them, which means sacrifices and a few dollars less for luxuries. Mark our word, by doing so you will have double the number of dollars for luxuries by and by.

In all of these cases we can count 516 married men and 388 single men, which requires an outlay each week of $5,552 per week. This amount is not hard to handle and keep the run of, but it is very hard to handle it twice where once would be better for all parties.

All lodges on the U. P. will endeavor to send to the G. S.-T. the names, trials and history of all unfair men. Give description as best you can, registered numbers. If any are known, and a good way will be to set the penalty in all cases. Let us make a history and have those unfortunate waifs of humanity learn that their fellows are nearer to them than the bosses. Let us endeavor to educate them and save ourselves next time.

There is so much trouble and controversy over cards that are not returned, while others claim cards were mailed, but enough is known to advise secretaries to register all cards returned and answer to same, then when contentions arise, produce the register receipt; then you have the law on the other fellow.

Lodge 261, requests all to notify Brother T. Hessian Reg No. 13429, to return and take care of his family, as they are in need of his help. Please correspond with Lodge 261, Camden, N. J.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE.—This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of THE JOURNAL by the Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

KANSAS CITY, Kas., June 10, 1903.
To the Officers and Members:

Greeting—Before giving you my report for the month of May I desire to call your attention to the terrible calamity that has befallen the two Kansas Cities. The siege of suffering and misery must be seen to be realized—thousands of people homeless and hundreds of houses swept away. In the majority of cases they were the earnings and savings of poor working men, which they had saved during a number of years. Quite a number of boiler makers and boiler makers' helpers have lost everything they had—homes and everything in them—because when the water receded enough to allow the people to get into their houses to clean their places, their furniture all fell apart. The only thing of any use to them is of a metallic nature, such as stoves and iron beds. Our printer also came in for his share of misfortune by having his entire printing establishment flooded. All of his valuable machinery was under water, and when the water receded it left the machinery coated with a foot of mud and decayed vegetation. Our Journal for the month of May was on the press, mostly printed and ready for the binder, which also is a complete loss. Believing that you realize the conditions here, we rely upon you to bear with us for a little while, until conditions become normal and we will try to have everything out on time in the future.

My report for the month of May is as follows: On May 7th I was called to Alamogordo, N. M., to try to straighten out matters there. The trouble was over the general foreman. It seems that the general foreman and the foreman boiler maker and superintendent of machinery could not get along together, the superintendent of machinery being an engineer and not a mechanic, he tried to impose conditions upon the men that they would not comply with. The general foreman and the foreman boiler maker took the part of the men, consequently the superintendent of motive power discharged the general foreman. Immediately upon this being done the boiler makers, machinists and blacksmiths walked out. I telegraphed to the boys in Alamogordo to return to work until I could visit their town, which they complied with. On investigating matters upon my arrival, I found conditions just as above stated, and recommended the general manager to remove the general foreman to another position, which he willingly complied with. When the general foreman was made aware of this fact he refused to go, although he admitted it was impossible for him and the superintendent of machinery to get along together. Seeing there was no way out of the difficulty only to have a complete change I talked the matter over in that way with the general manager, and he decided to discharge both the superintendent of machinery and the general foreman, as that was the only way to satisfy the men and create harmony in the shop.

While in Alamogordo I received a telegram from Brother McKeon, president of District No. 6, reading as follows:

"San Francisco, Cal., May 9, 1903.

"John McNeil, Alamogordo, N. M.:

"Harriman could not get answer from Burt. He guarantees he will not establish piece work on the S. P. He will meet you and Burt next week in conference with the object of settling up trouble. Will you postpone strike fifteen days? If so, wire all lodges immediately and insist that this be done. Letter follows.

"G. H. McKEON,

"District Lodge No. 6."

Relying upon the honor and integrity of Mr. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific, I willingly granted the fifteen days, as I was satisfied if we could have him interested, that the U. P. could be settled satisfactorily. For granting that fifteen (15) days I have been called everything but a gentleman. Not desiring to create any contention in the brotherhood is my only object in keeping from the members at large statements that have been made by several of our members and some of our officers. Their own vile thoughts teaches them to suspect the thoughts of others. My judgment proved correct, because the U. P. has been settled satisfactorily.

I returned home to Kansas City from Alamogordo and was only here two days when I received a telegram to go at once to Omaha and meet with the committee of men and confer with Mr. Harriman looking towards a settlement on the Union Pacific. A committee from Omaha had gone out west and met Mr. Harriman and had come back in his special train to Omaha. When they arrived there he felt seriously indisposed and requested the interview postponed, but Mr. Burt, president of the Union Pacific, requested me to go on the special train to New York, which I declined to do, and left the next day for Kewanee, Ill., where I had an engagement to meet Mr. Baker, president of the Kewanee Boiler Co., to straighten matters out in the shop there where our men had made a demand for a nine hour day and an increase in pay. With a committee from lodge No. 195 and No. 11 H. D., we met with Mr. Baker and arranged matters entirely satisfactorily to every man in that establishment. Our men were granted the nine hour day and increase in pay. Some of our men today are receiving from that company thirty cents (30c) per day more for the nine hours than they were for the ten, and no man is receiving less for the nine hour day than he did for the ten—helpers as well as boilermakers. Too much credit can not be given to the committee from Lodges No. 195 and No. 11 H. D.

Before getting through with the work in Kewanee I was telegraphed for by the officials of the Union Pacific to go at once to New York and confer with President Harriman and President Burt, consequently I left Kewanee at once and met the committee in Chicago, from where we proceeded to New York to hold an interview with Mr. Harriman at his own private house, as he was unable to go to his office. At that conference it was arranged that the committee of the Union Pacific men, the president and superintendent of motive power of the Union Pacific, were to confer together and try to straighten matters out; anything they could not agree upon, Mr. Harriman, Bro. McKeon of District No. 6, and your G. P. O. would agree upon, as they were given to understand that they were to settle. As was to be expected, there were several points that they fell down on, as there were naturally some sore spots on each side. Not desiring to see the meeting close without a settlement, I was compelled to call the second time upon Mr. Harriman, which I did when the boys were in session with the other officials. Through having this second conference with him, he gave the company to understand how he wanted the settlement made, an account of which you will find in another column of the Journal.

There were naturally sore spots, and very hard sayings have been used in regard to this strike, but everything that I have done in this matter I am prepared to stand by and will prove that I have done everything honorably and to the best interests of the organization. I invite the strictest investigation to be made, should anyone doubt the position I took in the matter.

When through in New York I was called to Pittsburg by the Manufacturers' Association of that city to try to straighten matters out there between our members and the employers. The boiler makers in Pittsburg are making a demand for fifty (50) cents per hour and eight (8) hours per day on an outside work. The employers in Pittsburg make a specialty of stoves and blast furnaces, of which the Structural Iron Workers do a part, such as what is known as the skip and stock house, and they receive fifty (50) cents per hour and eight (8) hours per day. The boiler makers, who do the mechanical part, riveting, calking, and making all connections of hot air pipes, down draft pipes, and such work that requires long experience and skill, are paid thirty-five (35) cents per hour and required to work nine hours. Believing that our men are worthy of as much consideration as the structural workers is the only reason we have in making the stand for fifty (50) cents per hour and the eight hour day. The companies claim that the boiler makers are asking too much at once. They do not state that they are not worthy of it, but they do not desire to pay it simply because they think we are not strong enough to force them.

Now, I am satisfied if the boys in Pittsburg are given the support they are entitled to and all of our crafts keep away from that city for some time and refuse to do any work in any town for the Pittsburg contractors, that we can secure for our men the fifty (50) cents per hour and the eight hour day in the city of Pittsburg, and the same rate for that class of work no matter where erected—so keep away from Pittsburg.

John McNeil

Grand President-Organizer.

LOST CARD.

Omaha, Neb., June 22, 1903.—I have been requested by Bro. James Crooke to notify you that he has lost his card and stamp book. His registered number is 8566 and he was initiated in Lodge No. 212. His stamp book contained six due stamps and one assessment stamp for 1903, four due stamps from Lodge No. 129, two due stamps and one assessment from Lodge No. 227.

Hoping you can find space to publish this in the next issue of the Journal. I remain, fraternally yours,

E. F. KENNEDY,
Lodge 38.

President Dist. Lodge No. 4.

TELEGRAM.

Telegram to John McNeil, Care T. M. Orr, Omaha, Neb.:

Rather than permit a condition to be brought about whereby men's homes would be broken up and their families, wives and children permitted to suffer through no fault of their own, I will recommend to Mr. Burt, and suggest to you for your consideration the following: The sympathetic boiler-makers' strike on the Southern Pacific and other lines to be called off, Union Pacific strike to be called off, matter of piecework to be left to the men themselves, both those already employed and to be employed hereafter by the Union Pacific, and piecework not to be further extended on the Union Pacific and to be abandoned at the end of four months, if so determined upon by Mr. Burt and Mr. Kennedy, and if they cannot agree, it to be referred to Messrs. McNeil, McKeon, and Harriman; the piecework system not to be extended on the Southern Pacific or other lines, except after conference and agreement with the boilermakers; no discrimination to be made against former employes on the Union Pacific when places are to be filled, and no discrimination to be made on account of their accepting temporarily the piecework or not, and any adjustment thereof to be determined between Messrs. Kennedy and Burt, and in case of non-agreement, by them to be referred to Messrs. McKeon and Harriman; in lieu of this, call off the strike, both sympathetic and otherwise, as above, and refer the whole Union Pacific controversy in its present condition to arbitration to be agreed upon. On account of present conditions, important that I see you all in New York not later than Monday next.

Please answer. E. H. HARRIMAN.

BOILERWORK RULES.

On new work, laying out, planing, flanging, rolling, riveting and calking for steam or other high pressure work, also setting, cutting off and driving staybolts, tapping out and putting in all plugs, putting on crown bars and braces, and laying out and building of all tanks, shall be considered boilerwork; provided, that punching of plates, the driving of tank rivets and other similar unskilled work shall not be classed as boilerwork, unless in the judgment of the foreman it is desirable to do so.

On old work, cutting out and placing of all sheets, taking out and replacing all rivets, staybolts, crown bolts and crown bars and repairing of all tanks, shall be considered boilerwork. Cutting out of all old fireboxes, the riveting and small repairs to tanks and other similar unskilled work shall not be classed as boilerwork unless in the judgment of the foreman it is desirable to do so. Union Pacific Railroad Company, Office of Superintendent Motive Power and Machinery.

Omaha, Neb., 1903.

Rules and Regulations Governing Shop Employees.

So far as practicable the working hours in all the shops of the Company shall not exceed nine hours per day.

All time over regular hours in force and on Sundays and legal holidays will be paid for at the rate of one and one-half hours' time for each hour worked.

The Company will not ask men to work overtime, except in case of emergency.

When called out after regular working hours, employes will be paid five hours' time if service is less than three hours and twenty minutes; if service is more than three hours and twenty minutes, time and one-half shall be allowed.

Shop employes sent out on the road will be allowed straight time from time called until they return, and necessary expenses.

No first-class machinist, boilermaker or blacksmith will be employed for less than the standard rate of wages paid at place of employment.

No handy-man, helper or helpers, laborer or laborers shall be allowed to do a mechanic's work of any description. In case, however, there should be a shortage of apprentices for work in hand at any time, handy-men or helpers may be permitted to do such work whenever in the judgment of the foreman it may be desirable.

There shall be one apprentice for each shop, and not more than one for every five journeymen employed. Each apprentice shall serve four years, and at the expiration of that time, if fully qualified, he shall receive the standard rate of wages paid to journeymen at that point; otherwise, he shall be dropped. Apprentices working at points other than Omaha, Cheyenne and Armstrong will be allowed to work the fourth year in one of the main shops, if they so desire.

Rates of pay for apprentices shall be the same as heretofore, except that the rate for the first year is to be seven cents per hour.

No employe shall be suspended or discharged without just or sufficient cause. If discharged, he shall be given a clearance showing the actual cause of discharge. If, after investigation, he is found to have been unjustly discharged or suspended, he will be reinstated and paid full time, the investigation to take place within five days.

The company will not discriminate against any employe serving on committee of investigation or acting as delegate to convention, or who has been duly authorized to represent other employes.

When requested, the Company will grant leave of absence and free transportation over its own lines to employes who may be appointed to go before the management for adjustment of differences.

When it becomes necessary to reduce the force at any point, all things being equal, the older married men shall be given the preference.

When it becomes necessary for an employe to work overtime, he shall not be paid off during regular working hours to equalize the time.

These rules and regulations are to be in force one year from date and thereafter until thirty days' written notice from the Company or the men. W. R. McKEEN, Jr.,

Supt. Motive Power and Machinery.

Understanding.

Boilermakers used as flangers or layer-out six continuous days or more will be allowed regular flangers or layer-out rate of pay.

At local points where there is insufficient work to keep a boilermaker busy, and it is good economical practice to do so, a handy man may do boilerwork.

Mr. Harriman's telegram to Mr. McNeil to be the basis of compromise or settlement.

Understood:

1. All men now out on strike to be reinstated if they so desire, and no discrimination. Those at present unemployed to be given preference as per Article X.

2. Matter of piecework to be left to the men themselves.

Men to return to work with a spirit of friendliness, cancel all animosities, cherish no ill will towards other employees, discipline of shops to be maintained, and there is to be no interference with the peace, happiness or welfare of any employe.

4. Men are not to be compelled to work together where the relationship is not agreeable and it is to the best interests of all concerned for them to be separated.

5. Strike to be declared off Wednesday a. m. 7 o'clock, the men of Article X to return to work at same time.

TO THE JOURNAL READERS.

'Tis not very often that the undersigned asks for space in the Journal, but at this time we feel it our duty to say a word regarding same.

On May 29 the great flood came upon the portion of Kansas City, Kans., known as Armourdale. Vast interests were inundated and some lives lost. Not a house was left untouched. In a great many instances homes were completely swept away and the people who occupied them are homeless. No pen can describe the scenes or portray the pictures of ruin. A book could be written of the terrible experience and then only a portion told. The waters have gone, but a terrible picture of desolation remains.

The June Journal was printed and would have been mailed by June 2 had the flood not come upon us. Every vestige, copy, paper, etc., has been destroyed.

However, duplicates were kept in another part of the city, which enables us to print a large Journal for July, embodying all the articles sent for June Journal. This Journal is designated as the flood Journal.

It is very probable that some disarrangements of articles have occurred, but it is the best we can do at this time and we ask your indulgence.

In order to give you a fair idea of the terrible ruin we have herewith produced a few engravings of the flood disaster. Space will not permit more.

I wish to thank Bros. Gilthorpe and McNeil for kindnesses shown, and the Brotherhood at large for the patience exercised in this great calamity, and hope ere another month rolls around to be back in our old home and shop, where so many pleasant memories cling, and in the future we can improve more and more and increase the value of the Journal as time advances. I wish the Brotherhood success, and while I have never said very much in your Journal as a correspondent, yet my thoughts and feelings are with you all, as the very nature of the work I have done for you in the past makes me feel like one of your craft, even though I simply run a "print shop."

Fraternally,

LODGE 10.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 16, 1903.—By instructions of Lodge No. 10 I write this to you and wish you to have it printed in the Journal. Samuel Esman is a brother from Cleburne, Tex. We have tried to get him to square up, but he failed to do so. Now he has borrowed money from one of our members and has skipped the town. Now this man should be made to pay his honest debts, and all lodges of the Brotherhood should try and keep him from getting employment anywhere. He is not fit to work in any shop and all brothers should take warning not to work with him. Hoping to see this printed in the next Journal. I am yours truly and fraternally,

WM. S. FROHLIGER,
P. and C. S.

DEWEY LODGE NO. 21 H. D.

Dewey Lodge last month lost by death one of its best and most respected members, Bro. George Peck. Bro. Peck has worked in the boiler shop for the last ten or twelve years, and was well liked by all the boys. When we went on strike the brother was not a member of our lodge, but was one of the first to pull off his overalls when one of the brothers was discharged for refusing to do boiler maker's work. That night he joined the ranks and has ever remained true. The brother was very quiet, minding his own business, but always ready to help a friend. Very little is known of his relatives, but he mentioned having a sister in New York, but as he was affected with brain trouble, he had forgotten where. Should any brother know of Bro. Peck or any of his relatives, they would confer a favor by notifying this lodge.

I thought that unionism had reached Cheyenne right as I saw the long line of men who had come to pay the last tribute of respect to the departed brother. Although the boys had been on strike for nearly a year and had only been working one day, the shop was practically closed.

While the brother never professed to be a Christian, we can but hope that he will be judged in mercy.

Yours truly,
A SUNDSTROM C. S. & J. C.

FLOOD SCENE--SHOWING WRECKAGE.

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

Is it worth while that we jostle a brother,
Bearing his load on the rough road of life?
Is it worth while that we jeer at each other
In blackness of heart that we war to the knife?

God pity us all in our pitiful strife.

God pity us all as we jostle each other;
God pardon us all for the triumphs we feel
When a fellow goes down 'neath his load on
the heather,

Pierced to the heart, words are keener than steel,

And mightier far for woe than for weal.

Were it not well in this brief little journey
On over the isthmus, down into the tide,
We give him a fish instead of a serpent,
Ere folding the hands to be and abide
Forever and aye in dust at his side?

Look at the roses saluting each other;
Look at the herds all at peace on the plain,
Man, the man only, makes war on his brother,
And laughs in his heart at his peril and
pain;
Shamed by the beasts that go down on the plain.

Is it worth while that we battle to humble
Some poor fellow down into the dust?
God pity us all! Time left soon will tumble
All of us together, like leaves in a gust,
Humbled, indeed, down into the dust.

FRIENDS OF ORGANIZED LABOR.

Bakersfield, May 14, 1903.

We desire to call your attention to the fact that G. T. Nighbert, proprietor of the Cosmopolitan Hotel and Saloon, is not a friend of organized labor. On the contrary, he employs non-union help behind the bar and Chinese in the kitchen.

The Cosmopolitan Hotel and Saloon has been declared unfair by the Kern County Council of Labor (May 14, 1903), and all union men are requested not to patronize the said place of business.

AN EQUAL CHANCE.

This Is the Only "Help" That Amounts to Anything.

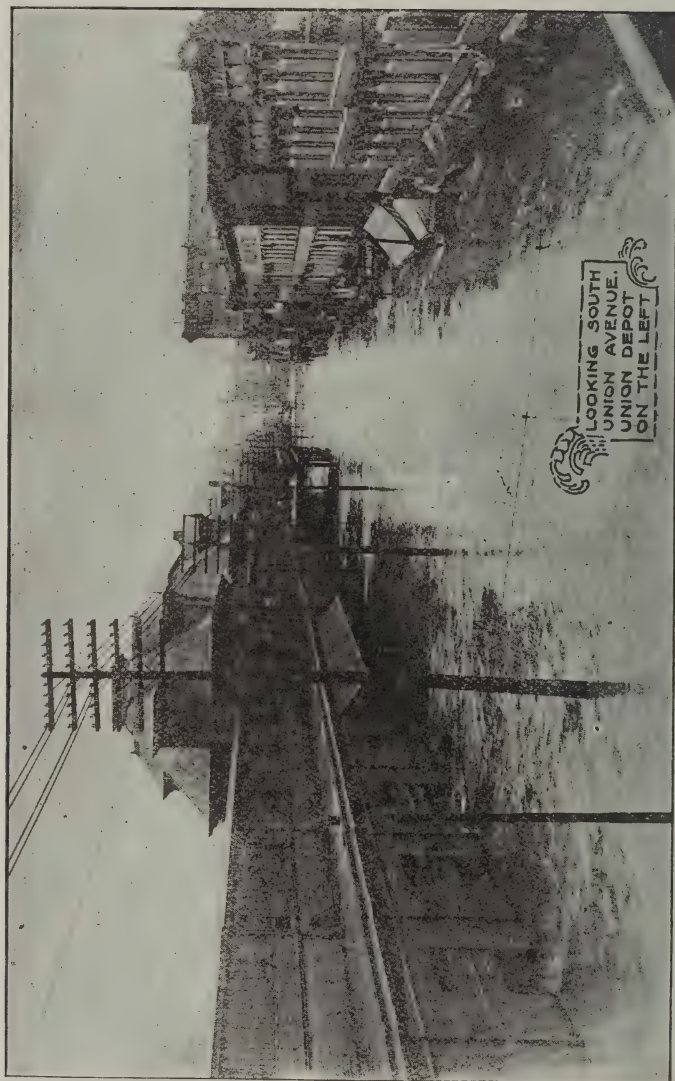

Today we are going to tell you a true story about something that lately happened in Pennsylvania.

A certain man came into possession of a coal mine—soft coal.

This man knew in a vague, general way that the coal miner has a hard time. He had heard so, but did not know the particulars. He was rather a good man. He thought he would try to do something for the benefit of the miners in his coal mine.

So he made them a model town. He built straight rows of little houses like cheap dolls' houses, exactly alike, each with the same tiny square of ground just in front, prim and rectangular.

Then he built a gaudy town hall and lyceum and a lecture hall, where learned men used to come and lecture to the miners once a week. He built a school for the children. He got Mr. Carnegie to contribute a library. He used to get singers to come now and then and sing in the lyceum.

He had other enterprises. There were many miners, and they made something of a show as a town. This man put in a gasworks and charged a good round price for gas; also for water from the water works that he established.

Likewise he lighted the streets with his electric light plant and charged for it.

Moreover, not being, as he said, in business for his health, he conducted in his brother-in-law's name a company store and rented his houses at a rate to insure a profit on the investment.

But these were side issues that did not affect his general scheme of philanthropy and a model town in which he took great pride.

The town hall and lyceum were the centers of his joy. The rest of the town was not, as a matter of fact, much to look at, but the town hall was built of red pressed brick, and the builder greatly admired the style of architecture and thought it ought to fill the miners with delight. There was a fountain in front and a band stand erected at the proprietor's expense, where a band was expected to discourse sweet music.

The lecturers used to come and deliver instructive addresses of a safe kind against the dangers of socialism and pointing out the duty of gratitude to a good employer, and sometimes cooking school experts addressed the housewives on making calf's foot jelly and different ways to cook quail.

The tenants of the good man's houses were also instructed to beautify their surroundings, and once on Arbor Day the little children were assembled and a gentleman from Boston gave them an address on arboriculture, and they planted a tree.

It was all very beautiful, but somehow it did not seem to go as it should, and after two or three years of experience the benevolent proprietor was disgusted. He said it was no use trying to do anything for those people. They were too ungrateful. He said:

"My son was a candidate for the legislature from this district, and what do you think the miners did? Why, they just went to the polls and voted solidly against him after all that had been done for them. Then you would think that if there was a place in the world where there would be no strikes this was the place. But it wasn't so. One of my foremen discharged a mule boy one day for impertinence, and the whole gang struck until I had to have the boy taken back. Then they all joined the miners' union, and they cared a great deal more for that than they cared about the beautiful lyceum I built. They used to meet in a barn two miles down the road on the nights I was having learned men lecture for them on instructive topics, and when the union ordered them to strike they struck and didn't care a snap about all the things I had done for them.

"Then there was trouble about the houses. Some of them didn't want to live in the company houses—said they were not slaves to be herded about and used bad language—and those that did live in the houses I built were always complaining about something. If a door came off or a roof wanted mending, you would think there was something serious. They use to make sarcastic remarks about model houses and jeer every time anything went wrong. The women use to go to the cooking lectures at first, but after a time they quit. I had a clergyman come and give a series of lectures on 'Social Order,' the idea being to show how much better things are now than they used to be and how much can be done by contentment, and so on, and they interrupted him with rude questions, and the boys threw snowballs at him in the streets. I am through trying to do anything for those people. Model towns don't go with me any more. I have sold out the lyceum for a theatre, and anybody can have the houses at cost and interest on the investment."

We take the space to print this little narrative because it is worth thinking about.

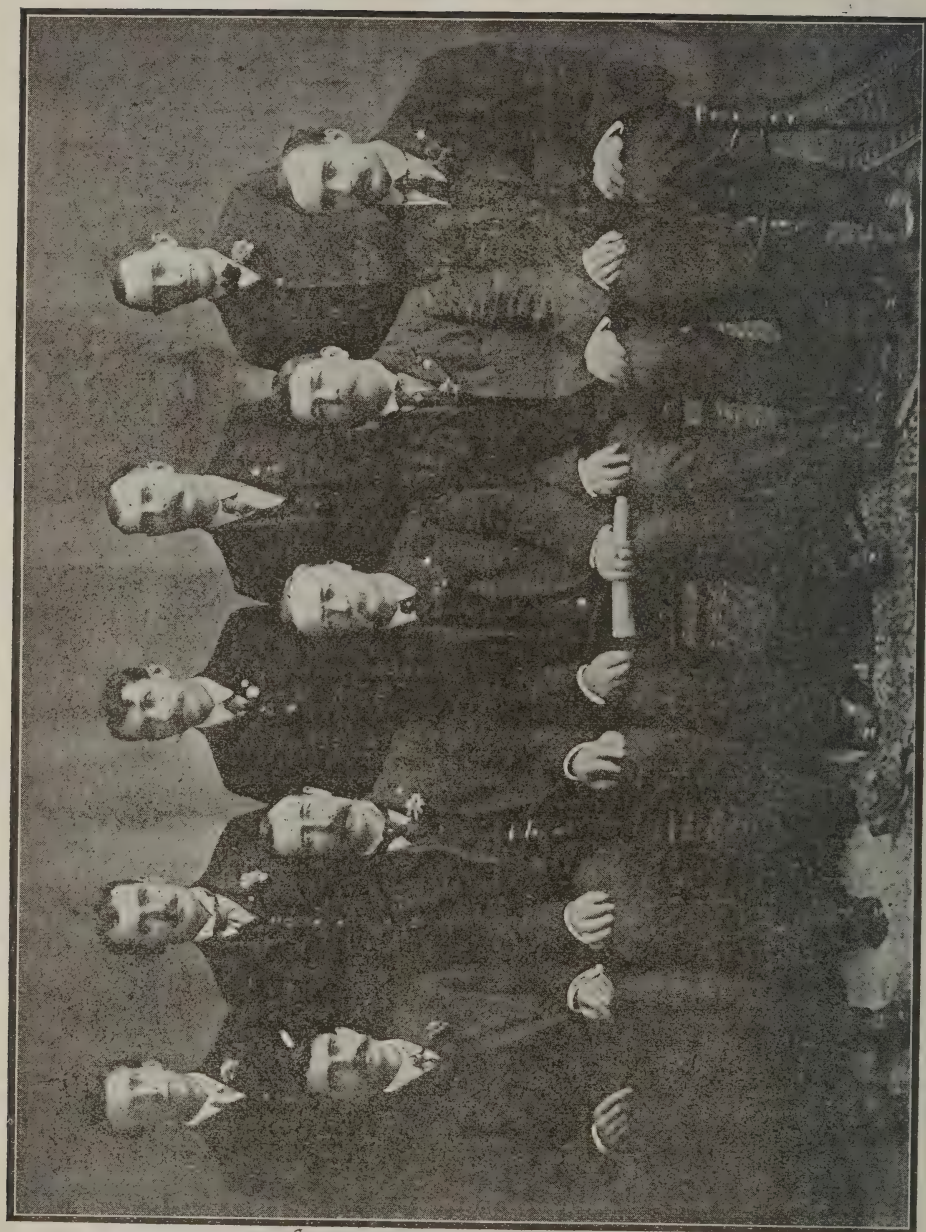

Of course model towns "don't go" with American workingmen. If they did, we should be back in the middle ages. Of course there are very few American workingmen willing to be treated like children. If there were many, it would not be worth while to think of better conditions.

The model town, the benevolent lyceum and the paternal interference device has been tried in many places in this country, and we believe it has never resulted in anything but failure.

Persons that indulge in these patronizing schemes do not understand very much about the American people. If Americans generally were willing to be organized into model communities and have their ways of life regulated for them and be under hourly instruction and advice, this would never have become the greatest manufacturing nation in the world nor the American workingman famous for his skill and efficiency.

There is a certain condescension involved in the model town idea that sets an American's teeth on edge. It is a practical recognition of modern feudalism not easy to tolerate—as if the people for whom model towns are provided were unable to look out for their own interests and must have guardians from among the wise and good. In this country the public school has made most people of about the same degree of intelligence, and those that produce the wealth of the land do not usually need to be cared for by charitable idlers.

The Pennsylvania mine owner probably never thought of it, but as a matter of fact very few Americans in possession of health and their reasoning faculties need to have things done for them. They can do things for themselves. They do not need any paternal care and shepherding about. All they need is an opportunity, an equal chance in life, and they can be depended upon to take care of themselves.

In this particular instance, if the mine owner had seen fit to abolish his company store and its varied and ingenious system of grand and petty larceny and had done away with the time dishonored methods of plundering practiced on the miners, he could have spared himself the expense of his lyceum and lecture hall and other improvements. The miners would have attended to those things themselves.—New York American.

NOT A MAN.

A union man the other day asked a non-unionist why he didn't join the union of his trade.

"Why," said he, "What do I want to belong to the union for? I am getting the same wages as those who do."

And the non-union man chuckled to think he was getting union wages and did not have to pay money into the organization that made it possible for to get them.

He probably had not brains enough to understand that if it were not for the existence of the union he would be getting 50 per cent less wages.

If so, he had not sufficient sense to realize the fact that he is simply practicing a system of robbery that no honorable man would be guilty of.

But we suspect he is not lacking in brains, as this would imply.

He is so lacking in decency that he will take every advantage that unionism gives labor, and let the other fellows pay all the expenses.

He is—well, he is no man.

And certainly he is not a woman; no woman could be so mean.—Stationary Firemen's Journal.

OVER-HAULING SOME REFORMERS.

The English politician who for years has actually controlled the destinies of Great Britain has recently written from South Africa about the troubles he finds in the industrial reconstruction there, for which purpose he took the trip to that country. And do you know what the trouble is? The native's reluctance to be the wage slaves of white masters. Our English friend, the politician, is throwing out the idea that some heroic process shall have to be devised to see that those naughty natives learn how to be industrious enough so that they may produce, say, at the rate of $1.50 per day, they themselves getting about 50 cents per day, each worker and the white master about $1 per day from each native worker. Even if we allow ten workers to each white master, we shall have $10 per day earnings for each such master, against 50 cents per day for each native worker to revel in the wealth of industrial slavery. And why should those stupid natives object to their producing about $500 per annum, each one of them, while obtaining something like $200 for the precious privilege of producing $500.

All such combinations are the product of that marvelous evolution of ours an evolution evolved by all superior races when attempting to control inferior groups of men, at home or abroad, in ones nation or any other outside the natural frontiers of each race. Before we go on in the analysis, let us inject here a beautiful thought from a wonderful writer, Mrs. Oliphant. It is as follows:

"Nature, which is so full of interest when the heart is unoccupied, dwindles and grows pale in presence of the poorest human creature who throws a shadow into her sunshine."

Everybody can notice that God's beauties in nature don't appeal to us when we are choked full with ourselves. Exactly the same happens with God's truth, as long as we see fit to revel with our own idiotic evolutions through which to prolong the agonies of that progress that simply means—new manifestations of collective folly and nonsense, new blunders in human laws.

Because what has progress ever been and is yet? Shorn of all infatuations, progress has always meant: "The few fixing the conditions on which the bulk of humanity in each nation would have to live a very mean kind of a life." And this is what we civilized men call freedom. The natives in South Africa see the stupidity of that freedom and, to the best of their situation, decline to have it. The same has been done by the natives of all countries before that childish and insipid progress of ours has in turn accustomed each race to submit to industrial slavery in this or that form.

Please, now, take notice of how wonderfully our beautiful evolution works out the destinies of humanity. As long as master monopoly is only able to control a portion of the natural resources within the reach of a given race or group of men, and so is yet forced to leave a certain expanse of land free from the satanic grasp of land monopoly, the group of men in question preserve the instincts of freedom that God and nature have ingrained in the mental fibres of human brains. Men then revolt yet at the idea of placing the destinies under the control of any master. They prefer to work out for their support, in the bosom of that mother nature which can always provide for us, to the measure of the efforts we may see fit to exert and the needs we are willing to have or satisfy. Later on, when the natural resources of any given race have fallen under the absolute control of master land monopoly, mother nature has practically been killed, by our benighted progress, and the utmost freedom that men can claim is—"To have a boss willing to let them live, after any fashion he sees fit to fix, no matter how hard the worker may have to work for that miserable or incomplete kind of life."

About fifty years ago the writer was the employer of labor in a country where the workers, when not satisfied with one Sunday per week, took Monday for an additional day of rest. They could afford that, or, anyhow, the boss could not afford to discharge his workers. The standards of life being yet simpler, less fantastic than those of today, the average worker was not quite as much at the mercy of any boss as most workers are today.

We don't plead for a return to any past conditions. We plead for a progress that should not destroy human freedom or undermine the natural joys and manhood of any race. We don't see any sense in selling these joys and manhood for the sake of some stupid unsanitary luxuries with which to masquerade the poverty of refined oppression or ape the aristocracies built up by an evolution which evolves itself in defiance of all divine law.

Far from us to imagine that we shall soon give up our beloved fantastic evolution. Much less still shall we soon attempt to hitch the chariot of progress to a natural, God-like evolution. We shall first try to satisfy our childish whims in the next straight-jacket of industrial oppression. We refer to that empirical reform movement which is making so much noise and is usually promoted by men who refuse to learn the A, B, C of healthy social development. They waste their time in making assertions without every trying to prove their correctness because of such and such historical facts, or such and such natural laws.

Look first at the folly of proposing to suppress the natural right of each worker to control his own destinies and the wealth he may see to produce and save, but compel him to trust to a group of public officers when we have not yet learned how to elect honest men in national, state, county and municipal affairs, and we have about 3,000,000 of them, all told. Besides, what can honest men do, when in public offices, as long as their hands are bound for good and evil by social, political and industrial adjustments, by traditions and general infatuations that fail to rest on proper conceptions of equity and freedom, of sense or morality of a higher order?

What would we think of a lot of men who were planning to contract a building by first devising the formation of a beautiful roof? That is just the situation of any conglomeration of reformers who refuse to commence their social reconstruction without first establishing equity in land distribution and hence honesty in the social income that any kind of civilization needs to meet its honest, natural expenses. The reformers we refer to, honest and well meaning, most of them, even if deficient in solid common sense (because evolution, and progress, and education, have never yet paid much attention to that kind of sense) quickly dismiss all natural law in governmental development; as if God and Nature had forgotten all on the subject.

Our friends really say, "Government has always been more or less corrupt, by employing about eight, ten or twelve per cent of the workers of the nation. Let government employ all the workers of the nation, an, presto, government shall become honest. Government needs a social income, some form of taxation, as long as it employs only a small proportion of men, but let government employ all men, and the non-producing or complimentary and naturally public workers shall be fed, clothed, housed, etc., not with what the elementary workers produce, oh no, but—with what? * * With manna from heaven?"

The idea that taxes, or social income, or any kind of income, the conception that land distribution cannot be subject to honesty in lieu of dishonesty; the perception that the labor-created wealth which has to be recreated every few years should be the controlling factor in human development, and no especial importance should be attached to equity in the eternal forces of God's universe. What a wretched job those men would make out of progress, if we gave them a chance to control it! The remnants of freedom we have would rapidly vanish. Would that pay, even if we had a little more to eat? Do we live by bread alone, and not by the commands that proceed from the Father of all equity and all freedom?—Railroad Trainmen's Journal.

NORRIS.

It is with feelings of profound sorrow, that I have to announce the death of our esteemed brother, Patrick J. Norris, Corresponding Secretary of Lodge 250 and Recording Secretary of New England District Lodge No. 7. The brother had been ailing for several weeks with typhoid fever. He was cared for at the Boston City Hospital, when his ailment developed such a serious condition as made it unsafe to be attended to at his home. During the progress of the fever, the brother rallied several times, and it was believed he would recover, but on the morning of the 27th instant, a sudden change for the worse set in and the good brother already wasted with fever succumbed to the force of the change. The death of Brother Norris was a great shock to his friends, and the delegates to District Lodge No. 7 will miss his genial face, and other sterling qualities that made him a faithful brother and a companionable friend.

To the faithful young wife now left unfriended, and alone in the world with her fatherless little ones, we extend our sincere regrets and sorrow, tempered with the hope that the Heavenly Father whose charity never fails, and Who rarely closes one door, without opening another, will raise a protecting arm about the distressed ones, which will impart new hopes and confidences to cheer and comfort the fatherless on their earthly way.

After services at the Gate of Heaven Church in South Boston, close by the former home of the deceased, the funeral procession made its way to Holy Cross Cemetery, where on the ever memorable Decoration Day, we laid away forever all that was mortal of our late good and true friend, Patrick J. Norris.

The pall-bearers were: Brothers John Collins, James F. Galvin, Michael F. Mulqueeny, Joseph J. Smith, Joseph Irwin and

THOMAS R. KEENAN,
Dist. Cor. Sec.

CLOSE.

A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our lodge,
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon His love had given,
And though the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

HERMAN C. WESTFALL,

CISNA.

Mattoon, Ill., May 8, 1903.

At a special meeting of Lodge 224 of the B. of B. M. & I. S. B. of A., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father, in His divine wisdom, to call from our midst our worthy brother, Levi Cisna; therefore be it,

Resolved, That we, the brothers of Lodge 224, do extend to his bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy and condolence; and be it further

Resolved, That our charter be draped for thirty days and a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our meeting; also that a copy be sent to the bereaved wife and one to the Journal for publication.

Brother Cisna was a young man of excellent habits and good disposition, well thought of by his employers and associates.

MOTENSBACKER.

Needles, Cal., May 23, 1903.

At a regular meeting of Desert Lodge, No. 288, B. of B. & I. S. B. of A., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Ruler of the Universe to remove from our midst the child of our Brother Motensbacker.

Resolved, That all members of Lodge 288 extend their heartfelt sympathy to our brother and his stricken family. And be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our next regular meeting and a copy be sent to the Journal for publication.

J. B. BUCKLEY,

Journal Rep.

THOMAS.

At the regular meeting of Evergreen Lodge No. 24, of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God of the Universe to take from our midst the dearly beloved wife and mother of our esteemed brother, R. R. Thomas and children; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in the hour of sorrow to our bereaved brother and children; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved brother and children; a copy spread on the minutes of the meeting, and a copy sent to the official Journal for publication.

It is hard to break the tender words,

When love has bound the heart;

It is hard to speak the words,

Must we forever part.

Dearest loved one, we have laid thee,

In the peaceful grave's embrace;

But thy memory will be cherished,

Until we see thy heavenly face.

S. J. PEACOCK,

R. DOOLIN,

A. MANN,

Committee.

FLACK.

San Bernardino, Cal., April 25.—At a regular meeting of Arrowhead Lodge 232, of the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, held April 24th, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God to take from our midst the dearly beloved wife of our worthy brother, Lewis Flack; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the brothers of Lodge No. 232 do extend to Brother Flack and his family, our heartfelt sympathy, in their time of sorrow and bereavement; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the meeting, a copy be sent to Brother Flack, and a copy be sent to the Journal for publication.

DAY.

Whereas, It has become the sad duty of Potrero Lodge, No. 205, I. B. of B. M. and I S. B., to take cognizance of the death of Brother Charles Day, who, while in the prime of life and with a bright future before him was suddenly called to the Great Beyond, his loyal and generous heart stilled forever, our Lodge losing a valuable member, and his family suffering the greatest affliction that could befall its members; and

Whereas, His nobility, patriotism and kindness endeared him to all who knew him, be it

Resolved, That the charter of this Lodge be draped in mourning for thirty days; that these resolutions be spread in full upon the records of this Lodge; that a copy, suitably engrossed, be forwarded to the bereaved family of our late brother and that a copy be sent to our Monthly Journal.

Respectfully submitted,

A. D. PORTER, Chairman,

ROBERT DONALDSON,

ANDREW CUNNINGHAM,

Committee.

CONATY.

At a regular meeting of Southwark Lodge No. 341, Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, held on the evening of May 15, 1903, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God, our Heavenly Father and the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, in His Divine wisdom, to call from our midst Brother James Conaty, a beloved father and an esteemed brother.

Resolved, That we, the members of 341, do bow to the wisdom of our Heavenly Father in his infinite goodness and mercy and tender our heartfelt sympathy to the family of our bereaved brother in their hour of sorrow and affliction, and be it also

Resolved, That our charter be draped for the period of thirty days, and a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our meeting and also be sent to the Journal for publication.

O'TOOLE.

St. Louis, Mo., May 7, 1903.

At a regular meeting of Mound City Lodge, No. 27, held on Thursday evening, May 7, 1903, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Brother William L. O'Toole, after an illness of short duration, departed this life on May 5, 1903.

He was one of Lodge 27's young and competent members; a brave union man; ready at all times to fill any office conferred on him by his Lodge in a trustworthy manner; an able and efficient officer, and respected by all members of his craft.

Whereas, The Great and Supreme Ruler of all mankind has in His infinite wisdom removed from our midst our esteemed brother, William O'Toole; be it therefore,

Resolved, That as a body we extend to his bereaved widow and family our heartfelt sympathy for the loss of husband and brother.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother William O'Toole this Lodge has sustained a loss of one who by action and example proved a true and faithful member of our order.

Resolved, That a memorial page on the minute book of this Lodge be set aside in memory of our departed brother and that a copy of these resolutions be printed in the official Journal of the Brotherhood; and that a copy be sent to his bereaved widow and family; and that our charter be draped for a period of thirty days.

JAMES REDMOND,
THOMAS M'BRIDE,
GEO. W. LEBLANC,

The JOURNAL

of the Brotherhood of

Boiler Makers and Iron
Ship Builders of America.

VOL. XV.

KANSAS CITY, KAS., AUG. 1, 1903.

NO. 8

LODGE 61.

Well, it is some time since I had anything to say before, but 61 received a letter from Lodge 9 and I was ordered to answer through the journal for the benefit of the brothers up that way, for judging from what we hear they must be laboring under a delusion. In the first place they ask us to join their district lodge and point out what benefits we have already received in an increase of wages and claim all the credit for getting it, saying that it was secured by members of the district lodge while the New Haven and Hartford locals were waiting to hear from headquarters. Well, right there is where they ought to pinch themselves and come out of it for 61 claims if it hadn't been for the Norwood committee which I think are members we might have made a better scale of wages than we did. Now 61 certainly did inform the Grand Lodge that we were going to ask for an increase and received permission to enforce it, which I think was the proper course to take, but we were not asleep while waiting to hear from the Grand Lodge. Our committee of which I had the honor to be chairman, were the first to be called before the officials of the road and told what they had prepared for us and asked how we thought it would suit the brothers. We refused to pass an opinion on it without a meeting with the other committees, and asked that they be sent for, which was done and the next day we all went together and went over the schedule with the officials. After doing so and while waiting for copies of it to be made out and as we were intending to retire and talk it over the committee from Norwood consisting of two helpers and one boiler maker, that grand old man as I afterwards seen him called in the Journal, by a little talk on their part secured a good thing for themselves and forgetful of the rest and their duty to the brothers, stood up and said they had full power to act and that everything was satisfactory, and that grand old man grabbed his coat and hat and wanted to know what time the next train went. There wasn't much left for the rest to do but accept as gracefully as possible, which they did. These are the bare facts as they are, and I have felt like writing them up before, but I thought it wise to let it drop as quietly as possible, but now when it comes to seeing them wrote up for the good work they done and be told that we were asleep while they done it, that is the limit and we have to call it.

In the next place they say it would be better to run the Grand Lodge in a modified way, as an advisory board on a 5-cent capita tax basis, but I can't see what good their advice would be in a time of trouble with a 5-cent basis to back it up. They say if we kept our money in the district we would be strong and powerful. So we might but to my mind the whole earth is not confined to Boston or New England. I think if I am not mistaken it goes a little beyond and to me, a brother in need is the same whether he is out on the U. P. or in Boston or elsewhere. He says assessments are the only way they can pay strike benefits and that they are unpopular. I suppose they are with some people, but they all have a chance to vote on them and I noticed that a good many locals not only voted for them in the U. P. trouble, but also voted some as a donation. I know 61 did which I don't think any man ought to kick on when he is working, when it goes to some poor brother fighting not only for himself, but for the entire bunch. And as far as going back on the Grand Lodge, 61 is entirely satisfied and think they are doing nobly, so district No. 7 might as well know now as any time that they might as well ring off now as any time. I remain, yours fraternally,

F. P. HADLOCK, J. C.

LODGE 197.

Albany, N. Y., July 5, 1903.—Lodge 197 has had a ball game. The machinist foreman is a ball player so he challenged Mr. Bennet, our foreman, to a game. Brother Crowley acted as manager and picked up the nine and we gave them a beating they won't forget. The score stood 21 to 6 in favor of the boiler makers, so you see brothers we are able to beat the machinists at most anything. These are the places our men played and they put up a good game too. Brother Monroe catcher, Brother Ebner pitcher, Brother Roach first base, Brother Coult's second base, Brother Cains third base, Brother Coon shortstop, Brother Weaver right field, Brother Apple left field and Mr. Bennett, our foreman, centerfield. After the game we had refreshments and everybody enjoyed themselves.

WALTER COON, Cor. Secy.

LODGE 166.

As 166 has not as yet made its appearance in the Journal columns, we think it is about time that we came to the front and have something to say about ourselves.

No. 166 feels very proud of the fact of its being the youngest lodge on the lakes having only been reorganized this spring, and the first to get the nine hour day and 10 per cent increase outside of Chicago, having no trouble at all in getting our demands mainly through the untiring efforts of Pres. McNeil and Vice Pres. Fox, who will live long in the memory of all Wyandotte boys.

To celebrate the affair we gave a grand picnic and parade July 4th, at Arbeiter hall. To say that it was a success is putting it too easy. Talk about athletes; I guess 166 hasn't any. Why they took all of the prizes. To see our worthy President Micalak win the fat man's race was a sight once seen never to be forgotten, and our only Felix O'Neill making a new record for high jumpers, clearing eleven foot ten inches. The tug of war team of 166 boys with Joe Benore as the anchor, pulled the Soda Ash team clean from the hall to the forty acres and back again, after which we had a grand ball, and in the wee small hours of the morning we all left for home.

L. J. FOUNTAIN, Cor. Sec.

LODGE 323.

Saginaw Lodge No. 323 was organized Sept. 27, 1903, with J. O. White as president and H. E. Crosby as correspondent and financial secretary, and through the winter months business fell off to such an extent that Brothers White and Crosby had hard work keeping the lodge up, but now we have a first class lodge and any one with an up-to-date card will receive a warm welcome, but if any one drops in here without a card he will certainly receive an ice box reception for no card no job is the rule in this shop.

We have lately received an increase in wages from 33c to 34c per hour for which we want to thank our M. M., Mr. A. C. Adams, and superintendent, Mr. W. S. Tinsman, and also for the courteous manner in which they received our committee in all conferences.

Hoping to see this in the Journal, I remain, yours fraternally,

SHANTY, J. C.

REPORT OF ORGANIZER FOR CANADA.

Montreal, July 15th, 1903.—Since the last issue of our Journal the brothers of Maple Leaf Lodge No. 134 B. B. M. and I. S. B. of America, called a special meeting for the purpose of finding out the best means of bringing back the stray sheep who have been wandering around Montreal for the last three years; that is the time since we had a 13 weeks' strike. At that time we had 168 members on the pay roll. And received strike benefit from Grand Lodge for 108 or thereabouts. Since that time they have diminished to 80 or 90 members. It was decided at that meeting to bring the strayed ones back to the fold for one-half of what their indebtedness to the lodge was. Then your humble servant was instructed by the lodge to visit those delinquent members and settle with them if possible on the easiest and most convenient method of collecting the same.

I might say that my mission among them was very successful so far. I went from boiler shops to round houses and among the steam ships and wherever there was boiler makers working, and then met them on pay days in what ever shop they were working for, and took whatever they gave me. Some gave $1.00 afortnight, so when our financial secretary sends his report this month it will be more encouraging.

I also desire to call your attention to the conduct of some of our members. There are some of the boiler makers very hard to handle. They work for a while then they get a swelled head and quit, then if you meet them on the street and ask them to come up to the meeting they will ask you when is the meeting night. Well, brothers, this kind of business is gone on long enough; and now that trade is good in Montreal and wages as good as our neighbors across the line that is from 23c to 30c per hour for good union men, there is no reason why No. 134 should not be one of the strongest and I might say the wealthiest in the Brotherhood. They pay no attention to special assessments. It has to be paid from the general funds or I might say a part of it. Now that they are falling into line again the time is not far distant when every boiler maker in Montreal will work heart and hand together and their motto will be "upward and onward," and by so doing they will be a credit not only to the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers but also to their families.

P. J. MONAHAN,
D. G. O. and Treas. 134.

LODGE 94.

It is so long since the outside world has heard or seen anything of the doings of Lodge No. 94, that no doubt they think we are asleep, but I assure you we are not.

When Brother H. J. McCracken returned from his trip to New York with the president of the S. P. System, in company with other members of the B. M. U., in order to try and settle the great strike on the U. P., and we all know how successful they were, he was treated to a surprise, that will be a ringing tribute to the loyalty and good fellowship of the members of Lodge No. 94.

It was on a "Saturday" evening when all the boiler makers and apprentices of Lodge No. 94 assembled in the main half of the Forrester's building by pre-arrangement.

The meeting was called to order by Pres. J. F. Mitchell and after a few remarks by himself, Mr. H. J. McCracken was called to the bar to relate his experiences while traveling on a railroad magnate's private train across the continent, a novel ride for a boiler maker, and also of the sights and scenes on his return trip by a southern route.

After speaking for an hour or more, he said he "could keep it up all night," Bro. James Lindsay was called to the floor to make the speech of the evening, which he done in a very creditable manner, during which he presented Bro. McCracken with a handsome diamond stud as a testimonial to the conscientious endeavor of a brother member in behalf of the boiler makers of the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific railroads.

After the presentation Bro. McCracken arose to reply and after saying "He only done his duty," was overcome with emotion and had to sit down.

Well, then the big time commenced. Bros. Wm. Hennesy and Fred Sypress "got busy" and were soon engaged in supplying the inner man with all the good things that goes to make a boiler maker's meeting a success.

Brother Lasarus Bloomberg made a hit in a number of popular songs and Bro. Buck Murphy brought tears to the eyes of some of the boys by his creditable rendition of that sentimental song, "Only a sliver from my sweet-heart's wooden leg." Brother Tommy Ward rendered a very catchy song entitled, "We had to move Paddy's grave to dig a sewer." Brothers Jurgenson and James L. McGuire of Lodge No. 385 San Francisco who were guests of the evening kept the boys laughing by singing all the popular coon songs. We also had a three round boxing bout between Bro. S. D. Nance and Brother Frank Bianchi and after a decidedly clever and interesting exhibition the referee had to call it a draw.

Well about this time the refreshments were beginning to run low and as the hands of the clock were beginning to touch the wee sma' hours we decided to adjourn, which we did after all hands joined in singing an old and familiar song, "Auld Aug Zigne."

Brothers Frank Bianchi, J. Fredrickson, Tommy Ward, W. Hennesey and Thos. Leith deserve great credit for the success of the entertainment. Hoping to see this printed in our next Journal, I am

Yours fraternally,

"BILLY THE SMILER."

LODGE 307.

I have been requested to write a few lines to the Journal for publication. Lodge 307 is still at the old stand endeavoring to uphold the integrity of the order, to create a still greater bond of brotherly love and courtesy from one true union man to his fellow union craftsman, and at the same time to crush out, if possible, that antagonistic feeling in the breast of some of our members of the different lodges in this district, and replace it with the spirit of fair dealing, harmony and mutual affections. May God speed the day when we can grasp hands in one harmonious circle, standing shoulder to shoulder, heart to heart, presenting a solid front to the common foe of the laboring masses. Brothers in the name of justice, for the sake of the honor of our beloved order drop all hard feelings; come together on some fair terms that will be satisfactory to all, bury the spirit of jealousy and become welded to one another by the strongest ties of friendship. Then and not till then will we place our order in the front ranks.

Lodge 307 had the misfortune to lose one of our members, Brother Edgar Wheelton. He was taken sick with the measles and caught cold on them. It seemed as though God wanted him more than his earthly friends and relatives, as the best medical skill could do nothing to save him. He died on the 4th of July, and the body was shipped to Newport News for burial.

Brothers of Lodge 307 there seems to be a lack of enthusiasm in our members. We see the same old faces there every meeting night and very seldom any strange faces. Some of you don't even think of coming to pay your dues. No doubt you are aware of the fact that you are liable to suspension and when the times comes, that through your own neglect, your name is published in the Journal, take your medicine like a man and don't accuse the officers of this or that when they are simply doing their duty. Brothers, it takes money to run a lodge, to pay expenses, per capita tax, etc. How under the heaven do you expect to keep the lodge in existence if you don't think enough of it to pay your dues and assessments? I hope the stay-at-homes and all delinquents will take notice of this and save the lodge the humiliation of seeing the names of its members in the Journal for non-payment of dues.

Hoping that the next time the undersigned communicates with the Grand Lodge he may be a little more encouraged to do so because of the fact that Lodge 307 is better off financially and numerically. With best wishes for the success of the B. B. and I. S. B. of America, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

JOS. BOOTH,

Journal Correspondent.

CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY COMPANY.

Chicago, Ill., June 12, 1903.

Dear Sir:—The following resolutions have been agreed to as result of our conference:

Rate of Pay.

First. Commencing June 1st boiler makers in Chicago now receiving 32 cents shall receive 36 cents per hour and boiler makers at outside points now receiving 32 cents shall receive 34 cents per hour; those now receiving less than 32 cents per hour shall receive the same percentage of increase.

Overtime.

Second. That time and one-half will be paid for all work performed after the usual working hours, overtime for work performed on legal holidays and Sundays shall be governed by the foreman, which shall not be less than time and one-half, said legal holidays shall consist of New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day.

Defining Boiler Maker's Work.

Third. Laying out, marking off, flanging, putting together or setting up work pertaining to steam, air, water and oil tight tank work, locomotive and stationary boiler work, cutting out and applying patches, riveting caulking and setting flues on same. All work heretofore performed by handy men shall not be effected by this rule.

Pay for Time on Road.

Fourth. That when boiler makers or apprentices are sent out on the road to do work that they shall receive time and one-half for all overtime after the usual working hours and they shall receive not to exceed one dollar (1.00) per day for expenses.

Apprentices.

Fifth. That there shall be one apprentice to every shop and one to every five boiler makers employed therein, said apprentice to be advanced every six months, so as to teach him all parts of the trade and said apprentice shall receive $1.00 per day for the first year, $1.25 per day for the second year, $1.50 per day for the third year, and $1.75 per day for the fourth year, and at the expiration of his apprenticeship he shall receive boiler maker's pay if competent. Foreman, General Foreman or Master Mechanic to be the judge of his competency.

Grievances.

Sixth. When grievances pertaining to these resolutions, or others agreed to verbally arise, the shop committee shall be privileged to take the matter to the foreman or master mechanic, but if said grievance cannot be adjusted by them they shall be privileged to take the matter to the superintendent of motive power and machinery.

Promotion of Helpers.

Seventh. That instead of handy men being employed when vacancy occurs on such work as they have been performing that a helper be advanced if satisfactory to all parties concerned, but handy men or helpers shall not be advanced to do boiler maker's work which they have not been heretofore performing at the various shops or round houses.

Transportation.

Eighth. When shop committees desire to come to Chicago to adjust grievances they will be granted the same privilege so far as transportation is concerned as other employees.

Discrimination.

Ninth. That no boiler maker shall be discriminated against on account of being on committee.

Previous Agreements to Remain in Effect.

Tenth. That all previous agreements between the boiler makers of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company that are not hereby changed shall remain in effect.

Yours truly,

R. QUAYLE,

Supt. M. P. & Mch'y.

To Mr. J. H. Simons, Chairman Committee.

AMERICAN LABOR AND SHIPPING.

The Labor Leader, which is the "official organ of the Baltimore Federation of Labor," in its issue of July 11, under the caption of "Shipping and Labor," says that "the relation of the oversea shipping question to the union labor movement is ably discussed in the current issue of The Nautical Gazette." It says further:

"Quite plainly is it shown that there is a vital interest to the laboring man involved in the question of shipping subsidies, and the protective policy of the Government is made to appear as the only salvation to the rejuvenation of America's one-time shipping supremacy."

After quoting copiously from The Nautical Gazette, The Labor Leader further says:

"Of course it is plain that the obtaining of subsidies is the object of the discussion, and while there seems small justification for the people's money to flow into the coffers of rich concerns, even if our old-time sea prestige is to be restored, there is still a heaven of worth left in the idea."

Our esteemed contemporary falls into the common error of assuming that protection is synonymous with subsidies, when shipping is discussed. But it falls into a graver error, altogether too common among organized labor leaders, in assuming that subsidies, if paid by our Government would "flow into the coffers of rich concerns." Our Baltimore contemporary evinces too much intelligence, and is too near the accurate source of information, not to know that the wages paid in American shipyards are about double those paid in British shipyards, as a consequence of which Britons, and not Americans, build the ships which do the great bulk of our foreign carrying. Properly protected and by that we do not necessarily advocate subsidies, these ships would be built by American workmen. It is the lack of protection of our shipping upon the sea which makes it impossible to profitably operate them in competition with foreign ships. Does our contemporary not see that this lack of protection is no detriment to American capital, which is able to earn profits through investments in foreign-built ships? Is it not plain that American labor is the loser, and it alone? Why, then, do not American workmen advocate protection for American shipping?

The Labor Leader of Baltimore, and labor leaders throughout the country, would do well to ponder over the foregoing inquiry. That the truth is becoming apparent to our Baltimore contemporary may be learned from a perusal of the concluding sentences of its editorial, in which it states:

"It does not require the perception of the student to observe that if more ships are built here an immense advantage will accrue to the men employed on them. Then, again, there cannot fail to be an appreciable effect for the better if in the future American exports are carried in American bottoms. The influence of such a condition will be felt throughout the entire industrial world. We feel confident that in at least this sense the union movement is greatly concerned in the regeneration of American shipping."

It would be impossible to state the truth more clearly and completely than The Labor Leader does. But a year ago $170,000,000 of American capital was invested in a fleet of 140 steamships, of over 1,100,000 gross tons, of which but six or eight, or less than 100,000 tons were American built. Had it been possible to build those ships as cheaply in American as in foreign shipyards, doubtless the larger part if not all of that money would have been invested in American ships. It has been estimated that, from the raw material in the earth to the completed ship afloat, ninety-five per cent represents labor. But it was either a question of forcing the labor here down to the level of that abroad, or of the Government protecting the ships in operation so as to place them on an equality with foreign ships with which they compete. Protection was lacking, and it was probably not considered worth while to attempt to reduce American labor to the wage conditions obtaining abroad, so, the easiest way was to buy the foreign ships, and this was done, American labor thus being deprived of the employment involved in their construction, and in their operation, too, since they are all run under a British flag, with Britons for masters, officers and crews. These ships enjoy the same rights in our ports that our own ships do, in our foreign trade, and, being built cheaply, and run cheaply, there is a profit in them for their owners which they could not earn if built with higher-paid American labor and run with higher-paid masters, officers and men, citizens of the United States. It is a plain case of labor needing protection, to get the employment, with capital needing no protection to get profitable employment.—Nautical Gazette.

AMERICAN AND BRITISH WAGES.

A British workingman, writing to the London Times, under the name of "An Ulster Working Man," and hailing from Belfast, Ireland, states that a friend and himself were not long ago working together, each earning thirty shillings per week. But in order to better his condition, his friend came to the United States, where he earned sixty shillings per week, just double what he had earned in Belfast. In the latter place, at the wages earned, the man who came to the United States had been able to save three shillings per week, but in the United States the man was able to save twenty-four shillings per week, that is to say, for every shilling he had been able to save in Ireland, he was able in the United States to save eight shillings. He lived quite as well, and his children, so the Ulster man writes, enjoyed better school facilities.

The friend in Ireland, who sends the letter to the London Times, asks the British free traders to tell him why it is that in free trade Great Britain he is unable to earn as much as his friend earns in protective America. The Ulster man thinks that British workmen are the finest and most intelligent in the world, and he can't understand why it is that they can only earn half what can be earned in the United States, and can only save one-eight as much in Great Britain as they are able to save when they come here.

The statement of the "Ulster Working Man" takes on an added interest because Belfast is the seat of the largest shipbuilding establishment in Great Britain, and he probably fairly states the average difference in wages prevailing there and here. This difference probably explains why it is that ships can be built so much cheaper in Great Britain than in the United States. While American free traders will probably assert that until American workmen will accept the British wage scale they cannot expect to build ships in competition with Britons, protectionists may well answer that if protection were extended to our ships on the sea as it is to our industries on the land, we would soon build our seagoing ships here instead of abroad.—Nautical Gazette.

ABSCONDING TREASURER.

John Little, Late Treasurer of Greenock No. 4.

John Little has disappeared from his home, taking with him £35 16s 10d. of the Society's money. A warrant was obtained for his apprehension as soon as it was possible to get one, but he has for the present effectively hid himself. His wife, Mrs. Little, soon afterwards quietly effected a sale of the household goods and cleared out to Birkenhead, and as the purchaser had paid over the purchase money before it was discovered that such was being done, the effort made to get the money withheld was frustrated.

The whole business bears a suspicious look of pre-arrangement, and we are extremely anxious to locate Little, in order that we may make an example of this defaulter. Any information will be welcomed and our Birkenhead members should be on the watch in case he is seen in the locality where his wife now resides.

There is a rumor that he has sailed for South Africa, and our members there must be on the look-out. American and Australian friends please copy.—Boiler Makers' and Iron and Steel Shipbuilders, New Castle-on-Tyne.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT.

Entered into between the Boiler Mfg. Association of Pittsburg District, contracting firms, and the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Shipbuilders, members of Local No. 154, employed on outside work, this 16th day of July, 1903, and terminating on the first day of January, 1905.

The rate of wages and hours of work shall be as follows: From this date until January 1st, 1904, nine (9) hours shall constitute a day's work, and the rate shall be Three Dollars and Seventh-eight cent ($3.78) per day. From January 1st, 1904, to January 1st, 1905, eight (8) hours shall constitute a day's work and the rate shall be Three Dollars and Sixty Cents ($3.60) per day.

All overtime to be as follows: (a) All Sundays, Fourth of July and December 25th shall be two hours' pay for one hour's work, excepting on repair work, for which three hours' pay shall be allowed.

(b) Double time for the following holidays, or days observed as such: January 1st, February 22d, Decoration Day and Thanksgiving Day.

(c) No work shall be performed on Labor Day, excepting it be to protect work under way which might be in jeopardy. Double time will be paid for all time worked on Labor Day.

(d) All overtime not specified in the preceding clauses shall be paid for at the rate of one and one-half time.

Pay day shall be once every two weeks. In case of discharge, the men shall be paid within twenty-four hours thereafter. In case a workman leaves of his own account he shall receive the pay due him at the next regular pay day.

Boilermakers' work shall consist of the erection of the following steel and iron work: All blast furnace work (excepting skip inclines and top rigs, buildings and viaducts), stand pipes, stacks, breeching, smoke boxes, air receivers, gas holders, riveted piping gas producers, tanks, boilers, pans, iron and steel boats, barges; all fitting, riveting and caulking on wickets, locks or gates for dams, brewing vats and tanks, ice machine tanks, and all plate work on coal chutes and open hearth furnaces and floors. However, all necessary help shall be used as has been the custom, and allowed to do their share of the work.

Car fare and wages shall be paid to members going to or coming from, or being transferred from one job to another. This does not include daily car fare.

The Business Agent of the Union shall have access to the work at all times during working hours, but shall not be allowed to interfere with or delay the men on the work during said working hours; also to allow a Steward on each job, who shall attend to the business of the Union without expense or inconvenience to the employer. Steward shall not have the right to dictate what shall be done on the work, but all complaints must be made by Business Agent at office of employer.

There shall be no restriction or discrimination on the part of the workmen as to the handling of any materials entering into the construction of the work upon which they are employed.

There shall be no limitation placed upon the amount of work to be performed by any workman during working hours.

There shall be no restriction whatever as to the employment of foremen.

There shall be no sympathetic strikes called on account of trades' dispute.

The employer may employ or discharge, through his representative, any working man he may see fit, but no workman is to be discriminated against on account of his connection with a labor organization.

There shall be no discrimination against, or interference with foremen who have been in the service of the employer during the time of the strike.

In cases where misunderstandings or disputes arise between the employer and workmen, the matter in question shall be settled by arbitration. When disputes or misunderstandings are submitted to arbitration, work shall proceed without stoppage from strikes or lockouts, pending decision of the arbitration, and said board shall meet inside of forty-eight (48) hours.

The jurisdiction of this Local No. 154 shall extend for a distance of forty (40) miles radius from Court House steps, Pittsburg, excepting at such points as it may interfere with any other local.

This scale shall continue in force on and after January 1st, 1905, unless four months' notice is given by either of the parties to this agreement, and it can be terminated after January 1st, 1905, by four months' notice by either of the parties to this agreement.

ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT.

Outside Work Exclusively.

This agreement, entered at Pittsburg, Pa., on July 16th, 1903, between the Manufacturers of Plate Work in the Pittsburg District and the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders' Helpers' Division, Duquesne Lodge No. 31, of Pittsburg, Pa.

Article 1. This agreement to be binding on all territory within a radius of forty miles from Allegheny County Court House.

Article 2. The wages to be paid from this date to all helpers employed before May 1st, 1903, by the manufacturers on outside work shall be increased 10 per cent, and the minimum rate of wages for helpers shall be 25 cents per hour. After a helper has worked six months on outside work he shall be considered competent to receive helpers' wages of at least $2.50 per day.

Article 3. The hours for helpers shall be the same as the boiler makers.

Article 4. All overtime shall be at the same rate as the boiler makers.

Article 5. There shall be no limitation as to the kind or number of men employed on any work. This refers to laborers. When helpers are employed as laborers they shall receive helpers' wages.

Article 6. Car fare and wages shall be paid to a member going to or coming from, or being transferred from one job to another. This does not include daily car fare.

Article 7. There shall be no sympathetic strikes except one called by the boiler makers.

Article 8. In cases of misunderstandings or disputes, all such cases shall be reported first to the office of the employer. If such misunderstandings or disputes cannot be satisfactorily settled, they shall then be submitted to arbitration; and in no case shall a strike be called pending the arbitration. This arbitration shall be final.

Article 9. The Business Agent shall have access to the work at all times, but he shall not interfere with the progress of the work. All reports of disputes must be made officially by the Business Agent, by order of the Local Lodge, to the office of the employer.

Article 10. This agreement expires January 1st, 1905, provided four months' notice is given. If no notice is given before the above date, four months' notice must at all times afterward be given before this agreement can be terminated; and in case of no notice being given, this agreement shall continue in force.

VALUE OF OUR SHIPS AND SHIPYARDS.

If our entire foreign commerce were carried in vessels built in the United States the total value of American shipping and shipbuilding would be about double what they are today. That is to say, instead of having $80,000,000 invested in our shipbuilding plants, employing 50,000 men, and producing vessels and repairs thereto valued at about $75,000,000, there would be $160,000,000 so invested, employing 100,000 men, and their products would be worth $150,000,000 annually. And instead of the value of American vessels being $350,000,000, earning $266,942,042, and employing 183,578 men, their value would be nearer to $700,000,000, their earnings would be nearer to $500,000,000 and the number of men they employ would be nearer to 367,000. These figures have been compiled from a careful study of the statistics of the census report on waterborne transportation for the year

1899, the census report on shipbuilding for the year 1890, the reports of the Commissioner of Navigation and estimates and approximations based thereon. In 1889, the last year the figures were officially gathered, there were 32,059 vessels of all kinds, sail, steam and unrigged, documented and undocumented, of 8,603,489 gross tons, valued at $220,774,250. The Commissioner of Navigation reports in 1902 that there were 2,621,028 tons of sailing vessels, inclusive of canal-boats and barges, an increase of but 79,104 tons in thirteen years, while there were 3,176,874 tons of steam vessels, an increase of 1,528,804 tons. Assuming that the value of sail and steam vessels per ton was the same in 1902 as in 1889, which was, respectively, $31.87 and $77.07, we have a total value of $83,532,162 for sailing vessels and a total value of 244,841,679 for steam vessels. Allowing no increase in unrigged craft, regarding which later statistics are unavailable, we place their value in 1902 at the same amount as in 1889, viz., $22,231,953, making a total approximate value of $350,605,794 for the vessels owned in the United States in 1902. This shows an increase of sixty per centum in 1902 over 1889. In the latter year the gross earnings of these vessels were $166,838,776, their expenses being $36,580,806. Assuming that the gross earnings and expenses of these vessels retained the same proportion to their value in 1902 that they did in 1889, sixty per centum, they would have earned last year 266,942,042, their expenses would have been $208,417,752 and their net earnings $58,524,290. The men in the ordinary crews employed on the vessels in 1889 numbered 114,736, who earned $41,729,842, in most cases being fed at owners' expense as well. If they increased sixty per centum in 1902, there were then 183,578 men employed, whose wages amounted to $66,767,747, besides their board. The capital invested in American shipyards, apart from those owned by the Government, in the year 1900, amounted to $77,362,701, employing 48,288 persons, whose salaries and wages amounted to $26,847,700, the value of whose products, including repairing, amounted to $74,578,158. The Commissioner of Navigation in 1900 estimated that 1,000,000 tons of sail and 3,571,284 tons of steam vessels would be necessary for the carrying of our imports and exports in 1899. In that year we had 488,216 tons of sail and 360,030 tons of steam vessels under our flag in the foreign trade. Giving them the average value of sail and steam vessels per ton as placed by the census returns for 1889, the total value of the vessels engaged in our foreign trade in 1899 would have been $307,108,858. The actual value of the vessels engaged in our foreign trade would have been very much higher than we have estimated but we wish to be on the safe side. The American vessels engaged in our foreign trade, on the same basis of estimate, would have been valued in 1899 at $43,306,954. American vessels did our entire foreign carrying, their value in that year would have been $263,801,904 more than was actual in the case, their gross earnings, on the basis of the earnings of American vessels in 1889 as ascertained by the census, at 68 cents per ton would have amounted to 179,381,295. It is upon the basis of these figures that, as stated in our opening paragraph we assert that if our foreign commerce were carried wholly by American ships the earnings and the number of men employed in running and in building them would be double what they now are—The American Shipbuilding Industry.

REPORT BY DOMINICK KANE, G. V. 1

Vancouver, B. C., July 21.—My last report left me on the train coming into Ogden. Well, it is certainly a pleasure to any member of our craft to meet the brothers of that city. To have a card insures you a pleasant and hearty welcome from every member of Lodge No. 198. There being something special going on that night in Ogden, we did not have a meeting until the following night. In the meantime I took a run down to Salt Lake City to see the brothers of No. 103. I had but five hours to stay but I was very sorry that my time was limited. The brothers there have the advantage of having a foreman who is one of the strongest unionists it has been my pleasure to meet. After leaving Ogden my destination was San Francisco. I got there just in time to see a lodge of specialists undergo the initiation ceremonies. They are what is known as pipe and tank builders. This in my opinion a very progressive idea as by taking those men in you are doing now what we should have done long ago. Take in everyone who works at the laying out, riveting and caulking giving them cards for their special branch. There was, I believe, sixty-five of them initiated that evening and much credit is due Brother Purcell of Lodge No. 25 for the able manner in which he conducted the ceremonies, ably assisted by Brother Andy Porter, the hustling business agent of San Francisco. Andy was all smiles and with very good reason. He had the finest looking body of men going through the ceremonies at one time that it has been my lot to see. The following night I spoke to the Helpers' Division No. 65, and from what I saw of it I would be satisfied to leave the welfare of our organization in their hands. It would open the eyes of some of the boilermakers to see how particular the helpers are in conducting their business according to our Constitution.

Thursday following I attended the meeting of Lodge No. 25. It would please any old San Franciscian to see this lodge at the present time after that very severe struggle of 1901. They are stronger today and more enthusiastic unionists than ever before.

Friday evening I accompanied Brother Porter and Brother Mattheson, B. A. of the Helpers to Vallejo to organize a lodge of Helpers. They had a good representation and about as many more to come in at the next meeting. Lodge No. 103, H. D., will be heard from in the future or I am very much mistaken.

On Sunday morning with Brother Foster I met the business agent of the Structural Workers by appointment. Of course we flashed the agreement made in Pittsburg signed by their National President and ours. He said that, that agreement was illegal in so far as they were concerned for the very simple reason that there National President had no authority to sign that or any other agreement without first consulting there executive council, and he went on to show us that their President knew he was wrong by the simple fact of him not even sending a copy of that agreement to his lodges. He claimed that they were very eager to have a demarcation line drawn up but they wanted one drawn up between the two Executive Councils and if such was done he said that there would be satisfaction all around. He emphasized the fact that there was no one man power in their organization now, neither would there be in the future. I left him with the understanding that the committees of both sides should draw up a joint resolution to present to their Executive Councils. In the afternoon I went over to the Helpers Lodge No. 65's picnic at El Campo. They had a good orderly crowd and they deserve credit for the smooth way everything was run. I started for home Tuesday the 30th and arrived Thursday evening the 2nd of July tired and wearied with continuous traveling.

On the 5th I held a joint meeting of B. M. Lodge No. 290 and Helpers Division No. 67 at Bremerton. Had a well attended meeting and a very enthusiastic one but as the President remarked the enthusiasm did not get to its height owing to the town being dry. Wednesday evening I attended the regular meeting at Seattle Lodge No. 104. And on Thursday took the boat for Victoria, B. C. When I arrived there I found the brothers working on the Robt. Adamson, an English vessel that had been in collision. They were working overtime and as Tuesday was the boilermaker's regular meeting and the Helpers Thursday I agreed to wait until Thursday evening in the meantime going over their books. I audited the books of both lodges and found them both very satisfactory, in fact the books of Lodge 191 are in as good shape as any books I ever saw in the organization. Every nickel accounted for and very easily found. I attended the meeting of Lodge No. 191 Tuesday evening and found a Lodge that is run on business principles and one who lives up to the letter of the constitution. I got a very kind reception which I appreciated very much. On Thursday evening I attended Lodge No. 43 H. D. and found the same feeling of good fellowship and also good business principles that I had experienced in Lodge No. 191.

Friday morning at 1 a. m. I took the boat for Vancouver, B. C. and arrived about 8:30. About 10 o'clock I was taken in hand by Brother J. H. Watson, the hustling and much respected secretary of 194, and until the moment of my departure for home he did not allow me to have one dull moment. I found their books in a very satisfactory condition and I take this public opportunity of congratulating Lodge 194 on the way they have the shops around Vancouver in hand. No card no work is not only their motto, but a verified fact. Some of our delinquent brothers can bear me out in this much to their chagrin and regret. On Monday night I met the Helpers and found them O. K. Allow me to say without any intention to flatter that the lodges in British Columbia are a credit to our brotherhood and on behalf of the Grand Lodge I thank them for the honor and courtesy shown one of their representatives.

Fraternally yours,

D. KANE,
G. V. P.

LODGE 191.

As stated in my last communication to the Journal 190 held their annual picnic as scheduled and as predicted, there baseball was the principal feature. There are a number of professionals in the shipyard, but they certainly got up against it when they tackled the B. & O. Boilermakers. As Brother Keenan expressed it, the flange fire and sun saved them from a complete whitewash. However, good feeling prevailed, and everyone had a good time. The prize given for the ball game was turned over to the local, so that we all had an enjoyable time. The Boilermakers are so elated over their victory that they are thinking seriously of going into the business. Picnic netted seventy-five dollars ($75.00).

No. 190 sympathizes with their brothers in their recent troubles in Kansas and at regular meeting when appeal was read everyone present contributed their mite, and we hope every other lodge did likewise.

Everything is in pretty good shape here at present, but indications point towards something better. The shipyard men gained a slight victory, but recognition is still in sight.

Anyone coming here seeking work will make it easier for themselves by having a good card.

Brother James Curran lost his card here recently. No. 30328 and lodge wants it published in the Journal.

Yours fraternally,

P. J. KELLEY,

Journal Correspondent 190.

LODGE 372.

We, the members of 372, have a little write up which we would like for the Journal to publish, that is, one Brother Scott. He beat 372 out of $15.00 for ball tickets, owes a board bill of $19.85, one grocery $58.00, another grocery $35.00 and also beat three brothers out of a note for $37.50, also owes several clothing houses, but we don't know how much. Then he sold his time to a dealer to defraud the balance of his creditors.

This is his description: Royal L. Scott, age about 27; about 5 feet 4 inches in height; very thin hair, bald in front; black eyes; weight 130 pounds; very sporty in ways when left here. It is thought he went to Denver or Kansas City. He is also a butcher by trade.

Yours fraternally,

President, Baldy, 372, Las Vegas, N. M.

Financial and Corresponding Secretary

Joe Mathis, 908 E. Prince Las, Vegas N. M.

AMERICAN LABOR INSIDIOUSLY ATTACKED.

Free ship advocates are, almost without exception, advocates of free trade. What they mean, but rarely say, is that we should give American registry to American-owned foreign-built vessels, that alien masters, officers and men be permitted to run such vessels, and that the food scale required by our laws should be so modified as to reduce the quality and quantity of food served to the men employed on American vessels. This defines the meaning of "free ships." Most frequently this is concealed by a demand for "the repeal of our antiquated navigation laws," but few if any of these advocates will specify what laws they desire repealed, nor will they explain the consequences of such repeal. To be even more specific: advocates of the repeal of our navigation laws would like to but dare not say that the wages paid to the men employed in our shipyards are too high, and should be reduced to the level of wages paid in foreign shipyards; that the wages paid to the men employed on ships under our flag are too high and should be reduced to the level of wages paid on foreign vessels; and that the food supplied to the men employed on American vessels being of better quality and larger quantity than is served to the men employed on foreign vessels should be reduced until the American food scale conforms to the scale on foreign vessels. These things are necessary, the free ship advocates mean, but carefully refrain saying, in order that we may be able to build and run ships as cheaply as they are built and run abroad. When they speak of our "economic conditions" being "such as to render it impossible for American ships to compete with foreign ships," they mean, but they lack the courage to say, that our labor is paid too much, and that it should be paid less.

Free ship advocates well know that what they are aiming at is unpopular where it is understood in the United States, and they also know that if it were clearly understood by everybody its impracticability would be so emphatically manifested as to put an end to its serious discussion. Hence, free ship advocates, in order to conceal as far as possible the disagreeable and unpopular truth, resort to an artifice in the coining of phrases that carefully avoid a candid statement of their true aims and purposes. In short and in truth they are—or they act as if they were—compelled to pursue a course of deception in order to attain their object.

American labor is the real object of the attack of free trade free ship advocates. They believe that American labor is too well paid and the American standard of living is too high; our working people, they feel, enjoy too many comforts and luxuries, and of these free ship advocates would deprive American labor, in order that "our economic conditions" shall not prevent the building of ships in American shipyards and the running of them under our flag as "cheaply" as they are built abroad and run under foreign flags.

Most artfully but insincerely the free trade free ship advocates endeavor to create the impression that protection has driven our shipping from the seas. In 1792 American registry was confined to American-built vessels, but free ship advocates would like people to believe that this law was enacted in 1861 along with the adoption of our policy of high protection. But our shipping has grown and prospered under the act of 1792 as much as it has declined and disappeared. The neglect to protect our shipping in 1861 attracted capital out of our ships (which were left in free trade competition with foreign ships) into the more profitable highly protected industries and the other industries that were stimulated by the growth of those that were protected. The withdrawal of capital from our shipping was also temporarily accelerated by conditions created by our Civil War, but had shipping been protected equally with our land industries, capital would have gone back into it immediately upon the close of that war, and it would have become as great and prosperous as our other protected industries. But this the free traders endeavor to obscure.

Advocates of protection to American shipping feel that they are but asking for an industry upon the sea the same treatment that is accorded to our land industries that compete with similar foreign industries. So satisfied are our people with the economic advantages of the protective policy that a change therefrom is too remote for serious consideration. Where protection has been applied to our land industries they have grown from infants to giants. But our ships that are run in free trade competition with foreign ships, being unprotected except as to mail-carrying steamships which are kept running only because they are protected by our government, has shrunk from 2,496,894 tons in 1861 to 873,235 tons in 1902. Our shipping in the foreign trade has for forty-two years been demonstrating the inapplicability of free trade to an American industry subject to foreign competition. The test has been sufficiently prolonged to satisfy almost anyone but an unchangeable free trader that American shipping cannot prosper under free trade conditions.

Seeing the growth of our protected land industries on the one hand, and the decline of our unprotected shipping on the other hand, what is more natural than that protection should be demanded for our shipping? Why should not our great national economic policy be applied to our shipping upon the seas? What is more natural than that the advocates of protection, who also advocate the American standard of wages and of living, should advocate protection, high wages and good living for those engaged in building and running ships? Free trade, free ship advocates oppose high wages and a high standard of living for American labor, hence they naturally oppose protection for our oversea shipping. If the free trade free ship advocates win, American labor loses; but, if the advocates of protection for American shipping win then American labor in our shipyards and on board of our ships also wins.—The Nautical Gazette.

REPORT OF EDWARD FOX, G. V. P.

On ending my last month's report, Brother John McNeil, G. P.-O., and your humble servant, were in Chicago waiting for an interview with Mr. W. L. Brown, President of the American Shipbuilding Co., relative to a settlement of the various lake shipyards, where our men were making a demand for the nine-hour day, and an increase in wages equivalent to the ten-hour pay and an increase in piece work prices. During this time we were successful in effecting a settlement in Hammond, Ind., where our men were out for 40 cents per hour. A compromise was effected, whereby our men received  $37\frac{1}{2}$  cents per hour, and layer out and flanger  $42\frac{1}{2}$  per hour. At the same time there is another firm in Chicago Heights, Ill., in this line of business, known as the Hick's locomotive works, where our men were working for 33-1-3 cents per hour, and our men had made an agreement beginning April 1st this year to be effective for one year, but fortunately for our men this agreement was broken immediately after it was signed by the company, by discriminating against the chairman of the shop committee, Brother Herlihy, who was discharged presumably for want of work, and new men hired in his place; men who were relatives of the foreman, with the intention of breaking up Lodge 254, as one of these individuals at the regular meeting of that lodge made a motion that the Shop Committee be dispensed with and the foreman act as the Shop Committee, a man who does not belong to this Brotherhood and who at this time is under the ban. Such was the condition of things in Chicago Heights. Your worthy Grand President-Organizer and myself attended a special meeting of No. 254, and it was decided that a committee wait upon the company with your worthy Grand President-Organizer and your humble servant, and straighten matters out. We did so and as a result a new demand was made at that time, which I will deal with later.

We went to Racine, Wis., and the condition there is something that must be attended to in the near future, as our men there are working far below the standard rate of wages. One shop working from 20 cents per hour up to  $27\frac{1}{2}$  cents per hour, and only three Boilermakers receiving that rate, and in the other shop all piece work.

We then returned to Chicago and attended a meeting of No. 39, South Chicago. This is a very progressive lodge and the boys deserve great credit for the conditions existing in that vicinity. No card, no work. We attended a special meeting of lodge 1, which I must say was well attended, and provisions were made whereby the interests of this Brotherhood will be greatly benefited in Chicago.

We had to proceed to Detroit and while there took up the grievance of Lodge 166 of Wyandotte, with the local manager of that company, where our men were granted the nine-hour day and the ten-hour pay in Wyandotte, and an increase in piece work prices. We also had all Boilerships involved where our men are out on strike for the nine-hour day and a 20 per cent increase in wages to bring them up to the standard of other points outside of Chicago. Those firms are very obstinate and would not give in and our men are still out.

From there we came to Buffalo, as a strike was in progress in the local shipyard by Lodge 277, on account of an individual named John Denning being hired as foreman. This man is under the ban by Lodge 104, Seattle, where he had committed himself in the late strike in Moran Brothers' shipyard. Upon the proper information being laid before the company, the company did not want to disturb the present harmony between them and their men and refused to have anything to do with him.

While here we had Brother Rodgers from Pittsburg here and the Pittsburg strike was gone over, and the future policy outlined to bring that strike to a successful termination. We then proceeded to Cleveland Lodge 20, having a demand made on the company for the same as other yards. The company conceded the money matters but refused the nine-hour day, but our men refused to accept any settlement that did not bring the nine-hour day with it.

We visited Lodge 190 Lorain, and here we found our men had accepted a compromise—nine hours a day four months, ten hours a day four months, and fifty-five hours each week the other four months of the year, with a horizontal increase of 10 per cent all around.

From there we went to West Bay City and before we arrived there our men were out on strike for the nine-hour day, the company having granted the increase in wages which was refused because the nine-hour day was not granted. This plant is completely closed down.

From there we proceeded to West Superior and had a very enthusiastic meeting of the boys of 174, and afterwards waited upon the company. The demands our men had presented were not in line with the other yards, and after quite a lengthy conference the Superintendent asked for one week's time to inquire into the concessions granted in Chicago and Wyandotte, and assured us he would give our men the same conditions.

We turned towards Chicago again and upon our return the boys from No. 254 were waiting for us. Also we had a strike on in Lodge 220, Nickle Plate Railroad Shops, over a man named Julius Barkoski, who has made himself so obnoxious to our men that nobody will work with him, or in the same shop with him. Mr. Johnston, General Superintendent of Motive, promised to straighten out that matter.

We took up the matter of Lodge 254 and the Hick's Locomotive Company, and in the office of the Chicago Metal Trades Association an agreement was ratified, but not as satisfactory as we would like as far as money matters are concerned, but otherwise the agreement will rank with the best we have signed in this Brotherhood. Your worthy Grand President-Organizer and your humble servant then separated, he going to New York and I proceeded to Detroit, where another conference was held, but not successful, but I expect at any moment to hear of a satisfactory settlement there. These boys have put up one of the best fights so far in the history of this Brotherhood, and there is not the least doubt of their success.

While in Detroit I was instructed by Brother S. K. Rodgers that Pittsburg strike was settled, but upon later information found out it was settled for a radius of 40 miles around Pittsburg and that leaves the other lodges out in the cold. It seems to me that Pittsburg don't care for anyone else so long as they are all right, but when they are in trouble they want every one to stand by them.

In conclusion let me say that we must have money to carry on the amount of trouble we have on hand, and other lodges are making requests every day to better their condition, so I hope the rank and file will act at once upon the call sent out for another assessment.

Hoping this will be satisfactory and with best wishes I remain your truly and fraternally,

EDWARD FOX, G. V. P.

LODGE 328.

Please allow me space in your valuable journal to report from our little city. We have a town of about 25,000 inhabitants.

Only a few years ago unionism was hardly known here, and to-day nearly every class of labor in the city is organized into a body of unions.

The employer and employees both have learned that it is protection for both, and therefore given union labor the preference when in need of help. The brothers of all the unions know the good the order offers to every member, and hence will stick to the principles of the order.

It takes no persuasion to get new members. They only have to see how the other brothers act toward one another, which wins him over.

Unionism is growing stronger every day here and long may it live.

Our members of 328 are few, having had a hard fight for what they think are their rights, but what few are left are living in hopes of good times again at the K. C. S. shops.

May our teachings prove to the employer that unionism is good for the employer as well as employee.

Yours fraternally,

JAMES H. GUIHER, Pres.

WHY SHIPS COST MORE HERE.

An Ulsterman Compares the British and the American Shipyard.

To the Editor of The Sun—Sir: A great many people wonder why it is that it costs more to build a ship in the United States than it costs to build one in Great Britain, for instance, and a letter published in the London Times of July 7, over the name of "An Ulster Workingman," and written from Belfast, Ireland, where the great shipbuilding plant of the Harland & Wolff Company is located, may shed some light on the subject. Permit me to quote from the letter in question:

A fellow workman and I were in receipt of 30 shillings per week each some time ago. My fellow workman decided that he would abandon his country and the flag and go to a country that would do better for him, so he went to the United States of America and received 60 shillings per week right off. When he was in this country, at the wage of 60 shillings weekly, his expenditure was 27 shillings, which left 3 shillings of a margin; now, while his wages have increased by double the amount he received when in this country, he assures me that his expenditure has increased only one-third, thus:

|-----------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|
| In this country his receipts were 30s weekly. | In the United States of America his receipts are weekly ....60s. |
| His expenditure was weekly ...27s.            | His expenditure is, weekly .....36s.                             |
| Margin of saving power weekly .....3s.        | His margin of saving power, weekly .....24s.                     |

Or, in other words, for every shilling he used to save in his country, he can now save eight shillings in the States, besides having better educational facilities provided for his children.

There is much more of interest in the letter quoted, the writer asserting that British workmen "are, without doubt, the finest and most intelligent men in the world," on which account he says "they should receive the highest wages," and he asks free traders to tell him why British workmen don't receive the highest wages.

The wages the Ulsterman gets, however, explains why it is that Great Britain is able to build ships from 20 to 30 per cent cheaper than this country can build them. Free traders in the United States desire that the economic conditions prevailing in Great Britain, as explained by the "Ulster Workingman," shall obtain here, so that we can build ships here that will enable their owners to compete with British ships in the foreign carrying trade of the United States. American protectionists, on the other hand, are willing that wages in the United States shall remain double those in Great Britain, but those interested in shipping ask that the protection which our industries enjoy upon the land shall be extended to our ships in the foreign trade, so that our workmen, both on land and on sea, shall enjoy the American standard of wages. This difference in the wages paid to American workmen in our shipyards and on board of our ships, as compared with the wages paid in British shipyards and on board British ships, fully explains the need in the United States of protection if American workmen are to build, and American citizens are to run the ships our foreign commerce employs.

If we wait for free trade, and wages for American workmen on a level with those paid to the "Ulster Workingmen," instead of holding fast to the wages his former chum, now an American citizen, receives, some day in the dim future we may build our own ships, but the American people—and especially the American workman—should know what it is that holds us back from building our own ships, and I hope that The Sun will let the "Ulster Workingman" explain it to them, as above.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

New York, Feb. 28, 1903.

Dear Sirs:

I ask you to let me write you somewhat at length about a matter which seems to us of the greatest importance. First, for a fact or two.

In the eight months from June 1, 1902, to February 1, 1903 (period during which our general offices have been located in New York), we have added 817 new members, over 10 per cent a month gain, practically a net gain, because, on account of our new activities, nobody resigns now. We are defeating the eight-hour bill in Congress, which would immediately work a practical confiscation of the business of government contractors and sub-contractors, and is intended, as the labor lobby boasts, to be an entering wedge to apply to all manufacturers as soon as possible. We are beating the Anti-Injunction bill, which would make the picket (and hence violence), around anybody's factory possible and lawful. We have contributed more than any other influence to the quick passage of the new Department of Commerce bill. It is said that the activities of this office are numerous and satisfactory, but of that I must not say very much—or anything.

We believe that all of these things entitle our Association to your confidence, and I believe that you will sympathize with any decent effort that I can make to add still further to our strength.

Membership entitles you to a vote in our annual meetings, all members equal. A real association, Co-operative in all its operations, mutual in all its benefits. Nobody ever can make anything out of it. All funds go right back into service.

Membership entitles you to make these offices headquarters, and all of us—forty-five of us—your own employees—and to see what we are doing for hundreds of others and are only too glad to do for you.

It entitles you to support our patriotic efforts in behalf of good legislation and in antagonism of bad; all this done strongly, intelligently and without price by our committees.

It entitles you to be represented as if by special attorney (through our secretary, that is), in Washington; if here, he takes the train on an hour's notice to serve you there.

It entitles you to a special confidential service protecting our members against frauds and humbugs generally—who is not familiar with them?—to effective help in traffic difficulties, and to protection against unlawful taxation by states in which you are not domiciled.

It entitles you, if interested in export trade, to the best export service possible to be obtained; this because our ten thousand foreign correspondents give us for you what you want to know; reports about markets, lists of buyers, credit reports. We translate out of any and into any language for you, and have facilities for handling your export shipments and making your collections more economically and efficiently than by any other means.

It entitles you to appear in our Trade Index (annual directory of members) circulated to 6,500 buyers abroad gratis, in English, French, German and Spanish; and to follow our Confidential Bulletin for the purpose of doing business with anywhere from forty to fifty inquiries every fortnight.

All this for fifty dollars. The wonder among our members is not what we do for the money, but how it is that we do so much. It is all on the principle of absolute co-operation and a mutual distribution of benefits.

Is it not a fine strong membership, is enclosed?

Is the blank not worth filling out and mailing?

Yours respectfully,
MARSHALL CUSHING,
Secretary

The whereabouts of Clifford W. Dupont last heard from at San Antonio, Texas. He is of a fair complexion, about 5 feet 6 inches. Is a member of the Brotherhood; don't know where he was carded from last. Registered No. 18756 has not been heard from for several months. His parents are exceedingly anxious about him. Any information will be received with many thanks. Address J. I. Kent, 709 Habershaw street, Savannah, Ga.

The only legitimate organization or Railroad Car Workers is the International Association of Car Workers, affiliated with the A. F. of L. There are two dual organizations of the same trade, one known as the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America, and the other which is mostly confined to the Pacific slope, and known as the "United Brotherhood of Railway Employees." It is the duty of our local unions to give no encouragement to dual trade organizations and representatives of our locals in central bodies should oppose the admission of delegates from the Railway Carmen of America and "The Brotherhood of Railway Employees," we should stand by the "International Association of Car Workers," whose general president admits that Painters in car shops should be under our jurisdiction. One good turn deserves another. Help the International Association of Car Workers and by so doing help yourselves.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Horton, Kans., June 30, 1903.—This is to certify that Bert Edmunds, registered number 18541, has settled with me in full covering article appearing in November and December Boiler Makers Journal.

BERT HILBORN,

Member of Clerks Union No. 118, Horton, Kansas.

Ordered published by Lodge 199, Eugene McCarty, C. S.

LODGE 339.

In our regular meeting held on July 20th, 1903, the copy of the contract with Union Pacific Railroad and the Boilermakers of the Union Pacific system was read carefully, and discussed as to its merits and benefits arising out of such a contract in behalf of the Union Pacific Boilermakers.

It was moved and regularly seconded that the Secretary write under the seal of this lodge to our Honorable President, Mr. J. McNeil, giving our unanimous disapproval of the same, being little less than a complete surrender. Where the loyalty of this organization was at your hand, as was shown during the battle lasting nearly a year with the Union Pacific Railroad Company, and when on May the 15th the call to arms was given showing again the loyalty of our great organization by responding to the call, turning defeat into victory, as was seen when the Union Pacific raised a flag of truce over their ruins and asking upon what terms we would accept a surrender, as the telegram sent you by Mr. H. E. Harriman, President of Southern Pacific system, you as our general of the B. of B. M. & I. S. B. of America gave answer that turned our victory into defeat.

Such a vicious contract must have occasioned a violent shock to your former habits.

We grant, sir, that the parties to that contract are the absolute proprietors of their own persons, but we will not grant that they have a right to dispose of the spoils of that war, and show a total disregard for those who furnished the sinew of that war and of those who carry our standard in all walks of life, because there is written those words—Equality and Justice to All. Mr. President, to have to submit to such a contract in behalf of the Union Pacific Boilermakers is little short of humiliation, therefore, the members of Lodge 339 do, without reserve, disapprove of the contract as drawn up in behalf of the Union Pacific Boilermakers by our President and his executive officers, party of the first part, and the Union Pacific Railroad Co., per Mr. H. G. Burt, General Manager, and W. R. McKeen, Jr., Superintendent of motive power and machinery, the party of the second part.

This we hope to have appear in our next issue of the Journal of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America.

Yours for Unionism,
THE MEMBERS OF LODGE 339.

AVOID SECTIONALISM.

The progress of the Trade Union movement may very properly be attributed to co-operation of its advocates. Nothing can advance unless unity of action is had, where all are expected to help. It is the one requisite and necessary to accomplish any movement, impossible to advance in any undertaking unless a devoted singleness of purpose actuates the principals and the subordinates. Every movement is always retarded by ignoring the rules of business. No army ever could give battle at a time when half of its strength was divided or split up into factions. That is simply a state of disorganization, losing its efficiency through its own foolishness, and leaving every one in the army at the mercy of their opponents. No army ever needed the undivided support of the rank and file more than organized labor, as it reduces the whole army when the support of one division is not given. What a disaster it would be to the whole army if, when in action, the right wing was to become disorganized, while the left wing and center might possibly prevent a total rout, and save the prestige of all, yet the disaster would fall with equal force on the whole army. The strength of the whole is generally to be determined by its weakest portions. So it is in the ranks of organized labor. Its greatest weakness is always shown when dissatisfaction makes the members so forgetful of that discipline which is so essential in all undertakings. The very idea of disorganizing, or even thinking of it, leaves all to the tender mercies of our enemies. Our organization must be kept intact or else become vulnerable to every attack made on us, whether on the Atlantic or Pacific coast. We must be one, or there cannot be unity. It is far reaching in its effect. No one is safe in camp where traitors are; no union man is secure in his rights where disorganizers are. The idea of one section struggling to maintain its right is simply productive of much good to a remote section if successful, and will produce hardships on the other section if repulsed.

These are truths which every intelligent observer of cause and effect knows well. One section cannot prosper at the expense of another; all must be benefited alike to remain so. A victory for one is a corresponding win for the other, it cannot possibly be otherwise. It is impossible under business laws for one section to keep abreast of the times, retaining plenty of work at a time when the wages are above the other section. Business laws will force the work to the cheaper section and give the go-by to the high price city. So it is very evident the full co-operation of all sections is absolutely required in our own behalf. It is very unwise for any body of men, whether organized or not, to believe that they can control their own section to the detriment and at the expense of all others. The fallacy of such an idea is best explained by remarking, that even so, we grant full control, no connection with outside world, generally when such a state of affairs exist, men become more grabbing and expect to reach for more (taking for granted that everything is above the normal), trouble ensues. Now being isolated, in their own innocence, they believe the powers must submit; not so. The powers quickly realize the great difference between conditions in other portions; immediately offers inducements much above ordinary, and in less than one week more members of this Brotherhood can be had than will be needed to displace all the masters of the section. This is true from nature and easily realized if seen through the clear atmosphere of trade unionism. While sectionalism cannot be expected to thrive in a union locality, because union men don't desire to compromise themselves in any such disorganization scheme, the moral of all this is, that union men cannot be sectionalists. That sectionalism is diametrically opposed to the trade union movement, and that it votaries must be classed as non-union men, consequently outside of unionism altogether, and a detriment to the cause of labor.

Quite a few lodges have requested information on the cause which led to calling for an assessment. We are sorry indeed to have to explain, as we might have made the call call plainer. Anyhow, the plain facts are: We have lodges 105, 72 H. D., 169, 62 H. D., 184, 308, 154, 36 H. D., 156, 221, 262, 7, 87 H. D. 328, 342 and 81, all drawing strike benefits, and lodges 20, 95 H. D. 90 H. D., 173, 232, 76, 310, 26 H. D., 77, 25 H. D., 190, 377, 374, 15 H. D., 112, all seeking sanction to enforce demands for increase in wages and nine hours by some, shop rules in others. The number of lodges enforcing demands came all in a bunch, which caused some effort to be made to keep up with the times. This should be an object lesson to every member. Although this condition has been brought to the attention of officers, delegates and members many times, it does seem that the only way to bring those truths home to them is to see the actual want of establishing a large fund by higher dues for a certain period and then to replenish it, when it falls down to a certain figure, as no matter how small an assessment may be necessary, whether carried or not, it is too slow for the purposes intended. When it is remembered that every member is a partner, and when one gets beat it reduces the other correspondingly, but from actual observation it seems that the one at a distance does not realize or seem to care who is beat as long as he himself wins, or better still, not in trouble at all. There is nothing surer than that, if you don't help your partner, after he is beat, the fight is brought to you, and as you did not help your partner he will not help you, then you go down, which makes two down; then another partner is made the target, and like the former, two goes down. So it is very evident that every one must help in the cause or feel the bitter pangs of defeat every time.

He is a very poor union man who, in these good times, will refuse to sacrifice a couple of dollars to his fellow craftsmen. Why, many a two dollars has been added to every craftsman's wage by reason of the support of those very men who are now in need of help. Unionism means more than wearing a badge or button. It means you must support those who need your help and are doing your fighting; this alone saves you more than two dollars of privations in more ways than one. Then let it not be said that you refused to contribute to your comrades when in need. Selfishness never has, never will, run mates with unionism. Here is some proof of unionism. We asked, and those modest examples of unity responded briefly, Lodge 1, with $300; Lodge 4, with $200; Lodge 5, with $100; Lodge 39, with $500; Lodge 55, with $100; Lodge 173, with $175; Lodge 174, with $50. Now, don't each feel a pride in their actions as having done their whole duty? None of them with as large a bank account as some that have not responded. Those lodges are bright ornaments of what unionism stands for. Let us hear from more, as fully one hundred lodges can do so well. Will they? Of course they will, when they realize the great importance of the time and needs of those requiring their help.

There is a matter that evidently requires thought. One lodge requests sanction and receives it, goes out, then this lodge request other lodges to go out in sympathy, while no provision whatever has been made to support the sympathizers. The question arises under our laws if the latter are entitled to strike benefits.

We are willing to admit that on the broad principle of unionism that they are, but on the wording of our laws they are not, especially is this so when no mention of requiring or hinting at sympathetic affairs when the first lodge received sanction. Then in this case our laws requires changing, as it must appeal to the good sense of intelligent men, that to be entitled some notice or warning should be given, so as to make arrangements to procure the requisite amounts.

Another feature, we have lodges on strike quite awhile, and a person would naturally imagine that when men leaves the city, stays away for three, four or more weeks from the scene of trouble, that they had renounced all claims to benefits, but we are confronted with the opposite course very often. It is not good law. All those kind of cases come to the surface when actual contact with strikes are had. Some protection to the members is really necessary and badly wanted.

As our order is becoming very large, and as two distinct lodges are on the books, in order to avoid mistakes, secretaries will kindly use the appropriate and proper stationery when writing or ordering goods. When care is not taken with new names, mistakes are sure to follow, so fill out proper blanks and don't forget to give number of lodge, city, state, full names and address, and number of articles in left hand margin of supply blank. We receive many times pedigree lists that have no lodge number, city, state, name or address, and of course a good guess is in order.

Now, as Labor day approaches it is evident no time is to be lost in ordering badges, as it is very doubtful if badges can be ordered and received in time any later than August 15, and much before that date if you intend to get badges. Our new regulation badge costs fifty cents, anywhere else sixty cents.

In view of recent developments, it is most expedient that railway systems should be in closer touch with all points, and the best way to do so is to form a district lodge, with headquarters convenient, without much expense; but under no circumstances should any one lodge on a system be permitted to make demands until the whole system was a party to such or had been made aware of a move to be made for any purpose by any one lodge on the system. All should act together and compare notes at all times. Opposition is the life of trade; co-operation makes it interesting.

There's never a wind in all the sky
But makes some bird wing fleetier;
There's never a star but brings to heaven
Some silver radiance tender,
And never a rosy cloud but helps
To crown the sunset splendor;
No robin but may thrill some heart,
His dawnlight gladness voicing—
God gives us all some small, sweet way

Senator Perkins says that once when he was a sailor, a tremendous storm came up, and it looked as if the vessel was doomed to go under. In the midst of the excitement a minister, who was one of the passengers, asked the captain if he could have prayers. "Oh, never mind about the prayers," said the captain, "the men are swearing too hard to stop for prayers, and as long as you hear them swearing," added the captain, "there is no danger."

The minister went back to his cabin. A little while later, when the storm grew worse, the preacher went on deck too see what the sailors were doing. Then he went back to his wife.

"Thank God!" he said fervently, "those men are still swearing."—Argonaut.

The English tobacco trusts profits for one year amounted according to its annual report to £1,000,000.

The first attempt of organized labor in Canton in the political field was successful in electing four out of ten candidates.

The strike at the Hood Rubber Co., has been settled. It is reported that the firm will take back its old employees—the strikers.

Every broom bearing the union label is helping the cause of the Broom Makers' Union. See that your broom bears the union label.

According to the labor bureau of New York the trades unions of that state increased 20 per cent for the six months ending with December, 1902.

Closely following in the footsteps of school teachers in other parts of the country, the teachers of San Jose, Cal., have organized and will affiliate with the A. F. of L.

Printers are planning for an eight-hour movement. Every craft wants the eight-hour day. Will they realize it? Well, that depends altogether on themselves and nobody else.

Hon. Edward M. Sheppard of New York, said in a recent speech that trade unions promote justice and constitute one of the great and conservative forces of our industrial rights.

The movement in Belgium to consolidate the glass plants is the natural outcome of the large investment of American capital in this Belgium industry. The world is the American "captains of industries" field.

Indications points to the striking glove makers winning their strike on San Francisco. There are over 300 out and up to the present time the manufacturers have found it impossible to fill their places.

The tobacco trust has declared a 4 per cent dividend upon its $156,590,000 of capital and $500,000 left as a surplus. This simply shows that a lot of people are using non-union tobacco that ought to use only union made.

The early closing hour for retail shoes should receive the solid support of organized labor. This support would do much to get the retailers to unanimously agree. As it is now, while any portion keep their stores open the others feel themselves forced to.

Gen. Sec'y-Treas. White succeeded in bringing about a conference in Philadelphia that resulted in settling the strike of the clothing workers there, which threatened to become very serious. The settlement carried with it a reduction of working hours to 50 a week.

The eight-hour day is gradually being adopted. The agitation in favor of the eight-hour day is constant and universal and needs no prophet to predict that it will be the universal work day of the not too distant future. Various crafts in many localities have already secured it.

Late advices from Los Angeles, Cal., report the Mexicans organizing. This class of people readily absorb the idea of trades unionism when the matter is intelligently explained to them, and Mexico would prove a fertile field for missionary work in the interests of trade unionism.

The Santa Fe R. R. will soon start a daily paper at Oakland, Cal.; at which point it will soon build. The starting of the daily is for the purpose of influencing freight and passengers for that road. It is said the present daily papers in Oakland are favorable to the Southern Pacific.

The plans presented by the president of the St. Louis Mutual Trade Association to appoint a board of arbitration to prevent strikes during the world's fair is timely and should be adopted. It was endorsed by the Executive Council of the St. Louis Mfrs. Association last week.

Hamilton, Ohio, boasts of being the best organized city in that state. With a population of only 25,000, its trades unions comprise a membership of over 2,000, a little over 8 per cent of its entire population. During the past year the growth of unionism has been phenomenal there.

From Superintendent and Foreman.—Salem (Mass.) shoemakers are petitioning for Saturday half holidays to begin May 1. In the union stamp factories the employees have the half days on Saturday the entire year. In other shops, however, they are allowed only during July and August.

Federal Labor Union No. 7295, who we reported in a recent issue of this journal as carrying on a valient struggle against the Knoxville Woolen Mills, report having raised the boycott existing on this firm's product, and to have made a fair and satisfactory settlement which has been approved by the A. F. of L.

Organized labor in Waterbury, Conn., has offered a reward for information that will lead to the apprehension of the parties guilty of the murder of the policeman who rode on the car operated by an unfair conductor and motorman that was attacked by several masked men claimed by prejudiced newspapers to be strikers.

The Stove Mounters' International Union's label should appear on all stoves, ranges, furnaces and heaters. Every trade unionist when buying these articles should be sure that this label appears on their purchase. It costs no more and makes it possible for the stove mounters to extend the use of their label and improve their conditions.

It has come to light that the advertisements appearing in the eastern papers and stating that there was a great scarcity of laborers in the California fruit belt, mistake the facts, which are that instead of a scarcity there is really a surplus. Any working-man thinking of journeying there on the strength of these advertisements will be greatly disappointed upon arrival.

The Telegraphers' Association and the Commercial Telegraphers' Union are now one organization with a membership of 8,000. They will hold a convention July 19 in New York City to elect officers. Rival unions can always unite if they will use good sense and fairness, and those who will not use every effort towards union, that is, one union in a trade, fail to understand what trades unionism stands for.

The suit brought against the labor unions of Waterbury, Conn., is an attempt on the part of the Connecticut Railway and Lighting Co. to test the value of the English decision in the Taft Vale case, which is, that a trade union although not a corporate body, is liable to be sued as a legal entity, and that the funds of such unions may be held for damages. The suit in Waterbury is for $20,000. The outcome will be watched with the greatest interest.

The Los Angeles Times, that arch enemy of organized labor, is feeling the power of the concerted action of the A. F. of L. and the International Typographical Union in a manner that is costing it much of its advertising business. It is claimed that advertisers are daily taking their ads from this paper, whose degenerate policy of malicious attack upon organized labor makes its columns a poor medium to reach the great bulk of consumers.

MARSHALL.

Saginaw, Mich., July 3, 1903.

Whereas, It grieves this Brotherhood of Boiler Makers, Local 124 to think how suddenly our deceased brother Hugh Marshall has left us, and

Whereas, While we do not understand the motive of his untimely passing away from this earth, yet there reigns one Supreme and invisible being that knoweth all things, and this Brotherhood prays and trusts that

He who has given our deceased brother blood and life while on earth, will also cheerfully and forgivingly forgive him our brother, who has thus ended his career on earth and take him in peaceful rest with Him who created all beings, and be it

Resolved, That while we lose a good and well liked brother, we feel deeply moved to sympathize with the parents and wife of our deceased brother, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to grand lodge for publication in the August Journal and that Lodge 124 spread a copy of these resolutions on its minutes of the meeting to respect and uphold our sincere brotherly love for the remembrance of our worthy deceased brother and that our charter have its apparel of mourning extended 30 days longer in token of respect for our deceased brother in unionism.

BEWARE OF HIM.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 2.—At a regular meeting of Los Angeles Lodge No. 92, held on the 27th ult. I was instructed to have W. T. Newton, Reg. No. 11909, published in the Journal, and suspended until further notice from this lodge. Our finance committee after a due and careful auditing of his books report a shortage of $117.25 which he appropriated for his own use. He was duly notified by our finance committee to appear and show cause why he should not be made to pay the shortage, but ignoring all communications sent him, I informed No. 337 where he was employed and they gave him 30 days to square up with No. 92 which he promised to do. Before the expiration of this time he quit and went to Jerome, Ariz., where he tried to organize a lodge. (Why not, there is money in it.) But he got fired for some reason not known to the writer and that's the last we heard of him. Brothers, this man, W. T. Newton poses as a deputy grand organizer. He came to Los Angeles presumably from Terre Haute, Ind., and reorganized No. 92 and the members here placed a great deal of confidence in him and elected him to the office of corresponding and financial secretary, which he held from the date of reorganization Aug. 22d, 1902 to March 15th, 1903., which gave him full swing without bond to conduct the lodge business to suit himself (on the W. T. Newton plan).

Besides the shortage on the books there is other evidence of his dishonesty. Nearly every mail we receive cards issued by him and the president's name forged, and no record of them on the books. It seems that he issued cards to any one that came along with the price.

Now, Mr. Secretary and Brothers, No. 92 insists that this be continued in three issues of the Journal unless otherwise ordered, and we further insist that W. T. Newton must pay every dollar that he defrauded this lodge out of before he can get a clean card in this brotherhood, and that he be accorded such treatment as men of his type and character deserve.

WM. MOZNETT, F. S. No. 92.

Approved, WM. H. CARTER, President.

KANSAS CITY, KAS.. SEPT. 1, 1903.

NO. 9

Correspondence

LEGISLATION AND REPRESENTATION.

Port Orchard, Wash., Aug. 4, 1903.—The fact that not one-third of our lodges are represented at our conventions, and what laws are passed there defeated afterwards, does to show that something else is necessary. Why not have our members assessed, say 50 cents per member, towards a fund to pay mileage and hotel expenses of one or more delegates from each lodge in the country. At the present rate we have a certain few lodges represented at every convention, and they, the delegates, labor hard and long to place our organization abreast of the times. The delegates are thoroughly satisfied that the laws they have passed would benefit the whole, but what is the consequence; the lodges who had not any delegate at the convention kills the work of them that had. Why? Because there is nobody there to explain the arguments of the delegate who had the subject passed at the convention. This plan of having at least one delegate there, who could explain each proposition as it came before his lodge would in itself be an education to those of the members who were not lucky enough to get to the convention. The argument may be used against this in saying that the lodges at a distance would get the most benefit from such a scheme. Yes, but all members are assessed equally and the benefits that would be derived from it would be the uplifting of our Brotherhood. Again, the lodges from a distance would have to pay their delegate from the time he left home, which, in itself, would be quite a tax that the close in lodges would not have to pay. This brothers is a subject that would stand a great deal of thrashing out, and I would like to see our brothers from north, south, east and west take it up, handle it without gloves and out of the remnants of the scrap we may get something better. It is policy in my humble opinion, to use our journal on matters of this kind. I invite criticism. An honest critic is an educator to those he is criticizing, so do not beat my humble efforts by letting this die a natural death. If you can not support the idea why fight it and perhaps you may show me something better to take up.

JOURNAL CORRESPONDENT No. 290.

LODGE 172.

If you will allow me a small space in the Journal I would like to say a few words in regard to our Brother Grand Vice President of the sea-board district. He honored us with a call last meeting night, August 5, and I am sorry to say that two-thirds of the boys were working that night, and, to make it worse, it was a very bad night, for it had been raining all day, and at night also. Of course, we didn't know he was coming and so he caught us all napping. He had to leave on the 10:07 train that night. His old friends did not have a chance to see him, of which I am pleased to say he has a number in this city. We got some of the boys together and we said we would do the right thing by him, as it was his first visit to us since he has had the honor of holding the office. We held a special meeting the 10th to give him a reception and I am happy to say that there wasn't a member absent that could get there any way at all. There was some kegs and barrels out in the ante-room. That had a good deal to do with bringing the boys to the meeting, for when there is lots to eat and drink it is surprising how easy it is for the boys to get to the meeting. We have some good talent among the boys and after there was a keg or so tapped Brother Gordon rendered some of his fine selections. I must say they were all that could be asked for.—Our Brother Grand Vice President, in the elegant speech he made, taught them many a point that will do the brothers of 172 good if they will only remember them. He spoke about the good and welfare of the organization throughout the country. I am proud to say he made some fine remarks.

In his subject he had everything in the right place. I would like to write out his speech, but it would take up too much space in your Journal. I hope we will have the honor of seeing him down here before long.

No. 172 is still creeping along. Of course we had some uphill work in regard to getting the boys to remember that every month they must pay their dues. We have quite a number of absent-minded people in 172. Probably if some of them would see their names in the Journal they would remember that they must pay their dues and assessments. James Perry, register No. 15252. He is not worth being called brother. I am sorry to say he did belong to 172, but it will be a long time before he will be on 172 books again. He done up all the brothers in 172 and then flew the coop. So it would be well for all the brothers to steer clear of him, for he will give you a song and dance and then hang you up the first opportunity he gets. If he don't send money to square up with 172 he will see his picture in the Journal; and square up with the boys he done up.

I came pretty near forgetting that 172 held a clam bake on July 26, and it was a grand success. We must thank the committee for the way they carried out the program. At 12 o'clock, when the boys reached the grounds, there was a chicken chowder ready for them, and I guess some of them had been fasting for a couple of days so they could eat their money's worth. And at 3:30 we had regular dinner. It was spread on a long table and everything that went with a clam bake was there. Of course, there was a side issue, something like thirty kegs. Some of the boys couldn't find their way out until next morning, and they had light to see their way. When they separated the stars were shining. No. 172 has everything arranged for a grand turn-out Labor Day and everything of the uniform is union-made. I remain yours fraternally,

A. L. MCCOOL, J. C.

IN REGARD TO FINES.

Will you kindly allow me a small space in your valuable Journal in answer to several columns in June Journal in regard to fines, from G. M. Lodge 71. Now kindly let me say to all brothers, and our brother from Lodge 71 especially, that Lodge 38 is justified in putting such a fine on a brother that scabbed here. And what a shame in this enlightened day for a brother to think that scabs were only getting $60 a month through the strike here in Omaha. Kindly let the brother remember that this country is far different from the state of Pennsylvania. Any man with good common sense knows better than that. I, for one, say that a fine is never too high for such a piece of lowbred humanity, as nine cases out of ten a man that scabs once will do again and again. If we were to look at as the brother does in regard to small fine I think it would be a good idea, when strike comes up, for us all to go in a scab, our wages from $150 to $200 a month no matter how long the strike lasts, when it is over come up like little men and pay $25 or $50 as a fine and be a union man again. Well, I wonder who wouldn't? I think it would pay a man to travel around the country and keep such a good thing. And in regard to a brother being fined $2 and his wife paying it, goes to show that some women have a good deal more principle and use better judgment than many men. And further, Lodge 38 is not worrying as to whether that fine will be paid or not. I also think that the brother has not heard much in regard to fines for I know of several cases where members have been fined $1,000, also suspended for ninety-nine years, and P. T. Barnum, or any other circus, has not got them as yet. Maybe because they haven't got money enough to engage them. Let me say again, I differ with the brother in regard to small fine for a man does not have to scab to rear a family, no matter how large it is. Just such men as him should keep from it, as a job does not last a lifetime, and the way the country now is there are jobs most anywhere. And, furthermore, if a brother is well-to-do and refuses to pay a fine that was put on him I think him a very good riddance from our brotherhood. And what a foolish question, "now let me ask the brothers in general would you pay such a fine?" Does the brother think for a minute that this order is made up of such a class of men. Do they act and then refuse to pay a fine? If so, we might just as well bid the order a sad farewell; and I, for one, say certainly we don't want them in the organization, for ninety-nine out of every one hundred are laborers or foreigners and when the strike is over they are a first class mechanic in the company's eyes. Now, common sense will tell all brothers that it takes more than a strike to make a mechanic. No, high fines will never abolish scabbing, but it will keep the cunts from associating with men and telling the foreman all they hear and see in a lodge room. And brother, I hope the time will never come that you will be placed in such a position, as the brotherhood would certainly bid you farewell. Yes, and even a gravedigger, for if I knew you were going to do the last friendly act on this earth for me my last words would be, "begone, you cur, as I want to rest in my grave in peace." And remember, I hope our pride will never be hurt in showing such low lived humanity the least bit of kindness, as it would be giving them the meat, and us, we would take the bone and crawl under a house newhere. I hope the brother will not e offense from what I have said. I was e of the strikers, but as I am on the und and know the circumstances, I feel ny duty to defend all brothers on the U.

system from people who do not know true state of affairs. I remain,

BEN GRUETZKE,

LODGE 221.

Pittsburg, Kan., Aug. 1, 1903.—If I am too late would like to have a few lines the Journal. Will say that the strike the K. C. S. R. R. is still on and every on that came out March 13 is still in line.
t one has ever went back and if some of e traveling fraternity would stay away om here we would soon bring this to an d, but with plenty of work all over the untry, there are some that would rather ke a job scabbing than to be honest men.
ow I will give you the names of a few at I have picked up and I cannot say if ey are union, or ever was, or not, but ey are here. They are: One Brown; he

LODGE 7.

At a regular meeting of Lodge 7, held Friday, July 31, 1903, it was reported that
Bro. Flynn, Organizer of the A. F. of L., was in Buffalo, N. Y., to try and settle up the differences existing between the Union Furnace Co. and the Blast Furnace Workers' Union, and stopping at the hotel near by. It was unanimously voted to appoint a committee to extend an invitation to him to address the meeting of Lodge 7. For some reason or another he did not wish to do so at that time, but the committee finally persuaded him to come and enlighten us on the work of organizing and also of the A.

conscientious worker for a good cause that I have met in a long time, and after Bro.
Flynn, who, by the way, is a member of Smoky City Lodge 154, got through he was given a unanimous vote of thanks by the members of Lodge 7 for attending its meethen this one picture we send you, and if anybody knows it let us know who he is.

We cannot find out yet if he is a boiler-maker or Boilermakers' helper. With best wishes, we are, Fraternally, No. 221.

A WORD FROM 191.

On behalf of Victoria Lodge I derive great pleasure in recording the visit of our worthy Vice Grand President, Brother Dominick Kane, who, being in this city on July 14th, honored this body with his presence. After an introduction by the President and a hearty welcome having been accorded him, Bro. Kane addressed the meeting for a few minutes on topics which were and are of the utmost importance to the organization in general.

He is an excellent speaker, being concise and to the point in all his remarks, as well as fair and broad-minded, and it was with pleasure that one listened to him. After reviewing the settlement of the Southern Pacific railway strike, he complimented the boilermakers upon the well organized and flourishing condition of this lodge, which he believes to be on a par with the best lodges on this continent. Having read a set of by-laws which have been drawn up, assented to by the employers and printed and displayed in the local shops, he thought so well of them that for the benefit of lodges on this coast who have from time to time written me requesting a copy of such rules, I will append them here:

RULES GOVERNING LODGE NO. 191, VICTORIA, B. C.

1. That the rate of wages shall not be less than $3.50 per day, nine hours to constitute a day's work in or outside of the shop.
2. The rate of pay on Sundays and all legal holidays shall be two hours for one (better known as double time).
3. Overtime in the shops shall be paid for at the rate of time and one-half until 10:30 p. m.; after 10:30 p. m. double time shall be paid. Double time on all outside work after 5 p. m. All work done at companies wharves shall be considered outside work.
4. Night shifts in shops shall be paid as day shift; night shifts on outside work shall be paid twelve hours and one-half for first nine hours, and double time afterwards.
5. Should a man be working during the day and then told off to commence on night shift, he shall receive the regular rate of overtime for the first night.
6. All boilermakers working outside work and requiring helpers, must obtain the same from the shop at which they are employed.
7. Any work pertaining to boilermakers which has been commenced by person not being boilermakers, and boilermakers called upon to carry such work to completion, time and one-half must be paid.

8. Any boilermaker or iron ship builder not having a card of membership shall be permitted to work on any job with special permission from the executive officers of the local union.

9. On work being done outside the shop the men shall leave the shop at which they are employed at 7 a. m., except when found necessary to stay in said town or place, account of distance from work shop; when this is the case boilermakers or iron ship builders shall be at work at the usual hour 7 a. m.

10. On work necessitating the man boarding and lodging away from the homes the expenses of such shall fall upon the employers, as also shall all travelling expenses, and time allowed for travelling each way at the usual day's wage.

11. No boy allowed to become an apprentice over eighteen years of age, and four years shall be allowed before his apprenticeship shall have expired, after which he shall receive journeyman wages.

12. One apprentice to every five boilermakers.

13. Should a boilermaker or iron ship builder be required to rivet single handed his partner shall remain with him and assist him to his utmost.

14. No boilermaker or iron ship builder will be allowed to drive more than 15 rivets 5-8 thick or over, on any watertight work single handed. Should there be more than the above number he must at all times apply to the foreman of the shop for a boilermaker or iron ship builder to assist him.

15. No helper or laborer will be allowed to use boilermakers' or iron ship builders' tools on any mechanical work whatever. The least infringement of this rule will be strongly condemned, and every boilermaker and iron ship builder is required to see this rule rigidly adhered to.

HUGH CANNELL, F. S. No. 191.

LODGE 300.

I now take the pleasure of writing to you to let you know that Lodge 300 is all O. K. Having been appointed J. C. of this lodge, would ask you to kindly allow us space in your next issue of the Journal and I will try and let our brothers know that there is nothing but first-class union men in this lodge, 300. We have lots of work here, working every night to 10:30, 34 cents an hour, but there is two nights in the month that these brothers will not work for anyone, that is the first and third Thursdays in every month. Those are our meeting nights. We want two more boilermakers, but they must have nothing but clear cards or no work. There was a man here last Wednesday, his name is Delaney. Said he just come from Old Mexico. He had card. Well, all these brothers have been away from home and did not know about Old Mexico, so they sent me for him. He had been sent from Jacksonville, Miss., on a pass. I asked him if he had been a union man and he said he had been in the International union. Well I opened to be a National, Lodge 24, Omaha, Neb., before we consolidated, so I did not talk to him on that matter, but told him it was a long time ago, about twenty years--too long to be without a card. He said he had run a shop of his own, also had been in the saloon business. I asked him why he did not get a card in Mexico. He said he was eighty miles from a lodge. I told him I knew men to go 332 miles to get a union man. He said he wanted to go to work here and he would join this lodge, but just about that time Bro. Wm. Little, our shop committeeman, came to the front and told him the best thing he could do was to get out of town, as no man without a card could work in this shop, when they wouldn't let a brother go to work without three months dues. So he got. Hoping to see this in our next Journal as this was my first letter. Would also like to state that Bro. Tom Duffy got back from Memphis. He had his sandwich, but no dog.

Yours Fraternally,

SAMUEL TIGHE, J. C.

LODGE 164.

Lodge 164 held their second annual clam bake at Emery's grove, at which a very pleasant day was spent from 8 a. m. till 3 p. m. A barrel of clams, a couple of barrels, a barrel of foamy schnaps, accompanied by a variety of vegetables and side dishes made up the menu. But the members of 164 are not beer drinkers, as we had a quarrel left to bring back. But that is better than not having enough. The day was spent in foot races by Bros. Geary and Brechtell, at which Bro. Geary took the honors; in beer capacity, by Bros Geary and Brechtell and Bros. Beatty and Bannon, which Beatty and Bannon won out.

We were favored with the presence of Mr. J. Shaw of the B. R. & P. shops, and Mr. J. Ganey of the B. & S. shops and Bros. Murray and Conlin of Local 53 of Alliance, with whom we had a few short stories and reminiscences of times gone by. And talk about your short stories, Mr. Shaw, a fireman of the B. R. & P. shop, is chock full of them, and good ones, too. For want of space I will now close, hoping to have something more next month.

Fraternally,

S. U. GRANT, J. R.

the recent strike in this city one of the strikers was guilty of a slight misdemeanor, says the Philadelphia Telegraph. It was, however, a violation of the law, and offended justice demanded redress. When the awe-inspiring minion of the law approached the striker and read to him the warrant for his apprehension, the laboring man said:

"May I look at the warrant, Mr. Constable?"

It was a small courtesy, and the officer handed the legal paper to his prospective prisoner. After reading it carefully the union man handed it back to the constable with the remark:

"I regret to say that I cannot accept service."

"Indeed," responded the constable, "may I ask why?"

"Because the warrant does not contain the label of the Typographical union."

The constable is doing well under the care of a competent physician.—Bradford Daily Record.

LODGE 173.

It is now over three months since we organized, but having no J. C. until last regular meeting, at which time your humble servant was elected, we have not had a word to say by way of letting the Brothers know what we are doing up here in this neck of the woods, as the saying goes, but I am going to try and say a few words and let every one know what we are doing. We have a strike on our hands since the 8th day of July. We are out for the 9-hour day and 9 hours we must have, for we have a lodge here in West Bay City second to none, as we have every mechanic in the business carrying a card, and a Helpers' Division of 425 members. There may be some of the Brothers that think we are not made of the stuff that sticks, but I can honestly say that if I am any judge of human nature, that the material in 173 is all glue, and when the end of our present difficulties is a thing of the past, Brothers, bring a good card or stay away from West Bay City.

There is one matter I came near forgetting. Brother Dave Welsh has taken unto himself a wife, as he and Miss Hayes were married on July 30th, and while the boys of 173 were at our annual picnic making merry. Well, I do not know what Brother Welsh was doing; but he was not at the picnic at any rate, and while the boys wish the happy couple every joy through life and a house full of young ship builders, yet there is some sore spots over not letting us know what was doing sooner. I remain,

Yours truly and fraternally,

JOHN D. RAGEN, J. C.

LODGE 308.

Hoping to receive a little space in our worthy Journal I submit this article. We,

LACKED THE UNION LABEL.

It is recorded that during the progress of the Boiler Makers and Helpers of the Pacific Iron Works and Bridgeport Boiler Works, have been on strike for last eight weeks for a nine-hour day basis, with ten hours' pay, and time and one-half for all over time on new work in shop. Well, we sent in our request and in one of the shops, The Bridgeport Boiler Works, our request was thrown in the waste basket, and the foreman said he was going to break up our union. Well, we went out on the 18th of June and have been out since. This crab of a foreman, Henry Meathron, came from Oswego, N. Y., and he has a brother, I believe, who is scabbing it now out in Cleveland. Now we are going to give him a chance. He says he don't want any Boiler Makers, he can do his work with a lot of Pollocks and "niggers" that he has working for him; also a fellow by the name of Christy McGuire, who would rather work with a lot of scum than with a lot of men.

Well, in the other shop, The Pacific Iron Works, when we went out, the foreman, James V. Hogan, who comes from Cleveland, Ohio, one of the whitest men living, said he would not work with a lot of unskilled labor and scabs, and closed the door of the shop, and went out with the men.

The shop has been closed since up till Monday, August 1, when they got an old snake who calls himself Brown, the Boiler Maker from New Jersey and Brooklyn, and he opened up the shop with a deserter from our ranks, one Joseph Heckley, No. 21657, a half Hungarian and American, otherwise a dog, as he has been told. We suspended him from our local with a fine of $50 on him.

The boys are getting along pretty good and the strike benefits that we are getting just about keep them going, for you know seven dollars a week is pretty small to keep a lot of children on and pay rent. They are not kicking, but are determined to win this strike, and oust this foreman if they can. We are only a handful of men compared with some of the lodges, but we have the principle. There is only ten of us that are on strike, and the other six of our lodge is working in the railroad shop.

We had a meeting with the general manager of one of the shops, The Pacific, and he wanted to know what we intended to do, and we told him we would go to work just as soon as they gave us what we wanted, and he said he would have to see the directors and would see us later on, and we are still waiting.

The regular rate of wages here is 25 and 27½ cents an hour; just what the hod carriers are getting. Well, they say patience is a virtue, so we are all patient.

I remain yours truly,

DENNIS KELLY,
Cor. & Fin. Sec.

LODGE 212.

At a conference with Master Mechanical General Foreman and our selected committee of Boiler Makers, we made a request of 35½ cents per hour. The company being unwilling to grant us that much, we had a meeting at which we decided to go down a half cent and going to the committee next morning were granted our second request of 35 cents per hour. We expect to adopt shop rules and look for no trouble at that line. On the whole, we were well satisfied with the company's settlement and treatment the committee received at their hands. I remain,

W. B. SIMON

I take the liberty of trespassing on your valuable time and a little space in the Journal to write you a few lines to let the brothers know Eagle Lodge was organized on August 10th, with 13 members, the lucky number, and has come to stay, and will at all times strive for the welfare of our Brotherhood. We have two R. R. shops here and the C. C. & L. is building. When it is completed it will bring quite a number of Boiler Makers here and then there will be something doing, and Eagle Lodge will show her feathers, and don't fly into Peru without a card punched up to date. Our motto is, No card, no work. With best wishes for the advancement of our Brotherhood, I remain,

BOILER MAKERS' AND BOILER MAKERS APPRENTICES' WAGE SCHEDULE OF

Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha —Effective July 31, 1903.

Section 1. The standard working time will be 10 hours per day, except Saturdays, when it will be 9 hours' work at 10 hours' pay.

Sec. 2. Boiler Makers and apprentices, when required to work overtime, shall receive time and one-half after the usual working hours, and on Sunday. Also, time and a half shall be paid on the following legal holidays, and nights: New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Lincoln's Birthday, Decoration Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas Days. When called to work overtime, they shall receive not less than 5 hours for each call. All expenses while on the road shall be paid. All time put in traveling and waiting for trains shall be paid as single time. Night men in roundhouses shall receive time and a half on Sundays and legal holidays, also when called to work in day time during week.

Sec. 3. Minimum rate of wages will be 36 cents per hour for Boiler Makers at St. Paul shops and Sioux City shops. At all other points on the road 34½ cents per hour. Flanger will receive 39 cents per hour. Layer-out and fitter-up will receive 38 cents per hour. Boiler Maker occupying the place of regular man on the flange fire, laying out or fitting up, will receive the rate paid for that class of work. When Boiler Makers are sent out on the road from shops where 36 cents per hour rate is paid, they will receive 36 cents per hour for work thus performed while out. Roundhouse Boiler Makers will have privilege to apply for and receive positions at St. Paul and Sioux City shops when vacancies occur, provided they are competent.

Sec. 4. When reduction of expenses becomes necessary, working hours will be reduced to 9 or 8 hours per day. If further reduction is necessary, the hours will be reduced to 40 hours per week before reducing the force. When a reduction of force becomes necessary, employees who have others dependent upon them will be given the preference of employment, seniority and competency to govern; Superintendent of Motive Power and Machinery to judge.

Sec. 5. Apprentices shall not be employed under 16 or over 21 years of age, and will be selected from the rivet heaters employed according to seniority and merit. Ratio to be one apprentice to every five Boiler Makers. Where less than five Boiler Makers are employed in one shop, one apprentice will be employed. Apprentices must serve a full term of four years before leaving the shop. They shall receive the following rates of pay: First year, 10 cents per hour; second year, 13½ cents per hour; third year, 16½ cents per hour; fourth year, 20 cents per hour. Apprentices shall be advanced as fast as possible on all classes of work, so as to give them opportunity to learn all branches of the trade. Those who shall continue in the Company's service after the expiration of four years shall receive 36 cents per hour at St. Paul and Sioux City shops, or 34½ cents at all other points on the road. Apprentices who served four years in company's service and are found incompetent may be dismissed. If an apprentice is found incompetent after six months of service he may be dismissed.

Sec. 6. Boiler Makers' and apprentices' work shall be as follows: Laying out, marking off, flanging, fitting up, chipping, caulking, holding all handled tools and handling of hydraulic and air riveting machines. Also all cutting and drilling for patches, stay bolts and setting of flues in firebox. All crown bar work and radial stays and braces will be done by Boiler Makers. Tank work of all kinds will be done by Boiler Makers, apprentices and tank builders. Any man not physically strong enough to handle a pneumatic hammer, shall not be required to do so.

Sec. 7. When vacancies occur for promotion, Boiler Makers in the service of the company will be given the preference; character, seniority and competency to govern. Superintendent of Motive Power and Machinery to judge.

Sec. 8. When a grievance occurs in the shop, aggrieved shall have redress through the following officers: Foreman Boiler Maker, Master Mechanic, Superintendent of Motive Power and Machinery, General Superintendent and General Manager.

Sec. 9. Boiler Makers and apprentice shall not be suspended or discharged without a just and sufficient cause. If after investigation they are found to have been justly suspended or discharged, they will be reinstated and paid full time for all lost.

Sec. 10. The company will in no way criminate against any Boiler Maker who may act as a committeeman duly authorized to meet the officers of the company.

Sec. 11. Handymen's work shall be on pans and front end work only. If it is found and proven that any helper or handyman or incompetent man has misrepresented himself to be a Boiler Maker, or filling the place of a Boiler Maker, he shall be dismissed.

Sec. 12. If the company or the Boiler Makers desire to amend this schedule, they shall give thirty days' notice thereof.

LODGE 308.

Hoping to find space in our most valuable Journal to let all brother boiler makers know, throughout the country, the condition the boiler makers of Bridgeport, Conn. had to work under until June 12, 1903. The rate of wages was from $2.50 to $2.75 per day 59 hours a week, single time for overtime in the shop. We came to the conclusion on June the 12th we were entitled what our brother boiler makers were getting in the surrounding towns. We drew up a grievance on June the 5th, and presented one to the foreman of the Pacific Iron Works. The foreman of said shop read it over and said to the committee, "Boys, I will take this to the office at once." He did so. We gave them one week for a decided answer. At the end of said week the officials said they could not grant us the 9-hour day, so on the 12th of June we quit work. The shop has been locked for the past 7 weeks, for the very good reason that our foreman, J. V. Hogan refused to run the shop with unskilled help. Mr. Hogan has been sent for several times by the officials to have him open the shop. He told them to settle with his men, then he would open the shop, saying my boiler makers are as good as the moulders who were granted the 9 hours. Now brothers, how many foremen have we got who would take the stand an has taken in this fight for our rights, when the battle is won you will all know to thank, for win we must.

Let me say a few words in regards to Mr. Hogan's ability. He is a practical boiler maker and layer out, a man who learned in the rivet fire to the highest branch of the profession, and brothers, let me tell you, can tell you what a man should do for a day's work, for he has been there himself. His home is in Cleveland, Ohio. When the others of No. 5, of Cleveland, has an argument on the principles of a man, they point with pride at one of their townsmen, James V. Hogan. If all foremen boiler makers would take the same stand for their men how much better it would be for all concerned.

Now, I must tell you of the foreman of the Bridgeport boiler works. His name is Henry McCathren. He is a brother of the notorious John McCathren, of Oswego, N. Y., whom Lodge No. 5, of Cleveland, Ohio, had the trouble with and fined him $50.00. When our committee waited on Henry McCathren with our grievance he was to sick to be seen. He wasn't to sick to see one of our men the same evening in regards to the same work, so we presented our grievance to the office. When he came to the shop two days after, he made the boast that he didn't need boiler makers, and if he did he could make them in 6 weeks. Let me say right here that Henry McCathren can't make a boiler maker in 6 years, for he is not a boiler maker himself. All he can do is a little sheet iron work. When he came to Bridgeport he didn't know a soft patch bolt from a hard patch bolt. This is the truth. When his men went out, the first men he hired was two negroes, not that we have any bad feelings towards our colored brothers, but just to show you what contempt he has for a union man, for he has said several times that he did hate a negro. He wouldn't let one of them in the shop before this trouble. I must say he is the most contemptible rat in existence. I hope all brothers will remember the name for he has no mortgage on his job. He was told to get out once, and to hold his job he said he would work 50 cents a day cheaper if the company would sign a contract for one year. So brothers after his time is out and he will want another job, he will tell you what he has done for the Boiler Makers' Union. You can imagine how good a man he is when he works for $3.50 per day—what some of our brother helpers are getting. He also said that if the company made a union shop of the Bridgeport Boiler Works, he would resign his position. Just imagine the position he has. He has been making it as unpleasant as he possible could since we organized, the miserable rat. I could write a book about H. McCathren but this will do for the present. I have something else as important to speak of in regards to the new foreman who took Mr. J. V. Hogan's position.

He hailed from Brooklyn, N. Y., so he said. This rat's name is Brown. It would sound better to call him "Yellow," for he is as yellow as they make them. Some of the brothers waited on this "Yellow" Brown and tried to have him see the errors of his way. It was no use, for he is bred "yellow." This "Yellow" Brown said he worked in McNeil's boiler works in Brooklyn, N. Y. He said his son is foreman of the McNeil boiler works. This miserable rat has only a few more years to live at the most here. He has gone scabbing and brought the name of scab on all his relatives. It seems that one pup of a litter will bring defect on all the brood. Now brothers of New York and Brooklyn, when this yellow Brown returns to your cities he will tell you what he done for the Boiler Makers of Bridgeport, Conn., and let me tell you the Boiler Makers here will never forget it. The miserable rat said he didn't give a damn for the Boiler Makers' Union. Are all the Boiler Makers in it? Isn't that nice talk for a contemptible rat to use who has one foot in the grave? What a story Yellow Brown told the people here. He said the foreman and all the Boiler Makers were discharged and sent for him to open the shop with new men. Don't that sound nice? When he commenced to talk like that we come to the conclusion that he is in his second childhood, for he is about 55 or 60 years of age. But one of our members has deserted our ranks so far. His name is Joe Hagley, register No. 21657, a helper. He went to work a few days after we went out, and another by the name of John Narto. Those two Huns scabbed it in the Standard Refinery in Bayonne, N. J., about seven years ago. We thought we could make men of them, but see its a failure. Once a scab, always a scab. This rat Hagley, was expelled from the Union with a fine of $50. I don't think we will be called on to perform such a disagreeable duty again. If so, will let you know later.

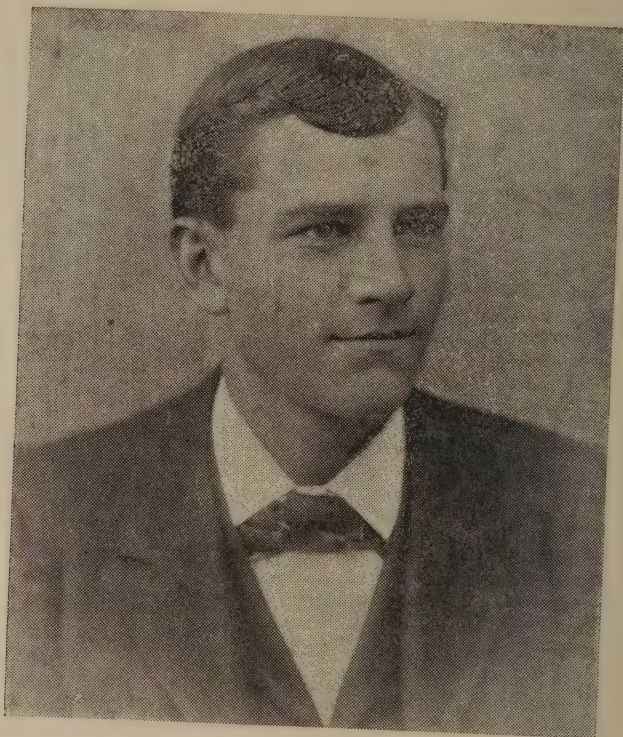

Approved by Local No. 308, of B. M. and I. S. B., Bridgeport, Conn., August 10, 1903.

In response to appeal on page 316, June Journal, on behalf of the widow and orphans of Brother John Hawley, Lodge 198 comes first by remitting $1.50, being, as Brother Corresponding Secretary Stark says, beer sacrifices, made by members. I hope many more such sacrifices will be made in time to be acknowledged in the columns of the October Journal.

Lodge 224.

Enclosed you will please find a list of the names of the helpers that became charter members of the Big Four and I. C. Lodge No. 116, which I organized at this place Saturday evening, August 15th, with nineteen members. They seem to be very much interested in the cause, and I believe with the co-operation of the divisions that are already enlisted in the good cause, I see no reason why they should meet with defeat.

By the way, I notice that all the leading shops, both on the Big Four and I. C. are organized and No. 116 ask their hearty support.

Yours fraternally,

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY 224.

Lodge 191.

I trust you will not think that I am imposing on your space in the Journal by writing too often, but it is to me a pleasure after having once begun to take an interest in the correspondence of the members from other Lodges to try and pick out something to say myself. Now, sir, there seems to me to be a great want of interest in Lodge work by a great number of members; and this they unmistakably show by their non-attendance at the meetings of the Lodge. They as a rule take no interest in anything or anybody but themselves, and I think that if we were to take our members and class them, we should say we have workers as one class, and others who take an interest, but shirk the work, as another class, and the balance who won't work and take no interest, as no class at all; and some of these we have in Victoria Lodge 191, as elsewhere; and this they unmistakably show by their masterly inability to grasp any little question that arises when they do happen to favor us with their presence at our meetings. It is just like trying to drive a piece of wood into a block of granite to drive any other idea into them beside the one selfish idea they have got impressed into ir system of self first, last and all the e.

ow, sir, to those men I would say, get out this unmanly rut as soon as you can; get little enthusiasm into your body, and say ill no longer be a drone, but I will have place in the meetings and use the talents that have been given me to the uplift of my fellow man, to the best of my ability, both in my own union and wherever the duty calls me, so that when the time comes for you to give up your labors, you will be able to say that, although you found things not in a very bad shape, yet you have done something to place them a little better in you found them.

In conclusion, I would say to one and all, the words of the poet, Longfellow:

"In the world's broad field of battle,
In the bivouac of life,
Be not like dumb driven cattle,
But be heroes in the strife."

Lodge 194.

Again I would draw the attention of the members of this Brotherhood to the fact that we are running too cheap a union to make effective. We are causing the grand officers and the executive board generally unnecessary worry in trying to make both ends meet, when their services are required in the conducting of this fast-growing Brotherhood. This union has grown in leaps and bounds during the last three or four years, and with its growth its responsibilities have grown with it enormously, as one can see by the list of strikes that are now on hand. Many of them could have been prevented, perhaps, if good sound judgment was brought to bear on our business transactions, with our employers, but, whether this is so or no, we have them on our hands; this we know for sure, and the responsibility of them must be met. What is this Brotherhood going to do to put this union above want and place it on a pedestal where it should be distinctly understood that when they took any trouble in hand they were ready to back it up. This periodical calling for assessments is not a good proposition because it is not a permanent source, a constant stream, but comes in jerks, as it were, and a great deal too slow to be effective. It takes three or four months under the present system before our executive officers can proclaim an assessment and a referendum taken of all its members before sanction can be given to do so. This appears to me and many other brothers who I have talked to on the subject, an antiquated and fossilized way of doing things in this day of quick movement, when everybody who is anybody have to move quick to accomplish their ends; and I beg to offer two suggestions to the Brotherhood whereby I think the present unsatisfactory state of things can be altered and this union made a power in the land.

The first alteration I would suggest is, instead of adopting the referendum to gain the sanction of the Brotherhood to make assessments, that power be given the executive to levy an assessment any time they think it necessary. This would do away with a very slow process of procuring money, and the quick dispatch would make it the more effective, at the same time every union should be compelled to forward, as soon as a call is made, to the Grand Secretary the full amount of the indebtedness of the assessment for all members in good standing, out of the funds of their union, instead of waiting until their members have paid it to them before returning same to Grand Secretary. This is a system Local 194 has always adopted, and the Lodge has waited until the members have paid it in. This has worked very satisfactory with us, and there is no reason why it should not be universally adopted.

The next suggestion I would make, and the one I believe would be the most effective, is that the per capita to the Grand Lodge should be raised considerably; a constant supply would be always coming in then. At the present time we pay 25 cents per capita per member in good standing, and if we don't get called upon for any more assessments than the two already called, it will amount to 25 cents per month more, for this year we have had to pay to the Grand Lodge, making in all 50 cents for the year. Now, my proposition is that the per capita to the Grand Lodge in the future be raised to 75 cents per month, which, in my mind, will place this union in the position she should be in, that is, above want. This can easily be done by raising our dues 50 cents per month. At the present time No. 194 charges 50 cents dues per month, 25 cents of that going to the Grand Lodge, the other 25 cents pays the running expenses of the union. If we make our dues $1 per month, we can easily pay the Grand Lodge 75 cents per capita, because it does not raise our expenses any. My opinion and the opinion of many of our Western members is what should be done and be the most effective. A cheap union never amounted to anything, anyway, and I am persuaded this union is too cheap for its good. Raise her up, brothers; place her where she should be, on the top of all. Another thing, out of this amount of per capita the expenses of all the delegates to the convention might be paid out of it which would certainly bring to the convention the Western men who at present are unable to bear the expenses.

This is done by several International Unions, and answers well. Here is food for thought for our brothers, and I would like to see them express their opinions in the Journal in respect to this matter. And believe me,

Yours fraternally,

J. H. WATSON, C. S.

Above is the profile of Brother H. C. Dustin (who is in Chicago on business for Lodge No. 199) just before he 'looped de loop.' Brother Dustin says his heart is all right, "but—" Well, the brothers at Horton can ask him why he tried to stand on his head in the car.

Lodge 193.

I left Baltimore on Sunday, August 2d, and arrived in New York at 1:30 o'clock. I stopped at the meeting of District No. 2, but did not remain long. On Monday evening the 3rd, I met some of the boys of No. 171, in South Brooklyn, Brothers Thomas McKay, Sullivan and others, and we spent an hour or so together. On Tuesday evening, the 4th, I went to Lodge 21, on the Bowery. It was a very bad night; it rained fearful, so there was only twenty-five members present, and after the business was done the boys set in to give me a welcome, and they did it in real old-time fashion, with songs, recitations, clog dances and plenty of good cheer for the inner man, and a very pleasant night was spent with Brothers Thomas Devlin, William Kloft, E.

F. Schneider and many others, whom I do not call to mind just now. On Wednesday the 5th, I went up to Paterson, N. J., and met Brothers John Richardson and John Quinlan and others of Lodge 208. They do not have any meeting, but the brothers escorted me around and gave me a courteous welcome. I then came down to New York on Sunday, the 9th, and on Monday evening I went to the meeting of Lodge 36 in South Brooklyn, but there were considerable wrangling going on, and it was not very pleasant. One brother kept the meeting an uproar all evening, and when I got a chance to speak I tore him all to pieces. I will remember me for some time to come. On Tuesday evening I went to Jersey City and got in company with Brothers William Deely and George Golden, of No. 16, and we had a pleasant hour or two together. I promised to go to No. 171, but as I got some other company, I could not make it. On Wednesday evening I went down to Bayonne, N. J., and found Brother John McDermott, who was President of No. 2 for a long time. He told me that the boys had treated him very dirty. He asked for a withdrawal card some time ago, and at the time he was two months ahead with his dues, but they neglected to give it to him, and now they are trying to scandalize him. After a man has done so much work and brought a Lodge into such good shape—as I am told he has done—I think it is a shame to get such treatment. Look the matter up, brothers; see if you know anything about it. Now I have nothing of interest to say about Baltimore.

I am fraternally yours,

W. H. O. THOMPSON, C. S.

ORGANIZER'S REPORT FOR THE MONTH OF JULY.

To the Officers and Members, Greeting:—Brothers, since my last report I have traveled as far East as Moncton, N. B. Commencing on July 1st, I left Montreal for Quebec City, where I arrived that night. Next morning I visited the two running sheds of Lake St. John and the Great Northern, in which places are four Boilermakers. They advised me to go across to Point Levis, as there were a good many Boilermakers there, and if I succeeded in establishing a Lodge there, they would be with me, as they lived there. Point Levis is only one-half mile across the St. Lawrence river from Quebec, so that afternoon I went to Levis, where I met some of the Boilermakers, and they agreed to meet me that night and talk the matter over. As appointed, they met me and agreed that on my return from Moncton they would have all the Boilermakers present, so I left that night, July 3d, for Magantic P. Q., on the Quebec

tral, where I was to connect with the P. R. R. for McAdam Junction. I arrived there Sunday morning, July 5th. After breakfast I went to the C. P. R. shop, and, though it was Sunday, I could hear the name of the Boilermakers' hammer, and went in the direction from where the strains came, and there met with one of the Boilermakers, Brother Grass, and on Monday night met the four, and when I made known to them the aims and objects of my mission, among them, they told me, there were seven Boilermakers in McAdam, and upon my return they would be all in line so I left next morning, July 7th, for St. John, N. B., where I met Brothers J. Kearns and Collins, C. S. Gilthorpe Lodge No. 349, where they told me things are looking bright for the future of the Boilermakers of St. John. I left there the same night for Moncton, N. B., and arrived at 2:30 a. m., July 8th. After a few hours' sleep and breakfast, I went to the shops of the Intercolonial R. R. Boiler Shop, where I made the acquaintance of the foreman, Mr. Joe Joyce, and our worthy Corresponding Secretary, Brother Cunningham. I had a meeting of the Boilermakers that night, and there was a small attendance, only twelve showing up. The reason for that was, it was raining hard and it was also pay night. What did turn up after I talked to them on the principle of unionism, and what benefit they would derive from being united, agreed to sign the pedigree list, and those that were not present I met the next day, July 9th, when I added twelve more added to the list. Then they wanted their charter sent to them before they paid their initiation fee. That I told them I could not do without the sanction of the Grand Lodge Officers. They elected a corresponding secretary, and gave him their initiation fee as a guarantee of their good faith. Brother Cummings is their secretary, and a better man could not be found to fill the office. With the pedigree list signed by twenty-four good Boilermakers, I started on my way back to McAdam, July 10th, where the Boilermakers were waiting for me. I met them that night, when they signed their pedigree list, formed their lodge and paid their initiation fee. I left McAdam Junction on the 11th, and reached Point Levis on the 12th, and met the Boilermakers of that place, and as they were expecting me, I did not have much trouble in getting them together. Although not a few of them can speak or understand English, they signed their pedigree list and paid their initiation fee. Then, with twenty good members on the list, I started for Montreal on the 15th, where there was a lot of correspondence which had accumulated during my absence, as I was acting as corresponding secretary for No. 134.

On the 17th I was called to Sorel, P. Q., where I initiated the members and installed the officers and instructed them in the duties of their offices; and I might say that Lodge 373 has a combination to be proud of. Then, as there was some little trouble in Messrs. Ferand & Delorme's boiler shop, the old story of handy men doing the work of Boilermakers, I was instructed to interview Mr. Delorme on the subject. I went to see him, and he received me very courteously; brought me to his office, where we talked on the subject for over one hour. He gave me to understand that what he done by having three-eighths rivets knocked down in a smoke stack by a handy man, and an apprentice did not constitute a crime when riveters could not be gotten. He promised not to repeat it again if the union men would supply him with help when wanted.

REPORT OF ED FOX, G. V. P.

At the expiration of my last report I was in Buffalo, trying, if possible, to straighten out a strike on a job of Riter & Conley's, but was not successful. There are two individuals on that job—one is William Koch, a foreman, who holds a card from Lodge 154, and paid up for the remainder of 1903, and another by name of Glen—that inform men who go to work there that it is an open job, and show their cards. They are breaking in new men to do the work our men should be doing. I will leave to you, brothers, the rest, and place your condemnation on them when they happen to come your way, as they will not be in Buffalo all their lives.

A strike was also in progress in the Buffalo Dry Dock, brought on by a body of men, known as laborers and bolter-ups. These men hold a charter from the American Federation of Labor, and they asked for an exorbitant increase of wages, which the company refused to concede, and our men were forced out by the action of these men. When offered a fair settlement they refused to accept it, and informed our men that they could go to work when these men said so. It seems to be the fad nowadays that the A. F. of L. will issue a charter to any body of men, whether it effects our trade or not, thereby creating a dual organization to fight this Brotherhood.

My next move was to Cleveland, where a strike was in progress in Lodges 20 and 95, H. D., respectively, the American Shipbuilding Company's local yard. A special meeting was arranged, to be held in Lorain Lodge 190, for the purpose of having these brothers interest themselves and support our men in Cleveland in securing the nine-hour day. A protracted meeting was held, and the question was laid over for the next regular meeting of Lodge 190, and at that meeting they refused their co-operation, and consequently the Cleveland boys are fighting alone. While in Lorain I found out that the American Federation of Labor has issued a charter to Machine Riveters, and also a similar charter is in existence in Buffalo. From there I returned to Cleveland, and proceeded to Detroit to look into the strike situation there, and I was surprised to learn of an injunction been issued on behalf of John Brennan & Co., against John McNeil, Grand President, Organizer and your humble servant and Lodge 169. Said injunction was issued without any notification being given, of which a copy will appear in the Journal. My presence being needed here, I stayed for a considerable time. As Riter & Conley did not live up to their agreement here, namely, Pittsburg scale. I waited upon the foreman and gave him twenty-four hours to notify his company that the Pittsburg scale must be paid, and they refused, consequently a strike was inaugurated again. He had seven members from Lodge 154 on the job, and had promoted these men to be straw bosses, paid them the scale, and the members of Lodge 169 who were doing the work were being paid at the old rate of wages. A strong picket was established on the job, and no scabs allowed to work. A week after, about thirty-five deputy marshals were sworn in, and still they could not get scabs on the job. However, one afternoon one of the deputy marshals started out for trouble, and consequently sailed into our men. Brother Sheehan was shot in the leg, and two other brothers were clubbed severely, and I must say our men behaved themselves as American citizens, and did not break the peace, consequently charges were made against this deputy marshal, and a warrant was sworn out, and his case will come up for trial to-morrow. A conference was held between Mr. Coffin, Vice President of the firm of Riter & Conley, and Joe Connelly, foreman, Mr. Baird, President of the Detroit Iron and Steel Company, and Mr. West, general manager of that concern. Brothers Gerrity and Tolbot, of Lodge 169, and your humble servant, and I must say I attended many conferences, but it was the stormiest one I ever attended, but, Mr. Coffin had to give in, and the Pittsburg scale was agreed to. I may state, also, that we were successful in settling the strike in the Detroit Dry Dock Company's plant, as follows: Nine hours to constitute a day's work, with ten hours' pay in shop and eight hours outside work with ten hours' pay, and all men returned to their respective positions. Seeing that I could not go any farther with the other shops, who were paying their men ten per cent less than that, the Detroit Dry Dock consequently refused to come up. I turned toward Buffalo again, and the firm of Riter & Conley refused point blank to deal with myself and my men. I immediately communicated the facts to your worthy G. P. O., and he took up the matter with Riter & Conley, and Lodge 169. The results I have not heard, but I will say this, that it is the duty of Lodge 154 to stand by our boys in Buffalo, and compel that firm to give in. The Ship Yard strike was started on, and our men were suffering by being out so long and no redress. I turned my face again towards Detroit, and found that four would-be Boilermakers had returned to work in Brennan's shop, and some helpers, but the other shops stood firm. A conference was again held, but with no success, and after looking carefully over the field, I proceeded to Cleveland, and attended a meeting of Lodge 5, and I must say that Lodge 5 is steadily growing. In company with Brother James Green, we waited upon Mr. Brown, M. M. of the Erie system, to arrange to place some Boilermakers to work. He informed me he could handle fifteen men. We were requested to wait on the master mechanic, Mr. Bickinson, of the Lake Shore and Michigan Railroad Company, by our brothers working there. It seems there is an individual there—his name is Cowper—who has antagonized our boys in that shop for a considerable time, and refused to be a member of Lodge 5. Our boys got tired of such business, and demanded his discharge. Mr. Bickerson being away on a vacation, we had an interview with his assistant, Mr. Wagstaff. We went over the grievance, and he assured us as soon as Mr. Bickerson returned from his vacation everything would be settled satisfactorily with our men, as they did not want any trouble.

I attended a joint meeting of Lodges 20 and 95, Helpers' Division, who are on strike in the ship yard. They complained about not receiving their strike benefits regularly and No. 95 had not received any at that time. It appears that when our members are working they are very slow in supporting their brothers who are out on strike. Some fitters went back to work, who did not belong to the Lodge, but that don't alter the situation one way or the other. I again returned to Detroit to see what could be done, and to my great surprise learned that Lodge 72, Helpers' Division, had declared the strike off in the boiler shops, and instructed their men to return to work, not notifying Lodge 169. I very quickly put a stop to it, and had that Lodge declare the strike on, and notify its members to stop work. Some did, and some did not, and we are again holding a conference with the employers. A compromise must be made now, as the action of the pers makes it absolutely necessary. I will also state, Lodge 173, West Bay City, are in conference to settle their strike, and wish them every success. I may state distinctly that money is badly needed, and I am aware that some of our Lodges who have only recently been on strike and received their strike benefits, have voted against the assessment. I want to say that not brotherly love. Every member of this brotherhood to-day who is on strike, is fighting your battle as well as his own. Hoping this will be satisfactory, and with best wishes, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

EDWARD FOX.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

the Circuit Court for the County of Wayne.
In Chancery.

the Name of the People of the State of Michigan:

To the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and on Shipbuilders of America, John McNeil, President, and Edward Fox, Vice Grand President; Lodge Number 169 of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America,—Thomas Burton, President, F. Martin, Treasurer, Thomas H. Daily, Recording Secretary, Carl F. Oderpoldt, Corresponding Secretary, M. L. Streicke, Examining Inspector, George Gill, Walter Miller, William Lawrence, Frank Hinski, Herman Miller, Emil Gippart, Thomas Sullivan, Frank Zimmer, Leo Niekert and Joseph Hammerle, and to each and every of them, their agents, servants, associates and confederates, the above cause having been brought on for hearing on the application for a temporary injunction, based upon the sworn Bill of Complaint filed herein, the Court being familiar with the facts therein alleged, after reading the same,

It is now here ordered that the said defendants, as above enumerated; from and after service upon you of this Writ, you do resist them in any manner interfering with the employees of the Complainant, John Brennan and Company, or from in any manner interfering with any person who may desire to enter the employ of said Complainant, John Brennan and Company, by way or use of threats personal violence, intimidation or other unlawful means, calculated or intended to prevent such persons from entering or continuing in the employ of the said John Brennan and Company, or calculated or intended to induce any such person or persons to leave the employ of the said John Brennan and Company.

(2nd)—From interfering, intimidating, boycotting, by the distribution of circulars, or otherwise molesting or threatening, in any manner, the employees, or customers of the said complainant, John Brennan and Company, or any other person or persons, for the purpose, by means of such interference, intimidation, threats or boycotting, of inducing such person or persons not to do business with, or deal with, the said John Brennan and Company.

(3rd)—From congregating, gathering, or loitering about in the neighborhood of or picketting the premises of the said Complainant, John Brennan and Company, or at other places, with intent to interfere with the employees of the said Complainant, John Brennan and Company, or with the prosecution of their work, or to interfere with or intimidate the employees of the said Complainant, with intent to cause them to leave the employment of the said Complainant, or to interfere with or to obstruct in any manner the business, or trade, of the said John Brennan and Company, or to present and induce the public, by means of boycott, circulars or threats of boycott, or by threats of injuring the business of any person or persons, not to deal, trade or work with or for the said John Brennan and Company.

(4th)—From impeding, obstructing, or interfering with, by picketting, patrolling, acts of intimidation, threats, coercion, or otherwise, or in any other manner interfering with the free access of employees at the John Brennan and Company works to the premises of the said Complainant, and their place of work, and the return of the said employees to their places of business or their homes.

(5th)—From giving any directions or order to Committees, associations, individuals, or others, for the performance of any of such acts, or threats, hereinbefore enjoined, and from in any manner whatever impeding, obstructing, or interfering, by boycotting, or any act of intimidation, or coercion, with the regular operation and conduct of the business of Complainant.

The foregoing you are hereby enjoined from doing in any particular whatsoever until the further order of this Court.

Lodge 262.

At 11 o'clock, May 27th, a notice was posted throughout the works of the E. S. Co., to the effect that there would be a change in working hours. This change amounted to this, that for five days per week the men would be compelled to work ten and one-half hours, and Saturdays five and three-quarters hours, making a total of fifty-seven and three-quarters hours per week, and for which fifty-eight hours would be allowed, thereby losing one-fourth of an hour per week of the old schedule. Previously we had worked fifty-nine and one-half hours and were paid sixty. This caused a great deal of dissatisfaction, and finally culminated in a mass meeting of mechanics. The new schedule was remonstrated against, agitation followed, finally ending in the appointment of a committee to present a demand for a nine hour work day, and a resumption of the old schedule.

The committee was refused an interview with the President, Mr. Hanscom, but the Superintendent, Mr. Besselievre, conferred with the committee, and refused to consider any petition for a reduction in time. Failing in this, a committee was appointed to confer with President Nixon, of the U. S. S. Co. He received the committee courteously, but on reading the petition, claimed that he was unable to act in the matter without President Hanscom's consent, but advised the committee to communicate with Mr. Hanscom by mail. This was done May 29th. Nothing was heard from it until June 10th, when the letter was received which follows: To the Committee of the Employees of the Eastern Shipbuilding Company, New London, Conn.:

I am in receipt of your petition for a nine-hour labor day at these works. In reply to same, I have to state that from a business standpoint it will be impossible to grant this request at the present time.

Very respectfully,

C. R. HANSCOM, President.

Another mass meeting was held the night of June 10th, and it was voted by a majority of 651 to 15 that a strike be declared June 11th, if the demand was not granted by 10 o'clock a. m. To prevent us from striking, we were locked out. This affected about 1,800 men, 750 of whom were mechanics of various trades.

The works were again opened Monday, June 15th. A number of laborers were hired. From that day on to the present time the company made strenuous efforts to secure men elsewhere; also succeeded in getting back quite a few whose home was here, and who thought that outside from the E. S. Co., a living could not be secured. At any rate, of the two things to do, their preference was to scab it.

Gradual success favored the company up to a week ago, when they had employed about 900 men, 90 percent being unskilled, yet that was a good number to boast of, and concluded that the time was opportune for them to send agents out to secure more. Their first efforts were made Wednesday, August 5th, when the assistant timekeeper, Joseph Johnson, was sent to Camden, N. J.

He succeeded in bringing eleven non-union men. We were unable to intercept them before they reached the yard, but at noon the pickets met and told them the situation, and finally prevailed on them to come out. We paid the fares of all that we were able. This used up all of our available funds and we were compelled to let some stay over. On August 13 the company imported 42 more men (all iron workers, as this was the only class they desired) from Camden and vicinity. In a body of fifteen we met them at the New York boat that morning about 1 o'clock and explained the situation, but the man who came with them, Lawrence Gilkey by name, a thing who has a fine against him in Philadelphia, and who is noted for his dirty work, had told them of the lockout and strike situation which we had to contend with here and so instilled that into their minds that all of our arguments were in vain. There were quite a few union men in this crowd and they would not take the word of the President and officials of No. 262, but hung around here for several days, holding curbstone arguments, and so influencing some of the non-union men who had come with them that they went into work. If the members of the B. M. and I. S. B. who came here with that crowd from Camden had taken our word, and instead of trying to make us settle this trouble had used the influence they had in keeping the non-union men away, we would have had no trouble. They were so blind to our interest and so selfish in regard to their own that they actually caused the break in our strike and are partly responsible for it, but these men who came were not wholly responsible for it, and this fact I want to firmly impress on your minds, that it is impossible to carry on a strike without solid financial support, and that is what we did not get. For three weeks we got little aid from the Locals, and the Grand Lodge was unable to give us any for the past four weeks. If we had enough money to send the men who were brought here away we might have met with different results, but not having this and our own members not receiving any support, we were compelled to surrender. However, we saved the Lodge, that is, the company agreed not to discriminate against any of us, and in course of a few months we hope to rest on a firmer basis than ever before.

Entirely too much antagonism prevails in our organization to be entirely successful. Let us undo this prejudice and work for the good we believe there is in it. "Do your best and rejoice with him who can do better." Carlyle says: "The wealth of a man is the number of things he loves and blesses, and by which he is loved and blessed." There is hardly a journal edited but what some brother or Local is knocking another; that is not true unionism. Our union is progressive. Yes, both progressive and slow. Slow because we have the mass to educate, and progressive because of their education. Many members in our organization belong simply because its a common fad, not because they feel the true spirit. In times of peace they are good members, but when trouble begins where are they? Such members want to be better educated.

Wishing to have this published in September Journal, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

B. F. EBLING, President.

REPORT OF M. M. HART, G. V. P.

On July 17 I received a telegram from Grand President Organizer John McNeil to meet him in New York. We talked over the situation of No. 171, of Brooklyn, and attended the meeting of Local 163, Hoboken, where we received a hearty welcome. The grievance of Lodge 171 was taken up by Lodge 163 and a meeting was arranged for July 22 in the meeting rooms of Lodge 163, and the grievance of Lodge 171 and the Grand Lodge was settled, which I will leave to the Grand President to report.

On July 23 we left for Bath, Maine, and met the brothers of Lodge 168. Well, it is certainly a pleasure to any member of our craft to meet the brothers of Lodge 168. There was a meeting on Saturday afternoon, with every brother in attendance. After listening to our G. P. O. on the conditions of the Brotherhood, Lodge 168 decided they would wait for some other time before they would make their demands. The reception given by the members of Lodge 168 will always be remembered by the G. P. O. and your humble servant.

We left on Sunday morning for Boston, and from Boston went to Quincy, Mass., where we attended a meeting of Lodge 214, which had a large attendance. After listening to the members of Lodge 214 and their grievances the matter was attended to, which will be reported later.

We left there on the 28th for Springfield, Mass., and met the ex-members of Lodge 218 and arranged a meeting and Lodge 218 was reinstated and new officers elected and installed.

We left Springfield on the 30th for Groton, Conn., where Lodge 262 has been locked out by the American Shipbuilding Company. The Grand President left me at Groton, as he wanted to get to Baltimore as soon as he could.

Mr. McNeil and myself arrived July 30, at 2 p. m. and were met by Mr. Ebling and Mr. Callan, chairman and secretary respectively of the grievance committee of the E. S. Co., who directed us to the hotel. After dinner, we went to the yard to ascertain conditions there, and were satisfied that the company had been unable to succeed to any extent in reopening the yards under the old conditions. The class of men who are there at present are of the lowest type of humanity, a class who are a menace to our civilization, and who can accomplish no results in this matter. Composed mostly of the lowest foreign element, they can do no harm, and the longer they stay the greater the company's expense. After this visit, we were shown about the town and viewed the various points of interest until supper time. In the evening Mr. McNeil addressed a meeting of No. 262 and was followed by myself. The remarks were received enthusiastically and a firm spirit of continued effort to achieve success was plainly visible. Mr. McNeil left for Baltimore Friday morning, leaving me in New London to offer what assistance I could. The situation here is good and ultimate victory is probable. I addressed an open meeting of the locked out men August 3, when it was unanimously voted by all the trades to continue the fight until victorious. I left there for Providence Wednesday morning.

Too much credit cannot be given Mr. Callan, of the machinists committee and Messrs. Ebling, Saunders and Lewis, strike committee of No. 262. They are making every effort to succeed in this fight and laboring night and day to keep men away from the yard and to collect and distribute financial aid.

I arrived in Providence on August 5 and attended the regular meeting of Lodge 172. It being a very wet night and many of the brothers having to work, there were not many present, and I had to promise them to return for a special meeting, which I did. I left Providence for Boston and attended the regular meeting of Lodge 9, also a wet night and a great many were absent. After being made welcome by the President of Lodge 9 and introduced, I explained to the members of Lodge 9 the conditions of the lodges in the different cities that myself and Brother McNeil had visited; also appealed to Lodge 9 to do all they could for the members of Lodge 262. I also informed the members of Lodge 9 that I was requested by the G. P. O. to audit their books, as the Grand Lodge had reason to believe that they had more members than they pay per capita tax on. The request was refused. I then returned to Providence to attend the special meeting of Lodge 172. The meeting was held in Jewelers' hall, not being able to get their regular hall. I wish to say that every member was present, and that everything looks favorable for Lodge 172 in that city and compares favorably with any in the country. The reception given me will always be remembered, and when it comes to entertaining Little Rhode Island is the equal of any other in the states. They have among them some old war horses: Jack McKenna; Hugh McCall; Jas H. Cook, President; A. McCool; M. J. Neary, R. S.; John Morgan, F. S., and John R. Kirby, C. S. On that same evening they made all arrangements for Labor Day, with cap, pants and coat, and intend to be first in line; also donated $25 to Lodge 262 and voted in favor of assessment.

Back to Brooklyn, receiving word to go to Lodge 308 Bridgeport; now in Bridgeport. Arranged a conference with Mr. Beach, president of the Pacific Iron Works. The members of Lodge 308 have been our for nine weeks for the nine hour day, and up to one week ago the shop was closed, until a man by the name of Brown came from Brooklyn to act as foreman.

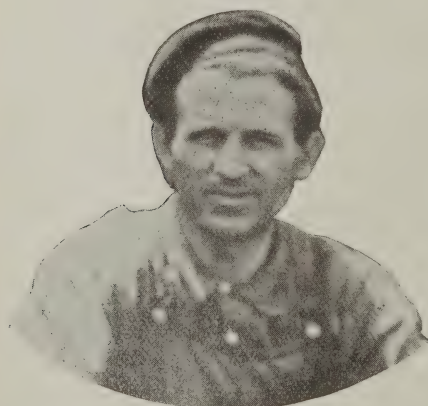

I wish to state that the foreman of the boilermakers, Mr. Hogan, after being seven years employed by the company, came out with the boilermakers. He would not remain after the company refused the demands of the men. Its too bad that we have not a great many foremen like Mr. Hogan, not a member, but always in sympathy with our Brotherhood and its members.

I remain respectfully yours,

M. M. HART, G. V. P.

P. S.—I expect to leave here to attend the meeting of Lodge 61 on Wednesday, August 19, as some of the brothers live in Bridgeport and work in New Haven and very much desire my presence.

LODGE 169.

It has been a long time since lodge 169 wrote an article for the Journal. The Dry Dock Shops and Yard are settled favorably to all. In regards to other shops they are willing to settle with, the exception of Brenen's and Co. With the exception of a few the brothers are steadfast. We have an ex-brother, by name, Edward Monette, better known as seven Finger Jack, that went back and scabbled two weeks after we were out. The first week out he complained of being in hard circumstances. Lodge 169 donated $10.00 out of the treasury and the brothers present put their hands in there pockets and donated $12.03 more. Grand Vice President Fox donating one dollar.

Lodge 293.

By instructions of Kickapoo Lodge No. 293, I will write this to you and wish you to have the same printed in Journal:

There are a few boilermakers coming this way without cards, and they get mad and give the boys and foreman some pretty hard names, and we don't like it. This is a card shop, and everybody having a card is all right and will be given the best help we can give them.

The offices of the Lodge are filled by brothers that are up-to-date in everything, and we would like to have the names changed in the Journal of our worthy President, Vice President and Corresponding Secretary. Our President's name is E. M. Dillon, Vice President's name is Joseph Perry, and corresponding secretary is myself.

The officers' addresses of Kickapoo Lodge, No. 293, that have been changed are as follows:

President—Brother E. M. Dillon, 114 North Louisa street.

Vice President—Brother Joseph Perry, 227 North Louisa street.

Corresponding Secretary—Brother W. S. Davis, 128 North Park street.

Fraternally.

W. S. DAVIS, C. S.

LODGE 203.

Just a few lines to let our worthy brothers know that our union, which is small in numbers, but good large hearts for unionism, is always striving to get our rights.

I am glad to say we have plenty of work at present and everything looks bright ahead.

We were all very glad to hear of our brothers winning in the U. P. strike, and we wish them much prosperity.

We are now getting ready for a big time on Labor Day, along with the other labor organizations of our city, so all we want now is a good sunny day and all will be merry as we march along waving our banner in the interest of fellowship and labor.

I am sorry to say we suffer like some of our brother lodges in having some members who seem to be in the union for just what they can get out of it, and they never attend a meeting to see how their lodge is getting along, but if a petition is about to be handed in for more wages or shorter hours, they are all able to get out every night and Sundays, too, if there are any meetings to be held. Now, I would like to see all our brothers take an interest in their lodge by attending the meetings and helping all they can and not leave it all to a few for to get the best results.

If you'd do your part
With a manly heart
In the van of the ranks of Right,
It would speed the day
When we'll win the fray
'Gainst the forces of greed and might.

Grand Junction, Colo., Aug. 15, 1903.—One of our brothers here, who is one of the aldermen of the city council of Grand Junction, has received a letter from Dewar's detective agency in St. Louis. Now, Brother Gilthorpe, I will write off a copy of this letter and send it to you, asking you to kindly publish it in our Journal, as three or four of our brothers of Lodge 335 have requested me to do so.

Yours respectfully,

N. J. FRENZER, C. S.

Copy of Thos. Dewar's Letter to One of Our Brothers.

Dewar's Detective Agency and Bureau of General Information, Room 208 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo. Thos. Dewar President. The best of references. Prepared to do all kind of legitimate detective work. Skilled agents sent to all points. Reliable correspondents in all civilized countries. Guides, guards, reliable messengers furnished.

City of Grand Junction—Owners of Grand Junction Street Railway, Grand Junction, Colo.

Dear Sir:—Should you desire the service of detectives, I would be pleased to furnish them for you, to join the various unions of your employes and keep your company informed as to their demands. I am in the strike breaking business and can furnish experienced motormen and conductors to run your cars and take the places of the strikers; men who will stay with the company regardless of union or strike; also detectives to check your conductors and keep your company informed as to the standing of the men. Please let me hear from you. My services are the best and rates reasonable.

Yours very truly,

THOS. DEWAR.

REPORT OF DOMINICK KANE, G. V. P.

My last report left me in Vancouver, British Columbia. Coming to Seattle, Wash., I found the Lodges in that vicinity making great progress towards a successful turnout at the Labor Carnival to be held in Seattle (something new in the history of trades unionism) for two weeks. Well, the Carnival started on the 27th of July, with every labor organization in the neighborhood in line, and with the possible exception of two or three larger bodies, the Boiler-makers and Iron Ship Builders, with their helpers, created the best appearance. Especially was this noticeable in the deportment of the members, not one man dropping out during a long and tedious march. Lodges 104 and 290, of Bremerton, with No. 67 Helpers' Division, deserve credit. The fact that the Navy Yard at Bremerton had to shut down that day will give the members at large an idea of the enthusiasm shown by our boys towards trades unionism in the Northwest Territory.

Having been ordered by the Executive Council to go to Denver, Colo., to try and organize that city and the Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western, I started August 1st, and arrived in Denver the morning of the 4th. Immediately after arrival I started going around the contract and railroad shops, along with Brother J. E. Johndohl, whom Lodge 179 had deputized to assist me and make me acquainted with the city. After a week we called a special meeting and initiated thirty new members. It is a pleasure working for Lodge 179. Each and every member assisted me in every way possible. I look to see Denver, Colo., in a position soon to put out the shingle, "No card, no work." Last night being their regular meeting we initiated fourteen more, with a very good prospect of getting every man who works at the trade shortly. There is every likelihood of getting the 9-hour day introduced, one firm having expressed their willingness to grant it. I had an interview with the owner of this plant, and his whole fear of his men joining our organization seemed to be that they would be called out on a sympathetic strike whenever the local lodge wished. Of course I explained to him that we as an organization did not believe in sympathetic strikes, if we could avoid them, but I advised him to have an agreement drawn up with his men and approved by the lodge which would insure him against any trouble during the life of such agreement, and I expect to hear that such is done before this is printed. Knowing that the Rio Grande and Rio Grande Western were soon to offer an agreement to the company, I deemed it my duty to start over the system and get everyone I could into line. Leaving Denver in a very satisfactory condition, I came to Pueblo to-day and have called a special meeting here to-morrow night. The time being up for reports to get printed in September Journal, I will have to draw mine to a close.

Yours fraternally,
D. KANE, 1st G. V. P.

NOTICE TO SHIP BUILDERS.

From information lately received, we find the impression seems to prevail in ship building centers that the Boiler Makers of the port of New York have withdrawn their opposition to the piece work system introduced on the battle ship Connecticut, now building in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. How or when that impression was given we are not aware of, but in the most emphatic way we wish it distinctly understood that we are unalterably opposed to the system, and the different lodges of this district voiced their sentiments by placing a fine of fifty ($50) dollars on any of their members who work that way. As a proof of the opposition to it, I will cite one instance: When the system was about to be inaugurated a paper from the constructor's office was circulated amongst the workmen for their signatures asking if they were satisfied to work piece work. Out of all the men approached they received the signature of six men, three blacksmiths, two drillers and one caulker. Notwithstanding the set back the officials decided to go ahead with it, and all cards sent out since that time are marked to work piece work. The men of this district, with very few exceptions, absolutely refuse to touch it, and although work has been at a standstill around here for the last three months owing to the building trades strike, the men with employment cards in their pockets prefer to walk the streets in preference to work that way. Our opposition heretofore has been passive, for the reason that we have had to deal only with the men of this district, but lately there has been quite a number come here from other sections, all claiming they were informed before coming here that everything was settled; so at the last meeting of Lodge No. 36 it was decided that we notify all lodges through this letter that our opposition to the system is as deep rooted to-day as it was the day they sent the paper through the yard for the men's signatures, and we think it only justice to the men who have sacrificed their jobs (and there has been close onto one hundred done so rather than work that way) that the different lodges take some action to keep their members away from here. We don't think it right that the government inaugurate a system that trade unionists of every craft is trying to abolish. We have spent time and money trying to get work in the government yards, but where is the benefit to come in if it is to be done on the same system that is observed in the private yards? No, our object in having work done in the government yards is that it be done in a fair way, and that we have the privilege of living like human beings and not be driven like cattle. We hope you will circulate this in your district so that hereafter no man will come here and say he was informed that everything was settled.

We remain, Yours fraternally,
L. 36.

LODGE 165.

Just a few lines, Mr. Editor, to inform the Brothers at large that No. 165 is still doing business. Our president, Chas. Clark, having left the city for his old home in Bay City, Thos. Cunningham was made president of No. 165, while Brother Ed Cooney was the choice for vice president. At a regular meeting Saturday evening, the 5th, it was decided to parade in Superior Labor Day along with No. 174; also Helpers' Division No. 61, so there will be quite a representation of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders, with helpers, in the parade, which is to be the banner one for Superior. Our foreman, A. Shanee, just returned from a month's sojourn in Mt. Clemens, Mich., for his health, which is much improved. Business still remains fair and when M. A. Ryan completes his large shop, which was destroyed by fire last spring, business will be booming. W. A. Callison & Co. are also erecting a new shop on Banks avenue, in Superior, and when completed will be quite an addition to the boiler business at the head of the lakes. The Great Northern Boiler Makers just received a raise of two cents per hour, also a schedule which is very good. I am,

Fraternally,
JAMES R. COLE.

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

SCHEDULE FOR BOILER MAKERS, JULY 16, 1903.

Rule 1. Any man who has served an apprenticeship or had four years varied experience at the boiler makers' trade, and who by his skill and experience is qualified capable of laying out, marking off, flanging, putting together, taking apart or setting up steam, air, oil or water tight work to lay out and build locomotive and stationary boilers, to cut out and apply patches, rivet, caulk and set flues in boilers and to cut and build ash pans, smoke flues, air chutes, etc., shall be considered a boiler maker, but the Shop Superintendent, Master Mechanic, General Foreman or Department Foreman shall be judge of competency.

Rule 2. Ten hours shall constitute a day's work, with the exception of Saturday, when the shops will close at 5 o'clock p. m., and boiler makers will be allowed full time for that day.

Rule 3. All time over the regular 10 hours working day, including Sundays and legal holidays, to-wit: New Years Day, Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Decoration Day, 4th of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas, shall be paid at the rate of time and one-half. All time after twelve o'clock, midnight, shall be paid at the rate of double time, except for night boiler makers, who will be allowed eleven hours' straight time for the hours on duty from 7 p. m. to 6 a. m., and time and one-half for Sundays and legal holidays.

Rule 4. No call at night shall be paid less than five hours, and the work done under night calls will be confined to running repairs or other emergency work.

Rule 5. Boiler makers sent out on the road will be allowed straight time, commencing at the time they are called and continuing until they return, with $1.00 per day additional for expenses, in accordance with present practice.

Rule 6. Before any general reduction of force is made the time will be reduced to at least eight hours per day five days per week, after which, should further reduction be necessary, the force should be reduced, and in reducing the force, married men and senior men, if proficient, will be given preference of employment.

Rule 7. The standard rate of pay of all boiler makers will be as follows:

Mandan and all points east thereof, 34½ cents per hour.

West of Mandan, to, but not including Ellensburg, 37 cents per hour.

Ellensburg and all points west thereof, 34½ cents per hour.

Rule 8. All flangers and men laying out work shall receive 1½ cents per hour more than the standard rate of pay, this rate to apply to any boiler maker occupying the place of a regular man more than six days. If less than six days, standard rate to apply.

Rule 9. Helpers, laborers and handy men shall not be advanced to the detriment of boiler makers or apprentices.

Rule 10. One apprentice shall be employed at every shop irrespective of number of boiler makers employed, and one additional apprentice to every five boiler makers; the number of apprentices being based on the average number of boiler makers employed annually, but the restriction as to number of apprentices shall not affect apprentices already employed.

Rule 11. Apprentices shall serve a term of four years on basis of 280 days per year, but overtime worked by apprentices shall not be counted as time served on apprenticeship; age limit will be from sixteen to twenty-one years; rate of pay $1.00 per day for the first year, $1.35 for second year, $1.60 for third year, $1.85 for fourth year. At the expiration of apprenticeship if company desires to retain an apprentice in its service, he will be paid the standard boiler makers' pay.

Rule 12. No boiler maker shall be discharged without just and sufficient cause, and will be given a clearance setting forth the cause of discharge. If, after investigation, it is found that the boiler maker has been unjustly discharged, he will be reinstated with full pay for all time lost, and investigation will be made within five days after discharged boiler maker has made request for same upon Shop Superintendent or Master Mechanic.

Rule 13. No discrimination will be made against any boiler maker on account of his serving on any boiler makers' committee.

Rule 14. When entering the employ of the company, boiler makers will be required to make out the usual employment application form. Shop Superintendents and Master Mechanics receiving applications from foreign roads for the personal record of boiler makers will forward the same to the Superintendent of Motive Power for prompt attention, and no personal record of a boiler maker will be furnished to any one except upon request of the boiler maker.

Rule 15. Boiler makers having grievances will first submit them through the Shop Superintendent or Master Mechanic, and if his decision is not satisfactory the grievances will be submitted to the Superintendent of Motive Power for his decision, and if his decision is not satisfactory, the grievances will be submitted to the General Manager for final decision. Requests for conference with the General Manager or Superintendent of Motive Power will be submitted through the Shop Superintendent or Master Mechanic, with a statement of the matter on which the conference is desired, and, if the conference is granted, leave of absence and transportation will be furnished a committee.

Rule 16. This schedule shall take effect July 16, 1903, and remain in effect until otherwise ordered, and a copy of same shall be posted in a prominent place in all boiler shops and roundhouses where boiler makers are employed on the Northern Pacific system.

ALONE IN MY OWN MEDITATION.

Mattoon, Ill., Aug 23rd, 1903.—This being Sunday, and a day that I usually adopt to keep up my correspondence with other lodges, and as lodge 224 has been trying from time to time to get something like a fair rate established on the Big Four R. R., and today I am duty bound to write several letters for this purpose. When I peruse the pages of the Journal and see the different rates and schedules as well, and all far superior to that of our own, it make one think these is something radically wrong. Could it be possible that I misconstrue the meaning of the word Unionism? Well, I must say that I do not pretend to be the smartest man that is working for the Big Four, but it does seem to me that so long as there is so many boiler makers that are in daily possession of an up-to-date card, that surely they would be ready to assist us in this great cause. I regret very much to appeal to the columns of the Journal in order to let you know that 224 wants your support. Now brothers, do not feel sore at me for inserting this in the Journal but when we write and get not a scratch of the pen in return, what is expected? We as members at this point do not pay our money into this order for the mere sake of exclaiming that we are card men. We do think that Unionism is a grand good cause, but if there be nothing to back up the cause then what will be the out come. Simply sit down and say boys we will wait, the machinists and blacksmiths are going to present a demand and whatever they get we will also. Well, I expect that would be a good motto for a lot of home guards, but let us not practice such in the year 1903. It is my desire to interest the brothers in this cause and if after appealing to you in this manner aside from writing you, then I will say that we give up the ghost and lay down and take what comes. Let us hear from some of you people down East. An oblige.

Yours fraternally,

C. S. 224.

LODGE 221.

I will try to write a few lines to let the brothers know that 221 still lives and as you all know we just went through a five months' strike, running from March 13, 1903 to August 13, 1903, and right here I want to say that we run those five months without ever having any circular appeals issued for assistance from other lodges, and, we feel proud of the fact that we did not have to as there are so many such appeals sent all over the country and while some are really necessary others possibly could be avoided. Now, as I stated, we returned to work August 13, and every man is to return and most of them have done so already, but what have not will do so in a few days. We received a 20 cents increase all around, boiler makers and helpers, and all are feeling pretty good but all matters are not entirely settled yet but we think will be in a short time. There are some things in connection with this, that we do not desire to write about at present but will later on. There has been several of the scabs that have resigned since we returned, but there are several in the shops yet, but recollect they do not associate with Union men in any way, neither in conversation or work as it is distinctly two gangs in this boiler shop. There was more men in the boiler shop when we returned than there ever was when we was working there, but their work did not compare with their numbers at all, as the shop is full of work and so is the round house and you might say the yard, as they have one on blocks out in the yard with other work going on outside. Hoping to see this in the next Journal along with scab list that was sent you previously, I will close until later on.

Yours fraternally,

PITTSBURG LODGE NO. 221.

LODGE 169.

Edward Monette was duly tried and found guilty and was fined $200.00 and shall not be reinstated until fine, assessments and dues are paid.

We also have a photograph of Monette that we would like published in our next Journal.

 LODGE 194.

Last month I wrote a letter advocating an increase in the per capita tax so as to place this brotherhood on a sound financial footing and do away with the assessments which under our present system, are an actual necessity. In the latter part of my letter, I referred to the necessity of making some arrangement whereby every lodge might be enabled to send delegates to our conventions without stripping the local lodges of their funds, which, at present, owing to the great cost, would necessarily occur, and I intend to show the members of this brotherhood a very simple method of meeting said expenses and insure the attendance of a delegate from every local lodge without it costing the local one cent from their funds.

Every one who I have spoken to admires the holding of a convention every year is drain on our funds and a waste of money besides this and the most important is alterations, made in our constitution these conventions making our constitution and rules an ever bewildering maze to those who have the enforcing of them, so that taking it for granted that most secretaries of unions have found this their experience, I would suggest that the conventions should take place every three years, which is often enough, other unions find it so, and why not this. That being the case, I propose the per capita to the grand lodge be raised to 75 cents—60 cents to be devoted to the grand lodge as per capita and 15 cents to be deposited by the grand secretary-treasurer to be placed in a fund called the convention fund, out of which every delegate's expenses legitimately incurred, shall be paid. This fund will afford to pay the delegates $3.00 per day from the time they leave their city until they return and their railway fare by the shortest route. This plan is adopted by the International Barbers' Union and they find it works well, and why not this union? At the present time not half the local lodges are represented at our conventions because as I said before, the expense is too great for them to bear. The benefit the brotherhood will receive by the attendance of these other delegates cannot be estimated, but we feel sure it will give this union such an impetus as it never had before. Most of our Western lodges have not sent delegates, and many Eastern lodges also, who find the distance and expense too great. The raising of per capita tax will do away with all these excuses; it will place sufficient funds in the exchequer of this brotherhood to meet all demands. Those of our brothers who have come from the old country will know the dues paid by them is nearly two dollars and twenty-five cents per month. Surely we have as much desire to make this union as successful as that. It is our absolute duty to raise the standard of this brotherhood financially, nearly every member of this order is benefited financially by belonging to this union. Most of us are receiving from $12 to $25 per month more, through the union we belong to. Can we not spare $1 at least for dues per month to help place this brotherhood on such a financial footing that it may be a still stronger factor in the future in helping us maintain the present standard, and improve it if we can. I claim the union is the best insurance company we can belong to. I don't know of an insurance company who will guarantee for $1 per month to increase your wages at least $12. As your union has complished this for you why then should you be nigglerly disposed toward it. Let rally to the cry, "My union, first, last and the time," the best we can make it. This must be the aim of every member of it. Therefore brothers if local 194 should succeed in getting the executive to place some alterations of our constitution before you to vote upon, I hope you will do so with the idea in view, the bettering of your union and make it a unanimous vote in favor as your union did when I placed the amendment before it. I am yours fraternally,

J. H. WATSON,
Corresponding Secretary.

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER.

The Labor Commission's Report.

Editor Journal:

Ottawa, Aug. 21.—The report of the Royal Labor Commission appointed to investigate the industrial trouble in British Columbia, has been published regarding the strike on the Canadian Pacific Railway, which commenced at Vancouver.

It is shown that the United Brotherhood of Railway Employees is a secret society, founded together with a strong oath, with headquarters in San Francisco. It is different from a regular trade union and almost entirely under the control of the foreign executive. The chief organizer of the Brotherhood in Canada, the report says, sold his services to the Railway Company, along with confidential letters received from the President of the order, and acted as one of the Company's secret service officials, while still the head of the order in Canada.

The report shows that attempts were made to tie up the Canadian Pacific Railway steamship service and to stop the supply of coal and bring about a gigantic boycott in connection with the products of all concerned which in any way might affect the C. P. R.

The report deals fully with the treatment of non-union men and scabs in reference to the strikes in the coal mines. The report says that the strike at Ladysmith was caused by intrigue, whereby the Western Federation of Miners, in an effort to assist the Brotherhood of Railway Employees on the C. P. R., sought to tie up the Dunsmuir mining properties on Vancouver Island, which were at the time supplying the C. P. R. with coal.

Reference is made to the arbitrary dealing of the Wellington Colliery Company with its employees.

The report shows that the Western Federation in connection with the strike at Union, was ready to organize the Japanese and Chinese laborers, and that the chief did not respect his oath, as it should have been respected, in giving evidence before the Commission.

The Commissioners, in regard to International organizations, say that if Parliament would declare that notwithstanding everything in the rules of the International bodies an agreement between an employer and his employees would be binding, the most formidable objection to these bodies would be removed.

The report recommends that organizations in Canada which are controlled by the "decrees of a street council" at Denver should be declared illegal. The American Labor Union, the Western Federation of Miners and the United Brotherhood of Railway Employees are said to belong to that class, and are "secret political organizations."

THEY KNOW HIM.

D. M. Parry, the notorious union hater, gets a hand-out from Editor Sexton, of Indianapolis, Parry's home.

His name is not numbered among those who lead in educational or philanthropic work.

He has no prominence in religious or political movements.

He dare not aspire even to the position of ward councilman or school director.

People on charitable missions molest not Parry.

Movements seeking to beautify or develop his home city look in vain for aid from him.

No gathering of his fellow citizens is addressed by him.

He is not called upon to welcome the coming or speed the parting guest.

His wealth attracts a few snobs and cringing sycophants, who "crook the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift may follow fawning."

Outside of his immediate family he has not a sincere friend or well wisher in the town.

Even Senator Beveridge, who acted as his tool in defeating the eight-hour law and anti-injunction law, will not consort with him in public.

His presence seems to be a blight to human happiness.

He is pointed out as "the meanest man employing labor in the city."

His reputation is that of a man with a flint face and a hardened heart.—Topeka Labor Champion.

DISCIPLINE AND GOOD GOVERNMENT.

Labor organizations, like nations, become great by reason of laws made for the guidance and betterment of all classes. There never was a law formulated that did not meet with opposition from some source—in fact never will meet with unanimous approval, but the essence of all law being justice to the great majority, should be acquiesced in by those who opposed the enactment. Without this feature being carried out, there is no guaranteeing any respect for any law that the majority may approve and enact. Possibly the persons not satisfied with the enactment of one law today, may for prudent reasons object to repealing the same law tomorrow. While it is true the majority is not always right, yet the majority can be trusted. The better discipline the better citizens which in turn betters the community. The best and easiest way leading to the repeal of a bad law is to strictly enforce it, as by doing so, the defects and the injustice of it are better seen, consequently the majority can be looked to for the remedy. But even while a bad law is on the statute book, no one is justified in violating it, openly or privately, as that course is only followed out by traitors and they lose all respect of law abiding people. Discipline should be carried out under all circumstances, taking good care to punish all offenders as the only stability in laws are when the provisions of them are carried out. By doing so the weak are protected, the strong are supported. Under the laws every person has redress, until all lawful means are tried, and then in very rare cases none are justified in any endeavor to violate its provisions. The only legitimate way to abrogate or oppose the laws is to advocate the repeal of them in a manly and open way, then discipline is established in a lawful way which always brings honor and credit to its devotee. As the world has always and still abhors the midnight manipulator of all decency, and honor, it matters not what society claims our fealty, while holding membership in one honor compels us to live up to its rules. Certainly a person cannot claim membership in any organization while doing his best to overthrow it. Discipline strikes at the root of all disorders. It gently reminds us of our fealty and admonishes us that our downfall is near when we depart from honor's laws. It surely points out to all the absolute necessity of being true to sacred obligations until we feel, that we cannot abide by them. Then we are in honor bound to ask release from all ties, under pain of being branded as dishonorable. Labor organizations especially should demand that the persons in charge should command the respect of their fellows, and also of the community in which they live. In fact honor should be the first requisite. A labor leader without honor is the forerunner of all calamities that ever overtook a nation whose actions were bad. No honorable labor leader will ever countenance a departure from the rules; no honorable union man will permit it, if he can prevent it. Without honor there cannot be discipline. The obligation of a union man is just as sacred as an oath in any court. When a union man advocates disunion he is guilty of perjury, according to the definition of that term, equally so, as swearing falsely in a court of justice. The crime is the same in honor.

Therefore having discipline understood in all its varieties and with honor in all departments it follows that good government will be the result.

Notwithstanding the fact, that during the conventions of the A. F. of L. and in Washington, D. C., and still further, by amendment to A. F. of L. constitution, the latter compels the officials of that body to refuse a charter to any craft until the national organization closely allied to the applicant had passed on the request and given sanction to same. This brotherhood has had control of all branches of our craft, but the A. F. of L. steps in regardless of law and agreements, issues charters to holder ones

Drillers and Tappers, all over the project of this Brotherhood. We being affiliated with the A. F. of L. since 1886, and now to refuse our federated rights, places us in position, that there is nothing left but to withdraw, as we cannot afford for the A. F. of L. or any other body to launch a dual organization of this craft, and think we must submit. The A. F. of L. becomes an enemy to this organization and to the principle of organized labor stands for, which is unity. When the A. F. of L. makes two, there one only should be, unity is not there. We have it in black and white over Mr. Morrison's signature, that when we were by all Federal Labor Unions of Holders and Helpers would be transferred to us. It is true, several have been transferred under this agreement. This very fact makes appear so ridiculous at this date for the A. F. of L. to charter Holders-ons over our test, and against their own acts agreed and partly carried out by them.

It is not very pleasant to contemplate, after an affiliation of seventeen years with the A. F. of L. that we are compelled to go it alone, but such is the inevitable promised by the A. F. of L. The only alternative left is to accept the unjust conditions proposed and make the best of a bad bargain. It will be in order now, or at least we are notified from headquarters, to refuse recognition to any cards only those issued by the locals of this brotherhood, as this has been carried to us, which we must accept, because we done all we could to avert this crisis, could not possibly have accomplished any more. When the great organization of the A. F. of L. sets the example of disruption in this craft by making local issuing charters independently to the locals of this trade, we submit, but our interests and self-respect forces us to withdraw. This withdrawal depends on the answer from Mr. Gompers and his executive council to Brother McNeil's ultimatum, that the charters issued by the A. F. of L. to the locals of this trade be revoked, or this brotherhood's charter be revoked. The ultimatum proposed by our delegate at the New Orleans convention of the A. F. of L. which was carried, and now a law. "Prohibits the A. F. of L. from issuing charters to any National, International Trade, or Federal Labor Union, without a positive and clear definition of the Trade Jurisdiction claimed by the applicant, and the charter shall not be granted if the jurisdiction claimed is a trespass on the jurisdiction of existing affiliated unions, without the written consent of such unions." Well, we never consented, but did protest against issuing those charters. Many of them were issued without our knowledge, so it is plain above law, Art. 9, Sec. 11, is not binding on the executive council of the A. F. of L.

It will be noticed in the roster that Locals Nos. 171 and 218, are again in their old place, this reconciliation has been accomplished by a personal visit of Brother McNeil to both lodges. Sister lodges and members will govern themselves accordingly.

The call for a vote on assessment was mailed July 15 and 16, 1903, to all lodges then on books by order of the executive council. More than half the lodges have voted, with the yeas having a good majority. The question to be considered, in an emergency such as requires an assessment to be levied to keep craftsmen supplied with the necessities of life while fighting for their rights and at the same time for the benefit of all our members, would it not be more to the honor and credit of our craftsmen to take action immediately, or at the furthest, the first regular meeting after the call was received?

We have an immense number of lodges, it is true, but the workings of one is alike in the other, and the rights of the brothers on strike is of as much moment to the lodges and members that are not on strike, in a business way, as a win for the brothers on strike is a leader for those who have reforms to gain. It gives us prestige and encouragement, or even a win by a different craft is an incentive given to this order and a prestige to all organized labor, so it is evident that our first duty should be to the brothers who happen to be on strike and to be alive to the importance of this question would, we believe, cause every lodge in the order to take immediate action in such a cause. Although this call was mailed on the 15th and 16th of July, we have recorded in this office 116 lodges that voted before the end of July, yet we have something like one hundred lodges that have not voted on August 28th. The idea is this: The proposition is so fair to look at that we believe every lodge in the brotherhood would have plenty of time to have their votes recorded in this office by the 15th of August, if they so desired, and show their brotherly love to the brothers on strike.

You can all rest assured that this call was forced upon the council from the great number of lodges that had received sanction at the time we were financially able to meet them, but the length of the strikes is what caused this diminution of our resources.

Now it must be understood by the members that Boiler Makers, Ship Builders and Helpers throughout this whole country are identified in this call, but there are some who take exceptions to the wording of every call that goes out, which we do not think is fair, because the largest letters on the call, has it Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders, consequently we are recognized the world over on that head, and hope that those little petty technicalities will be overlooked and charity prevail in the hearts of all, and especially for our brother craftsmen who are on strike.

Those lodges that have not voted will kindly vote as quickly as possible one way or the other, as it is going to be a record vote and you might as well make a good one while you are at it.

DEMANDS AND RESULTS.

Lodges 3 and 244, won in a few days thirty-six cents per hour, on the C. M. & St. Paul R. R., 48 men. Lodge No. 7 are out since the 1st of June, for eight hours and fifty cents per hour in Buffalo against the firm of Riter & Connelly of Pittsburg, Pa., twenty-one men were involved, this date sixteen men involved. Still pending.

Lodge 20, Cleveland, O., and Lodge 95 H. D., are out since July 13, 1903, against the Globe ship yard, for nine hours and an increase of wages; 124 men involved; still pending.

Lodge 81, Springfield, Ill., against the Springfield Boiler Works of same city, for a nine-hour day and increase of wages; ninety-four men involved; still pending.

Lodge 105, Cincinnati, O., against R. Jones & Co., Tudor Steam Boiler Co., McIlvain & Speigle, for an increase of wages; nineteen men involved; all conceded, but the Tudor works, which is still pending.

Lodge 78, Helpers' Division of Cincinnati, O., went out with the Boiler Makers, and won without benefits in two shops; still pending in Tudor's shop; twelve men involved.

Lodge 107, Milwaukee, Wis., against all contract shops for the nine-hour day and $2.75 for same. Successful in all but three; thirty-two men involved; fight is still on in three shops.

Lodge 154, Pittsburg, Pa., against the manufacturers for new scale of wages and shop rules. Inside and outside men. Outside men, ninety-five in number, went out May 1. Inside men went out June 1; seventy-eight men involved; settled July 16, 1903, by compromise.

Lodge 156, Oil City, Pa., against the Oil City Boiler Works, for time and one-half on repair work overtime, and against the introduction of cheap labor; thirty men involved; still pending.

Lodge 166, Wyandotte, Mich., against the Detroit Ship Building Co., for nine hours and 10 per cent increase in wages and double time for all overtime, Sundays and holidays. These demands were settled without necessity of going out. Lodge No. 166 wins the nine-hour day and 10 per cent increase of wages without any trouble.

Lodge No. 169, of Detroit, Mich., against the Detroit Ship Building Company and contract shops in the city, for nine hours and 30c per hour; 111 men involved, nineteen non-union men; this strike was settled by compromise August 20. That is the best they could get out of it, being on strike since June 8. Lodge No. 72, Helpers' Division, the same city, with sixty-one men involved were also involved in this trouble, but maintain the nine hours at a sacrifice of wages which every one hopes will be able to increase in the near future.

Lodge No. 173, West Bay City, Mich., made demands against the American Ship Building Company for nine-hour day with no reduction in pay; 139 men involved. After being on strike since July 8, it was settled by the increase of pay being granted August 24; while Lodge No. 90, Helpers' Division, of the same city, made the same demand, with 412 men involved; settled on the same basis on same date.

Lodge No. 184, Titusville, Pa., made demands against the Titusville Iron Works Company, for an increase of wages; twenty-nine men involved; strike is still pending.

Lodge No. 190, Lorain, O., made a demand for nine-hour day with no reduction in pay against the American Ship Building Company; strike was settled by compromise fifty-four men involved before it became necessary to go out.

Lodge No. 195, Kewanee, Ill., against Kewanee Boiler Company, for nine-hour day and ten hours' pay. These demands were conceded to at a conference held between G. P. O. and the Company and a committee of Lodge No. 195.

Lodge No. 221, Pittsburg, Kans., made a demand against the Kansas City Southern R. R. Co., also Lodges No. 328 and No. 340, forty men involved, and was settled August 11, receiving an increase of wages and better conditions.

Lodge No. 254, Chicago Heights, Ill., made a demand for 40c per hour; eleven men involved. Strike was settled on a compromise of 36c per hour.

Lodge No. 262, Groton, Conn., in company with No. 36, Helpers' Division of the same city, made demands against the East Ship Building Co., and were locked out. They wanted fifty-four hours per week went out on the 11th of June. Strike was settled by the men going back to work August 20.

Lodge No. 308, Bridgeport, Conn., made demands on the contract shops for a nine-hour day and ten hours' pay; fifteen men involved; strike is still pending; no concessions made on either side yet.

Lodge No. 313, Brooklyn, N. Y., made demands for nine-hour day, uniform rates of wages and shop rules. Went out May 1, strike settled in the men's favor June twenty-seven men involved.

Lodge No. 342, Columbiana, O., made a demand against the Porter Iron Co., for increase in wages. Men went out April 22, and are still fighting for their rights; nine members involved.

Lodge No. 232, San Bernardino, Cal., made a demand against Santa Fe R. R. Co., and also all the Boiler Makers' and Helpers' lodges on the Western Division, for an increase of wages and shop rules. Conference is promised in the near future to the company.

Lodge No. 22, Danville, Ill., made demands against the C. & E. I. Division of the 'Frisco system for a nine-hour day, 36c per hour.

Lodge No. 85, Toledo, O., made a demand against the boiler manufacturers of Toledo for a nine-hour day and an increase of wages to $2.90 per day, time and one-half for overtime on old work, and regulation of apprentices.

Lodge No. 32, Helpers' Division, Oelwein, Ia., made a demand against the Chicago Great Western R. R. Co., for an increase of wages of 2½c per hour. Strike compromised favorable to the men.

Lodge No. 76, Helpers' Division, San Bernardino, Cal., have made a demand against the Southern California R. R. Co., for an increase of wages, establishing shop rules, governing helpers' work; conference pending.

Lodge No. 302, Milwaukee, Wis., has made a demand against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R. Co., for an increase of wages, establishing shop rules; demands still pending.

Lodge No. 164, Bradford, Pa., has made a demand against the B. & S. Manufacturing Co., to stop handymen and helpers doing boiler makers' work; demands pending.

Stationery has been procured for all needs and blanks mailed to all lodges, so as to facilitate business. Corresponding Secretaries will use supply blanks when ordering goods; roster blanks when changing officers or meeting time or place; pedigree blanks when desiring register numbers; strike roll blanks when strike takes place and every week thereafter.

Grand President's

Official Communications and Decisions.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:—This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of THE JOURNAL by the Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

Before making my report for July and August, I desire to call your attention to the amount of trouble now on hand, and the advisability of keeping down agitation wherever possible. At present we have nine lodges of boilermakers on strike, and three lodges of helpers. There are six lodges of boilermakers and two lodges of helpers that have lately settled with their employers, which we owe from one to four weeks' strike benefit. Those on strike have not received their benefits for the last four weeks. Such conditions should not be allowed to exist in our brotherhood, and would not if our members would pay an honest per capita. The present income of the Grand Lodge is inadequate to meet the expenses of the brotherhood, and until our income is materially increased it will always become necessary to call for assessments. In order to meet our responsibilities to the members we were compelled to take advantage of the constitution, which empowers the Executive Council to submit a proposition for an assessment to all the lodges. In complying with Art. 9, Sec. 2, we have received 182 favorable and 136 unfavorable votes on the assessment. Therefore as 182 lodges is the majority of all lodges in good standing, the assessment of $2.00 on each boilermaker and $1.00 on each helper becomes legal and will be enforced and will be collected. All lodges will be charged up with the amount according to the number of members they reported on. It is expected all lodges will make a special effort to pay this assessment, because of the number of members we have on strike. We also expect all lodges to have the assessment paid by the end of the third quarter.

In looking over the unfavorable vote I find lodges that have received from one to five thousand dollars in the last twelve months as strike benefits, which is very inconsistent and shows their unionism is a sham. They take no interest in the organization at large and are not union men, because they love to be such, but because they have to. Such men are the first to say the organization is no good and create all kinds of reports if their strike benefits are one day late. Yet they will vote no on the assessment to pay others. Let us hope that class of men don't predominate in all the lodges that have voted no.

I also desire to call your attention to a class of men amongst us who seem to make it a study to turn up in towns where we have trouble, claiming they heard the strike was settled or some other excuse. Then they want money to carry them out of town. My advice would be to make them leave town by the route they came in on; if they don't leave, ride them out of town on a rail, as they are imposters and no good for God, man or the devil.

In giving my report I do not think it is necessary to go into detail, therefore, I will just give you a short synopsis of the work I have been doing.

June the 17th I was called out of the office to go to Chicago and hold a conference with Mr. Brown, President of the American Shipbuilding Company of the Great Lakes. My object in meeting that gentleman was to try and arrange matters whereby we could prevent a strike on the various shipyards on the Lakes that had made a demand for the nine hour day. As Brother Fox has charge of the Great Lakes, I summoned him to Chicago in order to be present at the interview with Mr. Brown, and in our interview, he (Mr. Brown) gave us to understand, although he was President of the American Shipbuilding Company, he desired to allow the officials of the various yards to make arrangements as to the number of hours they should work and the rate of pay they intended to pay their men. He (Mr. Brown) requested us (Brother Fox and your humble servant) to visit all the shipyards on the Great Lakes and interview the various officials, which we did. I am pleased to say that we were successful beyond our expectations in Wyandotte, but in Cleveland, Lorain and Superior we did not make a very good impression on the officials, because they claim that our men are in the minority in the shipyards and the majority of them work piecework, consequently, they do not work nine hours a day at the present time, and all the other crafts in those three yards had proclaimed their willingness of working the ten hour day in the winter and fifty-five hours in the summer, with a half a holiday on Saturdays, consequently, our men in those yards were compelled to submit to the proposition of the company through same being accepted by other crafts.

While in Chicago we did a quite a lot of hustling around the city and were successful in securing for the men in Hammond, Ind., a handsome increase in wages. The rate there now is  $37\frac{1}{2}$  cents per hour for the boilermakers and  $42\frac{1}{2}$  cents for the flangers.

Chicago Heights being a direct competitor with the company in Harvey, we made the same demand of the Chicago Heights Company, but we hadn't the same class of men to support us in our demand, consequently, we were compelled to accept of a compromise from that company of 36 cents per hour. There was trouble in that shop before through the company refusing employment to one of our men, who was laid off, because, as the superintendent stated, he was too aggressive, or in other words, too good a union man. Not desiring to create any trouble, we allowed the men to go to work at the 36 cents per hour, and the brother who was victimized would not go back to that job under any condition.

When through in Chicago, we went to Racine and the conditions there are not very creditable to Lodge 177, however, we expect to make quite an improvement in that town when we dispose of some of the trouble now on hand.

From Racine we went to Detroit and spent a few days there with the boys who are on strike and the conditions in Detroit are not very creditable, but the men who are there are good fighters, but they are seriously handicapped by being so close to the Borders. The rate of wages is only  $27\frac{1}{2}$  cents per hour and working ten hours. They made a demand for nine hours and 20 per cent increase of wages, and no doubt would have been successful had the helpers remained out, but as we were not in a position to give the helpers the support they expected, they returned to work after being out a little over two months. The majority of the boilermakers have left Detroit and it is expected that all boilermakers will keep clear of Detroit and show the manufacturers there that if they desire to have boilermakers they must pay the prevailing rate of wages.

From Detroit we went to Cleveland and held several meetings there and did everything to try to have the company grant the men the nine hour day, but as they maintain our craft are only a small portion of the men working in the yards, they refused to grant the nine hour day, consequently, our men are out and we hope all shipbuilders will keep clear of Cleveland.

On my way to New York I stopped over in Buffalo and talked matters over with the boys there, who seemed to be getting along all right, only a little trouble with the furnace work being erected by Ritter & Conley, of Pittsburg. On my arrival in New York, I called on the members of Lodge No. 163, who had requested me to come there to try and straighten matters out with Lodge No. 171. We called a meeting of all the lodges in the district in Hoboken and heard the opinions of the various representatives regarding the trouble in the district, and, after looking the matter all over, I decided that the best way out of the matter was to reinstate Lodge No. 171 and call all things square, because, according to the statements given by the representatives of Lodge No. 171, they had complied with the rulings of the Council, but the true state of affairs was misrepresented to the Grand Lodge; therefore I reinstated Lodge No. 171, and they are now in good standing, and no doubt will in the future, as they have in the past, give a good account of themselves.

When through in New York I went to Bath, Me. My object in doing so was to try and prevent the men from making a demand for the nine hour day until a more opportune time would present itself. We held a meeting in Bath, Me., and talked the matter over with the boys and they have decided to be guided by the Executive Board on the matter and will not make any move until directed to do so by the Executive Board. To say the boys received me well, would be only putting it very mild. They are a whole souled lot of good fellows, who will always extend the hand of fellowship to a member coming along with a good card.

When through in Bath, Me., my next stopping place was Quincy, Ill., where our men seemed to have terrible conditions to contend with. There is a system established in that shop among the fitters that is practically cutting the wages in two. It is what is known as the contract system. Every man puts in a bid for a job, and the lowest man generally secures same, but he may be the lowest on the one job, but the next job somebody else will be below him, consequently it is dog eat dog. In order to help themselves along in that policy the company has imported a number of men from the Old Country, and they have entered into the contract system cheerfully and unfortunately some of them try to regulate the prices in this country with the prices on the other side, not taking into consideration the enormous amount of expense it is to live in this country compared with England. Something must be done, and that very soon, or our men will be forced out of the shipyards in Quincy.

When through in Quincy, Ill., I went to Springfield, Ill., and there, in company with Brother Hart we reinstated Lodge No. 218. The trouble there was caused through the lodge refusing to comply with the ruling the Council had made on a member who had a clear card, yet the boys in Springfield refused to let him work. He appealed his case to the Council and the Council allowed him to go to work, which the lodge refused to do, consequently their charter was revoked, but as conditions were coming from bad to worse through the lodge being suspended, I thought it advisable to do something in the matter and called there to reinstate the lodge, so everything is all right in Springfield.

When through in Springfield, Ill., I went to Groton, Conn., where our men were on a strike for the nine hour day, but unfortunately for them, as well as us, there was an element of men around Groton at that time who are no good for themselves or the Brotherhood, and men who never think of hold-Gal 16—Boilermakers

Johnston ing a good card. They were creating all the trouble possible for the men because they were not receiving strike benefits, and through this class of men going to work our men were compelled to give up the fight, and they returned to work under the conditions offered by the company.

From Groton I went to Baltimore, Md.,

and attended a meeting there of the three lodges and the Advisory Board. The improvement in Baltimore is something remarkable. It goes to show the advisability of having conservative men at the head of the organization. Brother Crawford has made a vast improvement in Baltimore, and anyone going that way without a card will find it very interesting in the Monumental City. Brother Crawford has become very much interested in the welfare of the ship builders in the country, which we all should be, but, unfortunately, we have not the time, and as several of the ship owners who desire to see some laws passed that will enable them to build their ships in this country and compete successfully with the foreigners have requested us to have one of our members take the matter up and devote as much of his time as possible to the interest of the ship building, I have selected Brother Crawford as the man for that office. He is going to write up circulars on the matter and issue them to all lodges so that we can have the boiler makers interested all over the country in trying to have some legislation passed that will enable the ship owners of this country to have their boats built by American mechanics, of American material, and sailed by American seamen.

We hope that any literature received by the lodges will be carefully perused and action taken on same.

When through in Baltimore I was compelled to make right for Kansas City, as I had engagements to meet the officials of the Kansas Southern Railroad company, where our men were out on strike for six months. Immediately on arriving in the office we took the matter up, in company with Brother Giltorpe, a committee from Pittsburg, Kas., and Sherveport, La., and we were successful in settling the strike on the Kansas Southern railroad satisfactorily. The men were given a substantial increase in wages and all men went back to their respective positions. Since that I have been in the office, and have received calls from several lodges, some of them in the nature of a demand. They must think that the G. P. O. has nothing to do but jump up and run. While I am willing at all times to go where my services can be of any benefit to the Brotherhood, several calls have been made that are quite unnecessary.

In the future any lodge making a call for the G. P. O. will be kind enough to state specifically the business they require him to attend to and also comply with the constitution, Article 15, Section 11.

KEEP BACK.

All boilermakers are requested to keep away from Lodge 216, Cleburne, Texas. The company in Cleburne, through their assistant foreman in the boiler shop insist on working cheap labor on our work, and conditions became such that the members of 216 quit work in a body and placed an embargo on the shops of the G. C. & Santa Fe in Cleburne. So keep back.

Yours fraternally,

John McNeil

Copy Agreement New York Metal Trades Association with District Lodge No. 2 of Brotherhood Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders.

Memorandum of Agreement, made this 1st day of May, 1903, between the New York Metal Trades Association, represented by Wallace Downey, N. F. Palmer, Andrew Fletcher, Jr., Christopher Cunningham, and George Fox, and District Lodge No. 2 of the Seaboard of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America, represented by T. R. Foy, W. F. Cochran, J. Kay, J. Woodside and T. R. Devlin, and F. J. McKay and D. A. Malloy.

Witnesseth: That the custom prevailing in regard to hours of work in the several plants of the members of the New York Metal Trades Association shall be continued.

That boiler makers, riveters, chippers and caulkers shall receive $3 per day, and flange turners, anglesmiths, layers-out and fitters-up shall receive five per cent. advance.

That all overtime remains as at present, and overtime shall be dispensed with as far as possible.

Only straight time will be allowed for time worked on Saturday afternoon; but half holiday on Saturday afternoon without pay may be granted by arrangement between the employer and workmen.

When any workman is discharged or laid off, he shall be paid without unreasonable delay.

When a workman leaves the service of an employer of his own accord, he will receive the pay due him at the next regular pay day.

There shall be no restriction or discrimination on the part of workmen as to the handling of any materials entering into the construction of the work upon which they are employed.

There shall be no limitation placed upon the amount of work to be performed by any workman during working hours.

There shall be no restriction as to the use of machinery or tools, or as to the number of men employed in the operation of the same.

There shall be no restriction whatever as to the employment of foremen.

There shall be no sympathetic strikes called on account of Trades' disputes.

No person other than those authorized by the employer shall interfere with workmen during working hours.

The employer may employ or discharge, through his representative, any workman as he may see fit; but no workman is to be discriminated against on account of his connection with a labor organization.

Necessary car fares and ferriages shall be paid to workmen when they are sent from plants to jobs.

In cases where misunderstandings or disputes arise between the employer and workmen the matter in question shall be submitted to arbitration without strikes, lock-outs or the stoppage of work pending the decision of the arbitration.

Each member of the New York Metal Trades Association affected by this agreement shall be held individually only for the performance of the same, and his or its violation of this agreement shall subject each member to expulsion from the Association.

The above rules and regulations to continue for one year from May 1, 1903.

In consideration of the strike at the yard of the Townsend-Downey Shipbuilding Company being declared off immediately, this Company agrees to conform to the hours of work prevailing in other yards of the members of the New York Metal Trades Association.

In Witness Whereof, the parties to this agreement have signed the same, in duplicate, the day and year first above written.

LODGE 377.

As this is my first attempt at Journal corresponding, please overlook mistakes and give this a place.

Lodge 377 is nearly two months old, but certainly is up-to-date, as everything is running smoothly since our organization. We are getting 33 cents per hour, thanks to our committee and organization. We also wish to thank Mr. Fitzgibbons, our general foreman, and Mr. Levy, our master mechanic, for the agreeable manner in which they received our committee.

TO SUB LODGES OF DISTRICT LODGE NO. 4.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23rd, 1903.—Greeting:
We, your officers and delegates now assembled, do submit the following report in regards to conditions on U. P. system:

After careful investigation, we have found that the company is doing all in their power to retain the non-union men regardless of their ability as mechanics, furthermore, the foremen are trying to induce the men to work piecework, and we firmly believe that the company does not intend to live up to the spirit of the agreement, and that their intention is to introduce the piecework system if possible; therefore, we would recommend that each lodge would request the sanction of our executive council and in case the Union Pacific Company does not abolish piecework in its entirety on boiler-work, that we be allowed to strike until the company does abolish piecework. We further recommend, that as the agreement reads that "At the end of four months it shall be decided between President District Lodge No. 4 and President U. P. R. R. whether piecework shall be abolished or not, and if they cannot agree, matter to be left to Grand President, President District Lodge No. 6 and Mr. Harriman," that the District President be instructed to notify President U. P. R. R. that we insist on piecework being abolished and if matter is not settled to our satisfaction that it be referred to Grand President and President District No. 6, with the understanding that they must insist the piecework be abolished, and if Grand President and President District No. 6 cannot get this settlement with Mr. Harriman, that we be allowed to strike; and that we further insist that matter be settled no later than the 28th day of October, 1903.

Respectfully submitted,

E. F. KENNEDY, Pres.

LODGE 389.

Sour Lake, Tex.—F. F. Sherman, Grove Coons, A. McCormick and N. Brown put this and that together one evening, and the result is that Lodge No. 389 held its first meeting on Friday evening, August 21st, with fourteen charter members present. After the adjournment of the meeting a smoker was held, in which several of the members distinguished themselves as entertainers. Dancing, recitations, songs and good cheer was the order of the evening, and delight and enjoyment reigned supreme. Refreshments in the line of Budweiser, "The Beer that made Milwaukee Famous," and several boxes of cigars were on tap.

The opening address of the smoker was delivered by Bro. F. F. Sherman, who spoke at some length on the benefits of unionism to the working classes. His remarks were listened to attentively and appreciated by the members.

Brother Richard's rendition of "Excelsior" made a great hit, and he followed this with a coon song, "Dying Tramp," "Dad's Dinner Pail," which were enthusiastically received.

The great hit of the evening, however, was Brother Driscoll's "Wild Irish Rose," which literally brought down the house.

Brother McCormick, who has a good voice and knows how to handle it, sang several songs, among them being, "Mamie Mine," "Little Nellie, Pride of Kildare," "I Want to Go To-Morrow and Come Back To-day," and "Let Me Take My Place at Home Again."

The "funny business" was supplied by Brother F. F. Sherman, with his "Lessons From Life, or the Ups and Downs of a Boilermaker." There were those of us unkind enough to think he was relating his own experiences.

Brother N. Brown, who is "handier" with his feet than most men drawing salaries on the stage, danced an Irish jig and clog, and some of the members thought he didn't do it right the first time, and he had to repeat it, but when called on a third time with an encore, he begged off until next time.

All of the members joined in that old song, "Home, Sweet Home," which brought tears to the eyes of many, bringing back to mind the picture of wives and loved ones far away. This song closed one of the merriest meetings ever held anywhere, bar none.

GROVE COONS,
Recording Secretary.

LODGE 192.

Brother L. J. Brady, of No. 192, Reg. 23407, lost his due book at Dayton, O. Any brother finding or hearing of same will confer a favor by notifying secretary of Lodge 192.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of a brother by name of Ollie Clarke will please notify secretary of 192 or have brother write. It is to his own interest.

C. L. MYERS, F. & C. S.

BOOK AND CARD LOST.

Brother E. H. Coats, of Lodge 50, Charleston, S. C., lost book and card, No. 9582. Suspicious that it was stolen. Return if found to J. J. O. Herin, C. S. Lodge 50, No. 20 Line St., Charleston, S. C.

Lodge 32.

Will you kindly notify the following brothers, through the Journal, that unless the Financial Secretary of Lodge No. 32 hears from them in the near future, their names might appear in the suspended list in the Journal following:

Fred Jinkins, Register No. 28433.

Benjamin Kendrick, Register No. 24385.

Geo. Steinmitz, Register No. 555.

John Richmond, Register No. 11454.

J. B. Kaiser, Register No. 4882.

W. E. LEROW,
Financial Secretary.

LODGE 180.

As there is never anything in the Journal from 180, I thought that I would write and let you know that we have still that strike in Dan Shea & Co., but think that it will be all settled by Labor Day.

Brother R. T. Boster, of 137, came down to see us last meeting and went south.

No. 180 is booming now. Have all the boilermakers in the city except one, and some scabs that are working for Dan Shea. I remain,

Fraternally,
EDW. O'BRIEN.

LOST CARD.

Tucson, Ariz., August 23, 1903.—The traveling card and due book of Brother E. Thornberg, Reg. No. 31284, was stolen from his pocket on August 18 by some unknown party. Any lodge or member meeting anyone with them in his possession will kindly take same up and forward to secretary of Lodge No. 98.

R. A. LINES,
Corresponding Secretary No. 98.

DO YOU KNOW HIM?

Who? Geo. E. Brown, Reg. No. 25874. If so, inform him that it will be to his advantage to communicate with the secretary of Concord Lodge No. 15, Helpers' Division, Buffalo, N. Y., before the issue of our next Journal.

Fraternally yours,
PETER DERWIN,
Sec. Lodge 15, Help. Div.

WANTED.

The present address of Frank Carbole, or Karbole. Something to his advantage awaits him by applying to Wm. J. Gilthorpe, G. S. T.

ADDRESSES WANTED.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Peter E. Kelley will confer a favor on his wife, Mrs. P. E. Kelley, 57 Red Jacket street, Buffalo, N. Y., by sending her his address. The last heard of him he was in Dunkirk, N. Y., where he took out a traveling card and departed for parts unknown to his wife.

WENZLER—Brother Wenzler has left his sick wife and 10 months old baby depending on charity in Frankfort, Ind. The last place he worked was Urbana, Ill. He drew his time there, about five weeks, and promised to return home, but nothing has been heard of him since. Anyone knowing his address will please send same to his wife, 459 W. Jefferson street, Frankfort, Ind.

ADDRESS WANTED.

Editor Journal:

Chicago, August 26, 1903.—Would like to know the whereabouts of Henry A. Press. His family would like to hear from him, his oldest son having died a short while ago. Mr. Press left Chicago in August of 1897, being at that time foreman at the round house of the Chicago & Northwestern, Chicago Avenue and Halsted. Last heard from at Minneapolis and Brainerd, Minn. His friends think he may belong to the Tacoma, Wash., Lodge. Please try and locate him.

Yours fraternally,

GEO. BENNETT,
B. A. Lodge, No. 1.

ADDRESS WANTED.

Mrs. Colgin wants to know the whereabouts of John William McCabe, who left Dallas for Fort Worth in 1897, and has not been heard from since. Anyone knowing his whereabouts please notify his sister, Mrs. J. C. Colgin, 432 Browder St., Dallas, Tex.

P. S. There used to be a William McCabe about Denver who went to Mexico. He was nicknamed Raw Jaw. He might be the man.

ADDRESS WANTED.

Can you give us any information of Frank Shanabarger, a Boiler Maker. He held his card at St. Paul, Minn. The last we knew of him and the last place we heard he worked at was the Illinois Central shops at Chicago, Ill., one year ago, and any information of him will be kindly received by his daughter, Miss Nellie Shanabarger, 462 W. Main St., Peru, Indiana.

FINED FOR SCABBING.

LODGE 33.

I wish to say a few words about the strike in the Standard oil works. The real cause of the trouble was, that on the 24th of February the foreman, Brother Wm. Welch, of Lodge 33, started a helper in riveting with a machine. He was looking after the welfare of the company and Brother Lynch looking after the welfare of the union had the helper-knocked off, as he was only getting $2.00 per day. The result was, Brother Lynch got discharged over it and we all agreed to stand by Brother Lynch, as they have been putting helpers on right along to do our work. Well, the committee waited on the Master Mechanic, and explained matters to him. We asked him to reinstate Brother Lynch, but he was obstinate and said the sooner we fight this battle out the better for both sides, and let the best man win, and we will know better where we stand. Well, we all walked out on the 25th of February, and are out yet; but we got very little support from district lodge No. 2, of the Sea Board. Lodge 33 having very little money in the treasury, hardly having recovered from the late Babcock strike, we asked district to put pickets on, which they did, and at the end of two weeks laid them off, so Lodge 33 had to pay her own pickets, and levied an assessment of one dollar per week on all members working. But the brothers in the district kept on working and repairing the boats we struck on and would not come off when the picket called them off. Lodge 33 asked district to take action on the matter which made things bad for the strikers. They passed a resolution not to work on any of the Standard boats that lay at the Bayonne refinery. Well, they took the boats across the river and worked on them. It was claimed in district meeting if work on those boats was not done here it would be taken to Philadelphia, and the district could not very well afford to lose the work which is something they never had before the strike, as all the boiler work on boats was done in Bayonne. Well, we have no hope of winning the strike unless we tied up the boats, so 33 asked Grand Council to call an universal strike on all boats, refineries and barges. We also asked District No. 2 to stop all work on the boats pending decision of Grand Lodge, which they refused to do. Since the above resolution was passed in district six brothers came over from Shooter's Island, the strike on the island being called off May the 1st, and worked on the boat Maverick, laying at the the Bayonne refinery. The brothers who worked on the boat are Brothers Taylor and Giebler, of Lodge 176; Brother Cassidy, of Lodge 200; Brother Cummings, of Lodge 21; Brother McDougal, of Lodge 9, and Brother Wm. Diamond, of Lodge 33. They finished the boilers with the exception of testing, when Business Agent McKay called them off at the request of 33. Now Brother McNeil, it is impossible for us to win a strike around here. It is not the company that is beating us, but our own brothers. Well, is it any wonder why we asked the Grand Council to call an universal strike? We cannot win a strike down here with the kind of union men we have in the district. It is a case of get up Jack, John sit down, with the unions around here. It looks to me as if the boilermakers' union around here was going backward instead of forward, as you will note in the agreement herewith, which I hope you will publish in the Journal, so as not to deceive any of the brothers coming this way.

Here in Shooter's Island we have to work with scabs and if we ask any one for a card we run chances of getting discharged, as the agreement states there will be no discrimination, and they also have a notice up at the office which states they reserve the right to determine the number of helpers and handy men to put on to do the work, and I venture to say that Shooter's Island and the Standard Oil works are all one, and they are both open yards.

Well, Mr. Editor, I see in the Journal last issue you asked for a list of unfair men. Well, if we sent you a list of the unfair men around here I am afraid you would have very little space left in the Journal for other matters, as I consider all men unfair that will take the place of another brother that is trying to better his condition. There is a great many of the boys losing faith in the boilermakers' union around here. The boilermakers are going to give the housesmiths a hard fight for their rights, but there is a new union of housesmiths formed in New York, and it would not surprise me to see the boilermakers and housesmiths be all one body in about another year, as the housesmiths are claiming all our work. As their delegates are hustlers they are always on a new job first and lay the foundation block, and I must say that our business agents are very slow in looking after any job. It seems to me as if they are afraid to go near a job that the housesmiths are on, and if any member tells them of any trouble on any job, or about a new job starting, they take no heed of it, and will not go to such a job unless ordered there by the district. There are some meetings in the district that they are not instructed to go anywhere, so they sit in their office and draw their salary and lots of trouble on the outside. That is how things are run around here.

Well, in conclusion, I will say that Wm. Leslie, from Lodge 16, is scabbing in the Standard, laying out. This reptile came over from the Erie basin where he scabbed it also. Hoping to see this and the agreement in your next issue, I am

WILLIAM COFFEY, R. S.

GEARY.

At the regular meeting of Jersey Lily Lodge No. 16, held in Franklin Hall Aug.

5th, 1903, the following resolutions were adopted unanimously:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty Dispenser of events to remove from our midst Brother Daniel Geary, in his fiftieth year; and

Whereas, The intimate relation long held by him with the members of this lodge render it proper that we should record our appreciation of his services as an officer and a Brother and his merits as a man; therefore be it

Resolved, That we deplore his loss with deep feeling and regret, softened only by the confident hope that his spirit is with those who have fought the good fight here and are enjoying perfect happiness in a better world:

Resolved, That we extend his afflicted relations our sincere condolence and our earnest sympathy in their affliction at the loss of one who was a devoted father, a good citizen and an upright man;

Resolved, That the Brothers of this lodge attend the funeral in a body; that our charter and banner be draped in emblems of mourning for thirty days in loving memory of our departed brother;

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions signed by the President, certified by the Secretary, be transmitted to his relatives, to our Journal and on the minutes of Lodge No. 16, B. B. M. & I. S. B. of A.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved Brother, a copy spread on the minutes of the meeting and a copy sent to the official journal for publication.

It's hard to break the tender words

When love has bound the heart,

It's hard to speak the words

Must we forever part.

Dearest love one, we have laid thee

In the peaceful grave's embrace,

But they memory will be cherished,

Until we see thy Heavenly face.

JINKS.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 17, 1903.—It is with the utmost feelings of regret that I write to inform you of the sad and sudden demise of our beloved brother, Edward Jinks, who was killed at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on Sunday, August 9th, by a train. It was not only a shock to all his friends and relatives, but an altogether unexpected calamity.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Edward Jinks we have lost a brother who had the respect and friendship of all our members and was respected for his sterling qualities as a member and gentleman. He will be missed from our midst. He was one of Lodge 51's competent members, and was ready at all times to serve his Lodge in a trustworthy manner.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes; likewise that a copy each be sent to the bereaved family and the official Journal for publication; also that our charter be draped for thirty days.

Cans't thou not feel His presence near?
Tho' from this earth he has been taken,
His spirit hovers o'er you.

Weep not for him,
For tears will but distress him;
But watch and wait—his voice you'll hear;
His hand will beckon to you.

Wait, then, 'till our Lord's own time,
Then the veil will be rent asunder;
You will meet him then,
On that beautiful shore—over yonder.

ELLIS.

At the regular meeting of Hudson Lodge No. 163, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The hand of Death has been laid on the home of Brother Harry Ellis, robbing it of a devoted wife and mother; and

Whereas, The record of Brother Harry Ellis, both as a member and Lodge officer, had earned the respect, confidence and appreciation of every member of our Lodge, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we hereby extend the fraternal hand of sincere sympathy to him in his bereavement, and to encourage him by our expressed prayer, that "He who heeds even the fall of a sparrow," will guide and guard his three little motherless children, and comfort him.

Resolved, That his preamble and resolutions be placed on Lodge file, and a copy be forwarded to the Journal for publication.

MARKE.

Baltimore, Md., July 27, 1903.—It is with the utmost feelings of sorrow and regret that I record the sad and sudden death of Brother George Marke, registered number 6705. He and some eight or nine brothers went out in a sailboat on the evening of July 13th for what they called a good time, and he was drowned at 11:30 o'clock. God help us, if that is the way to enjoy life. What those brothers went through that night should be a sermon to them for the balance of their natural lives.

Brother Marke leaves a wife and ten children. Just think of it. It is one of the saddest deaths that ever came under my observation. May he rest in peace and may God have mercy on his wife and children.

Respectfully,

W. H. O. THOMPSON.

FITZPATRICK AND ROSS.

Wherefor, It has pleased the Almighty God to call from our midst Brothers James Fitzpatrick and Davidson Ross, be it

Resolved, That we extend our most heartfelt sympathy to the respective families of the deceased and commend them to God, Who doeth all things for the best, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Journal for publication, and to the families of the deceased, and that they also be spread on the minutes of the meeting..

JOHN MULLEN,
JAMES KAY,
Committee.

SEYMOUR.

At a regular meeting held August 14 by Frontenac Lodge No. 210, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God in His divine wisdom to take from our midst, our esteemed Brother, Thomas I. Seymour. Be it therefore,

Resolved, That we, his brothers, extend to his bereaved family, our most heartfelt sympathy in the loss of a loving husband and kind brother.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved wife and a copy be spread on the minutes of our lodge and one to the Journal for publication. Be it therefore

Resolved, That our charter be draped for a period of thirty days.

ROBT. CARSWELL, SR.,
J. P. SMITH,
Committee.

McHALE.

It is with the utmost feeling of sorrow and regret that I write you of the passing away from this life to the great unknown of one of the oldest boilermakers of this city, John McHale, better known as Jack. Although not a brother of our present order, he has been a good one in the past and was always a union worker. He has been in the ranks since 1857, and has passed to the better land at the ripe age of 69 years. He has been for 46 years working among us. His loyal and generous heart is stilled forever and the Crescent City has lost a good and true man and brother. A page of our minutes has been reserved to record his demise and copy sent to his family, condoling them in their great loss; also that the Journal be requested to publish same.

Yours fraternally,

E. A. DUPRE, Prest.

JNO. H. NIXON, Secy.

FRAWLEY.

At our last regular meeting on August 2d, held by Maple Leaf Lodge 134, Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders of America, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased almighty God in His divine wisdom to take from our midst the dearly beloved wife of our esteemed brother, Mr. Michael Frawley; therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to our bereaved brother our heartfelt sympathy in the hour of his sorrow; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to our bereaved brother, a copy sent to the Journal for publication and a copy spread on the minutes of our meeting.

Fraternally yours,

J. MAHONEY, Cor. Secy.

McWILLIAMS.

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty God to call from this earth after a long lingering illness of eleven months, the beloved wife of our esteemed Brother, Geo. McWilliams, be it

Resolved, That our sincere sympathy be tendered our esteem and bereaved brother in this great trial as he deserves all sympathy and praise for the noble way in which he attended his wife in her long illness, giving her the best of care, both medical and otherwise. And be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Journal for publication, and to be spread on the minutes of the meeting.

JAMES KAY,
JNO. MULLEN,

CARD OF THANKS.

Washington, D. C., July 31, 1903.—I would like to express my gratitude to the officers and members of the Jersey Lily Lodge No. 16 for the true bond of fraternalism shown my deceased father and the kind solicitude towards me. I shall always think of each and every one of you with love and respect and will never cease to pray for the success and welfare of the Lodge. May God bless you all. I remain,

Ever gratefully yours,

M. J. GEARY.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Brother Tom Crawford having apologized for his misconduct, the fine of $100 has been remitted by Lodge 179, of Denver.

H. SHAFFROTH, Cor. Sec.

LODGES 16 AND 163.

The combined lodges, No. 16 and No. 163, held one of those enjoyable never-to-be-forgotten sociable old-time clambakes at John Zitzner's grove, Secaucus, N. J., Sunday, August 23, 1903.

Each and every one went to have a jolly good time and if any was disappointed it was their own fault.

The amount of stuff furnished by the committee in charge was beyond the expectations of the most critical, everything you could eat as is given on such occasions and all the drinkables the most thirsty soul could desire.

Brother John Rielley, of No. 163, was dispenser of the knock-out drops and performed his task to the entire satisfaction of the merry throng. Brothers J. Downs and A. Wilson, of No. 163, and H. Kelly, of No. 16, and the rest of the committee, worked like trojans to keep up with the constant demand for more clams and hot corn to satisfy the voracious appetites of the hungry picnickers.

In the athletic line we had the champion football player, Brother Tom Foy, president of District Board No. 2, also Brother D. Malloy, business agent of District Board No. 2, with several others who showed by their superb kicking that they were old time expert kickers. The football team eventually retired to the bowling alley, where they showed themselves adepts of the first water in line of tumbling pins.

But the crowning event of the day's enjoyment was the game of base ball, which evoked the greatest amount of enthusiasm among the rooters of both lodges. Lodge No. 16 having been disastrously defeated in a preceding game, determined to retrieve their prestige and consequently came to do battle with several strong players. After every error conceivable to amateurs being placed against both teams, lodge No. 16, after six hotly contested innings, vanquished their opponents by the score of 6 to 1.

Such events as those serve to draw the brothers more closely together, both socially and fraternally, and when affairs of this description are brought to a happy termination everyone is well pleased with the result.

WM. DEELY.

LODGE 281.

In your August edition I notice on your first page that Mr. Hadlock jumps on the committee from No. 281 with both feet. I cannot call him a brother for the reason that no brother ever received another as we were received in New Haven. Now, Mr. Hadlock has scored district lodge No. 7 pretty hard to begin with, but if it were not for the district lodge the men on the New Haven system would not have received the increase that they did. The district lodge brought the brothers in close touch with one another, that is, all the New Haven system was represented at the district lodge and everything went all right. There was a meeting of the committee called—to take place at Providence, that city being the most central—and through a misunderstanding the committee from No. 281 were late in arriving at Providence, as they were informed the leaving time from Boston was 10 a. m.; therefore they did not arrive in Providence till 11:10 a. m. and after traveling the city over, looking for the place of meeting, they returned to the depot. While waiting for their train home, they met the committee from New Haven, also homeward bound. Mr. Hadlock informed the committee of No. 281 that he acted as secretary for the committee from New Haven and they were going to request an increase of 15 per cent. He was asked if the Boston brothers were in the city and he started to show the brothers where they were to be found, but at that moment his car approached and he left the committee without more ado, and boarded the Taunton car. He should have remained there, as the committee think it is the best place for such people.

Now, as regards the New Haven meeting, the committee arrived in New Haven at 11:50 a. m. The New Haven committee failed to put in an appearance or show any courtesy whatever. It should, at least, have a place of meeting so the different committees could talk business over and come to an understanding; appoint a chairman of the whole committee, etc., but when the different committee found no place to transact business but in an open lot they were thoroughly disgusted, and if Mr. Hadlock was chairman of that committee he should be proud of it.

Now, Mr. Editor, as regards the make-up of our committee from No. 281. Mr. Hadlock asserts that there was one boilermaker and two helpers. The boys he miss-called helpers were serving their time long before he ever saw a brick arch or knew what it was and furthermore they are fully competent to fill the position for which they were elected. As we understand it, Mr. Hadlock was engaged discharging hot brick out of fire boxes in Taunton two years ago, and we fail to see where he is a criterion. The next time Mr. Hadlock takes those freaks he should be sure to know where he is going to throw his "mud." He certainly can do no harm in the direction he has chosen this time. Furthermore, the "Grand Old Man" does not want or need a recommendation from the New Haven committee. He always was and has been one of the best union men in the country. At present he is president of No. 281, and vice president of district lodge No. 7, and had it not been for Brother J. J. S., there would be no lodge in Norwood to-day.

Referring to the brothers that Mr. Hadlock miss-called helpers—one is rated at $2.90 and the other at $2.80. Rather good pay for helpers, is it not? If Mr. Hadlock is running the New Haven bunch and is keeping them from coming into the district lodge, they are making the mistake of their lives to be led by such; for I cannot believe that if they knew the benefit derived therefrom and the help that is given to the grand lodge by the district in keeping the members in touch with all that transpires through the whole New England states, they would not hesitate to come in. I am yours,

Fraternally,

PETER DALY, C. S.

Agreement.

Agreement between F. M. Hicks, doing business at Chicago Heights as the Hicks Locomotive & Car Works, and the National Brotherhood of Boiler Makers & Iron Ship

Builders, Helpers and Heaters of America, Subordinate Lodge No. 25 of Chicago Heights, Illinois.

Witnesseth, That each party to this agreement in consideration of the fulfillment of the agreement herein made by the party of the first part and party of the second part, agrees and consents to the following rules and regulations which shall govern the mutual relations of the parties hereto.

Section 1. That this company will not, in any way, discriminate against any boiler maker helper; who from time to time represents other boiler maker helpers on committee duly authorized to see the management.

Sec. 2. That there be a shop committee appointed in shop whose duty shall be to see that the provisions of this agreement are carried out, and company shall give committee an audience when so desired.

Sec. 3. That ten hours shall constitute a day's work in shop or yard, except on Saturday, which will be five hours, and over time to be paid time and a half until 12.00 o'clock at night, and then double time after until regular working time; double time for all Sundays throughout the year, and also the following holidays, such as Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Fourth of July, Decoration Day, Thanksgiving Day and no work to be done on Labor Day.

Sec. 4. Should any differences between the parties of this agreement arise which cannot be adjusted between them, it shall be referred to a committee, to consist of four (4) members, two (2) selected by each party, and if they cannot agree, a fifth (5th) member shall be selected by the first four, who shall constitute a committee to adjust said differences, and while this difference and matter is pending before the said committee for adjustment, there shall be no lockout or strike, and the decision of the committee shall be final and binding on the parties thereto; and it is further provided that any arbitration above provided for, shall not extend longer than a period of thirty (30) days. Boiler makers' helpers to perform the same class of work as performed heretofore by the helpers in this shop.

Sec. 5. All boiler maker helpers at Chicago Heights shops shall be paid at the following rates: Unskilled boiler maker helpers, 17½ cents per hour for first four months of their employment. If said helpers prove competent they are to have twenty cents an hour for the next two months of their employment. At the end of the six months' time they are if competent, to be paid the same price as full boiler maker helpers, viz., twenty-three cents per hour; if incompetent, said unskilled helper to be laid off.

Sec. 6. This agreement to take effect August 1st, 1903, and remain in effect for one

(1) year, and thereafter until thirty (30) days' notice shall have been given by either party desiring a change.

It is further agreed that the regular flange fire helpers, ram and stay bolt men and air drill men shall be paid 25 cents per hour. If extra men are required of this class of work they are to be paid the same rate while working if they work one week or more at one time.

LODGE 355.

Please allow me space in your valuable Journal to introduce Lodge No. 355, of Conneaut, Ohio.

As No. 355 has not as yet been represented in the Journal columns, we think it is our turn to be heard from, not particularly in a beneficial way, but just to let the brotherhood know that such a lodge is in existence.

Nickle Plate No. 355 was organized February 26th, 1903, and up to this date has a membership of 14, all of which are enthusiasts for the welfare of the lodge, and promotion of unionism.

Our conditions are not what we might call the best, but all indications point to better conditions. It has been rather up-hill work for us in our work in the shop, as it is not of the modern type, but extensive improvements have been made this summer—three large additions have been built and are being equipped with all the modern conveniences and machinery for doing the work, and when put in operation we expect to swell our force of boiler makers, and I will say right here, that should any one drift towards Conneaut, Ohio, he had better (when he gets off of the train) have his card in his hand.

I do not think (for a town of its size—10,000) Conneaut stands second to none for organized labor membership, and its motto is—"no card, no work."

Cor. Sec.

LODGE 233.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 12, 1903.

Enclosed you will please find statement of Lodge 233 in reply to several letters received and published statements in connection with the late U. P. strike reflecting on you and others. We trust we have made our meaning plain and 233 insists that it be published in October Journal, over the signature of Lodge 233, as we do not think it would be proper for any one member to be singled out and censured for the contents of this statement, as it was drawn by a special committee and approved by the lodge.

As our secretary has quit since meeting night, I forward this with best wishes for yourself and prosperity of brotherhood.

Yours fraternally.

H. BROWN
President 233.

Statement.

Having read in the July and August Journal some pretty severe criticisms of the Grand President and officers of District Lodge No. 6, in regard to the settlement of the U. P. strike, the members of Oakland Lodge No. 233 desire, through the Journal, to say some things in answer to the charges and criticisms that have been made.

To begin with we wish to state on behalf of the Grand President that his action in postponing the S. P. strike 15 days was at the earnest request of District Lodge No. 6. That all may fully understand we refer you to page 360, July Journal, first column. You see that the Grand President in his report quotes a telegram from G. H. McKeon, President District Lodge No. 6, asking for 15 days' postponement, but by some mistake, by who made we are unable to state, the last part of telegram does not read correct. It says, "If so, wire all lodges immediately and insist that this be done, letter follows." It should read, "If so, wire all lodges immediately. District Lodge No. 6 insists that this be done; letter follows." You can readily see the position this placed the Grand President in. District Lodge No. 6 had wired the Grand President earlier in the day that they were in conference with Mr. Harriman, the recognized financial head of the S. P. and U. P. railways. Does any man that will stop and reason for a short time think that District No. 6 would ask for this postponement after voting to assist the U. P. men by a strike, if necessary unless they were satisfied that a satisfactory settlement could be made without trouble on S. P. and it would have been a very arbitrary Grand President that would have refused this request when he was some 1,500 or 2,000 miles away, and District Lodge officers of No. 6 were present and familiar with the situation. The officers of District No. 6 tried to and 233 believes did put the case before the Grand President in such a way that he had very little choice to do other than he did. Any blame or sarcasms to be made should be made at District Lodge No. 6, and not the Grand President. He, the Grand President, granted the request, wired all lodges on S. P. and Short Line to that effect. These messages should have been delivered to all lodges Sunday, May 10, before noon, and were received by part of them at that time, and any lodge that did not receive same has the telegraph company to blame, if their secretary had his proper address on file in Grand Lodge office. Sunday, May 10, after receiving reply from Grand President to be sure of no misunderstanding or confusion, President McKeon, of District No. 6, wired all lodges of postponement.

Now, as to the reason District Lodge No. 6 took any action in this matter. We were called on for an expression of opinion in regard to the S. P. boiler makers being called out in aid of U. P. strike, such opinion to be given by District No. 6 and all lodges attached to District No. 6, same to be placed before a special meeting of the Grand Executive Council to be held in Kansas City on or about April 1st. Such meeting was held and the council authorized Grand Vice President Kane to go over the S. P. and investigate the condition, and if in his opinion it was advisable the S. P. boiler makers were to be called out. Brother Kane made the trip and sent his report to the Grand President, and the Grand President issued the call for the S. P. men to stop work on Monday, May 11. While Brother Kane was in Oakland Mr. Harriman arrived in San Francisco, only six miles away. President McKeon, of District Lodge No. 6 suggested to Brother Kane that as the situation was growing very serious, that Brother Kane try to see Mr. Harriman personally, with a view of settling U. P. strike, but Brother Kane, for good and sufficient reasons, thought it not wise to do so after receiving Grand President's order to strike. No. 233 came to the conclusion to make an effort to get the District Lodge No. 6 to take up the U. P. strike with Mr. Harriman, believing that if Mr. Harriman would give his personal attention to the matter a satisfactory settlement could be made. We pressed our views on President McKeon so far that he took the matter up with District Secretary McCracken, at Sacramento, by telephone, and he, with No. 94, and they came to the conclusion it could do no harm to try and a meeting was arranged with Mr. Harriman and President McKeon and Secretary McCracken for Saturday, May 9. President McKeon and Secretary McCracken called on a member of 233 and one from 359 to go with them and they met Mr. Harriman, with the result that they were satisfied that by granting time for a conference in the East where the trouble existed as suggested by Mr. Harriman, that the strike would be settled. Time has proven how well their judgment was founded, proving a decided victory for conservative business methods.

As to the reason all lodges were not consulted. The only reason and it is a good one was there was not time to write them, and all know how unsatisfactory telegrams are in so important a case with limited lodge treasury of almost all lodges and especially of ours at that time, as we had kept it empty to aid the U. P. men. While the U. P. strike could not have been settled much better and it might have easily been a great deal worse, had not No. 233 taken steps to get District No. 6 to take the matter up with Mr. Harriman. All fair minded men must admit that it was the influence of the S. P. boiler makers that caused the U. P. to make a settlement, and as Brother Kennedy, of District No. 4, states, "virtually turned defeat into victory." We are of the opinion that the U. P. men are better off than they would have been had we refused the offer of Mr. Harriman, and gone out and after a long, hard fight, where is there a man that believes that either the S. P. or U. P. men would have been any better off than they are to-day? The U. P. men made their own settlement and made the best they could and are satisfied and they are the ones to kick if anyone does. Do you see any kick from them? No. Only words of gratitude for the assistance given them. It was with no intention of going back from the decision to go out that the effort was made to settle, but only to exhaust every possible means of a settlement before going out. The management were repeatedly told on May 9 that the S. P. would not allow the U. P. men to accept any settlement not satisfactory to the U. P. men, and our District officers so informed District No. 4 and U. P. men, and it looks to us to be very poor policy to criticize the Grand President and officers of District No. 6 for what District No. 4 done, and what they are not complaining about, for you can see by the reports of the Grand President and District No. 4 and the agreement on the U. P. that the Grand President and officers of District No. 6 were not even present when the agreement was made, but were standing in the background saying by their presence, U. P. boys, don't accept anything not reasonable and fair, but be fair and just in all your dealings, so that the sore spots engendered in that long hard contest might be smoothed out, and the noble brothers of the U. P. be enabled to enjoy the benefits of the heroic struggle they made not alone for themselves but for all the order.

As to Brothers McKeon and McCracken riding in Mr. Harriman's car, would like to ask their critics what they would have done under like conditions. They left here on regular train, in sleeper. Mr. Harriman's car attached. Mr. Harriman took sick on road and made up a special on very fast time to get East to his doctor, and invited McKeon and McCracken to go along, so they would get to Omaha when he did, and save time. They met the U. P. committee before arriving at Omaha and so arranged their time as to suit the convenience of U. P. committee, as they were not present to make settlement for U. P., but to give their support and assistance. We wish to state that 339 mis-states the facts as all can see by referring to page 363, July Journal, when they say that the U. P. agreement was made by the Grand President and his executive officers, as no such agreement was made, but one was made between U. P. railway and officers of District No. 4.

We do not know for what purpose such misleading statements are made, but anyone reading the full report of the U. P. trouble in July Journal can see there is an effort being made to discredit and injure some one. We don't think such talk does any good for the brotherhood or elevates it in the eyes of the public or the officials of any company, be they railway, ship yard or contract shop, but rather incline to create hard feelings and sore spots and bring the brotherhood into disrepute, and cause it to lose the respect of all good citizens and retard the generation of harmony and good feeling that must exist in all shops between the officials and the men.

Are we to improve our conditions and enjoy what we are striving for—that is, shorter hours, better pay and better conditions? Will such charges and complaints tend to improve our condition and raise us in the estimation of our employers and the public? It may all be well enough for some people who are at home wherever their hats are off, but such conditions are not what the majority of men with homes and families look forward to, for with good pay, good treatment and harmonious relations we submit that the lot of the boiler maker is hard enough.

We wish to repeat for the benefit of lodges on S. P. that the only reason all lodges were not consulted was lack of time as the meeting was asked for May 8, held May 9 and strike had been called for May 11, so you can see how impossible it was to consult all points.

Now, Mr. Editor, we have went into this case pretty thoroughly, but there are some things that it is not good policy to publish to the world, but if any lodge or any member is not satisfied or wishes any further evidence we have some things we can write them about tramping on toes that we don't care to publish. We will be pleased to hear from any point not satisfied with this explanation.

Now, we are not making a special defense of anyone, but just trying to state the plain facts as we saw them. We firmly believe that any officer should do his full duty and fill his position at all times while he holds it, unless he has done some wrong and then anyone knowing of his having been guilty and failing to prefer charges is equally guilty in withholding same, and allowing a guilty man to continue in office, but while he holds the office he must fill it without any interference in his duties by anyone else.

Trusting we have not taken too much of your valuable space but believing that the welfare of the brotherhood demands a full statement of the causes leading up to the postponement of S. P. strike, after it was ordered, we, as instigators of the move, and being on the ground and familiar with the action taken, make the above statement with the purpose of doing equal justice to all, and with no intention of shielding anyone, for it anyone be he Grand officer or local member has done any wrong in connection with the U. P. strike or any other matter, Oakland Lodge No. 233 insists that he be punished and made to feel the scorn and contempt of all honest men.

Trusting you will publish this in full in October Journal, we are,

Yours faithfully,
OAKLAND LODGE 233,
B. of B. M. & I. S. B.

LODGE 163.

West Hoboken, Sept. 8th, 1903.

The Grand Joint "outing and clambake," of Hudson Lodge No. 163 and Jersey Lilly Lodge No. 16, will long be remembered by the members and their friends who journeyed to Zitzman's Park Seacausus, August the 23rd. The day itself was beautiful and bracing, and the way the boys did justice to the bake put up by Expert Davis of Long Island, was a guarantee of its success.

Brother J. Riley attended to their thirst, and the way they kept the coffee and ice tea flowing in a steady stream throughout the day was a sure sign that no one left the park dry, while "Riley was at the bar."

The many games contested in were exciting and interesting. The chase after the greased pig between Brothers Clark and Sachs was very exciting. Brother Sachs got a good start; we do not know if he caught the pig or not, as he did not return to the park up to the time of leaving.

The match game of quoits between President T. Foy, of District Lodge No. 2, of the Seaboard, assisted by Brother J. Kay and Business Agent D. Molloy, assisted by Brother Sullivan, resulted in a easy victory for the last named team. Brother Foy seemed to be able to juggle a nice Jersey corn or a piece of water melon better than he could the quoits, but being of a determined disposition the brother thought he would try and have revenge by playing a game of football, so getting a team of friends together he challenged one captained by Brother Molloy.

After the line-up it only lasted about 15 minutes. Brother Foy's team left the field in disgust, they could not kick the side of a house if it was in front of them.

The bowling game between Brothers T. Connelly and Nic Fitzhenry, of Lodge No. 16, and Brothers Wm. Reid and P. Flynn, of Lodge 163, was greatly enjoyed (that is, by the members of No. 163). "Poor Nic," it made the hair on his head turn a bright red the way the boys of No. 163 sent the balls at lightning speed down the alley, scattering the pins in all directions. No more bowling challenges will be sent to No. 163.

But Nic and the boys of 16 had revenge when they gave the crack baseball team of 163 the worst beating they ever received in their lives, and made them quit before the ninth inning was played. If 163 had a balloon to play with they might have done a little better, but those who witnessed the game doubt it, for 16 was determined to regain the laurels they lost last season, and they did, and good and proper at that.

Some of the boys of 163 has been thinking serious over whether Brother Davidson or Laugdo did not drop something from a little bottle into their coffee before starting the game. They can't understand how they were beaten so badly, but I for one can tell them it was because Jim Downs had a game leg and was unable to play after loosing his rabbit's foot the last time the two teams played. He has had hard luck, but we all hope he will get another by the time the deciding game of the series is played. Then lookout for yourselves, No. 16; you know what you can expect; you will go down and out for good. Jim says so and he never tells a lie.

At throwing the heavy weights Brother Jim Donnelly was the boss. It was as easy to him as driving a socket bolt.

On the return from the park the boys were escorted to Jager's Hotel, a good union man at that, where an enjoyable evening was spent in singing and dancing by the boys of 16 and 163 and they are cracker-jacks at that.

The entertainment ended with a comic sketch entitled "The Boys from the West," by Prothers Ringe and Harrington. It was a jolly good crowd.

The committees, J. Downs and A. Wilson, of Lodge No. 163, and H. Kelly and P. Connelly, of Lodge No. 16, deserve all the praise they received for the successful management of the affair. May we all meet soon again and have just as good a time as on August the 23rd, 1903.

Respectfully and fraternally yours,
GEO. WILSON,
Cor. Sec.

"NOTICE."

39 and 34.

I.

They may talk about their brotherhood,
In other unions throughout the land.
But here in Chicago, they showed the world they could
March, side by side and hand in hand.

II.

They work together,
Four in a gang (riveting) upon a sheet.
They march together,
Four and four upon the street.

III.

The boiler makers wore the black;
Their helpers wore the blue.
Running backwards came our little "Jack,"
On his automobile (the leather shoe).

IV.

That was a day, and that was a sight
The non-union man will ne'er forget;
He saw our strength, he knows we are right,
Side by side we—work—march—and fight.

LODGE 71.

It is quite awhile since the Journal has heard from Lodge 71. Well, we are still in the land of the living. We had a parade on Labor Day and Lodge 71 was out with the rest of the push. Now, maybe they didn't cut a dash. The crowds along the streets would say, "I wonder where that noise is? Why, it's the boiler makers; here they come; they have got a boiler on a wagon; talk about a band? Why, they don't need any band; hear them keep time on that boiler; that's the best kind of music." Well, everything went along lovely, thanks to our committee, Brothers John Farr, Jacob Halter and August Hanan. They looked after the wagon. And there was our worthy brothers, John Nonanger and Joe Ryderance, and Harry House. It's only one day in the year, but it's the busy day for organized labor.

I remain yours fraternally.

ONLY A BOILER MAKER.

LODGE 328 THANKFUL

As this is the first day that we, or rather a few of us, have not been "called in," will attempt to write a line or two in order that you may rejoice with us. Of course, what I have to say will in no wise surprise you, as doubtless you have heard it. Brother H. W. Huff was exonerated by the grand jury on Thursday last of the charge that was placed against him—that of killing the "scab" Piddocks on the 9th of July.

Brother Huff's release from durance vile has been patiently looked for, as no one ever believed him guilty of such a crime. The 10th day of September—just two months and one day from his incarceration—will never be forgotten by No. 328, and the people generally of the West End.

Brother Huff bore his confinement like a hero. He will report for work in a few days.

We want it understood that No. 328 will never forget the assistance that was rendered to her in behalf of Brother Huff, and wish to extend our thanks to all, for we are taught to "rejoice with those that rejoice and weep with those that weep."

Every boiler maker (who has a good card) that comes this way is put to work. Brother Tom Cleary, our foreman, is undoubtedly the right man in the right place. He is pushing things with a vim.

So, now, let us look upon the past as something to be forgotten, and in future do all that we can for the upbuilding of our noble order, and at the same time look to the interests of both ourselves and our employers. This is the motto that 328 has adopted and we sincerely hope that all other lodges may do the same.

We do not intend to look behind, but we do intend to look ahead.

Right here let us thank the machinists for their assistance in our dark hour. They were ever ready to lend a helping hand to Brother Huff. May God bless them.

No doubt, Brother Gilthorpe, I have taxed you patience, so will close for this time. More anon.

With best wishes and kindest regards, I am,

Fraternally yours,
OSCAR GILLILAND, C. S.

OUR ADVISORY BOARD AWAKE.

The Advisory Board of the city of Philadelphia, wishing to bring this city to the notice of all union boiler makers and helpers throughout the country, have appointed the writer Journal correspondent.

As you know, the beginning of the year of 1903 saw this city practically dead as far as unionism was concerned, but, oh, what changes have taken place. We now have seven lodges of boiler makers and two lodges of helpers represented on the Advisory Board, and thanks to our Grand Vice President, Brother Frank P. Shaney, and our Business Agent, Brother Wm. Boyle, who have worked night and day to build up our brotherhood in this city. Every lodge is a hustling and taking in new members at every meeting. Brothers Shaney and Wm. Boyle are now at work at Norristown and Coatesville and hope to have them two towns organized before long.

On the 20th of May, 1903, the lodges of this city formed an Advisory Board, which proceeded to business at once by electing Brother Boyle as business agent and on the first day of July presented to the different firms of this city an agreement asking for a nine-hour day and two hours for one for all overtime, and a field scale at $3.25 for boilermakers, $2.25 for holder-ons, and $2.00 for helpers, which has been signed by all the shops in the city except one, and we think they will sign before long, and it is now necessary that all men show a clear card before they can go to work anywhere in these shops, and we would like to call the attention of the brothers who travel from one place to the other throughout the country who allow themselves to get in arrears to the fact that they must show a clear card before they can get a job in this city. Our business agent has been approached by a great many brothers who come from other parts of the country with cards that are in arrears, and sometimes by men who have no cards at all and ask for permission to go to work, but he cannot grant their request, because it takes a clear card to get a job.

Now a word for the different lodges. No. 17, the oldest local in the district, has taken on new life, and every member is doing his best for the welfare of the brotherhood. They are endeavoring to organize the shipyard at Chester and hope to reclaim all of their old members.

No. 19, the old foundation stone of the brotherhood in this city, is doing business at the same old stand, and the old war horse, Brother Houghton, is hustling with the rest of the brothers, and they are taking care of their end of the work.

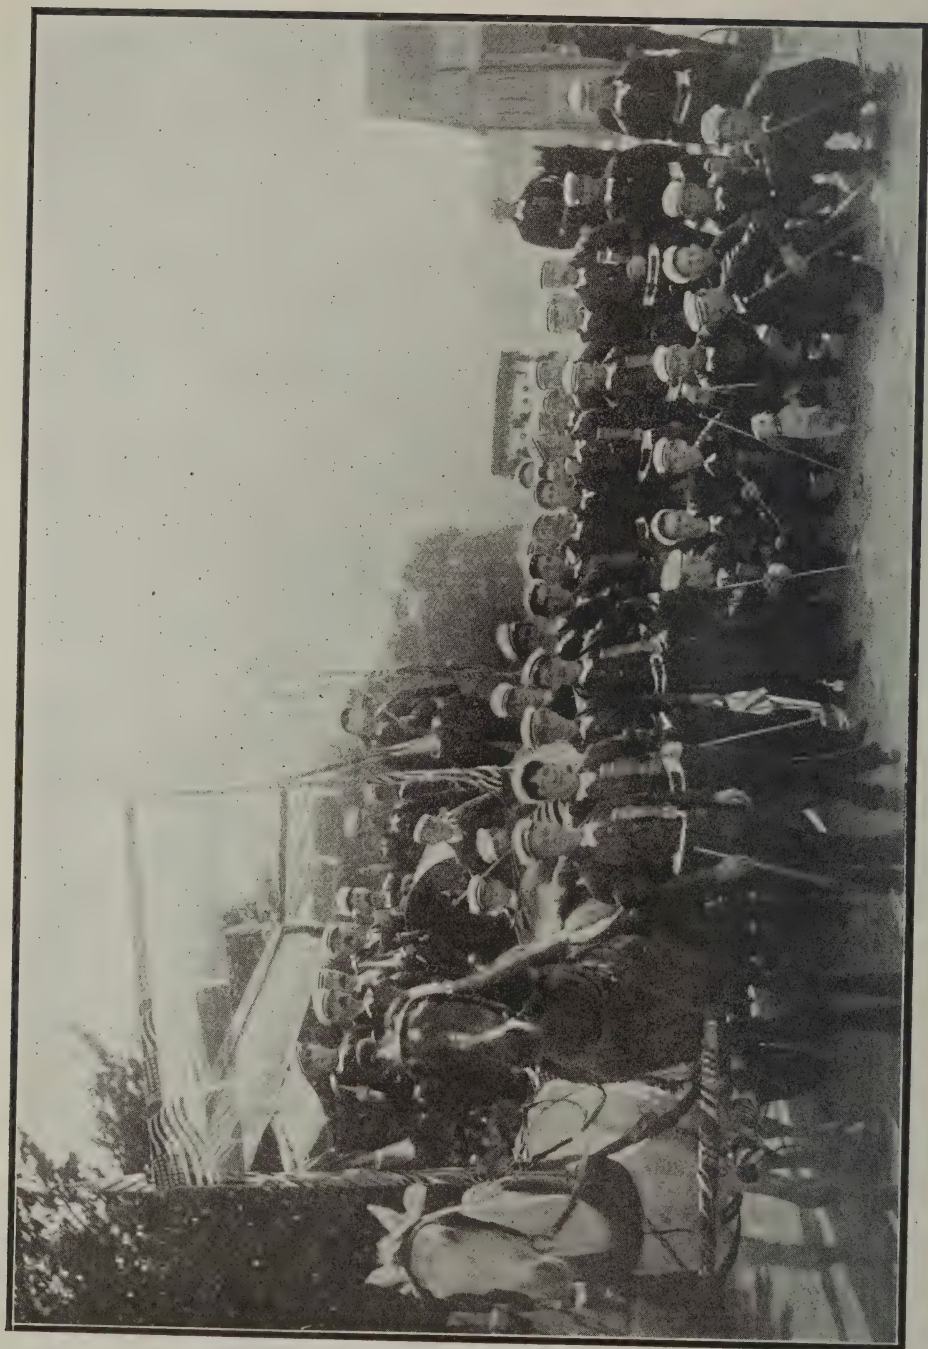

No. 261, the local from the city across the Delaware, is doing their part of the work, by looking after the New York shipyard, and are trying to organize R. D. Woods & Co., with the assistance of Brothers Shaney and Boyle.

No. 279 Progressive, as the word implies, is moving forward, advancing, and improving, and is helping to advance the brotherhood in every way in their power.

No. 329, the shipfitters' lodge, with Brother Tibbett as President, who is also President of the Advisory Board, and the members have all got their shoulders to the wheel and are pushing the old ship along, and are fitting her up for a long voyage.

No. 341's members, under the guidance of their genial President, Brother Unger, are endeavoring to make their local the banner local of the state. They are now nearing the 300 mark and they have a good field to work in and with a little hustling they can soon thoroughly organize all of the shops in their part of the city.

No. 361, the baby lodge of this city, are a lively lot of infants, and at the rate they are growing it will not be long before they will outgrow their infancy, and be numbered with the big boys.

Locals 93 and 117, H. D., are coming along nicely and each and every brother is doing his part in the noble work, by trying to increase their membership.

At a regular meeting of the Advisory Board I was instructed by a vote of the Board to request the editor to advertise two well known scabs of this city by the name of Farren, better known as the Diarrhoea Brothers. They have been scabbing in this city for some time, but we hope to get rid of them soon. We warn all brothers to look out for them.

Hoping to see this in the next issue of the Journal and with best wishes for the brotherhood at large, I am,

Fraternally yours,

JOSHUA KELLEY, J. C.

P. S.—We hope to have good news to report from time to time, and let the brotherhood at large know how Philadelphia is getting along.

A REVIEW OF LODGE 81'S STRIKE.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 15, 1903.—This being the thirteenth week of the strike of boiler makers and helpers of Sangamon Lodge No. 81, who formerly were employed in the contract shops conducted by the Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Co., and Wm. Drake, both of this city, would say we have seen very little in our "Journal" concerning same, and have decided to write an article, giving a complete history of the events covering this period, all of which we respectfully ask to have printed in our next issue. The agreement, indorsed by our executive council and handed to the officers of the Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Co. on or about May 25th last, is as follows:

Agreement.

Between the Boiler Makers' Union, Lodge No. 81, of Springfield, Ill., parties of the first part, and Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Co. and Wm. Drake, of Springfield, parties of the second part.

ART. I.

Eight hours is to constitute a day's work at the rate of 33 $\frac{3}{4}$  cents per hour for boiler makers and all others in proportion.

II.

All overtime in and out of shop on old or new work shall be double time, namely, nights, Sundays and all legal holidays.

III.

All boiler work, such as driving rivets by hand, chipping, caulking and setting flues, fitting-up work, running riveting machines, flanging and laying-out work shall be done by boiler makers or apprentices, or by men in the employ of the company in June, 1902.

IV.

The shop shall be allowed one apprentice for the shop and one for each six men other than apprentices or helpers employed in June, 1902. All men in the employ of this company to belong to their respective unions. All dues, fines and assessments of members belonging to Sangamon Lodge No. 81 shall be paid to chairman of shop committee and to be deducted in office from wages of said members once a month.

V.

In case of any disagreement between the parties of this agreement the matter shall be referred to a committee of three members, one to be selected by the employers, one by the employees and these two to select a third member. Pending this decision there shall be no strike or lockout.

VI.

All expenses on work outside of the shop shall be paid by the company.

VII.

This agreement is to go into force Tuesday, June 16th, 1903, and remain in force until June 16th, 1904.

Committee.

Upon the committee presenting this agreement to the company officials, they declared that such an agreement would force the company out of existence and they positively refused to consider any such an agreement. After consulting the "roster" of our Journal, and finding that only a very few shops were working eight hours, the committee took the matter under consideration, called a special meeting, brought it before the members of our lodge, and after discussion pro. and con., some of the more conservative members succeeded in getting the proposition to read as follows:

Agreement.

Between the Boilermakers' Union, Lodge No. 81, of Springfield, Ill., parties of the first part, and the Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Co. and Wm. Drake, of Springfield, parties of the second part.

ART. I.

Nine hours is to constitute a day's work in the shop at the same pay as we have received heretofore for ten hours' work, and an additional increase of two cents per hour. Eight hours is to constitute a day's work on all repair work outside of shop, and we are to receive the same pay for eight hours' work outside of shop as for nine hours inside of shop.

II.

All overtime in shop on old or new work, on nights, Sundays and all legal holidays, shall be time and a half. And all work on outside repair work shall be double time.

III.

All boiler work, such as driving rivets by hand, chipping, caulking, setting flues, fitting-up work, running riveting machine, flanging and laying-out work shall be done by boilermakers, or apprentices, or by men in the employ of the company in June, 1902.

IV.

Shop shall be allowed one apprentice for the shop and one for every five men other than apprentices or helpers employed in June, 1902. All men employed on the construction of boilers must belong to Boilermakers' Union.

V.

In case of any disagreement between the parties of this agreement the matter shall be referred to a committee of three members, one to be selected by the employers, one by the employees and these two to select a third member. Pending this decision there shall be no strike or lockout.

VI.

All expenses on work outside of the shop shall be paid by the company.

Committee.

This proposition was also presented to officers of company and refused. The interested members of the lodge, believing this proposition to be fair in every respect, compared with what the boiler makers and helpers were receiving in the cities of Chicago and St. Louis, decided by almost unanimous vote to stand by the proposition and strike if necessary. The company, suspecting such action on part of its employees, called the committee into its office about three o'clock on June 15th, and offered one cent increase instead of two. They also agreed to give the employees one hour's time in which to hold a meeting and decide whether or not this proposition would be accepted. This meeting was called in the open air near the plant, a point of order was raised and it was decided illegal to hold such meeting and further decided to adjourn and meet that evening in our hall. Officers of the company were notified of this action by our committee and same company officers, then and there, told committeemen that if the union decided to reject this proposition they "need not return to work the next morning." At this meeting most of the so-called home guards were in favor of accepting the proposition. There were, however, a certain number of "floaters" who had been employed from three to six months at the plant, and all of whom were in favor of the strike, that persuaded and influenced most of the younger members to believe as they did and even offered to financially support any of those who became needy, and the result was that when the proposition was brought to a vote it was rejected by a majority of 76 to 18, and the next morning we turned out as pickets instead of employees. A few days after this President McNeil arrived in our city, and after investigating both sides, stated that we had not asked for anything but what we should receive. The first month of the strike the company made no effort to run the plant, but about the expiration of this time the company called committee in office presented a proposition which was practically the same as the one rejected the night before the strike. The only difference being that the company had three or four weeks' time in which to figure out the highest and lowest wages paid in the different departments and fix scale accordingly.

The strikers felt that they should know how much each should receive when they returned to work instead of going to office as individuals and allowing company to decide whether or not they should receive the minimum or maximum of this scale. If such had been accepted it would have given the company opportunity to decrease the wages of some to less than they were when we came out. Then they began to import "scabs" from Chicago and other places. The first thirty-six men brought here, most of whom with the understanding that they were to work in an automobile factory, were a little slow in coming out. Two of these men were union blacksmiths (with good union cards, paid up to date), and come out next morning and were willing to make sworn statement to above facts.

This crowd was headed by "Mike Cline," a man who was several years before a laborer in above named shop.

The next week a load of thirty-six Romanian Jews was imported from Chicago and understood they were to work in a new shop in a small town where it was necessary to board them at the works. These men were mostly fruit peddlers and paper dealers, and the tempting offer of three dollars and ten cents a day with board for those doing boiler makers' work, two dollars a day with board for helpers, with free tobacco (scab we suppose) was too much for this class of people to refuse on the start. After they were inside of the works where they had time to consider and found that things had been misrepresented to them it only took two days' time for twenty-four of them to come out, all of whom were returned by us to Chicago, sadder but wiser men.

About this time, one of the smaller contract shops, "Drake's," agreed to settle, signed the scale and those of their men who were on the strike returned to work.

The Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Company have continued to import men as fast as they would come out, and have had as many as a hundred and twenty-five in the shop at one time, all of whom have received a great deal more for their services than the demands of the strikers calls for, while comparatively little work has been turned out. During the thirteen weeks of the strike they have only shipped one boiler that was half completed when we struck, and several carloads of pipe. This pipe was built when we were at work by boys receiving 75 cents to one dollar a day, as above stated. men now employed on this work are receiving from two to three dollars and ten cents per day, with free tobacco and board, and are not turning out more than one-third of the work that was formerly done by boys. Some of the brothers may think it strange that a company would go to all this expense, but we are not fighting the Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Co. alone, for they have gone into what they term the "National Trades Metal Workers' Association," which is paying a portion of the expense of this strike. The brothers further see that this is a life and death struggle for the members of No. 81, for if the company succeeds in breaking the ranks here, there is no telling whose turn it would be next, for this association is composed of boiler shop and mills throughout the country. But we are proud to say that during the thirteen weeks of this strike there is not one that has shown any weakness, not even those who were not members of unions but came out in sympathy. If our benefits would have come more regularly at the start of this trouble the strikers would have probably been in better spirits.

There was no negotiations whatever for settlement between the strikers and Springfield Boiler and Manufacturing Co. for a period of several weeks when we were requested to meet the company's president, Mr. Brown, who informed us that it was in the hands of the "National Trades Metal Workers' Association," that his hands were tied and it was impossible for him to make a settlement. About two weeks after this a third party stepped in and arranged a meeting between the officials of the company and the committee from the strikers, at which meeting the company officials ask that the strikers make the very best proposition that they possibly could. This was done, and the strikers agreed to split the difference with the company. This was rejected and the company gave us the following document, which was presented to our members at a special meeting of the lodge, and seeing that we would have to work with the "scabs" and go into the office as individuals for adjustment, we unanimously decided to reject it. The document reads as follows:

To Fred Shelbin, George Dressendorfer, Charles Lawrence, Pat Caddigan, William Muller, Harry Peddicord, Committee of the Boiler Makers' Union, Lodge 81, of Springfield, Ill.

Gentlemen:—We have received your proposition to resume work, made on the 5th of September, which is the only proposition made by you since you went out on a strike, the 16th of last June. As we cannot accept the same without disgrace and dishonor we prefer to reject it, even though it may result in the total destruction of our plant. For fear that we may be charged with a wrong construction, we copy the proposal as a part of our answer as follows:

Agreement. .

Between the Boiler Makers' Union, Lodge No. 81, of Springfield, Ill., parties of the first part, and the Springfield Boiler and Mfg. Co. and William Drake, of Springfield, parties of the second part.

ART 1.

Nine hours is to constitute a day's work in the shop at the same pay as we have received heretofore for ten hours and an additional increase of fifteen cents per day. Eight hours is to constitute a day's work on all repair work outside of shop, and we are to receive the same pay for eight hours outside of shop as for nine hours inside of shop. We refuse to work with any man that was not employed by the company when we went out on strike, also take back every man that was in employ of company and went out on strike with us if they wish to come back.

ART. 2.

All overtime in shop on old or new work, on nights, Sundays, and all legal holidays, shall be time and one-half. And all work on outside repair work shall be double time.

ART. 3.

All boiler work, such as driving rivets by hand, chipping, caulking and setting flues, fitting-up work, running riveting machines, flanging and laying-out work, shall be done by boilermakers or apprentices or by men in the employ of the company in June, 1902.

ART. 4.

Shop shall be allowed one apprentice for the shop and one for every five men other than apprentices, or helpers, employed in June, 1902. All men employed on the construction of boilers must belong to Boilermakers' Union.

ART. 5.

In case of any disagreement between the parties of this agreement the matter shall be referred to a committee of the members, one to be selected by the employers, one by the employes, and these two to select a third member. Pending this decision there shall be no strike or lockout.

ART. 6.

All expenses on work outside of the shop shall be paid by the company.

FRED SHELBIN,
GEO. DRESSENDORFER,
CHARLES LAWRENCE,
PAT CADDIGAN,
WILLIAM MULLEN,
HARRY PEDDICORD,

Committee.

We can state that there has never been unwillingness on our part to recognize the Union, although rumors have been spread to the contrary. The mere fact that nearly 150 men and boys in the boiler and sheet iron shops were members of the Union and went out on a strike, not leaving us a single man or boy, is rather strong evidence that we were not opposed to the Union.

Therefore, we accept Articles 2, 5 and 6, and reject Articles 1, 3 and 4.

In order that you and others may fully understand our position and judge for themselves whether it is fair and right, we copy a proposition made by your committee about ten days before the strike, which is the same as the first proposition in this article.

When the above was presented, we said that it would be impossible to prosecute our business on such conditions and asked the committee to re-consider the matter and make us a reasonable proposition. The day before the strike your committee made us another proposition, which is the second one in this article.

This last proposal was evidently made to cover the one hour surrendered as mentioned in the first proposition, and which was practically nine hours' work and nearly eleven hours' pay, as it not only demands nine hours' work and ten hours' pay, but, in addition, 18 cents per day for all the men in the shop, who proposed to strike unless the same was granted, meaning in some cases over 25 per cent raise on the price the committee thought fair in June, 1902. Having a large number of contracts on hand, and especially the St. Louis contract, in an unfinished state and knowing that a strike would work heavy financial loss to us and the men, the officers of the boiler works conferred together and offered to accept the terms of the committee, with a modification, to-wit: Nine hours' work and ten hours' pay and one cent per hour to each man, and at the same time assured the committee that the increase was more than the company made during the year. The committee seemed to feel that our proposition was fair, and they called a meeting of the men during working hours, and at our expense, near the works, to decide the matter. For some reason it was not decided until night and then we were notified that our proposition was rejected. The committee will also remember that we expressed a willingness to have our employes appoint two of their number and we would appoint one to visit the competitive shops in the various parts of the country and pay the scale reported by them, as paid elsewhere, and that we would pay the expenses of the persons appointed.

After the strike, Mr. McNeil, President of the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, came here from Kansas City at the request of the strikers. He came to our works with your committee. He first sent word to us that he would give us trouble unless we complied with your demands, on our St. Louis contract, claimed that we had been robbing the men, that the men had not asked half enough, although we had been paying them much more than he had fixed as a fair compensation in 1901. We admit that under such charges our language to him was forcible, and we think just. At this meeting we suggested arbitration as to wages, that some of our men were probably entitled to higher wages, that we did not wish any man to work for less than he was worth, but Mr. McNeil, in the presence of your committee, said that he would not arbitrate, although he admitted that you did wrong, yet as you had struck, right or wrong, he would stand by you. The conference, therefore, with Mr. McNeil and the committee ended without any settlement.

On the day of the strike you commenced picketing our plant, and day and night ever since you have not failed to have men on guard. We did not attempt for one month after the strike to employ outsiders to work, and before we made any effort to get outsiders, posted a notice asking our old employed distinctly that we preferred our old employes. These notices were torn down and defaced by some of the strikers in our presence.

When we did get men and attempted to board them in the plant, supplies purchased for that purpose from various persons were turned back and the parties delivering threatened with bodily harm by some of the pickets. The men we employed when outside of the works were pursued and cruelly beaten by some of these pickets; and, if human testimony can be relied on, these outrages have been perpetuated with the consent and encouragement of some of the self-constituted leaders of the Boiler Makers' Union, Lodge 81, Springfield, Ills.

Now, allow us to call attention to Article No. 1. We agreed before the strike to concede 9 hours' work with 10 hours' pay, and we still are of the same mind, also that 8 hours constitute a day's work outside of shop with 10 hours' pay. We are willing to take back all the men, although a few do not deserve such treatment at our hands. The objectionable clause and one we cannot and will not in conscience sign is, "We refuse to work with any man that was not employed by the company when we went out on strike."

We also object to the clause in Article 1, which reads as follows, "An additional increase of 15 cents per day." This, of course, means an additional increase to each man without regard to his capacity or fitness for the work. If, for instance, we worked 200 men, we would not only be compelled to lose the one hour for which we pay, but also pay $30.00 per day in addition. As the profits have not and cannot meet the amount demanded, and we think the demand unreasonable, we cannot agree to same.

Article 3 we object.

Article 4 is particularly obnoxious and in the same line as provided in Article 1. You require us to discharge any boiler makers we now have or may hire in the future unless he belongs to the Union. In other words, however competent, however industrious, and however faithful he may be, if not a member of the Union, we must discharge him, and for no other cause. Is it right to require us to starve a faithful workman and his family, because he is unwilling to join your Union? We do not discriminate again you because you are members of a Union, and have, as we think, no legal right to do so. Where do you, or where can we get the legal or moral right to discharge a man because he is not a member of the Union? Why not say we must not employ and must discharge a Catholic, a Methodist, a Baptist, a Presbyterian, a Lutheran?

We agree with the principles annunciated by the commission appointed by President

Roosevelt, "That no person shall be refused employment or in any way discriminated against on account of membership or non-membership in any labor organization, and there shall be no discrimination or interference with any employe not a member of any labor organization by members of such organization."

The boiler shops in New York, Chicago, Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Racine and every other place within our knowledge are open shops. Why do you require us to make an agreement to work only Union men, and take the high ground that you will not "work with any man not employed by the company when we went out on a strike" and that "all men employed on the construction of boilers must belong to the Boiler-makers' Union," when we agree to give all of you work? Why do you require us to pay more than any other boiler shop outside of the large cities? The Wabash shop in this city is paying 28 cents an hour, a recent raise, and thought to be fair. Why do you insist that we shall pay 31½ cents and also extra to every other workman in the shops? When you went out on strike, we had 27 boiler makers, not a single man was paid less than $2.70 per day for 10 hours' work, and some more. We now propose to pay him for 9 hours' work the same price. We think it reasonable and eminently fair, and we challenge you to point to a shop outside of the large cities (all in Chicago) that pays more. In our conference on Saturday last, one of your members, the chief spokesman and paymaster, boasted of your ability to continue the strike indefinitely, that all of your men except 28 were working for other parties and that they were receiving aid from the Boiler Makers' Union, and aid and encouragement from several federations. This is doubtless true, but we are anxious to know upon what principle the 28 able-bodied men should be kept in idleness and receive contributions from the labors of others earning a less amount than the 28 are offered. Certainly this endorsement and this encouragement is given without investigation. We have, since the strike refused over $100,000 worth of work, that has gone to shops paying less than we have offered you. We have made no effort to do more than finish the contracts on hand, the St. Louis contract, largely a part of the unfinished work. Last year before bidding on the St. Louis contract we consulted your Union and we were assured that the same wages would apply as the year before. Owing to the heavy floods of this year in the Mississippi valley, the parties purchasing our work were delayed in the construction of their building and we could not finish the contract on that account within the year, which expired on the 16th of June last.

You were not legally bound to work on that contract after the 16th of June. Yet, as the failure to complete was not due to any fault of our own, we hardly think it right or just for you to do all in your power to thwart, hinder and harass us in every conceivable way when we attempt to complete it; that some of your members, including some of your committee, should rejoice over the fact that you have deprived us of all profits on a contract that has furnished you bread well buttered the past year, and one that was taken for the joint interest of employer and employe, and it was so understood at the time. Labor organizations and organizations of capital must be reasonable as well as individuals and neither should seek an undue advantage on the supposed weakness of the other, a sentiment that you will no doubt, as a body, endorse. We propose to complete our unfinished contracts and then shut down the plant until we can get workmen willing to take what our competitors pay. In the last ten years we have paid out for labor in this city $424,321.00—over $40,000.00 per annum. The boiler works is one of the few industries that has been able to keep its head above water, its officers have received meager salaries, less than many of its workmen. The money invested has not paid a fair interest. The officers have spared no efforts and have been governed by no little pride to make it a successful plant. If the goose that has been laying the golden egg, including five or six years of hard times, is killed, it will not be their fault. For your own good, for our good, for the good of the city at large, we now ask you to resume work on the following basis:

No discrimination on account of Union or Non-Union.

Nine hours' work and ten hours' pay.

Acceptance of Articles 2, 5 and 6.

Articles 1, 3 and 4 to be modified as suggested, and with an additional assurance on our part that we will bury the past, let bygones be bygones, and that we will take up each individual case as to wages and adjust it in a spirit of justice and equity.

As an evidence of our disposition to settle our controversy, rightly, we will state that a few weeks after the strike we were approached by the Business Mens' Association of Springfield, asking us if we were willing to submit our difference to arbitration and abide by the decision of the arbitrators. We replied without hesitation in the affirmative. We understand, but not through the Association, that they approached your committee and they refused; also stated that they had received a letter from McNeil, telling them to hold on as it would help him elsewhere to settle troubles.

We close by saying that we have great respect for many of the men who quit our service, and do not hold them responsible for the acts complained of in this paper, and while we feel that some of the men have acted beyond reason, we nevertheless will in good faith treat them courteously and fairly.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Hon. Frank Morrison, secretary American Federation of Labor, being in the city at this time and requesting a meeting with our committee, which was granted, was shown the document and advised us to reject it. He was then asked what would be the best advice he could give us and he answered in substance as follows: Throw aside all the propositions of yourselves and company and return to the first two you parted on and arbitrate the difference. This offer was also brought before the officials of the company, who rejected it the same as they have all of our other propositions. Now, the brothers at large can judge for themselves whether or not we are in the right or wrong. Hoping the members will not get out of patience at reading this article and also that they will give us their moral support and keep everyone away from here until this is settled, and that you will approve of the action we have taken, we remain,

Yours.

LODGE 198.

Ogden, September 14, 1903.—As it has been some time since the Journal has anything in its columns from Lodge 198, I will try and let the brothers know that we are doing business at the same stand. If you were here Labor Day you would have thought so from the appearance we made in the parade. We are proud to say we took the first prize for the best industrial float and for our number in line. The Labor Day celebration was a grand success, financially and morally.

Would like to call the attention of the brothers to the appeal of Brother Jack Gribbens, of Lodge 14, in July Journal, for the benefit of the widow of Brother Hawley. If every boiler maker would give up the price of one "beer," she would have enough to buy her a small home for her children.

but from the letter received from Brother Gribben it looks as if the boys like their beer. Wake up, brothers.

In regard to circular letter from Lodge 36 to keep away from that part of the country, they need not be afraid of any western boiler maker going to the east to look up piece work to assist Uncle Sam or any one else, as we do not believe in slavery.

GEO. HINKLE, Journal Correspondent.
Windsor Hotel, Ogden, Utah.

LODGE 147.

I would kindly ask you for a little space in the Journal in regard to the article published in July Journal, which stated that the accusation was false in regard to J. B. Hyndman driving staybolts with his helper. I am not a liar, and I want that changed, as he did worse than drive staybolts. He even drove hand rivets, and had him to chip and caulk and he would show him all he could, and when we went for him about it in the meeting he got terrible mad about it. If we had very many such union men our union would not be worth much. A man that is an injury to a local lodge is surely an injury to the grand lodge, and the less we have of such members the better. The Journal correspondent of 248 must be a very good friend of J. B. H. or he would not had it changed.

I remain yours truly,
ONCE A SHOPMATE OF THAT BROTHER.

P. S. While I am very sorry to say it, I don't like to see many such union brother as that.

LODGE 46, CHEYENNE WYO.

Please publish the following in the Journal, as we take this means to notify the Brotherhood of the outcome of the coroner's jury, held here in July, over the remains of the engineer and fireman who were killed by the explosion of the boilers of two of the 1500 class engines; one was the 1512 and the other was the 1516. These are the engines which the Southern Pacific loaned to the Union Pacific at the time the strike was nearly won. Brother Theo. Tuttenhoff, secretary of 46 and treasurer of District No. 4, was on the jury when the superintendent of machinery of the Union Pacific railroad shops raised his right hand to tell the truth and nothing but the truth, so help me God.

CORONER' EXAMINATION

Q. Did the U. P. buy these engines? A. No.

Q. Who owns them? A. The Southern Pacific.

Q. How is that? A. The U. P. leased them to help them out.

That is all from the superintendent of machinery. I am really taken back with this whole conference. Mr. Burt played his points fine, he has something up his sleeve; it will surprise you all soon. When the vote is taken the scab will have the majority all along the line of the U. P. Then the union men can take piece work or walk out, but you can bet we will never do piece work. It looks mighty strange to us all here for the company to keep the scabs who cannot put on a small straight patch without the help of a scab boss. And he is doing his best to help them along with everything they do, to make a day's wages working piece work. All the scabs are on piece work. It is a shame to think that the boilermakers have to work under such conditions, when they could have done far better if the S. P. had been called out when the proposition was made. You can all see today, brothers, that the S. P. did supply the U. P. with engines the time of our strike. Corporations never tell a lie. Oh, no. Now, brothers, you can all see how the S. P. and the U. P. worked hand in hand to do harm to our brotherhood in our noble struggle against piece work.

I remain your fraternally,

M. C. MURPHY,
President Lodge 46.

LODGE 56, H. D.

I shall endeavor, to the best of my ability, to give a clear account of our case against Frank Sheehan, ex-corresponding secretary of Lodge 56 H. D.

He was elected corresponding secretary in December last and on January 4, 1903, $42.92 was paid to him to be sent to Kansas City for supplies for the lodge. January 18 he received $11.25 from the lodge for the same purpose. He claimed he sent the money the days following the meeting-day and could not account for the supplies not coming. He was one of the committee of management for the dance on February 18 last, and he sold more tickets than anyone else, thus winning a prize of $2.00 thereby. Things went quietly for a while in our union. We were anxiously awaiting supplies until Pat Mullaney, former president, and who held the office at the time, asked him for the postal order receipts for the sums turned over to him and which he had not shown at any meeting. He told Pat Mullaney that he didn't get any, but that he would go and get them. Next day two of the shop committee went to the postoffice and could not learn anything about any money being sent on those dates. We watched Frank pretty close, and on the morning of February 28 he did not appear to work as usual. The president, suspecting something wrong went out of the shop and swore out a warrant for his arrest for grand larceny. He was arrested at noon at the depot. He had a hearing Monday morning following and was let out on bail. After getting out, unknown to us, he sent you the money for supplies. We offered to let him settle by squaring with us and paying our lawyers, but he would not. He was held for grand jury at Maysville, N. Y., April 28, and was acquitted. That left us to stand our own expenses, which amounted to quite a little by that time. When asked about the money he collected for selling dance tickets, which amounted to $38.00, he said he was willing to pay it back, but would not say when, because he did not have the money then and didn't know when he would have it. We offered to let him pay it by the week and let him work in the shop again. We asked him to come to our next regular meeting and make an agreement as to how he would pay it. He came, but left shortly after the meeting opened, and so we are out the dance money, too. Now, Mr. Gilthrope, we have suspended him, to stand suspended until he squares up with us. He ought to be expelled from our organization, instead of suspension. You can expell him if you want to. He left Dunkirk about July 4, and the last heard of him he was in Kansas City about two weeks ago. If he is down there I would like very much if you would locate him, because a man like that is unfit for any organization. As this is intended for an open letter we should like very much to see it in next month's issue of the Journal.

Yours fraternally,

THOS. C. BURRELL,
Chairman Shop Committee.

PARRY IS SHARPLY CRITICISED.

In a communication to the "Leader," Charles Jenkins of Pittsburg, business agent of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, takes issue with the recent utterances of D. M. Parry, of Indianapolis, who is planning to organize a combination of employers in a league offensive and defensive to the labor union movement. In the communication Mr. Jenkins expresses himself as follows:

"D. M. Parry's address at Chautauqua on August 13 continues to be an interesting topic among the rank and file of the gallant army of 'sons of toil,' and especially among the members of organized labor. The standing of the man, the class he represents and the noble cause he assails so vehemently lends importance to his speech, and his assertions are worthy of a careful review and consideration.

"We admit most readily that Mr. Parry is able, eloquent and a man of considerable influence; but, alas, his conception of principle is narrow, his logic a muddled sophistry, and his fairmindedness abnormally small. The majority of his assertions are self-condemnatory and are expressions of careless thinking, deeply colored with hatred. The statements that organized labor is of the 'mob' character, and that its will is superior to customs, traditions, government regulations and even the constitution of the country are perniciously false. The mission of organized labor can be incorporated into one simple, short sentence—the betterment of humanity. The working class is the 'bone and sinew of civilization,' as the Pilgrim Fathers expressed it, and their aim is the advancement of the human race. Their creed is that all men are born equal, and that happiness should not only be the desire of mankind, but rather the glorious goal made possible for every individual to attain. There are born leaders, as well as born workmen; and while talent and environment qualify some people for leadership and high positions, yet the majority cannot arise above the working class; and the aim of organized labor is to protect the majority against the possible misrule of the few. Its claim is righteous, yet modest and reasonable—'a fair day's wages for a fair day's work.' Does that claim breathe the spirit of 'mobocracy?' The willing hands are ready for work, and demand no higher favor than 'fair play.' A large number of employees are ready to meet the workingman on this ground, and the relationship between employer and employee is that of peace and faithful co-operation; but, to their dishonor, there are quite a number of employers, of the real plutocratic spirit, whose aim is to grind the workingman and keep him continually in the state of serfdom. This is the class of employers that makes organized labor an indispensable necessity. Yet organized labor was not created for antagonism, but for protection, for the exercise of a free-man's right, and the perpetual understanding between employer and employee. The constitution and by-laws of the various labor associations are up to the standard of the civil constitutions of the most advanced nations of the world.

"Mr. Parry's claim that organized labor has fallen short of accomplishing any beneficial purpose is an extreme absurdity. Besides being a bulwark of strength for the working man at his daily toil; besides being a succor to the sick, the orphan and the widow, and spending $1,500,000 in their support, it has also been instrumental in having laws enacted that are of the greatest benefit to the common people and the state. The following instances may be mentioned: Fire escapes on factories, inspectors in factories, protections from dangerous machinery, abolition of child labor, shorter work day, ventilation in all workshops, two outlets in mines, protected wages of wives from attachment, industrial and evening schools, board of arbitration, abolished truck stores, guaranteed workers' wages by lien, Australian ballot, etc., etc. In view of the above facts, it is rather imprudent, to say the least, to maintain that organized labor is nothing more nor less than a 'breeder' of lawlessness and anarchism.'

"Also, the claim that 'organized labor destroys the inherent right of the individual' is misleading. Its aim is to unify the purpose of the many, and make it effective for the elevation of labor. Labor is honorable, and its dignity as well as its service should be considered. The man that undermines his fellow workmen who is out for his rights, is in error; and every lawful means should be applied to convince him of his wrongdoing. To persuade or even the attempt to stop him in such a case is only an attempt to save him from doing an injury to his fellow being and from disgracing himself. This is not depriving him of his inherent right, but an attempt at persuading him to respect the rights of others, and act the honorable man. It is possible in some instances that some labor associations have gone too far in their demands, and that they have behaved unwisely, but in such cases is it wisely, is it right that the employers should rush to use dishonorable means in prevailing on the ignorant to step in and fill the breach? The employers that import Hungarians, Poles, Austrians and Italians in times of trouble and dispute to take the place of American workmen are no friends of the republic. These foreigners when convinced of their wrongdoing and how they were deceived by false representation of the situation, feel indignant, and are the most ready at the slightest provocation to go out on strike, and they are stubborn strikers. In the conflicts between capital and labor the wise leadership of organized labor is the only power capable of keeping this foreign element under control. This is a very dark picture—the capital of America aiming at lowering the standard of the working class of the most glorious government under the sun to the level of the working classes of the lowest and most ignorant countries in Europe. If our country needs a pattern, let her consider the situation in Australia and New Zealand—the homes of the eight hours' labor, eight hours' recreation, eight hours' rest and a half-holiday every week.

"But, after all, there is no room for discouragement; Parryism cannot prevail. Although American labor has created more millionaires than the labor of any other country on the face of the globe, yet it claims nothing more than a fair deal—the same right to organize that capital enjoys—the acknowledgement of this government is the 'reign of the common people,' and that that principal shall never be endangered, and that the 'room at the head of the class be as open for the workingmen as to the millionaire forever. Mr. Parry himself, and that is to his credit, has sprung up from the ranks of labor; but yet, in his Parryism, he seems to us as shamming to be a descendant of the gods.

"His wail against arbitration is a rank folly, and his wild and vague assertions appear to be more of a hallucination of a perverted mind than the ripe opinion of a careful student in civil advancement, progress and human rights. Arbitration is here to stay, and the spirit of conciliation is in the land. It may fail in its purpose at times; but it is still developing, and ere long will resolve itself into a perfect system. It will be soon the prime factor in bringing parties in disagreement together, helping them to view matters in dispute in the same light, and to prepare the way to reach a happy conclusion. In the near future it will be the means of relegating all strikes and disorders to the oblivious past, of setting aside the sword and the gun forever, and to usher in the reign of universal peace."—Leader.

BOILERMAKERS' UNION CUTS SOME FIGURE IN THE LABOR WORLD.

Among the unions rapidly coming to the front and gaining in strength and influence is the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders. Lafayette lodge, No. 169, is the name of the Detroit local, and its strength, now 135, has doubled in the past couple of years. But what adds to its influence is the organization of the helpers, which first occurred two years ago. The name of the helpers local is City of the Straits lodge, No. 72, Helpers' Division, Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders. This union started with 60 members and there are now 175 and it is expected that within a month a new union will be organized.

As a national organization the boilermakers have great strength and influence. There are 45,000 members in the boilermakers' lodges, and nearly 100,000 in the helpers' division. Financially the organizations are in splendid condition.—Detroit (Mich) Exchange.

LODGE 50.

We request you to publish this notice in the Journal for the benefit of local Lodge No. 50: B. of B. M. and I. S. B. of A., of Labor Day parade in Charleston, S. C., the best Labor Day parade ever given in Charleston, S. C., led by S. D. Seargent, grand marshal of the day, a member of Lodge 50. Boilermakers after the parade, returned to our hall. Speeches and songs were the feature of the day. L. H. Hisenbottle, president, sang his old favorite "The Shamrock," songs by quartette Seargent, Weinger, Franks and Dean; speech by our ex-president, J. P. Comerford; also F. Earley spoke on unionism. E. H. Coates served refreshments and gave a song "Union Forever." J. J. O'Herin called on for a speech, being sick for a long time, begged the members to be true to the cause. It was one of the happiest days the boilermakers have had in many a year. Songs and dances too numerous to mention. Last of all a speech from a member. Success to our grand lodge.

Hoping this meets with the approval of our Grand Lodge, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

J. J. O'HERIN, C. S.

LODGE 65HD.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19, 1903.—Lodge No. 65HD. desires to come before the notice of our fellow brothers all over the country to inform them one and all that we are in good moral and financial standing; better, in fact than a great many other unions in this city, and more particularly so than one union, of which I take great pleasure in requesting all of the Brotherhood to take particular notice of the way they conduct business. On the 20th day of May, 1901, as everybody is aware, a thing called George Neiswinder walked out of the Risdon Iron Works willingly and without coercion of any sort, and staid out for a couple of weeks, and on a day preceding a meeting at which we intended placing him for nomination as president, this aforesaid rotten specimen of humanity proved what a traitor he was to humanity by sneaking back to work and being watched and herded like a band of convicts inside of barricaded shops and never going outside unless accompanied by a hired assassin in the guise of a special policeman. Fines would be of no avail in regards to cases of this kind, and so we placed an initiation fee of $252.75 on this scab's head; and would you believe it, brothers, this same scab joined the Machine Hands Union of this city for a measly $3.00, on the same level as a decent and honorable man, showing no distinction whatever between them. Also they have taken in another scab boilermakers' helper from the Keystone Boiler Works, who couldn't join anything, not alone a union, for $3.00. It may only be a rumor, but this same union intends to make some of our members affiliate with such as the two above mentioned creatures.

If we can get the help of the boilermakers in this case as in the past we will succeed in driving every machine hand out of all the boiler shops in this city.

It is also with the greatest regret that I have to announce the resignation of Brother Matheson, our business agent, which is to take effect Tuesday evening, Sept. 22. He has in his experience proved a faithful and efficient business agent, and it is to be hoped that his successor will be his equal in promoting the interests of the Helpers Union of San Francisco.

Owing to the good showing the heater boys made in the Labor Day parade, the lodge intends to give a smoker at an early date.

JOHN M. HOGAN,
Journal Cor.

A SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE.

I am pleased to inform you that the boilermakers on the C. & O. railroad were granted an increase in wages last month, August, which was 35 cents per day, making us $3.00 per day, or 30 cents per hour, without any asking on our part, which makes boilermakers the highest rated mechanics on the system. Boiler makers on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad were given a voluntary increase in pay from 26½ cents per hour to 30 cents, which took effect August 1, 1903. This company is always ready to do what is right by its employees.

O. M. POLLOCK,
Huntington, W. Va.

LODGE 52.

Pocatello, Idaho, Sept. 20, 1903.—We have a publication for the Journal in regards to Joseph Pursian. He is a boilermaker and was initiated in Lodge No. 268, Frankford, Ind. He went to Helper, Utah, and left a board bill of $19.50 on a poor widow woman. He came to Salt Lake City, but the brothers there would not permit him to go to work. He came to Pocatello and asked for a chance to make good, which was granted. He obtained a card by misrepresentation and skipped out after stealing a hat from a machinist and getting on a big drunk. Now, something should be done with such a man as he, or else every boilermaker (good or bad) will soon have to stop traveling altogether, as we have already got a bad name.

Hoping to see this in your next issue of the Journal, I am,

Yours fraternally,
THOMAS I. LEITH.

LODGE 161.

Boone, Sept. 20, 1903.—Please allow a little space in the next issue of the Journal and I will try to let lodges at large get an idea of what is going on at this point. 161 is still doing business at the old stand, and is trying very hard to keep the rust off at least the place she stands on. Its a very hard task at present, as our fold is now and then reduced, but nevertheless they are up against the real thing now as materially, but the old stumps remain. Business is not what it should be for this time of the season and our working hours are down to 45 a week. Can't tell why we are on slack time. Must be that this system is going to do business on "cured water and a lot of hot air talk."

Labor Day has passed and once more demonstrated the fact that the united effort of the laboring classes, both in skilled as well as unskilled, is not in vain. As we looked over the large number that represented their respective unions, we point with pride to the results we obtained; firstly, as a betterment socially, as we learn each others wants, and, secondly, the employer must show due respect to his workmen. Brother, would you step back a score or more years and join in the free-for-all—get the best way you can or else get out? I say no. Why? Because we have a protective union that has principle, and if you and I do our duty we will see wonderful improvement in our order.

The boilermakers and helpers had a very fine turn out, and everybody proclaimed our new banner a beauty.

Brothers A. Murphy and E. Nicholson, who last night returned from an extended tour out west, report a very enjoyable time, having spent a one month vacation at different places of interest in Colorado.

Now, I agree with Brother Watson, of Lodge 194, that we are running too cheap a union to be effective. As we are now on a very progressive stage we must take some steps to meet the requirements, as each member should realize the responsibilities that are laid on the organization. I say raise the per capita to the Grand Lodge and place the union in fitness for the position she should be in.

Now, don't get way back and sit down, but get in line. Get to the front, don't wait for your next brother to do your part, but get out of the old rut you are in, and see for yourself how much you can accomplish if you only try.

Yours fraternally,

FRITZ JOHNSON, J. C.

REPORT OF ORGANIZER MONAHAN.

To the Officers and Members, Greeting:—Since my last report I was notified by Moncton and McAdam Jct., N. B., that they had received their charter and supplies and asking me to come on as soon as possible, so commencing on July 31 I left Montreal, reached Point Levis that night, got the boys together on Sunday afternoon, and although they did not receive the supplies we held a meeting. I left Point Levis Monday, August 3, for McAdam Jct. and got there on the 4th. I held a meeting the same night, where I initiated the members and installed the officers. I left for Moncton on the 5th, where I held a meeting that night, which was very well attended; initiated members and installed their officers. Left next morning, August 6, for Amherst, N. S. Arrived there same night, and I paid a visit to Robb & Co.'s engine and boiler works, where I made the acquaintance of Fred Tarrio, one of the boilermakers, and also the foreman, Mr. Brady. The latter thought to handle me very rough at first, but calmed down later on, and then he told me he kept three or four good boilermakers and the rest are handy men. With the prospects not very bright to organize I left the next morning for Truro, N. S., where I visited the Truro Foundry and Machine Co. There are only two boilermakers in that shop, Mr. Watson and Mr. Hourihan, and four helpers, and as Mr. Watson was sick at home that left but one boilermaker in that shop. I left next morning for New Glasgow, N. S., Saturday, August 8, where I got to the boiler shop of J. Matheson & Co. I got a pass at the office and went to the boiler shop, where I made the acquaintance of Archie McCachron, and it being near noon we arranged to meet that night as appointed. There were just two of them put in an appearance, so I put it off until Sunday afternoon, August 9, when they agreed to meet me, but it was the same as the previous night, no quorum, so I went to the shop next morning, August 10, where I met them at the noon hour. They told me they would consider about organizing if I left them the necessary papers and instructions how to organize, so I gave them a pedigree list and showed them how they must fill it in and return to me. I left there in the afternoon, came back to Truro, Windsor and Digby, N. S., and then to Yarmouth, N. S., where I visited on August 11 the only boiler shop there, which employs three boilermakers and two apprentices. I made my mission known to the foreman of the shop, J. F. Bradbury, and he introduced me to a boilermaker named F. Sherwood, who was very anxious to have a lodge organized there, but there being only two boilermakers and the foreman and two apprentices they asked for some time to consider and they would let me know.

I left next morning, August 12, and got to St. Johns on the 13th, where I met some of the boys, and strange they had no complaint to make about their delinquent brothers. Then I came to Point Levis, where I met the boilermakers of that town, and they complained about not getting their supplies, so, as you are aware, I sent a telegram to you and I gave them the answer, and I went with them to the custom house and express office, but no trace of them to be found. I then came home to Montreal, August 17, where I had a little rest, for after traveling about 2,000 miles through New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and traveling most of the time by night, I needed it. Then I was making preparations for Labor Day among the boilermakers of Montreal. It is expected to exceed any previous demonstration of the kind ever held in Montreal.

P. J. MONAHAN, Organizer.

LODGE 14.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 18, 1903.—The following is a copy of a letter from Brother McConaughy, which with a postoffice order for seven ($7.00) dollars, contributed by members of Lodge 72, came to me in response to appeal on behalf of widow and orphans of late Brother John Hawley, killed in Chattanooga, Tenn. I am pleased to also acknowledge receipt of two ($2.00) dollars from Brother Easterdy, contributed by members of Lodge 185, and a personal contribution of one ($1.00) dollar from Brother Thomas Nolan, C. S. Lodge 57. It is to be hoped, as Brother Conaughy says, other hearts, and pockets, too, will be touched by the appeal made in the Journal, June issue, and that further contributions will be made to this very worthy object.

Sincerely and fraternally,

JACK GRIBBEN, J. C.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 30, 1903.

Mr. Jack Gribben, 103 College st., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Dear Sir and Brother:—Seeing your account of the sad fate of Brother Hawley and the destitute condition of his bereaved family in the June issue of the Journal (which we have just received), I would say for myself and the members of No. 72 that our hearts were filled with sorrow at the sad news and with compassion for the stricken wife and mother and fatherless children, who never more shall know a father's love and guidance. I read your letter to the lodge, and I assure you, Brother Gribben, it touched every heart there present, and touched every pocket, too, which is much more to the purpose, which goes to show that away out here in the Pacific Northwest the milk of human kindness has not turned sour nor the source gone dry.

We are a small lodge and there were but fourteen present. My only regret is that we could not send more. Please convey to Mrs. Hawley our deep sorrow and sincere sympathy with her in her great affliction.

Yours sincerely and fraternally,

H. McCONAUGHEY, J. C.

LODGE 331.

As 331 has never made their appearance in the Journal, I think it is about time that we come out and show our colors.

Well, I must tell you we had a big turn out on Labor Day, although it rained hard all day, but that did not stop the boys from turning out. Nos. 331 and 115 turned out together, 100 strong. The boys all got a good soaking, but they did not mind that, for after the parade we all went back to our hall, where we held a smoker and all enjoyed ourselves the balance of the day. It was no fault of Brothers Mich. Kinney and Al Skinner, the cooks, that the boys did not get enough to eat, and Jakey Hobson, the bartender, who saw that the boys had plenty to drink.

First on the program was an address delivered by our worthy president, John Q. Adams, on organized labor, which was loudly applauded. We then listened to a song by Brother Hofvander entitled "They Want Me to Take His Place." Then Brother Thomas Ralph, Walter Hobson and Jess Knight passed the beer.

The next on the program was an address by Peter Kasier, worthy president of No. 115, which was also loudly applauded. Then Brother Camp passed the cigars and Brother Wm. Janson favored us with a buck dance, followed by Brother John Welch, who showed us all how to dance an Irish jig.

Brother Joe Ralph, chairman, took particular pains to see that the boys all had fun enough. Then we had the following toast by our worthy secretary: "Here is to the ship builders all; here is to the hammers we have got; here is to the little ones that make the rivets; here is to our good old holderon, while us two knock them down, if you don't belong to the union you can't work in this town." Our worthy sergeant-at-arms, Ed Dwire, took care of all the boys who had enough to eat and drink, and if the boys didn't have fun enough to last them for a month it was not the fault of Brother John McKnight, who saw that we had plenty of refreshments. A few more high ones and it began to get pretty windy, and for fear of a cyclone we all started for home, singing, "Take Your Umbrella With You, John." But, oh my, you ought to have seen the boys going down stairs. Some took toboggan slides and some crawled down: but we don't like to mention any names in this case, so we will bid you au revoir for the present.

With best wishes to our brother lodges,

Yours fraternally,

M. V. CAMP, C. S.

LODGE 277.

The Labor Day parade in Buffalo proved a great success and showed the great strength of union labor in Buffalo. Lodge No. 277 was well represented. The brothers, who had been idle five weeks previous to Labor Day on account of strike, had just returned to work, and on short notice got ready to participate in the great parade. Brothers Mc-Mamara, Casey, McGaugh, Sullivan, Adams and Grant built a float, consisting of a keel-plate and floor, on which Brothers Buntin, Campbell, W. Gibson and Horan were riveting during the procession. Brother Leary carried the banner, while Brother O'Connell acted as marshal. The members wore black shirts, white ties, belts, panama hats and carried canes and were kept in good step by Brother Mercer. After the procession the members attended the Labor Day picnic at Columbia park. I remain,

Yours fraternally,

FRANK DUNFORD, C. S.

TWO MORE BOARD BILL JUMPERS.

Brother Andy Sims, 16677, jumped a board bill in Buffalo amounting to $16.00, and his brother, James Sims, also owes the same man a board bill amounting to $4.99.

Yours fraternally,

FRANK DUNFORD, C. S. No. 277.

FROM PRESIDENT OF NO. 6.

Yours of August 12 to hand and contents carefully noted. The circular letter you spoke of must be a report of the part we took in bringing about settlement of the U. P. strike. I think Secretary McCracken sent it to be published in the Journal, but it is rather late now. If it had been in the form of a complaint or something to your discredit I am satisfied it would have been published on the first page in the first issue of the Journal.

Well, we returned by the southern route, stopped at all divisions and met all the boys, who were well satisfied with the action taken by District Lodge No. 6, also the outcome. We were present at a regular meeting of Kern City Lodge No. 253, and we received a royal reception. It was regularly moved and seconded and carried that a vote of thanks and the hearty approval of No. 253 be tendered to the committee for the action taken, and everybody had a good word for the G. P. O.

You spoke of being condemned by some of the lodges for granting the fifteen days extension of time. You was requested to do so by District Lodge No. 6. We in turn were urged to take the matter up by three of the largest lodges on the system, and our action, together with yours, has been approved by 95 per cent of the members on the S. P. system. Now, is this not satisfactory to you, or did you expect to satisfy every individual interested? You never can do that. A friend and brother in Minneapolis writes me, saying don't be discouraged over complaints in the Journal as those people would have kicked just the same if you had walked to New York and back. Brother McNeil, I am glad to tell you that you made many friends on the Southern Pacific by your action in this matter, and you will find it our later on. There was so many misleading letters and telegrams sent out on this system that it was hard for the lodges to understand the true situation, but since everything has been explained everything is satisfactory excepting the few complaints you spoke of. A few of the boys were disappointed on account of being deprived of the pleasure of striking, but I guess they are getting over it. About riding in Mr. Harri-man's car, I guess Lodge 52 thinks he gave us the car, but not so. He only furnished it for our use while on the trip. You can publish this letter in the Journal for the benefit of all concerned.

Fraternally,

GEO. McKEON,

Pres. Dist. Lodge No. 6.

CARD OF THANKS.

Being desirous of returning my sincere thanks to the officers and members of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America for their many kind acts and courtesies shown to me since I have been unable to work at the trade as a boiler-maker through being stricken with neuralgia paralysis, as they have shown by their many acts from time to time the true spirit of unionism, which at all times was thankfully received, and also through their energetic efforts in having a national contest to secure money to keep me from being in want. The members of Buffalo Lodge No. 7 have at all times nobly responded when they found I was in need, therefore to one and all let me say that my earnest prayer will always be, may the Brotherhood flourish and prosper in the good work it is doing, and may any of its members never be stricken with that dreadful disease that I have had the misfortune to be stricken with. The noble organization, which I was always proud to be a member of, has fulfilled its obligation to me as stricken, to the very letter. Allow me to say, in conclusion, may the Brotherhood continue in the good work it was created for, and which it is doing manfully, and may its banner be always found floating in the front ranks of organized labor.

Sincerely and respectfully yours,

DENNIS BUCKLEY.

REPORT OF EDW. FOX, G. V. P.

In submitting my report to the readers of the Journal for this month, let me say that while I was in Detroit I paid a visit to the new ship yard in Ecorse known as the Great Lakes Engineering Company, and was greatly surprised at the size of this new plant. When this establishment is completed it will be the most complete ship building plant in the entire country. Its entire cost will be $4,000,000. There is no ship yard in this country that will compare with this one as far as machinery is concerned, and they certainly intend to do a lot of work. Upon inspection the heaviest machinery can be found, far heavier than any yet seen, and all modern appliances. Berths are prepared, four in number, where a ship 900 feet long can be constructed. They are getting ready a ship for a steel floating dry dock which will be 800 feet long. It is of English design and patented; will be got ready in England and shipped out and put together and completed at the yards of the company. It is the intention of the company to build their own furnaces and rolling mills, so they will manufacture everything they require to build ships of any size.

On the 21st of August we were successful in bringing to a termination the strike in Detroit, but we were not successful in bringing the wages up to the level of other lake cities in some of the shops. While in two shops, namely, the Detroit Dry Dock and Michigan Central repair shops, our men have as good conditions to work under as can be found elsewhere, but the other shops are away below the level. Perhaps some of our readers are not aware that Detroit has stood still for a number of years and did not take advantage of the times as other lake lodges did, consequently they were 20 per cent below and working a ten hour day, while their employers were members of a metal trades association and had injunctions issued against our members, trying to induce our men to return to work, offering money to some members. It was very interesting to watch this great struggle. Some of the helpers, together with some boiler-makers, five in number, accepted money from John Brennen & Co. and returned to work. The boys decided to settle with the other firms and renew the fight at some future time when it will be advantageous for them to do so. The settlement was as follows: Nine hour day in shop and 10 per cent increase in wages, and eight hours outside of shop, with nine hours' pay, which means a great deal more than 10 per cent on the whole. Our boys in Detroit are now strongly organized, but the strike lasting over ten weeks has driven a lot of work out of that city, consequently some of our members are out of work, and all members are requested to keep away from Detroit until such time as further instructed.

When I was through in Detroit I came on to Buffalo to look over the local ground. Our men were still out fighting the firm of Riter & Conley, and were determined to fight it to a finish, true to their record.

I proceeded to Erie and looked over the situation there. Erie is a place that all boiler-makers must keep away from, as Lodge 151 has a hard fight on against the Erie City Iron Works. As has been already reported, this firm has discriminated against our men, and our boys have that company well in hand. While we have as good timber in Erie as can be found in any lodge, yet there are others who are on the fence waiting to see which side will come out ahead. Since Lodge 151 was reorganized they have secured a substantial increase in wages. Those men who do not belong to the lodge are deriving the benefit, and the only name that can be given these men is bloodsuckers.

I then returned again to Buffalo and attended a meeting of No. 7.

From there I was called to Meadville to watch a very interesting case in court, as one of our members, Brother William Ross, president of Lodge 184, was being tried for violating an injunction issued against that lodge on complaint of the Titusville Iron Works. Should the company be successful in obtaining a conviction against Brother Ross the least sentence the court could impose on him would be two year's imprisonment, but, however, we were successful in having the case thrown out.

I then proceeded to Lodge 156 of Oil City, where our men are out on strike to protect their trade and better their conditions. I must state that the Oil City Boiler Works will not recognize a committee of any kind and will do no business only as individuals. and our men are determined to bring that company to time. In Oil City you will find the hardest fighters we have in the Brotherhood.

My next move was on to Titusville, and Lodge 184 and Lodge 87, Helpers' Division, are in a death struggle with the Titusville Iron Works. This is one of the most autocratic companies we have had to deal with in a long time. They are determined to crush the spirit of unionism out of our men; and let me say that we have the timber there in that lodge that is duly qualified to give battle to the above firm, and with the proper assistance, morally and financially, there is nothing to prevent them from winning their fight.

I again returned to Buffalo, as I was working hard and had been for some time to organize a lodge of ship yard holderson's and helpers. The above body was organized under the head of the American Federation of Labor, known as Federal Union 8224. There was two men at its head, John Boland and Peter Larsen, whose only object was to create trouble for our men in the Buffalo Dry Dock Company's yard. They were the means of forcing our men out on the streets twice this year. When I was in Washington, D. C., on June 1, this year, I took this matter up with Mr. Samuel Gompers. He requested me to let this matter stand in abeyance until the executive council passed on it. I did so, but found no redress, so I decided to go ahead and organize these boys and with the help of the members of Lodge 277 we were successful in organizing Lodge 128, Helpers' Division, on Sept. 8th. The importance of this will be seen as we were continually requesting the A. F. of L. for the past two years to revoke that charter. I had to leave for Meadville, Pa., to meet committee of District Lodge No. 8, and your Grand President to have some minor matters straightened out. I immediately returned to Buffalo to secure our new baby lodge and leave it standing on a good foundation before I left town.

Advice from Cleveland Lodge 20 and 95 H. D., state that the strike there is settled. Money matters being satisfactory and the 9-hour day conceded beginning Nov. 1st, 1903. This strike is worthy of mention as in 1898 Lodge 5 had a strike with the same firm and lost, and also lost the yard for a number of years. This year the war horses again did battle and were successful. Lorain is the only shipyard belonging to the American Shipbuilding Company, which has not received the 9-hour day on Lake Erie. With best wishes to all and wishing you every success. I am your fraternally,

EDWARD FOX.

LODGE NO. 227.

At our last regular meeting I was instructed to notify you in regards to a brother we took in this lodge last May. His name is Edward Murray, Reg. No. 30900. Now some time ago he got on a drunk and quit his job but before he got out we found out he owed about 80 dollars around town, so the shop committee went to the foreman and fixed it so he could go to work again, thinking that would be a lesson to him. Well he went out about 30 miles to a place by the name of West Chicago and worked out there about a month and quit again, owing everybody there he could beat, that was about 25 dollars. Now the lodge wants that thing suspended as they claim he is a disgrace to the organization. This is the man I wrote to you some time ago about. He came from Philadelphia here. He is about 5 foot and 4 inches tall and weighs about 170 pounds, dark features and black mustache. Hoping you will publish same in the Journal, I beg to remain

Yours fraternally,

JOHN HOLT,
Corresponding Secretary.

FROM ONE BUSINESS AGENT.

Cleveland, Sept. 23, 1903.—Hope this will be seen in the next issue. Well Brothers, our Treasurer, Brother Chas. Brooks, met with a misfortune which will leave him a cripple for life. He was working for the L. S. & M. S. railroad. He was sent out to do a job on an engine by the foreman. The shop was so full of work they couldn't get any more engines in the shop. He was putting in some patch bolts. He had them all in but one and he had to go in the shop for one more bolt, and when he was crossing the track an engine backed up with a tank in front of it and ran Brother Brooks down and cut both of his legs off. This was on the 19th day of August. One leg was cut off above the knee and the other below the knee. Brother Brooks is one of the oldest members in Lodge No. 5, and a union man at heart, and has been treasurer of Lodge No. 5 ever since we were organized. He is getting along very nicely, and we expect to see him out of the hospital in about three weeks. In the meantime Lodge 5 has elected Brother Thomas Burns temporary treasurer, and all the members have all kinds of confidence in Brother Burns and he makes an up-to-date treasurer.

Lodge Nos. 5, 20 and 95 H. D. are doing very nicely. Lodge Nos. 20 and 95, the war horses of Cleveland, have won out the nine hour day and 10 per cent increase in wages. Brother Charles Van Draver, President of Lodge No. 20 and Brother T. F. Maloney, C. S., of Lodge No. 95 H. D., cannot receive too much credit for they are both great captains in war. They handled this strike in grand style and got everything they went out for.

Now we want all boiler makers and iron ship builders and heaters and holderson without a clear card punched up-to-date to stay away from Cleveland. Hoping this will find room in next month's Journal, I remain, Yours fraternally.

JAS. GREEN,
Business Agent.

P. S.—The Globe ship yard has got to be no card, no work. So look out boys if you don't want a tin can put on your coattail.

JAMES GREEN,
Business Agent.

LODGE NO. 230.

Joplin, Mo., Sept. 21, 1903.

If you will allow me a small space in the Journal I would like to say a few words in regard to our trouble here. We have had a strike on here since the 17th of August. The operators absolutely refused to recognize us. We have a few scabs here, but this scabby scab, scab, is the scabbiest scab of the whole scab fraternity. His name is Sherman Vaughan, Reg. No. 9421. His fine is $200. He has been raised right here in this town. I say raised, I may have made a mistake, as I can't see where the raising comes in. He has been talked to by his own schoolmates, boys that went to school together, and furthermore, he promised our president and secretary, that he would pass up the job, and that he was going to do the right thing. I think his understanding of the right thing is very limited. He looks like a sheep-killing dog to the writer. Can't look his fellow man square in the face. I want all the Brothers to get a fair glimpse of a genuine, low down scab. He thought he would get to be foreman when he took the job, but they sent away and got another scab with at a spoonful of brains. He is an old man and claims he didn't know there was any trouble here. Says he used to be a union man too, but Hades is full of his kind. Now please give this space in your Journal and oblige.

UNION PRINCIPLES AND MANLY CONDUCT.

—, Sept. 19, 1903.

Dear Sir and Brother:—

I received your letter and was glad to hear from you, and Bro. — is all right up to Aug. What does your lodge think of the assessment? I think it is going to cause trouble in this section.

Give my kindest regards to—and—. Hoping that they are having a nice time there, I am, Fraternally yours,

C. S. L. —.

Answer to Above Letter.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 23, 1903.

Dear Sir and Brother:—Yours of the 19th inst. received. You ask me what No. 4 thought of the September assessments. No. 4 voted unanimously in favor of the assessments, so I guess they must be satisfied. No. 4 will pay $1.00 each per member and the member will pay $1.00 each. I hear some of the lodges in the East are not satisfied. I think when the boiler makers consider that matter from a business and energetic standpoint, they will change their minds, for it certainly takes money to get money, and the Grand Officers are trying to better the condition of the boiler makers, and have not the funds to do it with, by assessing all the members $2.00 each.

It places them in a position to do something for the Brotherhood at large. You must remember the Grand Officers are in the position to consider the interest of the whole, and not the individual. In looking over the Grand Secretaries' report for second quarter, I find they paid the amount of $700.00 per day to strikers. If I am wise enough to know right from wrong, that will explain it all.

Twelve months ago I was in the midst of a big strike in this city, it lasted four months. During that four months, I paid out to strikers (thirteen thousand dollars), $13,000, and all of this money came from the Grand Lodge. I have receipts to show the same up to that time. Lodge No. 4 had not sent that much money to the Grand Lodge. "Thank the Lord," it is not too late. Our eyes have been opened and we will give a helping hand to the Grand Officers and share with all alike, so as they can better the condition of the Brotherhood at large.

Thanking you in advance for all favors that might be given, I remain, Yours fraternally,

A. L. CARMACK,

Cor. Secy. and Bus. Agt. Lodge No. 4.

LODGE NO. 233.

Oakland, Cal., September 20, 1903.

If you can find space in your valuable Journal I would like to say a few words about what the boys of No. 233 did on Labor Day. We had a grand celebration and the boiler makers with their apprentices and helpers, were right in the front ranks. We had a float that was up-to-date and you bet those hammers played a good tune for the boys to step to. Our committee worked hard to make the day a success, and there was not a better appearing union in the parade, and only lost the prize by our small number. After the parade the boiler makers, with their wives and sweethearts, helped to swell the crowd at the picnic at Shell Mound Park, given under the auspices of the Building Trades Council. I send you a photo of the boys with their float which you will please reproduce in the Journal.

Respectfully, one of the Boys, J. C.

PROTEST FROM LODGE NO. 5.

Cleveland, September 22, 1903.

We, the members of Lodge No. 5, vigorously protest against the Grand Vice-Presidents traveling around the country at the order's expense. By looking over the Grand Vice-President's reports in the Journal, we can't see where they have done anything for the good of the order, but looking over the quarterly reports, we can see where Grand Vice-President D. Kane, drew over $800 in three months, and nothing done. No wonder the Grand Lodge has not got any money and has to call for a $2 assessment per member. If all our Grand Officers was so extravagant, we would have to pay $2 per month assessment per member to keep the Grand Lodge officers in expenses to only see the country.

We, Lodge No. 5, are going to have lots of trouble over this.

Lodge No. 5 is going to loose many a good member if we are compelled to pay this last assessment levied by the Grand Lodge as they claim they will drop out of the Order before they will pay it, as they claim it will not go to members on strike, but it will go to pay the expenses of the Grand Vice-Presidents.

Lodge No. 5 demands that the Grand President pull in off the road all the Grand Vice-Presidents immediately, as their expenses would pay a good many local strikes. Hoping this will be in October Journal, I remain, yours fraternally.

J. L. HUTCHINGS,
Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT OF DOMINICK KANE, G. V. P.

In my last report I left off after arriving in Pueblo, Col. Here I met some of the most conscientious unionists that it is possible to meet, especially is this true of the present staff of officers, but they are badly handicapped by the condition of their books. It appears that there has been several changes of secretaries lately, and each one having a system of his own simply makes it impossible for the present secretary to know what has been done in the past, and I hope that secretaries who have business with No. 46 will take this matter into consideration and tolerate present conditions until such time as the present officers can straighten matters out satisfactory.

While in Pueblo I organized a lodge of helpers, and left conditions in a more favorable light than heretofore.

During my stay in Pueblo, Brothers Shields, Trager, Carter, Mott and others, combined not only to assist me in organizing the town, but also to make my visit amongst them one long to be remembered with pleasure.

My next stopping place was Salida, Col., a division point on the Rio Grande. While here I had the pleasure of meeting Brother Allen, from Pittsburg, Kan., a Kansas Southern striker—one of whom left the foremanship at the latter place before he would boss scabs. Of stuff like this are heroes made. I found the boiler makers here all card men with the exception of three, and I have written about them to their old lodges and believe they will be in the fold again before two weeks. I initiated three helpers and attached them to the new lodge at Pueblo.

My destination this time was Grand Junction, Col., where I found everything in a splendid condition as far as unionism is concerned, and each brother vied with the other in making my visit pleasant. We held a short meeting in their hall in the evening and had a heart to heart talk on various topics, all looking to the welfare of the union. One thing I want to mention that pleased me very much, was that they were going to make a proposition to the company that members of our organization travel on there cards over the road the same as engineers, firemen, etc. Brother Quinn, the president, is delegate from this lodge.

In going to Salt Lake I intended calling at Helper to pay my respects to Ned Reardon, the brother who, without exception, has done more to encourage the Union Pacific strikers than any other. I got fooled, the train stopping only five minutes instead of twenty-five as I had been led to understand at Grand Junction. Arriving at Salt Lake on Sunday I met but few of the boys. We held a meeting on Monday eve, and as my mission over the Rio Grande and Rio Grand Western ended at Salt Lake, I made an appeal to the Brothers to assist me in organizing the helpers. They agreed willingly and spoke to their helpers, who all agreed to be initiated on Tuesday evening, but some one whose interest it was to keep the helpers out, got out his little hammer and done some tall knocking and delayed for the time being the organizing of the helpers, but we will get them in in spite of all interference from company pets. The day of intimidation is nearly gone. I found the boiler makers here working eight hours per day, five days a week with all kinds of work in the shop. I also found helpers driving stay bolts, but the committee stopped that before I left, and I believe they will see that it will not occur again. My mission over this system being ended, I started West calling at Ogden where the no card, no work sign is hung up at all prominent points and first-class watchmen there to see that the sign is not molested. Three or four good card men could be used to advantage in the Southern Pacific shops.

Arriving at Pocatello and not being able to get a hall that evening, I thought I would take a run over to Butte and Anaconda. After an eight-hour run I was met at the depot at Butte by President Henry Downs, and Vice-President Jamelson, whose reception made me feel at home. Labor Day being the next day, and our Brothers of No. 130, owing to some local trouble, not joining in the parade, made me an onlooker. Labor Day in Butte was not up to my expectations as the best organized city in the world (which is acknowledged by all classes). I was expecting more from it than from other cities with less reputation, hence my disappointment, but taking it in all they had a favorable turnout. We held a meeting on Tuesday evening where I had the pleasure of meeting a good crowd of unionists. While here I met one of the old Vice-Presidents in Brother Harrington, and enjoyed his company for the couple of hours we were together. The next night I held a meeting in Anaconda, but owing to the shut down of the smelters, there are very few boiler makers here. I started for Pocatello the next evening, and held a meeting of boiler makers and helpers the evening following. I took up a grievance with the Master Mechanic for L. 52, and settled it satisfactory. After our business was over the Master Mechanic asked me if I could get him eight or ten boiler makers. I did not know of any idle, but notified Brother Gilthorpe, the Grand Secretary-Treasurer. They pay 37½ cents per hour, and from reports of the men, a good place to work.

I started for Portland Saturday morning and arrived Sunday. Saw the Corresponding Secretary, F. C. King, and talked over the prospects of trying to put Portland again on a sound union basis. I talked to a few of the delinquents, and made arrangements to go back the next week to arrange for them to come into the fold again. I took a trip home, which I thought I was entitled to after a seven weeks' trip. While here I visited the navy yard which is very busy at the present time. Plenty of work in sight and good ship fitters I believe could get work here by application.

In closing, let me ask the Brothers wherever possible, to get their helpers to join our organization. You are not only helping the helpers to get better conditions but you are encouraging good helpers to stay at the business. Fraternally yours,

D. KANE,

First Grand Vice-President.

—o— LODGE NO. 165.

Labor Day was a dismal failure at the head of the lakes so far as parade and celebration was concerned. It rained all day, so the brothers got together and held a little celebration indoors. There was songs and witty sayings and other good things to help in the entertainment which was enjoyed by all.

M. A. Ryan's new shop will be completed in about six weeks and running full blast. Plenty of orders ahead insures a good business all winter. Also W. E. Callison & Co. expects to be in their new shop by December 1.

On the 9th day of the present month a Bay City Brother, Walter Blacktop, betook unto himself a fair bride and left the next day on their honeymoon, visiting Buffalo and other points in the East. Returned to Duluth by boat and are now installed in their home on Garfield avenue. Long life and prosperity is the wish of all the Brothers Walter!

There was a boiler explosion on the D. M. & N. Ry. on the 15th of the month, killing two men and seriously injuring another. Low water was supposed to be the cause. The boiler was torn from the frames and thrown 200 feet, while wheels and trucks were left standing on the track.

Lodge No. 165 held a regular meeting on the 19th, with a fair attendance. Can some Brothers at large advise us how to get a good attendance at the meeting. Of course it will be to expensive to have a smoker every meeting night. Let each and every Brother of No. 165 bear in mind we meet the first and third Saturday and attend meetings if possible.

Mr. Jas. F. Dacey, proprietor of Gogebic boiler works is about to open a new shop at Hibbing, Minn., in the midst of the iron mines. I am fraternally yours,

JAS. R. COLE.

—o— LODGE NO. 237.

It is quite a while since 237 has spoke through the columns of the Journal and it has not much to say now. However we have made up our minds to say something that might let you know that we are still living; everything going along quietly and in an improved style.

We were very enthusiastic over our Labor Day parade, and well we might be. It was the finest ever seen in Hartford. While it was not the largest, 3,000 good union men were in line, but it was the neatest, most respectable looking and best conducted body of men or parade that ever marched through the streets of Hartford.

Lodge 237 had a float that excelled anything in the parade, and in fact surpassed anything we ever had. Brothers J. J. Smith, G. Still, J. Casey, Labor Day committee, deserve much credit for the float they furnished for Labor Day. We had a union band, a gang of riveters and they furnished good union music. J. J. Coughlin arranged the music so they played nothing but good boiler makers tunes all through the parade.

No hacks were hired because they have no union here, and no musicians were allowed to play in parade unless they held cards from the musician's union; also a card from the craft they earned their living at, so it was an out and out union parade. Enough said.

J. P. GLYNN,
Corresponding Secretary.

HONEST ENDEAVORS.

Davy Crockett has passed into history as a unique character, but one who has been quoted by all who desire to do right. His motto, which has become famous both on the forum and in debating societies, is many times called into question; his words being few, but of deep thought, and words that will last as long as men are determined to do right. He gave it to his people in the following language: "Be sure you are right and then go ahead." Those words are made doubly significant when applied to our every day actions. It matters not whether we are engaged in commercial pursuits or in the work that organized labor is engaged in, but the motto and import of those words are more applicable to the people engaged in the trade union movement than in any other branch of industry or business, because few understand that the trade union movement is built upon business lines, and is to be at all times considered as a business proposition. The rule that will not work in commercial pursuits of life should not be permitted to be used or applied in any department of the trade union movement. It is one of the best schools that men ever attended, if the principle of business is understood when working in and for the movement.

We are all aware that merchants whether in the same city or foreign countries doing business with each other, that they have as an international and national law, and which is always to the front and applied to every transaction. It is called EQUITY, a term which, when used by merchants, means that no advantage shall be taken of the other merchants, whether in the same country or not, but that rule of conduct in all transactions between business men shall be conducted on the high, noble plane of strict honesty, i. e., even supposing an opportunity occurs where a slight margin of profit can be procured upon a different showing, and a reasonable business excuse given for said charging, but in EQUITY this extra charge could not be allowed in our courts of law. EQUITY means that no attempt to conceal a point in business for the sole purpose of profit is allowable, and as we in the labor world and trade union movement are confronted with many times more temptations; many times more provocations, it requires the utmost vigilance to keep from falling into the quagmire of indifference to the motto of Davy Crockett.

It behooves every member, from the humblest to the most exalted, to at all times keep before him the quotation, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead," whether it be in the handling of other people's moneys or in the manipulations of the laws under which the trade union movement has been established. It should be the highest and loftiest purpose of the members of organized labor to so conduct themselves that no taint of suspicion should ever attach to them, whether humble members of a local lodge or members of the international lodge; they should have before them at all times the principle of honor in all of their transactions so that in the multifarious duties attendant upon their membership locally or national that all of their transactions should and could be easily explained with a conclusiveness and in such a manner that would be satisfactory to the business and labor world.

It is a notorious fact and cannot be gainsaid that the labor world, as a class, are more jealous of each other than any class in existence, hence the motto of Davy Crockett should be exemplified by the labor leaders, then in commercial business by the daily actions of the rank and file in the labor unions. What may be termed a legal business transaction commercially may by jealously and ignorance be construed to be a crime in the labor movement, hence it follows that the best of business principles must be injected into the daily routine of the laborite, no matter what his station may be; committeeman, delegate or any other name that may be applied to people having the interest of labor unions in charge, which very often by this same jealousy arising, are made to appear that they have committed a grievous offense, and in many cases crimes, when investigated cannot be substantiated. This all comes from that inherent jealousy that is ever foremost in all communities, but more especially in the labor movement. It matters not whether the same committee has to do the work, it is all the same, there will always be some who believe they can do the work better than others, and, not being placed become jealous of the other and makes all kinds of trouble for the committeeman no matter how he reports. While it has been proven time and again that those same critics have had the opportunity of attending to the business of the union as committeemen, and in a great many cases have absolutely failed to do the work in a creditable manner. Their work is not up to the standard, hence when they are left they have nothing only criticisms to make on those who had the work.

Honorable conduct is required in the labor movement as well as all other kinds of business, that the rule and guide of the rank and file should be to endeavor to do right, not because we are obligated to do so, but by that high moral power which satisfies the conscience of all upright men.

In carrying out the motto of Davy Crockett it will appear to the thinkers that it covers discipline in all departments, which if truly and earnestly carried out relieves the responsibility incumbent upon those who have been given work to do, and leaves no work for the critic.

The labor movement being made up of all classes of society has every reason to be more particular in their action than any other class in existence in order that the movement may not receive a setback, but that the single idea of advancing and up-building of labor organizations may go forward without let or hindrance. It is a grave responsibility on the rank and file, for which they are accountable, and must be held accountable for their leadership or participation in any office of trust in the labor movement. It is also one of responsibility to the members in seeing that their actions have been that, which they desire to see in their leaders, and as we feel at all times, that a just and equitable deportment is required from each other without restraint, and which is, or should be, exacted off every member in the labor movement.

In carrying out this motto, it would be wise for those who have criticisms to make to remember the saying of one who was acknowledged to be pure, and which will bear repeating at this time, with the hope that it may not lose any of its graciousness. It is:

"Let him that is without guile throw the first stone."

There is a difference of opinion in the minds of a few, possibly about ten or twelve, some believing that a call for an assessment should be sent to the lodges on the initiative and referendum system, but the only law that has ever been followed out by this Brotherhood and never has been repealed yet is the law to be found on page 36, being section 2 or article 9, and is as follows:

"Section 2.—If at any time the funds prove inadequate, the Executive Council shall have power to submit the proposition for an assessment to the lodges, which shall require the majority vote of all subordinate lodges in good standing to be levied and collected, and no assessments can be levied except as above."

We feel that as this section has stood the test of years; never been questioned previously; that it stands to-day the same as it always did before in the Brotherhood, and takes its place as the organic law of this order, which must be recognized by the Executive Council and all other authority, lodges and members in this Brotherhood.

We believe that our good brothers making objections, etc., to the way the law is executed, that if they would read the constitution carefully in all its parts they would find that the Executive Council has good reason for acting on every proposition that they receive calling for attention; that they have acted in good faith and as near the constitution as any set of men could act. It would obviate the necessity of writing for explanation, if those brothers who are so kind at times to call our attention to neglect, or otherwise, they think has been the rule, but if they would read up the constitution they would find that all their questions would be answered in that little document. While we believe it is right and proper and within the sphere of any member of the order to criticize the actions of any officer, but there is one way of doing it, and that is in a gentlemanly manner, as it can be done much better courteously, than insinuating that anyone connected therewith has a sinister purpose in view, when done in accordance with the constitution, but not according to the way the critic desires.

Charity covers a multitude of sins, and as such, it is earnestly entreated that all will have that virtue to one another. It is conceded and never was denied that the Executive Council are human, like all other members, but a set of men that has taken an obligation must necessarily be more careful in their actions when passing on a constitutional point than members that have no care any further than their own ideas. They are not bound by anything, consequently, in this way there are a great many things attributed to the members of the council that with a little charity would be softened a whole lot, and could be seen without colored glasses.

One of the greatest defects in our organization to-day is that some one or two in a community being good speakers and talkers, having the way of impressing themselves on their hearers, and taken as oracles, and the impression goes forthwith in the locality that they know everything and are authority on all law, but wisdom points out the way for every member to be conversant with the law and not be imposed on by good, sweet talkers. Every man in this order is supposed to do his own thinking, and the more thinking is done the less the oracles will ply their vocation. It is a call that intelligent men can be imposed on, and no one will deny the fact that many of our members are imposed on. There is hardly a lodge free from it, as they go to meetings regularly, pay their dues, and are splendid members, yet they do not know why they pay so many cents for monthly dues, and they do not know why they pay so much for an assessment. They take everything for granted; they do not inquire nor read up the constitution, but to those brothers it is in all graciousness we say that they should understand without the shadow of a doubt that the money they pay is according to the constitution as made and provided by the majority of all members in this order, that is what we are all working under, and must obey, regardless of a few that do not think so. It is a pleasure to work where you get encouragement, but it is a killing piece of business working where the same certain few take exceptions to your best efforts; and we say, in all charity, when you have a grievance, endeavor to bring that grievance in a manner that cognizance can be taken of it in a proper and legitimate way. Do not run away with the idea that all are thieves and scoundrels but yourselves.

Secretaries will please count the assessment stamps and compare with the wrapper as to the number they find enclosed. The assessment was levied on the August report, and the number of stamps were mailed as per the August report and other reports previously received, and all should be acknowledged in the first communication to headquarters.

The amendments of Lodge No. 194 are out for the initiative vote requiring a 10 per cent endorsement before being submitted to a referendum or the individual votes of all the members in the order. The secretaries will please before mailing them to headquarters after the vote is taken, see that the city, state, number of lodge and the seal with the proper signatures are on them, and you will facilitate business a great deal. Mail all amendments to the G. S. T.

Secretaries when leaving the city should endeavor to notify the president and other officers, so that a notice can be left at the postoffice, or express office, in order that the new secretary will be given the mail that may go there addressed to the former secretary, as we have had a great deal of trouble here with mail being returned because of the secretary leaving and no one could get his mail.

Brother _____ registered number 22333, answered an "ad" in Kansas City, Mo., for a first class boilermaker in one of the stylish parlors of the Midland hotel, and while a boilermaker was desired that would do the bidding of the agent and go from place to place where he was ordered, but he was also expected to report every day to the general agent the doings of the union and the union men. In other words, he was hired as a boilermaker to do detective work, but our good brother thought that was not very honorable and declined the handful of money and the job. All glory to him.

We have requested time and again that lodges that have been in trouble and scabs working in their places, that the names of those unfair men should be sent to the G. S. T. for the purpose of recording, as we get a great many calls, as to how such and such a man stands. While we have a good roll, yet we haven't got what we should have, and desire that all lodges and the members will interest themselves in this important matter, and furnish the G. S. T. the names of the scabs and where they came from, and what they are working on, so that they can be recorded in the proper manner.

As we have official stationery for all purposes, it would be wise for the Secretaries to use official stationery for the purposes it is intended.

We still receive a great many letters with the name of a brother just initiated, for a number, which cannot be attended to. We have to return a pedigree blank so that the full qualifications and pedigrees can be written on, and sent here for a number. The same with Roster Blanks, Supply Blanks, and when you do this, there will never be any mistakes, and you will get the goods that you order.

Another feature in this case is that one Secretary quits, another is elected and there is no stationery turned over to the new Secretary, or they generally make the assertion that there was nothing turned over to them then, and of course, the books are all upside down; and now we do say this, that books should be audited before a brother gives up his office, and turned over to the new Secretary in a complete manner along with the correspondence and supplies that he may have on hand at the time. Secretaries should also write their names and addresses very plainly, so that no mistakes will occur.

Previously reported for Flood Sufferers was $1,350.60. Since then, we received from Lodge No. 75 H. D. $2 and from Lodge No. 10, H. D., $10.

The day set apart by Congress in honor of the toilers of the country, better known as Labor Day, has been celebrated all over this whole continent in a worthy way, representing as it does, the intelligence of the wage workers. Nowhere has this day received more respectful attention than in Kansas City, Mo., where no less than twelve thousand men under their separate banners, paraded and celebrated the rest of the day at Electric Park. In this grand celebration Lodge No. 32 of this Brotherhood, was conspicuous and received encomiums of praise from start to finish of the parade. Their natty uniforms forming a great part of their makeup, having black caps, black ties and white shirts, and the regimental overalls, and to their credit be it said, that all who could possibly do so, turned out, making one of the most creditable appearances of the boiler makers in the two Kansas Cities that was ever witnessed on any occasion. The officers of Lodge No. 32 and their several committees are deserving of the most lasting credit of the rank and file of the boiler makers, using their utmost endeavors to make the occasion a thing long to be remembered, which they have succeeded in admirably. All hail to the officers, committees and members of Lodge No. 32; may they redouble their efforts in the future, as their past record will go down in history as bringing to the front our fellow craftsmen of the West.

Being that there is so much trouble throughout the country, and a pressure on Uncle Sam's mail bags, we earnestly advise that secretaries, when sending money and cards to sister lodges, will register their mail. It is also our advice that when no word is received from the card and money, that immediate steps be taken at the expiration of two weeks, to fix up the brother depositing his card and his money, with a new card and stamps on his book. This becomes necessary because of the neglect of secretaries; but the humblest member should not be victimized by reason of that same neglect. Every secretary will record such an instance and have same forwarded to headquarters and a record also, then, after a while we will be able to produce order out of chaos in this respect.

The strikes and trouble are still on at Bridgeport, Conn., Columbiana, O., Oil City, Pa., Joplin, Mo., Springfield, Ill., Titusville, Pa. New trouble has started on all lodges of the Big Four, Atlanta, Ga., Cleburne, Tex., where it would be necessary to keep all men back from those points. Trouble has been settled in Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Groton and Pittsburg.

It may be pertinent at this time for all thinkers of this Brotherhood to know that from September 1, 1902, to September 1, 1903, strike benefits have been paid and in course of payment to the amount of $67,405.53 by this Brotherhood, for the purpose of creating and holding better conditions. This, of itself, will be argument enough as to why it is necessary to raise the dues and do away with assessments. With this immense Brotherhood, where fifty and one hundred lodges can be on strike at one time, and then have a remarkable territory still working in co-operation with their brothers in the other section who are endeavoring to establish better conditions.

Since the official announcement of the votes on the assessment and to further acquaint our members with the sentiment of the rank and file, there are recorded in this office at this day, the 27th of September, 201 yeas and 151 noes, which in the natural order and in the Constitutional order the same proportion of those in favor of levying the assessment still keeps up, and, therefore it would appeal to the reason of fair minded men that the majority has spoken up and are willing to back it up by their money.

A few words on the amendments proposed by Lodge No. 194: Assessment at any time bears a hard name, and certainly causes a little uneasiness among a few, and as the opinions of the humblest member must be respected, it is with a purpose of giving those same members all consideration in the world that these few words are given. We have been running on a plan of trying to get two dollars out of one; of course, while all are paying, the two dollars can be had, but the instant that the expenses overreach the receipts, that minute we are in trouble. So as to guard against those periodical assessments is the reason for those amendments being put forth.

A cheap organization gives you returns that you pay for; an organization that is up-to-date must provide themselves with a good treasury; hence this idea of increasing the dues.

A false impression seems to exist in a few quarters, that when they are strong locally, financially they do not seem to care whether any other section is strong in the same manner, but it is one of the greatest fallacies that intelligent people can fall into, because there is no local lodge or locality that can be strong if the whole order is not likewise; therefore, it is wise to center the strength where it can be judicially and constitutionally distributed broadcast over this great country of ours where every one in the Order knows it will be honestly distributed.

Those amendments are badly needed and should receive the careful consideration of every member. It is absolutely necessary that the sense of the rank and file shall be expressed in this matter; let them vote freely, but vote after reading carefully the amendments as submitted.

Grand President's

Official Communications and Decisions.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:—This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of THE JOURNAL by the Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

I desire to call your attention to the agitation now going on among our lodges, especially in the East to call a special convention with full power to act. The originator of the agitation is Buffalo Lodge No. 7. Had they complied with the Constitution there would have been nothing for us to do only issue the call to the lodges throughout the country, but in their anxiety to secure a convention (and again in the East) they overlooked the Constitution and instead of complying with Article 3, Section I, Grand Lodge Constitution, they have printed circulars and issued them to the lodges themselves, thereby leaving themselves liable to be suspended for doing so. Several other lodges in the Eastern Districts have sent resolutions here, facsimile of the Buffalo resolution. In sending same those other lodges just complied with the request of Buffalo No. 7, consequently, no attention was paid them. The wording of the resolution condemns itself as they desire the convention to have full power to act. Before such resolution could be considered it would be necessary first, to abolish the referendum system. Then again, they have made the resolution read in such a way that the members would have no say as to where the convention should be held, as they stated specifically, Pittsburg. Our last two conventions were held in the East and past experience shows us that that is not a desirable or convenient district to hold a convention in, because, the attendance has been very small at both conventions.

They claim the object in calling a convention would be to investigate and find the cause of the enormous expense that has been this last year back. In order to enlighten such members I will say that from September 1, 1902, to September 1, 1903, our strike pay roll has been over $67,000.00, but I am satisfied that is not the real object in view because the lodges that have requested the calling of a special convention have also refused to pay the assessment. They raise a technical point in the issuing of the call for the assessment, but if the members will look at the conditions and the number of men we have on strike trying to better their conditions they will see that it is absolutely necessary that all members pay that assessment. The decision of the Executive Council is that all lodges that refuse to pay that assessment shall return their charters when they return the stamps.

Some of the lodges claim that the calling of the assessment should go to a referendum vote; that is referred to all members; but just look at your Constitution and read Article IX, Section 2, which is as follows:

"If, at any time the funds prove inadequate the executive council shall have power to submit a proposition for an assessment to the lodges, which shall require a majority vote of all subordinate lodges in good standing to be levied and collected and no assessment can be levied except as above."

You will see by the above section that all that is required is a majority vote of the lodges in good standing, and a majority of the lodges in good standing voted in favor of that assessment, consequently it is legal and will be collected. We do not expect that the lodges will pay it all at once, but we do hope that the lodges will do everything in their power to pay it as soon as possible.

In regard to the special convention will say that we have no reason to object to the calling of same, so long as the Constitution is lived up to, but if the lodges or members in their anxiety to rule or ruin, overstep their duty and violate the Constitution, that is no reason why we should do likewise; but if the lodges desire a convention held, let them name several cities and give the members the opportunity of selecting what they consider the best. At the last convention in Baltimore the only lodge that made claim for the next convention was Chattanooga, Tenn., and they are entitled to a consideration at least. It is strange but true that no lodge West of Buffalo has made the request for a convention, and in all only about a half dozen lodges who it seems devote their entire time in criticising the work done by the Grand Lodge officers.

As G. P. O. will say I am heartily in favor of a convention as I believe there is several matters that requires straightening out that only could be done at a convention. There also is a system of letter writing established that if not stopped, will have our organization in a worse condition than we had in 1896 and 1897. Let us have a convention soon and stop this double dealing no matter whose head falls off.

In my travels I find there is quite a lot of dissatisfaction among the members owing to so many organizers being on the road. We have been requested by several lodges to reduce expenses by taking those men off the road, but previous to receiving those requests I had asked the Council liberty to take all those men off the road. It would not have been necessary for me to ask such a privilege from the Council had I placed them on the road, but as the offices were created by the Council I thought it advisable to have the authority of the same body to remove those men from office. The work that some of the Vice-Presidents have done is admirable, and it is rather unfortunate that we have to take them off the road, but conditions are such at the present time that we are compelled to do so through a lack of funds to pay their expenses.

Since our last issue of the Journal, I have been called out by the District Lodge on the Erie to confer with them and the Superintendent of Motive Power on that system on an agreement lately made with the Erie railroad. In making the agreement it was understood that if the other roads running parallel with the Erie did not have seven day men, the Erie railroad would abolish seven-day men on their system. On investigation it was found that the roads running parallel with the Erie paid time and one-half for over time to all boiler makers, round house men included. In presenting the finding of the investigation to the Company arrangements were made whereby the boiler makers on the Erie were to be given the benefit of time and one-half for all over time. Owing to a misconception or rather a misinterpretation of the contract, quite a lot of trouble was created. Through that misinterpretation and other minor matters that came up, a meeting of the District on the Erie was called in Meadville in order to confer with the Superintendent of Motive Power. At the conference there were representatives from Huntington, Ind., Gallion, O., Cleveland, O., Hornellsville, N. Y., Buffalo, N. Y., Meadville, Pa. and Susquehanna, Pa. Several meetings were held with the Company's official, and while same was not entirely satisfactory, yet it was decided to live up to the agreement in every particular until same expires in the month of March, and the Company has proclaimed their willingness to do likewise.

Owing to trouble in Buffalo I was compelled to visit that city on the 11th of September, in order to be at the meeting of Lodge No. 7 and return to Meadville on the following day to complete arrangements with the Erie railroad. While attending the meeting in Buffalo arrangements were made whereby a committee of two from Buffalo along with the G. P. O. were to visit Pittsburg in order to try and bring around a settlement with the firm of Ritter & Conley who was erecting blast furnaces at Buffalo. The trouble in Buffalo was brought around through the men coming out on strike in Pittsburg for an increase in wages and an eight hour day on outside work; and an increase in wages and a nine hour day on inside work. The men in Buffalo were requested by the members in Pittsburg to cease working on Ritter & Conley's work. By request of the Pittsburg members, the Buffalo boys stopped work, relying upon the members in Pittsburg to make arrangements for Buffalo men should a settlement be arrived at in Pittsburg, but unfortunately, when the strike was settled in Pittsburg no arrangements were made for the members in Buffalo or Detroit, who came out in sympathy with the Pittsburg men.

We arrived in Pittsburg on the 15th and after several conferences with the firm of Ritter & Conley, an agreement was arrived at whereby twenty of our members were to be put to work in Buffalo at once, and a number of them hired each morning until all men who came out on strike were employed. This agreement was brought around without any assistance from Lodge No. 154.

When through in Pittsburg I went to Cleveland where I had made arrangements to call owing to the members in Lodge No. 20 being on strike for a nine hour day and 10 per cent increase in wages. Previous to my arriving in Cleveland, I am pleased to say, the members in Lodges Nos. 20 and 95 H. D. were successful in coming to a satisfactory agreement with the American Ship Building Company. They secured the nine hour day on and after the 1st of November, 10 per cent increase in their day work wages and a substantial increase in prices on piece work, and no man to be victimized for the part he had taken in the strike. When we take into consideration the fact that our members in Lorain, O., which is only twenty-five miles from Cleveland were working and refused to make the same demand as the boys in Cleveland, too much credit cannot be given to the Cleveland men. Had Lorain made the demand of the American Ship Building Company, same as Cleveland, there is no doubt in my mind but the strike never would have taken place in the city

f Cleveland; but when the Company saw our forces divided they thought it a good opportunity to break up the organization in Cleveland, but they did not realize what kind of material we had in Lodge No. 20, and they never would have made the attempt, and I am satisfied that the bold stand made by the boys in Cleveland has taught the company a lesson that will make them be a little more careful in the future and give the boys in Cleveland the consideration they are entitled to.

When through in Cleveland I made straight for Kansas City, but remained over a day in Chicago and called upon the old war horse, of No. 39, Brother J. Riddle. As usual, I found him full of fight and guarding jealously the welfare of the members in Lodge No. 39. Since arriving home it seems there is nothing but trouble in the air, as every day I have been receiving telegrams from lodges that have come out on strike, and others that desire to come out on strike. The members on the Big Four have been negotiating with the Company looking toward an increase in wages, and not securing same they just took the bull by the horns and walked out on strike. They did not consult the Grand Lodge thereby placing themselves in a position that it was impossible for the Grand Lodge to grant them financial assistance called for by the Constitution. Since they came out arrangements have been made between this office and the Superintendent of Motive Power of the Big Four to hold a conference in Indianapolis on the 1st of October, and during the meantime the Boiler Makers have been ordered back pending a settlement with the Company at that interview. I am satisfied that if good judgment is displayed by that committee, a satisfactory agreement can be arrived at.

A NEW GRAND CHILD.

Since our last Journal the home of our Grand Secretary-Treasurer, Bro. Wm. J. Gilthorpe, has been blessed with a new grand child, a little daughter having been born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Reiling. Mrs. Reiling (nee Miss Clara Gilthorpe) served a considerable time in the headquarters as stenographer, and was official stenographer at the convention held in Kansas City. Of course the whole family is pleased and Bro. Gilthorpe's countenance is wreathed in smiles as he thinks of the hours of sunshine the little new-comer will weave into his life in the years to come. May she live in perfect health and grow to lovely womanhood.

Winemakers Hold Out Chance for Big Reward and Are Willing to Pay $25,000 for Process for Production of Cream of Tartar.

An association of California vineyardists has been formed, to be known as the American Grape Acid Association, for the purpose of solving the problem of the production of cream of tartar from California grapes. Any person who can find out this secret will be paid $25,000, so says Andrea Sbarboro. The association accordingly has deposited guarantees to pay the award.

Mr. Sbarboro says that if any one should be successful in discovering the process for the utilization of California grapes to produce tartaric acid on a commercial basis such a process would be of inestimable value to California and the United States. The United States is a very large importer of grape acids which are material for cream of tartar despite the fact that California is a very large producer of grapes. The present value of tartaric acid wholesale is 31 cents a pound.

NOTICE.

Ogden, Utah, Sept. 18, 1903.—Will you kindly through the Journal notify Brother Milton E. Brittian, Reg. No. 4294, to correspond with No. 198, as I have a letter for him; and also that he must square up or be dropped by October 1. By order of 18.

DAVID A. STARK,

Cor & Fin. Sec. No. 198.

Chicago, Ill., June 20, 1903.—Anybody knowing the whereabouts of Bert Edmunds, of Garden City Lodge No. 1, Reg. No. 18541, would do a great favor to his wife by letting her know, as he left her without money or food. He left her waiting for him on the sidewalk until he could get his card at the hall and ducked. She is in a very critical condition and he knows it. She was brought home sick over his disappearance. He has a good wife and home. I hope he will see this notice and that his conscience will ask him if he is doing right. No union should uphold a man that deserts his wife or home through drinking. I expect she will be out of all her troubles of this world when he reads this. Any information will be thankfully received by his wife.

MRS. B. EDMUNDS,

4719 Dearborn st., Chicago, Ill.

LOST OR MISLAID.

The owner of Reg. No. 13658 has been missing some time from the meetings and good cheer of Lodge 234. His card, if deposited, has not been returned to 234. Any lodge or member knowing of his whereabouts kindly notify Lodge 234. Mr. W. W. Davis is his name.

CORRECTION.

D. Dailey, No. 3794, was reported as admitted by card by Lodge No. 5, but was a mistake.

In September Journal L 93 reported J. Sunfield No. 24372 as transferred to L. No. 24, which was a mistake and should have been Roy Lee, No. 24472.

ADDRESS WANTED.

Anybody knowing the whereabouts of Robert Gray, a boiler maker, formerly with Southern Pacific at Oakland, Cal., will do a great favor by writing to John Gray, Urbana, Ill.

ADDRESSES WANTED.

If John L. Gunie is in existence I would like to hear from him or learn his address.

Respectfully yours,

H. J. HOGAN,

Member of Lodge 192, Elkhart, Ind. Please have the following brothers correspond with this lodge:

Charles Girardi, Reg. No. 21248.

Frank Comiskey, Reg. No. 23854.

ALEX GOURLAY, Cor. Sec.
Winslow, Ariz.

WANTED.

To know the whereabouts of Harry Davis, ship fitter. Left Philadelphia April 20, 1903, for Elizabethport. Height 5 ft. 11 in., dark complexion, about 25 years of age and weighed 160 lbs. He is a member of the Brotherhood and came from New London, Conn., to Philadelphia. Any information will be gladly received. Address,

J. C. McKENNA, 410 W. Norris st., Philadelphia, Pa.

LODGE 166.

WYANDOTTE, Mich.—We have members who have taken out traveling cards and since then I have heard nothing of them. Now I would be pleased to have the whereabouts of John (Speed) Murphy and Harry Rohods made known in our next Journal. Both of these members and Charles Reneca, Reg. No. 30387, are behind in their dues and I can't inform them because I know not where they are.

FRANK W. DROUILLARD.

NOTICE TO ALL UNION MEN THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY.

The New York Ship Building company of Camden, N. J., does not and will not keep a union man in their employ after they find out he is a union man, so Lodge No. 261 requests all union men to keep away from this yard until further notice.

H. T. GLOBY, Pres 261.

Camden, N. J.

LOST.

Traveling card and due book belonging to Chas. Fisher, Reg. No. 10789, of No. 80. Due book had twelve monthly due stamps and one assessment. Finder will please notify No. 80. These were lost somewhere between Ogden, Utah, and San Francisco, Cal.

Fraternally yours,

D. M. NYE, JR., Cor Sec. No. 80.

LODGE 50.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—Would like you to publish in the Journal that G. W. Corker who scabbed on Lodge 50 in 1901, while out on strike for nine months to gain, if they could, nine hours a day, has applied for reinstatement and paid $150 fine, and promised to be a better man. Chickens will come home to roost.

J. J. O'HERIN, Cor. Sec. Lodge 50.

L. H. HEISENBITTLE, Pres.

McGILL.

Whereas, It has pleased the Almighty in His heavenly wisdom to take from us our beloved brother, Wm. McGill, to the world above, where the angels sing and pain in him no more will be;

Resolved, That while bowing to Him above we deeply lament the death of our brother and friend. We tender his bereaved parents and friends our most sincere sympathy in the hour of affliction;

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Wm. McGill, Lodge 367, of Havre, Mont., B. of B. M. & I. S. B. of America, loses a good member and its members a good friend.

R. B. LLOYD,
C. S. Lodge 367.

JOHNSON.

Alfred Johnson came to Chicago a few weeks ago from Olwein, Ia. He secured employment and all went well till Saturday, September 12, when he complained of feeling unwell and Monday found him on the operating table in Provident Hospital. He did not survive the ordeal and passed to his eternal reward. One duty remained for his Union brothers to perform; to see that his remains received a Christian burial. Lodge No. 1 proved equal to the emergency, and tenderly laid him to rest in Oakwoods Cemetery. While a stranger here, in another corner of the world—Bergen, Norway, a dear wife and three loving children awaited their father's return.

With them none can take his place, nor time blot out his memory. To his family we extend our deepest sympathy. May kind Providence provide for them and protect them as only a father could do.

J. J. FITZGERALD.

McNEIL.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. —, 1903.

At the regular meeting of the Hartford Lodge No. 237, of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Architect of the universe to take from our midst the dearly beloved wife of our esteemed brother, James McNeil, therefore be it,

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy and condolence in the hour of sorrow to our bereaved brother; a copy of these resolutions spread on the minutes of the meeting, and a copy sent to the official Journal for publication.

It's hard to break the tender words
When love has bound the heart;
It's hard to speak the words:
Must we forever part?

Dearest loved one, we have laid thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished,
Until we see thy Heavenly face.

M. P. MCGOWAN,
DAVID BURNETT,
J. P. GLYNN,
Committee.

NOTICE.

Lodge 212 reports that Brother C. H. Wallace, Reg. No. 2771, has made a settlement and had been reinstated to all rights, title and privileges under our constitution. No. 212 orders the above published.

WM. J. GILTHORPE.

CARD LOST.

Will you please publish in the Journal that Brother O. Kerr lost his working card, also his by-laws book, in Washington, D. C., Reg. No. 31249. Anyone finding will please return to Lodge 41 H. D.

Yours respectfully,
S. C. GIBSON, Cor. Sec.
1002 Forest Place, Baltimore, Md.

John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has about completed a book on the labor question. Those who have seen advance sheets pronounce it a remarkable work, and a masterly defense of the rights of organized labor.

CORRESPONDENCE.

SHOT BY A NEGRO.

Mr. George Almeida Killed While Assisting Officers of the Law.

The body of Mr. George Almeida, who was killed at Georgetown Friday night, was brought home last night, and the funeral services will be held this afternoon at St. John's Church, Hampstead, at 4 o'clock. The body was brought to 18 Caroline street, where the widow and two children were waiting in sorrow to look upon him who had gone out for a short time before to work for the home and those he loved.

Mr. Almeida was a first-class boiler maker and some time ago obtained work with the Atlantic Coast Lumber Company, at Georgetown. He had a home in this, his native city, and his young wife and little children remained here.

Friday night Mr. Almeida was asked to assist some officers who were to arrest a troublesome negro, and went with them towards the house where the man was concealed. When the negro saw the house was surrounded he came out and opened fire on the posse with two pistols. His first bullet struck Mr. Almeida and killed him almost instantly.

A representative from the Boiler Makers' Union went to Georgetown yesterday morning and with him was Constable Burton, with bloodhounds. Last night, so far as heard, the negro had not been captured.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Kansas City, Kansas, Sept. 12-03.

To the Officers and Members of Lodge No. 32. Greeting:

We, your committee appointed at last meeting, the 11th inst., to draw up resolutions condemning the action of Brothers McKeon and McCracken in interfering with the settlement on the Union Pacific Railroad, beg leave to report as follows:

That after a full, free and impartial investigation we are constrained to say that the action of Brothers McKeon and McCracken in permitting themselves to be used by the Southern Pacific Railroad Co. as against the strikers on the Union Pacific Railroad in so far that their presence in the city of New York at the late conference was a detriment and their utterances were held as a club over the committee endeavoring to settle on humane lines.

It is the committee's full conviction that had those two brothers acted the part of union men, obeyed the orders of the Grand President without agitating, or in any manner interfering in the Union Pacific settlement, to-day there would be no scabs on that system; therefore, as a committee we deem it our duty to present this report to Lodge No. 32, and ask them that it be published in the Journal expressing our condemnation in the most severe language that we know of against those two brothers for unlawful interference and presumption in attempting to dictate terms to the striking heroes of eleven months, and which we are sorry to say, they accomplished their mission in a very satisfactory manner to Mr. Harriman.

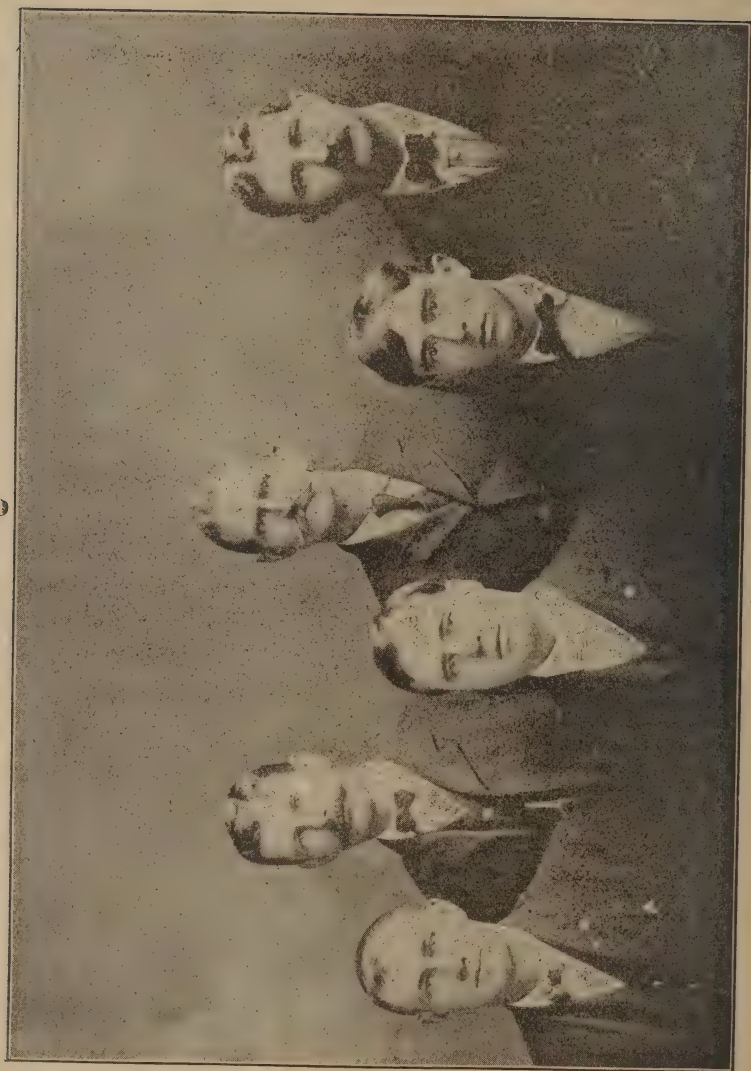

We hope and trust that this course may never be necessary in the future and we hold it as a warning to all union men to beware of such tricks of the capitalists in their endeavors to divide the forces of the union labor.

With much respect, gentlemen and brothers, we remain,

Yours fraternally,

W. E. LEROW,
FRANK JANESSON,
CLYDE BIGHAM,
Committee.
J. E. VANNESST,
President.
W. E. LEROW,
Secretary.

LODGE 147.

Sept. 14, 1903.

Kindly allow me a "little" space in the Journal as I saw in the June issue that accusation to be false in regard to J. B. Hyndman driving stay bolts with his helper, and I want it understood that it is not false, as I have been a shop mate of that brother, which I am sorry to say, but I have seen him drive hammered rivets and stay bolts, and would even have him to run the air hammer, chipping and caulking, and when it came up in lodge he got mighty mad about it, and whoever that Journal correspondent is for 248, he better not have anything changed in the Journal again as long as it is true, as the least we have of such men the better.

Yours truly,

J. A. YEAGER.

LODGE 61.

New Haven, Oct. 13.—I see in the last number of the Journal that Brother Daly, of 281, gets back at me quite hard in reply to my last letter for the journal. "He puts them over just a few, anyway." In regard to my running the New Haven bunch I don't pretend to. No. 61 is not a one man affair, every one has a say here. If it had been left to me that letter would never appeared. I had been asked a number of times to write it up, but I always thought it best in a case of that kind to drop it, but there was a motion passed for me to answer a letter from the District Lodge and write it up, so that the brothers at large might know the way 61 felt about it. He talks about my slinging mud. Now, I think he is quite good at that himself.

I might have left his committee in Providence, in fact, I did and I think if they had waited around all day from 5:30 a. m. till 2:00 p. m. on a rainy day like that for us, that they would left us too. As to not having an auto or something of the kind to meet them with, I don't consider that my fault.

I want to say I don't believe in keeping an argument of this kind up in the Journal, but I will say that I will stand for what I said in that letter, and can prove what I said to be the facts in the case, with a possible exception, and that is in regards to there being two helpers on 281's committee. I know that they were two men under the rate on the committee from that end of the road. As to whether they were both from 281 I am not positive; and the reason I spoke of that was from what I seen. I think no one ought to be on a committee of that kind unless he was getting the full rate. But the rest of it I don't back up from in the least, and if 281 wants it investigated I will be glad to have them and I think I can prove it to their entire satisfaction. Outside of that this is my last and final remarks on the subject through the Journal.

I remain,

Fraternally yours,

FRANK P. HADLOCK.

J. C. Local.

FROM DOMINICK, KANE, G. V. P.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 28, 1903.—You surprised me by telling me that there was dissatisfaction in the East on account of the Vice President's being on the road, document 117, from Lodge 154, confirms your statement. The feeling in the West is altogether different, so far as my knowledge goes, but if by us retiring from the road harmony will prevail, take me off the salaried list after this week, which will give me a chance to finish my mission here, and hunt a position. I honestly believe that I have given general satisfaction wherever I have been called on in the interest of our brotherhood, unless our members are given to flattery (and I've never heard of them being blamed for that), which is, of course, gratifying to,

Yours fraternally,

D. KANE,

1st G. V. P.

LODGE 147.

I was requested by the boys of 147 to ask to have the following published in the Journal.

Beware of two men who scabbed it at Susquehanna during our trouble in 1901, and we have at last succeeded in making it so warm for them that they could stand it no longer, so they have started to do some other lodges, or try to get a card, and that should never be, for they have been traitors from their birth and always will be. Their names are Patrick and James Murriگان. They have started for Scranton. Hoping that the brothers of all lodges will be on the watch for said hoboos, I remain,

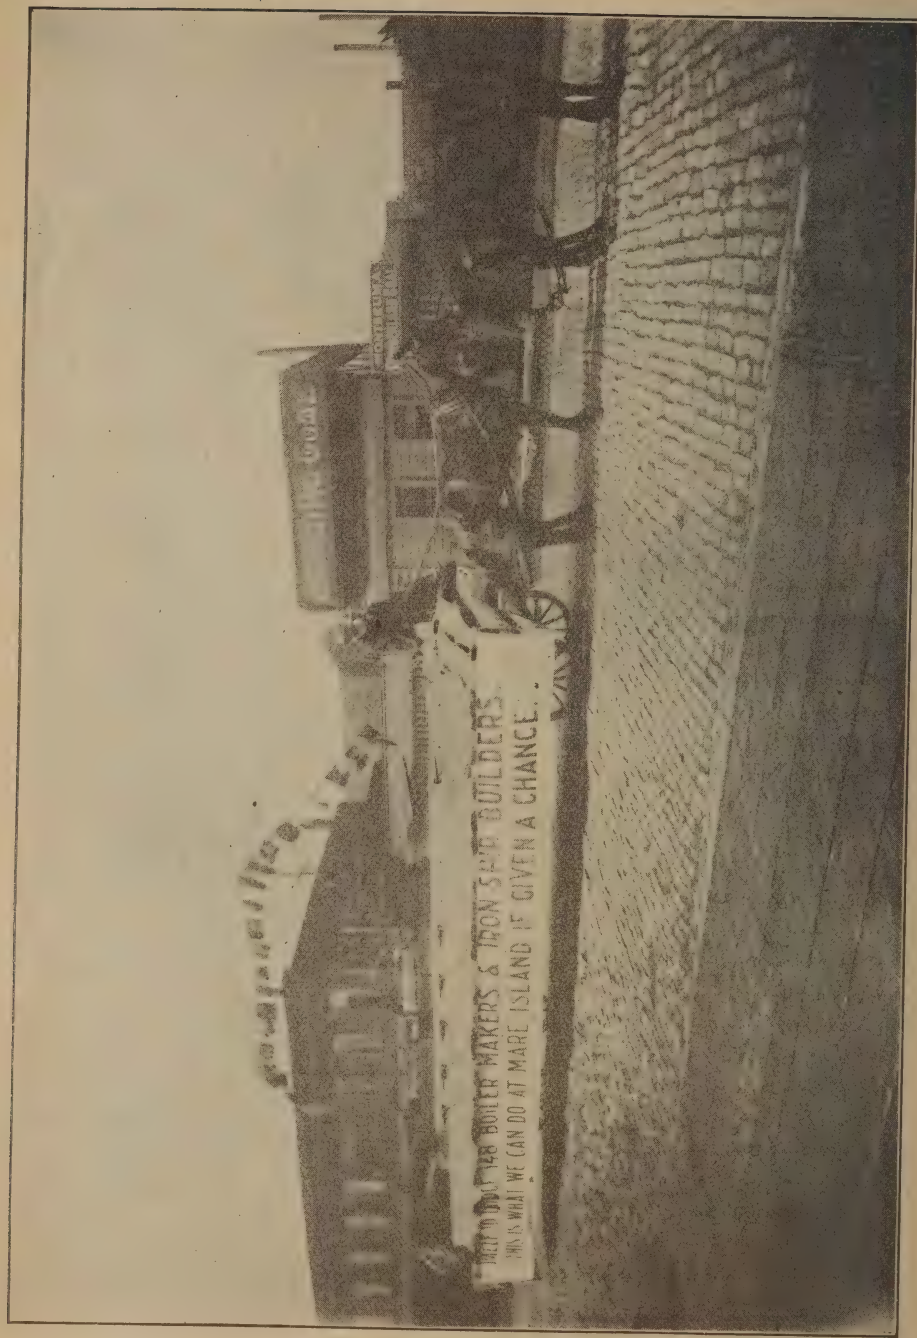

Yours fraternally,

JOURNAL CO. FOR LODGE 147.

LODGE 59.

Elkhart, Ind., Oct. 11.—Just a few lines to let our worthy brothers know that our LODGE 148, VALLEJO, CAL.

nion, which is small in number, has some good, large hearts for unionism, which are at all times striving to get our rights. I am glad to say we have plenty of work and things looks bright for the future.

We have one brother whose heart was made glad by an increase in the family; a nice, bright, blue eyed nine-pound boy.

I am sorry to say we have some brothers in the union for just what they get out of it who never attend meeting to see how their edge is getting along, but in case more wages were asked, I think they would all turn out.

Yours fraternally,

H. E. MATTHEWS, C. S.

LODGE 148.

It has been a long time since No. 148 has had any mention in the Journal, so I take occasion of the Labor Day parade in San Francisco September 7th to occupy a small space of your valuable columns.

No. 148 has been to the front for a number of years in the interest of the government building its own warships, so as a matter of advertisement we produced a fine model of the Battleship Maine, 36 feet long, 6 feet 4 inches beam. The model was constructed by two apprentice boys and was perfect in mode and workmanship. On the sides we bravely floated our slogan. "This is what we can do at Mare's Island if given a chance." We shipped the float to Frisco by steamer, incurring considerable expense, and propelled by four sorrel horses with the veteran horseman, Tom Shouse, on the seat we boldly swung into line with No. 25 and No. 205. We were just 50 strong and being the only union from out of town in a parade of 60,000 union workmen we cut quite a figure, and our motto was warmly greeted all along the line. The float was the best in the parade, being not only the most handsome, but also the most appropriate. We were kindly treated by the members of 25 and 205, and take this means of returning our thanks to them.

The following committee who had charge of all the arrangements are entitled to great credit: Joseph Colletti, John J. Haly, John Strehll, Dan Carr, S. J. Riorden and J. V. McCue.

Hoping that some return will come of our effort, and that I am not using too much space, I am,

Fraternally yours,

S. J. RIORDEN, C. S.

LODGE 22.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 1, 1903.—As I have never seen anything in the Journal about Lodge 22, I will write a few lines to let the brothers at large know how we are getting along.

We have 51 members on our books in good standing. The C. & E. I. shops are organized to a man, and it is no card, no work here. Now, we have the B. M.'s organized all along the C. & E. I. division of Frisco System, and also have two at Urbana on the Big Four. We have one man from the local contract shops, and expect to have them all in line soon.

There are two contract shops here employing several men, and they don't want to line up, it seems, but we are going to get them in line if possible. We made a request for 36c per hour and also for an agreement with the C. & E. I. division of Frisco System. How successful we were you will see by the following agreement we have with the company:

C. & E. I. R. R. Co. Schedule of Wages and Agreement of Boiler Makers Adopted and Approved Sept. 25. Effective Oct. 1, 1903.

Rule 1. That boiler makers are to receive 33½ cents per hour, including round house boiler makers.

Rule 2. It is conceded that greater skill is required by men operating flange fires and laying out work, and it is understood that their rates shall be increased in same proportion as boiler makers are increased.

Rule 3. Applicants for regular apprenticeship must be between the ages of 15 and 20 years, and one apprentice shall be employed for the shop and one for every five boiler makers; and they shall receive for the first year ten cents per hour, second year 12½ cents per hour, third year 15 cents per hour and the fourth year 20 cents per hour.

Within six months after his apprenticeship he shall receive the minimum rate of wages paid boiler makers, provided in the foreman's judgment he is competent.

Rule 4. That helpers and laborers shall not be advanced to the detriment of boiler makers and apprentices.

Rule 5. Should it be necessary to reduce expenses the time shall first be reduced to nine hours per day, and then to eight hours per day, and should a further reduction be necessary it shall be done by reducing the force, in which case those longest in service shall be retained; ability and merit being equal.

Rule 6. All time over ten hours and all work on Sunday and legal holidays shall be paid for at the rate of time and one-half. Legal holidays shall consist of New Year's Day, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas.

Rule 7. Any boiler maker or apprentice called to work overtime shall receive not less than five hours when called from home.

Rule 8. That committees shall not be discriminated against.

Rule 9. Back end flue setters to be raised

LODGE 164, BRADFORD, PA.

same percentage as boiler makers.

Rule 10. This agreement not to be changed except on thirty days' notice (written) from either party.

LODGE 164.

I am rather late for a Labor Day report, but have been waiting for a photograph of Lodge 164, and our float, taken just after the parade Monday, September 7th, which I will send under another cover for the Journal. Have also been waiting for award of prizes, for Lodge 164 stands tie with the cigar makers local for turning out the biggest percentage of membership, which is a five dollar gold piece and we will have to arrange between us for a division.

Labor Day was a big day in Bradford, having a parade at 10:30 a. m., in which about 1,100 turned out, and at 2 o'clock p. m., the day's programme opened at the driving park with speaking by Rev. A. R. Kieber as speaker of the day, followed by Geo. A. Thomas, president of the Bradford Trades Assembly, and others, after which we had field sports, consisting of foot races, horse races, automobile races, motor cycle races, bicycle races, daylight fireworks and a tug-of-war between the painters' and the carpenters' unions, out of which the carpenters pulled 1,000; followed in the evening by two grand balls, one at the Lyceum and one at G. A. R. Hall. Despite the drizzling rain that set in at noon and lasted until Tuesday morning the gate receipts at the driving park and at the dances were good. The Bradford Trades Assembly cleared over six hundred and fifty dollars for the day, thanks to their wide-awake committee.

The photograph shows Lodge 164 and float which was the only float in the whole procession that bore the banner of a local. Although several unions turned out floats they all had banners on for some business firm.

Of the members, the first in the front line to the right is our efficient president, Wm. J. Kelley, the second is our worthy vice president, John Petnie. In the second line the first our treasurer, John P. Skindler, the second our financial secretary, T. E. Desmond, and the third your humble servant, and the three with the white badges are delegates to the central body. From right to left your humble servant first, Brother

John Muldoon second, and Brother Geo. Brechtell third. On the wagon we have Brothers A. G. Frey to the right and Bro. Bert Costa second, who does good work with hot rivets during the parade, with Brother Chas. Conive holding on and Red Valailey heating, and our city hall for a back ground.

I am sorry to say that Lodge 164 has some members that are afraid to turn out Labor Day and show themselves as union men. Brother Edward Beaty and Brother Bannon did not turn out with us, for no other reason as I can see than that they did not want their employers to know that they belong to a labor union. Brother John Becker did not turn out on account of having company from out of town, which is a poor excuse, and Brother Phillip Ross was in the hospital, where he had been for three months. He has been sick now for five months, but at present is better than he has been at any time since was taken ill. So to make up our full quota we had to do the same as some other locals did, that is, fill in with available candidates.

We wish to thank Bisset Bros.' Transportation Co. for the use of their heavy truck and a team of horses, which they donated gratis; also Mr. James B. Cochran for the use of the B. and S. Mfg' Co.'s team and all the material we wanted to use from the shop, including lumber, a half completed boiler and tools.

As I have taken too much space now, I will close.

Fraternally submitted,

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 21, 1903.—Please publish in the next Journal the fact that Frank A. Valker, Reg. No. 21584, of No. 92, has been found guilty of scabbing in the shops of Lacy Mfg. Co., during trouble between the pipe and tank makers and their employers. No. 92 has placed a fine of one hundred and fifty ($150) dollars against his name and he stands suspended until payment of the penalty imposed.

LODGE 32.

Kansas City, Mo., 10-11, 1903.

Will you allow me a little space in our Journal? This being my first attempt at anything of this kind, I won't take up much of your time in setting the type for it, but as it has been some time since there was anything in the Journal from Lodge 32, I thought I would try my hand for once, anyway.

Well, we have one of the best lodges in the country, and is composed of men that make a good lodge. At this writing we have 84 members in good standing, and more coming in. There is 5 or 6 stray ones yet in the city, but I think in the next 30 days it would be like finding hen's teeth to find a boiler maker without a card up to date, for that is what it takes in Kansas City now, a good card or no work.

The group is a few of the boiler makers and helpers that was in line on Labor Day. A good many we failed to round up after the parade, consequently we only got a few.

We meet every Friday night at Labor Headquarters in Room No. 2, and all visiting brothers are cordially invited to our meetings. We always have one or both of our Grand Lodge officers at our meeting, and they are always ready and willing to give us a few pointers on what is going on outside of Kansas City, which makes the meetings interesting and gives us a good attendance at our meetings.

Well, as I said before, this being my first attempt, I will wait and see how it looks in print and then maybe I will try it again.

ON CONVENTIONS.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 30, 1903.—In perusing the contents of September Journal I notice the references made by two of our worthy brothers in behalf of the smaller and suburban lodges at our conventions.

I do not agree with Brother Watson on one point—that of holding but one convention in three years—even though the barbers are satisfied with the experiment, for remember, brother, a shave to-day is practically the same as it was fifty years ago. Not so with the mechanical trades which are springing into new fields, meeting with strange difficulties as well as changeable conditions of scientific accomplishments. And again, the barber has only the unprepared public to contend with, while we have the giants of monopoly and the kings of "trusts" as an adversary. We cannot compare ourselves with a trade who lives by the patronage of the working class. We must keep abreast of the times, so to speak, for the death of the iron trades will be the burial of all crafts.

My idea would be to hold a convention every year and raise the money by your policy, which I think is the only way that will accomplish the desired results; for when we remember the fact that we are all members of the same organization, whether we belong to a large or a small subordinate lodge, it is simply a chance of locality, and our purpose is the same. We must also reflect upon the fact that about one-third of our members belong to what is commonly called the "floating population," and demand representation whether they happen to be in Buffalo or San Francisco. What a sight it would be to see the proud Yankee shaking the hand of the happy Southerner, and the boys from the "Lakes" courting the "Native Sons."

The material thus collected would represent the graduates from their local school of scientific unionism, each a distinguished orator, appropriately equipped with a sociable nature and a sincere conscience.

And we need laws that will govern; laws for protection; laws that we can honor; and it will require time and skill to adopt and maintain such laws.

The manufacturers and employers are seeking strength through organization; therefore it must be a good thing, so let us take warning and build a stone wall around our own.

Traitors may betray us and we go down in seeming irretrievable collapse, but look, yonder rises a greater and grander giant, aggressive and irresistibly gaining back every inch of lost ground and dragging with him the spoils of war.

Our past history may be reviewed as an experimental progress, holding warnings of prudence for the days to come.

A great responsibility lays to the future. The development of a higher intellectual standing, the mental and moral advancement of our tradesmen. How is this to be achieved?

It is a well known law that the weak can be endowed with the confidence of the strong, be the gainer, and the stronger loses nothing. Therefore, we must learn to confide in those who are our superiors in the wisdom of law making. We must give them the power to make laws which will successfully carry us to our goal. Laws possessing a fascination, irresistible to our enemies.

Give to the apprentice boy the hopes and expectations of his early shop days, that of becoming a member of a good, substantial brotherhood. Let us have a convention every year; it is not a needless expense, but a necessary. Borrow on next year's salary. It would be a grand treat as well as an education to every brother who attended, and he in turn would educate the members of his lodge, and each year would produce new brains for the convention, like wise for the organization, and we soon would advance to first place among labor organizations; not only in strength, but also in scientific and economic management.

If we have, say, thirty thousand members in good standing, we should have one delegate for each one hundred members, or three hundred delegates, and an assessment of one dollar a year on each member would allow the delegates one hundred dollars each; but, of course, some would probably need more and some less, according to the distance they had to travel, but I think it would not average over that amount. I would like to see the system tried.

Fraternally yours,

P. J. DONOHUE.

A DAMAGE SUIT OR PROSECUTION TO SCARE OR INTIMIDATE US—WELL!

By Samuel Gompers.

A secret society has been formed in the city of Chicago, calling itself the Anti-Boycott Society. It threatens to proceed against the editor of the American Federationist for alleged participation in a boycotting conspiracy against some one, placed, or about to be placed, on the "We Don't Patronize List" of the American Federation of Labor. A damage suit is to be brought by the boycotted employer, and this secret society is to assume the cost of the suit. Being secret, it can command neither confidence nor respect, since it may conceivably be organized for blacklisting or blackmailing purposes, or to provide a few impetuous shysters with a little business at the expense of foolish, misguided and incapable employers.

We have, apropos of this contemplated "suit," a very funny editorial from the Chicago Chronicle, a reckless, ignorant and stupid sheet, which hopes to get advertising from the Parry sort of employers by constant vilification and abuse of labor organizations, which it calls "strike societies." We cannot argue with anonymous libelers, or crazy sheets, but the "damage suit" with which the notoriety-seeking lawyers of the secret society threatens us requires some attention.

We have for years advocated and shall continue to advocate, without the slightest fear, the right of labor—nay, the duty of labor—to withdraw its patronage and favor from its enemies, and to bestow them on its friends. In other words, we insist upon the right, legality and morality of peaceable boycotting.

No man, we hold, can compel another to trade with him, to have friendly intercourse with him, or to confer benefits upon him.

We have a right to choose our tailor, grocer, butcher, shoemaker, etc. We do not think any court in the United States will deny these propositions.

Further, we assert that, what each individual member of a trade union may legally do, the union as a body may legally do.

Only a few weeks ago a judge of the United States District Court, in deciding a case against labor, laid down the following principles:

An agreement by any number of persons to do a lawful thing is not a conspiracy.

Employers have a right to maintain and circulate a "Blacklist," provided the contents of the list be truthful.

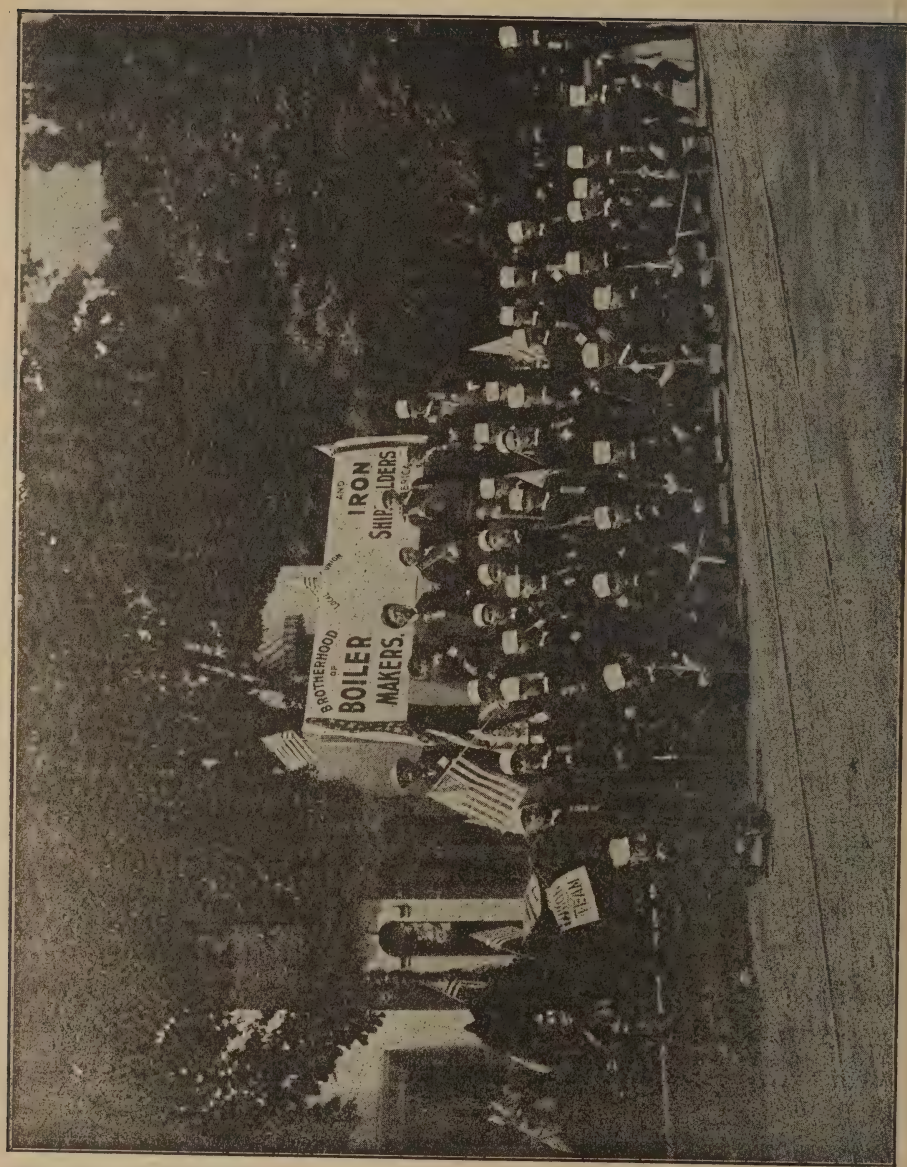

Employers may deprive men of opportunities to earn a livelihood, and may destroy an organization of employes, by means of a "truthful" blacklist.

The majority of the capitalistic papers which commented on this decision at all indorsed it as good sense and good law. Yet most of these papers, we do not doubt, loyally indorse the silly threats of the Chicago Anti-Boycott Association.

Now the report of the Anthracite Arbitration Commission (Judge Gray, chairman) concedes the legality of "primary" boycotting. That is, it concedes the right of any number of workmen to withdraw their patronage and publish the facts, of course—since it is no abuse of free speech to publish facts—about obnoxious employers. Without discussing Judge Gray's opinion as to secondary boycotting of men who, while inoffensive personally, decline to join in a primary boycott, we may call attention to the fact that the alleged offense of which we are accused is a threat of a primary boycott, which the Gray commission and the Federal court at St. Louis have declared to be legal.

In view of these considerations, the following from the Chicago Chronicle will promote the gaiety of sensible men:

LODGE 291, KALAMAZOO, MICH., LABOR DAY, 1903.

They have an association called the American Anti-Boycott Association, which has taken the matter up and proposes to call Mr. Gompers to account for his lawlessness and demonstrate to all concerned that no organization of any class of men can trample underfoot the laws ordained by society organized as a whole.

A suit has already been begun against the Painters' District Council for damages caused by a boycott. The proceedings against Gompers may be of the same character. That is not yet definitely decided. They may be of a different character. A conspiracy to destroy the lawful business of an individual, firm, or corporation is something more than a civil offense. There may be something more than an action for damages in such a case.

Let these mendacious sheets rage furiously together.

Let notoriety-seeking lawyers announce as many damage suits as they like.

We are within the law, and our "We Don't Patronize List" will continue to be published for the benefit of all whom it may concern.

We shall deal with our friends and refuse to deal with our enemies.

We shall continue to lay the facts before our fellow-unionists and friends, and openly, under the protection of the Constitution of our country advise them to follow our example.

SOME MORE JUDGE-MADE LAW AND LABOR.

We have shown on many occasions that where the law favors organized labor and permits co-operation for the protection of individual rights and interests, capitalism does not hesitate to manufacture special judge-made law to deprive labor of such protection. It is hardly necessary to refer to government by injunction as an invention which has done away with the right of trial by jury in many labor cases, and by the use of which workmen are swindled out of fundamental rights and immunities.

LODGE 198.

Yours of Sept. 17th came in due time. I see by the last issue of the Journal that you fulfilled your promise. I will say that I was asked to write a few lines for the Journal, but I put it off till the last hour and then I was called to go to Carlin, Nev., so asked Bro. Tom to write for me, but I could not get him to do so again. What I want to say is this, there was a helper by the name of Joe Banks that came here with a good card from No. 16 H. D., Pocatello, Ida. One of our brothers got him a job, fitted him out with overalls and boarding place. He worked about two weeks, called for his time, got on a drunk, left town and also his bills. Now brothers, look out for this beat and make him square up here. He started for Butte, Mont. No. 198 may be easy but I will say for the benefit of the boomers that the next one that blows in here and wants assistance will have to be about all in and up-to-date. We are very busy here, working 9 hours per day and come back after supper.

Well you better come in tomorrow (Sunday) No. 198 will give their first annual ball Nov. 5th. I am sorry to say that we are too busy to send any tickets to our sister lodges.

Hoping you will find space for this, I am,

Fraternally yours,

GEO B. HENKELL,

Windsor Hotel.

FROM ENNIS, TEXAS.

Just a little space in our valuable Journal to let the brothers know the conditions in Ennis; also a warning to the traveling fraternity to keep away unless they have credentials stamped up-to-date. Well, things are slack at present and will be for 60 days. The company has laid off about 40 men all told. The boilermakers are enjoying themselves making $3.70 per day. A boilermaker starting to work that has not a good card, we have no trouble in having him removed. Any one coming this way please have the documents because it is very unpleasant to stop men from working.

LODGE 88.

Lodge No. 88 has been organized since 1892 and it has never seen anything in your valuable Journal in her behalf. I will take the liberty of telling all the brothers that she is still inexistence. We have twenty members in good standing at present, more than at any time since we organized, but am sorry to say that if some of our brothers do not come up by the 1st of November they are liable to see their names in the Journal. I sincerely hope this will not be the case, for, as Brother Jack Gribben of No. 14 says, "Just do without a few more glasses and it will come easy." I wish we had a few more like our Brother Jack.

At our last regular meeting we had a good attendance and some one made a motion for refreshments, and it was not long before we started the ball to rolling. Our worthy president, Brother John Nicholls took the prize for clog dancing, Brother Sam Magee for high jumping, Brother Frank Albrecht for the best joker. Brothers Majors and Utley rendered some very good vocal selections. Brother Bean sang "Show Me the Way to Go Home," and after one of the brothers showed him the door, all thought he had gone home. We were surprised to see him when we started home holding to a telephone pole. When we asked what he was doing he said that he had as much right to that pole as any Bean did to a pole.

Well, if there is not room enough in the waste basket for this please put it in our Journal, and I promise not to do it any more.

Faternally yours,

JOHN SEWARD, C. and F. S.

LODGE 4.

A. L. CARMACK,

B. A. L. No. 4.

LODGE 4.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 6, 1903.—I would like to get a few words in the Journal in behalf of Lodge 4. As this is the birthday of my election as business agent of Lodge 4, and I have one year's experience to-day, I will give you a few figures for the readers of the Journal on the increase for boilermakers in Lodge 4, for the year from Oct. 6, 1902, to Oct. 6, 1903.

One hundred and sixty-seven men, at 50 cents increase per day, which is $83.50 per day, and for twenty-six days per month is $2,171.00. Also thirty-six men at 30 cents increase per day, is $10.80 per day; twenty-six days per month, is $281.80. Total per day, $94.30. Total per month, $2,452.80. This last figure is the amount the boilermakers of Lodge 4 is receiving from the late increase since Oct. 6, 1902. Receipts per month for dues, $304.50. I hope the readers of the Journal will not think delicate of the few figures I have given you.

Now, a few words on increasing the per capita tax. I am in favor of increasing the tax. We have found a great difficulty in bettering the condition of the boiler makers by not having money enough to do it with. It certainly takes money to sustain strikes, when thousands of our members are young ones and have placed in the treasury only the price of initiation stamps and a few due stamps and expect to be sustained to better their condition and receive benefits eight or ten weeks, which is something like $60 or $70 for the $3 or $4 they have paid in the grand treasury. It is impossible for the Grand Lodge to stand figures like this. If the members we have had been paying 25 cents per month in the grand treasury the last 20 years, it would be all right. There would be money enough to sustain the demand that it is necessary to make, but you must remember a big portion of the membership are not a year old and certainly they have put very little money in the grand treasury. Hardly enough to pay themselves one week's benefit. In 1902 a grievance came up in Lodge 4 to make a demand for increase in pay. Then a great many boiler makers came and joined the union. When the strike was ordered some of them only had one stamp on their working card and that was an initiation stamp. Certainly, according to law they drew benefits from the grand treasury. Some of them drew $7 per week for sixteen weeks, which is $112. When the strike was off some of them had three due stamps and an initiation stamp. That means they paid in the grand treasury $1.75 and drew out $112, and gained for themselves an increase of 50 cents per day. This is not a hint on any one. When you hear of lodges being sanctioned for a demand you can bet your last dollar there are a great many men that draw benefits that has only one stamp, and that is an initiation stamp; which I don't mean to say is wrong or unlawful. All local lodges are forced to do it, but such things are a burden on the grand treasury. Certainly they are forced to call for assessments, or otherwise increase per capita tax, so as they can better the conditions of the members.

Now, a few words on increasing dues. I believe in paying high dues, $1.50 or $2 per month. The dues were increased in No. 4 March 1, 1902, from 50 cents per month to $1.50 per month. Since that day we have had very little trouble to collect dues. We must admit that it is natural for a man to think a cheap article is worth very little and when they get it in their minds it is too cheap to be worth much they become careless in paying their dues. I will say that anything that is not worth over 50 cents a month is not worth much, and I don't believe anyone will ever gain any substantial benefit from such little money. Six dollar a year. That sounds too small to me to be any good. An increase of 2 cents per day would pay it. Two cents per day is nothing to No. 4. It took 30 and 50 cents per day to please us. When we make our brotherhood worth $1.50 instead of 50 cents it will get closer attention. Certainly the more valuable an article is the closer attention it will get. That has been proven in Lodge No. 4. I hope the readers will not think I am trying to push No. 4 over any other lodge. I am only posted in conditions with No. 4; only when the same thing might have been proven in other lodges, my idea is to write home experience. If any of the readers have had different experience, write it in the Journal, probably we can exchange them and be wiser men.

I will place before you the photos of two of our brothers, Brother Hugh S. Murphy and Brother Jeff Shepperson, who are known as two of the heroes of Birmingham. They suit any place they go, society better than any other. Brother Shepperson received a sudden shock while out driving and was forced to stop work for a few days. I don't know how his girl talked. He won't say. He still looks some what delicate.

We regret the loss of one of our oldest members, Brother M. J. Sullivan leaving for Pennsylvania; since deposited card in 318. I can assure the members of 318 that they have one of the best union men in the United States. The brothers not being posted when he was going to leave us, there was only about fifty to see him off on the train. Quite a number of them asked me to apologize to Brother Sullivan through the Journal for them. It is hardly believed that Brother Sullivan will make a permanent stay in Pennsylvania, for he is a man that don't believe there is any place like "Home, Sweet Home."

If I am not taking up too much time I would like to tell something about the misfortunes of some of our brothers. First, Brother G. S. Demott fell from top of a boiler in the Southern shops. It seems he fell backwards across a 13-inch air drum and it struck him on small part of the back, inflicting painful wounds. He will be off from his work several weeks. Brother W. H. Scheler received a slight cut on the head, afterwards inflammation set in. He was in the hospital four weeks. It was thought for a while he was dangerously ill, but is recovering slowly. Brother W. H. McCaffry, while running some pneumatic tool with a high pressure of air, it exploded and hit him in the eye. It is generally thought he will lose it. Brother James Oakley, while at work in Southern shops, was struck in the eye by a flying burr. His eye is a total loss. Brother Fred Finkbinder, while running some pneumatic tool with high pressure of air, it exploded and a piece of iron striking him on one side of the face inflicted a painful wound. Brother S. D. Sandling is done with the typhoid fever and will not be able to work for several weeks. All of this has come about within the last six weeks. Also, Mr. Wm. Skidmore, foreman boiler maker at the Southern shop, while returning from an Irish wake, fell in a ditch and received a sprained ankle and skinned nose. It was one week before he was able to work.

LODGE 20.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 12, 1903.—In looking over the last quarterly report I find where the Grand Lodge has paid to Brother Dominick Kane the sum of ($814.00) eight hundred and fourteen dollars for three months. This is outrageous. It seems that Brother Dominick Kane is not satisfied with the sandbagging that he gave to the brothers of old local No. 5 in 1897, but is out sandbagging the brothers throughout the country.

Now while we are at it, it would be a benefit to the brotherhood if Brother Dominick Kane would explain a little act of his while in the mills at Philadelphia in the early 80's; also how he served his time in a town where there is no shipyard. Please publish this in next Journal. I remain,

C. VAN DRUVER, Pres.

Lodge #292, Persimmon, Pa. Nov. 1905.

No. 2 H. D.

As this is our report in the Journal it grieves us to announce the death of Brother P. J. Gavin, who died October 2, 03. To add to our grief, all efforts to find his relatives were in vain. He came here ten months ago and in due time was initiated in our organization. Owing to ill-health previous to his death his finances were exhausted. No. 2 took the matter in charge and buried our beloved brother with all honor and respect. It is rumored he has two daughters somewhere in convent, this we don't know. He gave his pedigree as follows: Born in Quebec, single and 32 years of age.

P. J. GAVIN.

At our regular meeting it was resolved to have Brother Gavin's photograph (one we send you) with some explanation in the next issue of the Journal. Anyone recognizing same will please correspond with corresponding secretary of No. 2.

Fraternally yours,

C. B. MORGAN.

LODGE 285.

Halifax, N. S.—This is the first time that I attempted to write anything for the Journal, and I hope that you will overlook any mistakes and give this a place in the next Journal.

I wish to say that 285 is still going along fine, thanks to the old war horse, President Burns. He is a hustler and makes the boys toe the scratch every time. I am sorry to say that there are some brothers that would not come to time if it was not for him, so you see that he is a hustler and still keeps them going along.

There is something else that I would like to say, that is if some of the brothers would attend the meetings and show themselves there would be more satisfaction. They would know what was being done and would not have to ask what has been done at the meetings. Brothers, wake up, and show that you have the interest of the brotherhood at heart and you will not have to ask what has been done at the meeting.

There is something that I almost forgot to say, that is, that one of our brothers committed a very serious act. He persuaded a young lady to change her name for his, which she did. His name is Johnny Wood and he is solid to the core. No. 285 wishes them success and happiness and a house full of different kinds of Wood. We would wish him more but he did not let any of us know and all the boys feel kind of sore over it. I hope that I am not taking up too much valuable space in the Journal. I remain,

Yours fraternally,

J. E.

JOHN GREEN, No. 2 H. D.

scription in the Journal. This is a photograph of John Green, who so shamefully swindled his brother craftsman. He left here in arrear with dues, owing our Cor. Sec. $7.50, a private member $5.00, and numerous bills around town. Any brother who meets him may mark him as a rascal and swindler. His Reg. No. is 25439.

H. D. NO. 2.

LODGE 4, H. D.

As Lodge No. 4, H. D., has not had any space in the Journal for some time, I thought I would give you a description of some of the wild beasts, called scabs, the U. P. has in the boiler shop at Armstrong. First in line is scab No. 1, a scab by the name of Wood. He lives at Chelsea place. He is about 5 feet 8 inches, weighs about 170, black hair and dark skin. A person might think by the expression of his face that his mother was dead and that he begrudged the money to buy the coffin with. He quit his job at Darby's to scab at the U. P.

Scab No. 2 is next in line and is Scabby Dinkle, who had worked at the U. P. shops before the strike and had quit, and then came back and went to work as soon as there was a strike on. He is about 5 feet 10 inches, weighs about 160, black hair, dark skin and has a hungry look on his face. He puts one in mind of one of those animals that their fingers stick to everything they come in contact with. He is no good. He is too lazy to draw an honest breath, but he is a company suck, and that is what the U. P. wants.

Scab No. 3 is a young fellow, by name Vontine, who was working on the flange fire when we went back to work, but quit soon after and went scabbing on the boiler makers on the K. C. S. He was let out there and went to riveting on the flow line. He is about 5 feet 8 inches, weighs about 165. He is a foxy guy. Be on the look out for him, and turn him down wherever you meet him.

There is some dagoes helping at Armstrong. I will write them up as soon as I can learn to pronounce their names, although they are hardly worth writing up, for they are ignorant, cannot understand and never will learn anything. They are no good and it would be impossible for them to hold a job anywhere else, and I don't think they would hold their job here very long if they were not working piece work.

Scab No. 4 is a man or dago by the name of Clark. 5 feet 8 inches, black hair and almost black face; weighs about 145, has a head like an Arkansas rooter.

Scab No. 5 is a fellow they call Ring. He works on ash pans. Calls himself a boiler maker. He was a common laborer until the strike, then he went scabbing at Armstrong and one year's scabbing on the U. P. made a 25 cent boiler maker of him.

This will be all for this time. Hoping this will find its way into the Journal, I remain,

Yours,

T. L. MORRIS, J. C.

LODGE 54, H. D.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 16, 1903.—I find contributions from the helpers' side a scarce article, but if space will be allowed, I will say a few words that others may know something of our progress and prosperity since our organization, which occurred November 11th, 1902.

Before the effect of union was felt in our midst, wages ranged from $1.40 to $1.60 per day, with time and a quarter for overtime. Our employers were firm and every indication of unionism was seized and ushered out in double quick time. As free men, we scarcely dared to think of contending for that which we knew to be ours. In brief, we toiled on in silence in an unorganized shop, not by choice, but as victims of circumstances. At last the day came, the machinists were first to take a stand and like fire on a prairie this example spread into every rank. Those for whom we worked knew that they must deal with us no longer as individuals, but as an organization. Once an increase of wages was made from 10 to 30 cents per day according to the amount previously paid, with time and one-half for overtime.

Of course, the boiler maker helper was granted the ten cents raise, which was gladly received, yet we felt it was insufficient, so we presented a grievance last March, asking that we be paid $1.75 and $2.00 per day. This met with some degree of success, but not so much as we wished, the scale for April being arranged at $1.65 and $1.90. In September, along with the boiler makers, we "stormed the fort" again, this time asking that a more systematic scale be allowed, ranging from $2.00 upward. We did not get all of it this time, yet it was worth all it cost since not a man received less than 1½ cents more per hour. We feel that we have done well when we compare $1.40 and $1.60 to $1.80 and $2.10, and think that the year is not ended.

LODGE 65, H. D.

San Francisco, Oct. 15, 1903.—Lodge 65, H. D., is getting along pretty good, although work is quite slack at present and helpers coming to this town at present are liable to be up against it for awhile. We have changed our headquarters from 121 New Montgomery street to 401 Mimia street, and are now comfortably situated in our new and commodious quarters, and have quite a library and reading room; also billiard tables and a card room. The hours of admittance are as follows: 9:30 to 10:30 a. m., 2:30 to 4 p. m. and 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. There has been a change in our officers and we beg the Journal to change them as follows: Robt. Haas, president; Dock Tobias, vice president; Louis J. Adams, financial secretary; John Troester, recording secretary; M. Burns, treasurer, and E. P. Desmond, corresponding secretary and business agent.

Hoping next time to have more news for the Journal, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

JOHN M. HOGAN,

Journal Correspondent.

I am instructed by this lodge to inform you that our vote is 68 against to the above call.

(Seal)

Fraternally yours,

Per

John Rugel Pres.

Jas S. Langhain C. S.

Above cuts represent two votes from the same lodge, and because of same color of paper and secretary not placing HD. on the first one, a mistake was made in the entry as shown on the call, giving lodge 35 of Baltimore an affirmative vote while that lodge had not voted at all. It requires constant care to prevent such. To lessen the chances we have procured another color of paper for the Helper Division. The same mistake in L 36 boiler makers, as they are recorded as voting No on the call, they have not voted either way, while Lodge 36 HD. is recorded as voting No on the call they should be recorded as voting Yes.

WM. J. GILTHORPE, G. S.-T.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF BOILERMAKERS, APPRENTICES AND HELPERS FOR THE DENVER AND RIO GRANDE SYSTEM.

RULE I.

Standard working time shall be nine (9) hours per day.

RULE II.

When necessary to reduce expenses, working hours may be reduced to not less than eight (8) hours per day and six (6) days per week; force not to be increased while working short hours. Should any further reduction of expenses be found necessary, it will be made by reducing the force. Senior and proficient married men, and single men with families dependent on them, will be given preference.

RULE III.

Boiler makers, apprentices and helpers will be paid at the rate of time and one-half per hour for each hour worked on Sundays and Legal Holidays; said holidays to be as follows:

New Year's, Washington's Birthday (February 22nd), Decoration Day, Independence Day (July 4th), Labor Day, Thanksgiving day, Christmas Day; also Pioneer's Day (July 24th, in Utah only).

This is to be effective in all shops and round houses on the system, and includes all round houses and night men.

RULE IV.

Boiler makers, apprentices and helpers will not be suspended or discharged without just and sufficient cause. If, after investigation in the presence of Shop Committee, employee is found to have been unjustly suspended or discharged, he will be reinstated and receive pay for the time lost pending investigation; said investigation to take place within five days after charges have been made.

RULE V.

The Company will not discriminate against boiler makers who act on any committee authorized to meet the officials of the Company.

RULE VI.

When requested, the Company will grant leave of absence and furnish free transportation over its own line, at earliest convenience, to boiler makers who may desire to go before the management for the adjustment of grievances.

RULE VII.

When a vacancy occurs, older boiler makers in the employ of the Company will be entitled to promotion; character and proficiency to govern such promotion.

RULE VIII.

Should a boiler maker, apprentice or helper be sent out on the line of the road, he will be allowed pay and expenses from the time he is called until he returns. For boiler makers, apprentices or helpers called to work at night, Sundays or holidays, a minimum of five hours will be allowed for three hours and twenty minutes' work, or fractional part thereof.

RULE IX.

When it becomes necessary for boiler makers, apprentices or helpers to work overtime, they shall not be laid off during regular working hours to equalize the overtime made.

RULE X.

Boiler makers, apprentices and helpers shall enjoy the same privileges in regard to transportation over lines of the Denver & Rio Grande System as other employees of this Company.

RULE XI.

One apprentice may be employed in each shop irrespective of the number of boiler makers employed, and one additional apprentice may be employed for every five boiler makers. This ratio not to effect apprentices now in the service.

Any apprentice hereafter engaging himself to learn the trade of boiler maker shall serve four years of not less than three hundred days per year. He shall begin between the ages of sixteen and twenty-one; and shall in no case leave the service of the Company without just and sufficient cause. He shall be advanced every six months, providing he is proficient and attentive to his duties, in order to teach him all branches of the trade.

He shall receive ten (10) cents per hour for the first year; twelve and one-half (12½) cents per hour for the second year; fifteen (15) cents per hour for the third year; and twenty (20) cents per hour for the fourth year. Apprentices continuing in the service of the Company after the expiration of the four years shall be paid thirty (30) cents per hour for the first six months, after which the minute rate will be paid. Apprentices will be entitled to certificate of service after serving the full term of four years.

RULE XII.

No one but boiler makers and apprentices may be employed in the following classes of work:

All cutting apart, marking off or laying out any work pertaining to steam, air, water and oil-tight work; the laying out, building and fitting up of any sheet iron work made from No. 16 gauge or upwards, iron or steel, boiler inspecting and testing, flanging, patching, riveting, chipping, caulking, punching, shearing and tube work.

RULE XIII.

In places where there are flue setters and handy men doing ash-pan, smoke-stack and front-end work, this rule will remain in force until such men leave the Company's employ, and these positions then becoming vacant, will be filled with boiler makers or apprentices, who will do this class of work.

RULE XIV.

All regularly organized night forces will receive ten hours' pay for nine hours' work, but no overtime will be paid for the extra hour allowed.

RULE XV.

Special effort will be made to furnish good water—filtered or condensed water—for drinking purposes on the System, and ice at such places as the Company maintains supplies.

RULE XVI.

The present rate of wages shall remain in force.

RULE XVII.

In case either the Company or the boiler makers employed by them wish to change the above, a notice of thirty days is to be given.

RULE XVIII.

These rules and regulations become effective October 1st, 1903.

F. MERTSHEIMER,

Supt. Motive Power & Car Dept.

Approved:

J. O. EDSON, Manager.

ARTICLE IV.

When requested the company will grant leave of absence and furnish free transportation over its own lines to boiler maker helpers who wish to go before the management for the adjustment of differences.

REPORT OF EDW. FOX, G. V. P.

In submitting my report for this month I begin in Oswego, N. Y. After arriving in this city I investigated thoroughly the conditions in this city, and attended the regular meeting of Lodge 175. Oswego is a city that is quite a factor in the boiler manufacturing industry and a point that requires the careful attention of this organization, because it is the lowest paid point in the entire country. There are four very large concerns located here, and their highest wage rate is 25 cents per hour, while in the New York Central railroad shops our men receive 25½ cents per hour, and were it not for the boiler makers working in said shop we would not have a lodge in Oswego, as we have hardly any members in the other four large shops. Over a year ago a strike originated in the contract shops, and the men going out on their own responsibility had a depreciating effect on the results. Consequently, some boiler makers returned to work unauthorized by the lodge, and by so doing was the means of demoralizing the lodge and breaking up the strike, which caused the falling away of nearly all the members of the lodge. Let me say that we have as good timber in Oswego as in any other point in the country, but they are severely handicapped by overwhelming odds against them, consequently there is a lot of work to do to get these men in line.

While I was there we held an open meeting and some of the delinquents put in an appearance, and signified their intentions of coming back into the fold. The reinstatement fee being reduced by Lodge 175 had brought some in. While I was there, I also had the helpers interested and expected to organize them, but unfortunately was called away by telegram from G. P. O. to go to London, Canada, as a strike was on there.

I immediately proceeded to London, Canada, and found out a clear case of discrimination against the president of the lodge, Brother James Baker. The plain facts in this case are these: In March of this year our men there made a demand of that firm, Leonard and Sons, together with other firms in London. The firms settled with the boiler makers but refused to treat with the helpers. The helpers being organized the boiler makers refused to work until their grievance was adjusted. Consequently the firm had to settle. The foreman in the shop who, by the way, spent quite awhile in the machine shops trying to see if he could run the machine shops on a paying basis, but failing in that he was transferred to the boiler shop, immediately after the termination of the wage difficulty, in April, this year, made the statement that he would break up the helpers' local. He raised the wages of some of the helpers who were officers in the local, which caused dissatisfaction among the members, and consequently the local went under. Encouraged by his success the next move was with the machinists who had also made an agreement with the company at about the same time our men did. This agreement was violated and broken by the company. This action was resented by the men and consequently a strike with the machinists followed, which is still pending. This foreman made the crack that he would soon break up the boiler makers' union also, and without any cause discharged the president of No. 203, and chairman of the shop committee, in a letter stating they reserved the right to employ or discharge whom they seen fit, and would not be dictated to by any labor organization. Our men at their next regular meeting declared a strike on the firm of Leonard & Sons. To show how well they had laid their plans they had agents in the old country hiring men, boiler makers and machinists, to take their men's places, even before the strike occurred.

In my opinion the men acted wisely and took action at the proper time. The laws in Canada are very stringent regarding strikes. You cannot picket a shop on strike. The only way you can see any man who may go to work is by visiting his house, and talking with him, otherwise you leave yourself liable to arrest and the lowest penalty is two years' imprisonment. So, brothers, you can realize the position our brothers are in in Canada, and let me say also they are regular born fighters. I also found out that the employers in Canada belong to the same association we have to contend with in this country, and you cannot buy a boiler any cheaper there than you can in this country. While over in London I had a committee wait upon the company to manage a conference, so as we could take up the difficulty looking towards a settlement. They absolutely refused to meet a committee with myself or to meet a committee of any kind, only as individuals, and any boiler maker would not be hired in future only as an individual, and our men absolutely refuse to do business only as union men. The spirit of unionism is rampant in London and in Canada as well, which deserves the admiration of all members of this brotherhood, and these brothers must be sustained.

On my return to Buffalo I received information from your Grand President Organizer that protests had been entered in Kansas City about keeping the Grand Vice Presidents on the road and one from Lodge 5, Cleveland, O., which appears in this month's Journal. I have no desire to criticize any lodge who may enter a protest at any time; that is their privilege, but I do object to the wording of that protest, as there is not a city in the entire country that has been benefited any more by the Grand Vice Presidents being on the road than the city of Cleveland; therefore as far as I am concerned I brand that statement coming from Lodge 5 as malicious, misleading and untrue, and I further ask that our worthy Grand Secretary issue a statement in November Journal, showing the condition of the city of Cleveland in April before I went there, and at the present time, and I assure you I do not intend to let this matter drop.

While submitting this report I cannot refrain from expressing myself at this particular time that organization, and the consciousness of strength that came with it, have been one of the most important factors in advancing civilization; in fact, may be considered one of its cornerstones. The collective action of any body of people has made it possible for them to create conditions and establish reforms that would have been impossibilities for them to attempt as individuals, and the records of the past inform us that all successful efforts to establish and maintain improved conditions were the result of organized labor. The very life blood in our veins is the heritage of those characters, who thousands of years ago longed for a better condition, for a better land. This unrest, this discontent that impels men always and ever to seek better conditions is natural and legitimate. We should not crush that divine spirit of unrest which makes the world as it is, and gives us whatever civilization exists. We should rather contribute to the sum of knowledge, that which will mold the mind and sharpen it into some effective force which shall further better our condition. And can work be more progressive, more socially useful and more patriotic than the education and organization of nine-tenths of the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders of America, so that they possess their rights and perform their duties as citizens of a great republic. Under the stimulus of favorable trade conditions this organization has grown in a remarkable degree during the past few years. This organization has multiplied its membership and new locals have sprung up and flourished where once we had none. Organization has been comparatively easy, it now behooves us to inspire the organized with a true appreciation of the principles of trade unionism, to educate our new recruits in its precepts and to teach them to restrain those impulses which unrestrained has proven time and again the rock upon which many a promising craft has floundered.

Hoping this will be satisfactory and with best wishes to all, I remain,

Sincerely and fraternally yours,

EDWARD FOX, G. V. P.

NEW ENGLAND DISTRICT LODGE NO. 7.

Boston, Oct. 12, 1903.—"Teach self-denial, make its practice pleasurable and you create for the world a destiny more sublime than ever issued from the brain of the wildest dreamer."—Sir Walter Scott.

A correspondent for the Journal who hails from Elm City, Lodge 61, apologetically commences his ungracious epistle on the District Lodge in the August Journal with the surprisingly wretched remark, "that it is sometime since he had anything to say before." After delivering himself of this ambitious piece of information, he forthwith informs the readers of the monthly that he received a letter from Lodge 9, inviting 61 to become a member of District Lodge No. 7. This last statement is substantially correct, as not only was Lodge 61, but all other lodges in New England were invited to joint District No. 7, and the invitation still holds, ostensibly, openly and constitutionally, to build up a powerful district lodge, which may be competent to take up any question relating to the enhancing or impairment of the organization interests of any local in the district and the cause also of any particular brother, whose lot may not be cast on the bright side, but who may be threatened with more adverse conditions than he is able to ward off alone.

Whenever the general interests of the brotherhood in the district suffers or is threatened with imminent evil conditions that cannot be met by the local lodge, then it is the province of the District Lodge to step in and persuade employers to see to it that no harsh burdens are placed on our fellow craftsmen which may justly be described as repugnant to our dignity as human beings. But in doing this much needed service, it is desirable to determine the true nature of the occasion which calls for interference by the District Lodge. Hold fast to the business principles of integrity, guide all your acts by truth and honor, and we will never be tempted to overdo matters, nor go further than is required for the remedy of the evil complained of and the removal, by intelligent methods, of a recurrence of those dangerous grievances.

The District Lodge fills a want in the brotherhood that has long been urgently felt and in accordance with the lessons of tradition it can have no unexpected effect, other than to unite our fellow craftsmen in the bonds of a closer alliance, for mutual purposes, that will not fail to bind us closer and closer together every year. The acquisition of intelligence and concentrated power capable of evolving acceptable propositions from what may be termed hopelessly confused conferences, for better conditions, between employers and employees. No better illustration of this well directed service, bristling with intelligence, can be exemplified than the telling blows dealt our opponents by District No. 4 during the recent strike. He is a dull brother who fails to appreciate intelligent services like this of District No. 4 successfully rendered at the proper time, yet I fear there are many thoughtless ones who fail in interest and appreciation of many a good thing pushed forward in their behalf, yet failing of generous recognition, because it is lightly thought a breath has made them, and "sink or swim," renewal may never cost any more. Of thoughts like this the indifferent are always capable. The warning voice of the Iron Trades Council of San Francisco, which is only another form of a district lodge, falls on dull ears when it exposes the nefarious scheme of the Manufacturers Association of the same place to destroy trades unionism by massing large and unnecessary numbers of idle toilers in that city, to menace, and, if possible, destroy the trades union by the pernicious competition that springs from an overcrowded market of the same quality of goods.

Reasonable compliance with fair and conservative business principles would convince my brother of No. 61, who claims exclusive honors for the committee of his lodge, which in company with other lodge committees presented grievances on wages to the proper officials of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad company, and won a creditable concession in wages from the management. This effort at exclusiveness, together with the contention that members of the district lodge, who were several months engaged in discussing "ways and means" in their own lodges, for the proper conduct and management of the entire affair, are not entitled to any credit for agitating the subject, pushing it along, and further because they spent an equal amount of time in fruitlessly importuning 61 and 237 to come into the district, they are not entitled to any honor for the ultimate result is, to say the least, unworthy of the brother who makes the ungenerous claim.

The particular fault of the committees from the locals concerned (as the district lodge was not represented in the affair) is found in the fact that they never met together sufficiently far in advance to properly consider their mutual grievances, fix them up to a limit of reasonable fairness, satisfactory to all concerned, and armed with that understandable development of their case, present their new schedule one and all at the proper time and place, to the officials of the railroad concerned as the combined proposition of all, embracing the limit they would stand for, one for all and all together to the end of the controversy. Unfortunately for want of this mature deliberation and wise direction, mischievous personal misunderstandings arise that is bound to threaten the success of any proper scheme, when the parties to the combination shift their responsibility and cry out against each other loud enough to be heard out in Alaska, as well as by the officials of the road concerned.

It is in a spirit of disappointment, born of immature reflection, that Brother Hadlock cries out: "We had ought to pinch ourselves and come out of the district," in full ignorance of the fact that District No. 7 never discussed the grievances of our fellow craftsmen employed on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, and therefore never did, and could not give any official directions on the management of the controversy whatever. Now here is where my brothers in New Haven ought to pinch themselves into the district, and when they are there they will stand on a plain of common and generous understanding with their fellow craftsmen all over the entire line. Without a doubt the district lodge is today the only and most expedient channel on railroad systems, or off them, through which all distant points can be brought into close touch with each other; therefore, form powerful district lodges all around, meet reasonably often, compare notes, mature your plans, move on the enemy all together as a unit or move not at all. Imperatively, under no circumstances should any one lodge act alone, unless by special agreement and for a special purpose; all must move together, as that form of proceeding is the best line of business, and united business is the life of trade, which is always interesting and never goes under.

Another subject touched on in this peculiar paper from 61 is the statement that they are advised by the district, it would be better to run the grand lodge in a modified way "as an advisory board," on a five-cent per capita tax basis, preferably, than as now. Here, too, Brother Hadlock is essentially in error, as the district lodge never adopted any such opinion. It is not responsible for individual opinions until it adopts them by vote and promulgates them as its own, and Brother Hadlock should be more careful of his statements and sure of his ground before he prints such a misleading narrative as the foregoing assuredly is. In the first place there is no grand lodge in existence at the present time, the grand lodge of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, properly constituted, pure and simple, is the convention of the brotherhood. Even the executive council is not a grand lodge, as its functions are strictly defined in the constitution, Article 6, not as an advisory board, but as a council of supervision, to handle all business of the brotherhood and execute the same between sessions of the grand lodge. It is its province to decide all questions within the limits of the law—the constitution. Brother William J. Gilthorpe, G. S. T., and Brother John McNeil together are not the grand lodge, but they are the supreme officers of the brotherhood, each with properly defined constitutional duties to perform.

Brother Hadlock does not believe in a five-cent per capita tax basis and evidently he does not see that any good can be accomplished by our supreme officers during times of trouble with only a five cent capita tax to draw on and back up their enterprises in behalf of the brotherhood. For a long time the writer has held the opinion that our present supreme officers endeavor to accomplish too much to be able to finish what they really do with commendable success. Obviously, to make their efforts more comprehensive and successful, I am of the belief that their entire duties should be comprehended in a general supervision of the brotherhood, combined with the care of and issuance of the literary work of the same, and if their is not enough for them to do on these lines, I would add to them the care and supervision entirely of a national sick and death benefit fund and leave the supervision of strikes, strike benefits and settlements to district lodges. I am in favor of powerful district lodges to deal with these subjects, to care for and appoint competent organizers and business agents for the district.

I may go a step further and declare in favor of representation in our convention by district lodges only, as such a plan will serve the double purpose of furnishing the best men as representatives and give the small lodges of ten or a dozen members a chance to be represented. It is well-known that these small lodges are rarely represented because the expense is excessive. I notice with some concern that one of our lodges is out with a proposition to amend the constitution, with the purpose to saddle the expense of all delegates to conventions on the brotherhood at large. Such a scheme is improvident, because what we are looking for is economy, and district representation is more to the point so far as economy, capable intelligence and the compact numerical strength of conventions are concerned. Excessive attendance at conventions is as great a peril and menace to successful legislative work as lack of intelligence is, when it is encountered in debating legislative councils.

Now, when my Brother Hadlock sneers at a five cent capita tax to simply pay two supreme officers' salaries and expenses, to use a bar from an old song, "There's, where he makes a mistake," and I have only to point out to him that the surface railroads running through the streets of the city where he resides and finds his employment, lives, prospers and pays handsome dividends to their stockholders on five-cent fares, and some of these same stockholders frequently develop into railroad magnates on five cents. Whatever the efficiency of our supreme officers is at the present time, the indications are that some of them may develop into brotherhood magnates, if the present rate of monthly expense and salaries are maintained. Yet aside from this, who will question the opportunity of two supreme officers to graduate as magnates from a five-cent capita tax, with such an open field as the entire United States, with Canada and Mexico thrown in. I would not be surprised if Brothers John and Willie would indulge in a little speculation on this same basis, and in the near future rights may be sold at a premium to organizers to stump the field on this same five-cent capita tax basis.

Now, so far as the true spirit of economy is concerned, nothing better can be suggested as a true remedy to ward off some of the evils that follow in the wake of organization, as I find it at the present time, than powerful district lodges to cope with all emergencies. Yes, put money into district lodges, make them strong and powerful, they cannot be too much so in reserve power. Yet in exploiting sentiments of this character Brother Hadlock says Boston, or even New England, is not the whole earth. Well brother, as you were giving us a pretty big think, I did not expect you to deliver yourself of such an unreflecting, not to say unfeeling, remark as that. By long odds Boston is long and favorably known as the "Hub of the Universe," and New England District Lodge being located in Boston, it is a component part of the Hub of the Universe, so to speak. The hub of the wheel so powerfully constructed of all other districts as the spokes to the hub and circular rim—the circle of the earth—and among those spokes, in the near future, I hope to find Brother Hadlock's lodge, 61.

Assessments are referred to as unpopular. A thousand times, I have been told they are unpopular and the same men tell me they will not pay them. Why? Because they are a heavy burden on working men, who are prompt to discard the infliction when they can, and in no country can they do it better than in the United States; therefore, I say assessments are unpopular and if my friend wants a clear illustration, I point him to the powerful array of lodges voting no on the last call, in which all the large lodges, from 154 of Smoky City to Bay State No. 9 of Boston, are arrayed against it, with feelings as strong and determined as that which led to the famed "Boston tea party" of colonial union days.

Assessments and expense are subjects of intimate relevancy in the affairs of the brotherhood. At the present time the latter item as it is revealed clearly in Brother Gilthorpe's quarterly reports, is attracting a good deal of attention and not a little adverse expressions of opinion on the unfavorable effect of it, on the entire organization. The Baltimore convention favored salaries for G. V. P. and the usual requisition was placed on the referendum sheets and the same was defeated by the referendum vote of the brotherhood at large. In view of the defeat of the proposition a great many brothers, and lodges as well, are vainly cudgelling their brain in a fruitless search for the solution of the extraordinary proceeding, wherein is lodged the authority, that entitles the members of the executive council, in the face of the decision of the brotherhood, to vote themselves salaries. Our G. P. O. could not do us a better service than to publish in the Journal the exact article and section of the constitution that authorizes the council's action; also, the decision on the resolution of Lodge 7 of Buffalo requesting the convening of a special convention this year, which, I understand, has been ruled unconstitutional. Where, please, does the constitution say that such a resolution is unlawful? Let us have it, the article and section, that bolsters up such decisions.

In the closing sentences of this peculiar paper authorized by lodge 61, its Journal correspondent takes occasion to cast a doubt on the loyalty of District No. 7. Now, brothers, bear with me and have patience. There may be a license for digression, but there is none for unwarranted statement. Come, let us see where the holes are in this loyal brother's armor. Examine them carefully and determine whether they will bear the strain of hard or soft patching best. It is a constitutional provision that district lodges can only be organized by the assembled delegates from true blue lodges of the brotherhood.

Obviously to make sure that District No. 7 was working under the rules, it took Lodge 371 from the metal trades organization, re-organized it in the brotherhood and made religiously sure that it was all right before it was admitted into the district. Does that kind of conduct look like disloyalty to the grand lodge? Not at all. On the contrary, it is commendable loyalty. Here is where we run against a big hole and a broken rib in Brother Hadlock's armor. This broken rib must be taken out and replaced by a new one and the hole covered over with a hard patch for the purpose of making the suit of mail of my friend look as good as ever, and the wearer of it even better than ever before, which experience may convince Brother Hadlock that it is dear experience to fling dubious reproach on others while he lives in a glass house himself.

In closing this paper I wish to suggest to all district lodges the desirability of having some ideal purpose in view, attractive and well put, that will impress the delegates, and through them not only interest the locals they represent, but sustain that interest by substantial progress in ideal aims. On these lines it may be the purpose of any district, as it is that of District No. 7, to secure better direction and industrial control of our trade, by appointing as shop delegates no person other than a thoroughly competent mechanic, who, by aid of a state enactment, may, on passing a proper examination, become a licensed construction inspector. Of course, where a committee is needed, at least one of the committee should be as described. The main object is to secure a better and more reliable finished product, through the use of better tools and more competent mechanics overseen by the authorized agent of the state, and the brotherhood is a sure guarantee of the best results for men, employee and customers alike. No other arrangement is fraught with less risk and reasonably capable of unimpeachable results. The advent of the construction inspector will bring district lodges nearer to the control of the entire field of insurance and inspection, which is a much wished for result.

It may be contended that the district lodges have not the necessary capital to engage in the insurance business. That is very true, but they may have members capable of the talents that attract capital. Then what? You have capital and the every day working mechanic, which is yourselves, of course, proceeding hand in hand peacefully together for each other's personal comfort, business success, financial prosperity and the plain uplifting of us all. Aim higher, brothers, than you have. The insurance and inspection business of our trade belongs to the brotherhood, and you, my fellow craftsmen, you should control it; moreover, it is the only available means to an end, the creation of a legitimate business for the brotherhood from which may be secured an independent revenue that will guarantee by wise direction, the paying of the entire expense and salaries of the officers and agents, and benefits, without assessments, and with a very small capita tax.

District No. 7, during its brief career, has organized Lodges 69 of Worcester, 385 of Waltham, 371 of Keene, N. H., and through advice given Brother Charles Burton, who attended our meeting, 388 of Mechanicsville, N. Y., was organized, which is a very fair showing.

Cor. Sec. District No. 7, and Lodge 9.

LODGE 221.

I will try and pen a few lines for our Journal to let the craft know that we still live and have buried the hatchet with the K. C. S. and hope to leave it buried for all time, but here we see there are some of our brothers kicking about the assessment that has been levied on us. Now, if the Grand Lodge has not got the money to pay its obligations what do you want to do? Let the benefits go that the Constitution promises us? We say no! Levey an assessment and pay every cent of it and make the assessment enough to have some left in the treasury when all indebtedness is cancelled. We think it is better to pay $2.00 or $3.00 for an assessment and draw $7.00 per week while out than not to pay the assessment and not get the benefit. Now, we know what we are talking about for we just went through a five-months strike and still we stand ready to bear our share of this burden if called upon to do so, and I do hope those brothers that are kicking so hard will just set down and think the matter all over quietly to themselves and then tell us their verdict. I am sure it will be in favor of the majority.

Now I want to say a few more words here about some of our laws. In the first place I think our referendum system should be abolished so far as the election of officers is concerned and that they should be elected by a delegate convention every two years. And again there should be a revenue to the Grand Lodge sufficient to pay all expenses of this convention, the wages, railroad fare and expenses of delegates, then the small unions could be represented and all work done while in convention assembled and all this voting by mail abolished (unless it should become necessary to call assessments), there by reducing the work of our Grand Officers greatly, and then when laws are passed we will know that we have a law for to years at any rate.

No a few more words. We desire the craft to recollect those that we advertised in June, July and August Journals, also their faces and give them the reception they should have wherever they may be found for men of their stripe should be driven out of all shops, all over this land, for a traitor to his craft is no better than a traitor to his country and I think it is one of our main duties to recollect all such in our prayers.

Hoping to see this in our next Journal instead of hearing of it being assigned to the waste basket, I am, Fraternally,

SCRIBE 221.

DISTRICT LODGE NO. 2 OF THE SEABOARD.

New York, October 17, 1903.—District Lodge No. 2 of the Seaboard at the monthly meeting, held Sunday, October 4th, discussed the article printed in the official Journal of September, under the title of Lodge No. 33, signed, W. Coffey, R. S. The delegates of District No. 2, after hearing the editorial read and the author, Bro. W. Coffey being present, requested him to inform the district as to how and where he received his information to publish the article in question. For reply he informed the delegates that it was hearsay—or information that was gathered from outside sources. Some parts he believed to be true, but was not sure. After a very warm session on this subject, the delegates of District No. 2 passed a motion requesting Bro. W. Coffey to repudiate that editorial in the November issue of the official Journal. There also was passed a motion that the secretary of the district write up an article for publication in the Journal giving a correct statement of the controversy started on hearsay by Bro. W. Coffey. In the first place Lodge No. 33 reported their strike at the Standard Oil Works to the district on February 26th, 1903. On March 1st they requested the district to picket the Standard Oil Co. property, and after overruling a motion on the district lodge books adopted by all the lodges after the Babcock and Wilcox strike in Bayonne, when Lodge No. 33 received at that time nearly $300.00 from the funds of the district to pay their pickets, the district granted Lodge 33 two pickets. Lodge No. 176 having a strike at Shooters Island, demanded that they should not be neglected as they were just as much entitled to pickets as Lodge 33, and they received two pickets. On March 12th the district was requested to appoint pickets on all shops out on the sympathetic strike over Shooters Island, which was done on March 16th. The district delegates came to an understanding and after considering that the cost of picketing would soon leave the district without funds, they decided to pass a motion that pickets be withdrawn from all jobs in this district and granted Lodge 33 exemption from payment of per capita tax to the district during the strike in Bayonne, which, up to the present time, amounts to $347.00 and $90.00 for strike pay to pickets, making the total amount of benefit Lodge No. 33 derived since becoming affiliated with the district, $737.00. This, worthy brothers, is the very little support Lodge No. 33 received from the District Lodge. When all the other affiliated lodges had any trouble they fought it out without coming down on the funds derived from the lodges to pay business agents and the legitimate expenses of District No. 2.

In reference to Brother Coffey's remarks on the question of members of this district working on the ships of the Standard Oil Co. in this port, we have done so and the reasons therefor is, that there was granted by the delegates of Lodge No. 33, the privilege of working on them outside of the limits of Standard Oil Co. property, and furthermore, according to our agreement made with the employers on May 1st, 1903, we would be bound to work on those ships if tied up at their yards or laying anywhere outside of the Bayonne refinery docks. And referring to the work leaving this port, our employers claimed that thousands of dollars worth of ship work was leaving this port for other cities where union men was doing the work at longer hours and inferior wages, but at the same time if they secured any of those contracts and would want our members to work on the Standard's boats away from Bayonne they would certainly hold us to our contract made on May 1st, that had nothing to do with the Standard strike whatsoever. We would like to know again, as to whether the Grand Executive Council called a universal strike on all Standard Oil Co. property. If so, good Lord, some one inform this district or Bro. Coffey. Does Lodge No. 33 know that on May 28th the delegates from Lodge No. 33 stated that as soon as they heard from the Grand Lodge they would notify the district to that effect and the district has notified Lodge No. 33's delegates that as soon as the Grand Executive Council calls a universal strike of the Standard we would accept the inevitable and acquiesce in their demands. But we are waiting still in reference to the part of S. S. Maverick and members of lodges working on that ship in yards of Townsend and Downey. There was no objection raised on the first time she was repaired but the second time when the men was sent out they claimed they did not know where they were going to until they found out they were on the S. S. Maverick, when one of those men sent for the business agent to come and knock them off, so as it could be done legally as the firm that employed them knew they were doing wrong but was only trying to find out whether the men was sincere for they were all reinstated in their positions on the next day.

Bro. Coffey says in his article, "no wonder we cannot win a strike around here," and that we are going backward instead of forward, and he points to the agreement as signed by this district and the employers. He is like a good many more, fault finding at all times, and I may say when Bro. Coffey was elected as a delegate to this district by his lodge, why did he not attend and help to put this district lodge in good shape with the knowledge stored in his brain and not let it lie dormant when it could be used to advance the interests of his fellow craftsmen in this age of advancement. But no, he is like those other great and noble philosophers that are in our brotherhood. They can exploit their vast amount of knowledge to the stay-at-home members of what should and should not be done to advance us all instead of in their local lodges where it is possible it could be used. That agreement is alright and while the greatest agreement in the world has it loop holes, we are no exception with the one in this district. If any brother cannot fathom the agreement, he will get his information free at 67 St. Marks Place, New York City.

Brother Coffey's reference to Shooters Island and the Standard Oil works being all one and open yards at that, is a very good venture and possibly it might be true, but Bro. Coffey the men themselves makes the conditions, not the yards, and anyone with common sense does not need to be told that either. So don't blame the firms but blame those who are entitled to the blame. On the question of Bro. Coffey's reference to the unfair list and our members joining the Housesmiths, how about that little incident where you was going to try and have the Standard Oil Co.'s strike knocked in the head? Was there anything fair in that? It did not look to be when they knocked it out at the last meeting of No. 33. Don't criticize others when you stand in the same position yourself. No wonder others lose faith in the union when such as you and many more brothers who are running one way in your opinions one time and the next time the adverse way, causes the dissatisfaction you mention of. To see Housesmiths claiming our work, a timely note of good matter indeed, Brother Goffey, and you and every brother in this district is to blame. It is not because the Housesmiths' delegates are hustlers but because they have the men, the money, the cunning, the level headedness. In the first place the Housesmith thinks of his organization, for he knows the value of unionism. Its strength, natural and pre-eminent, and the foundation of his daily bread, be he in the subcellar or twenty stories high over the street. When the call for money comes along the line to better his condition, does he shirk? No! To his local he goes, and if it is one day's, or one week's, pay they want, he turns it up. That doubles their strength and if determined on having control of jobs on buildings, they will spend all they have to gain this point before they will be beat. That is what makes the Housesmiths what they are to-day, and Brother Coffey it is not their delegates, for without the men to back them and fight for them, their delegates would be like the boiler makers' business agent in the buildings trades—down and out—for the want of the support of all those who cry out what they would not do if in the position of business agent. I hope the time will come when we will hire our business agents by the day, so as to give some of our members who can boast of what they would do the opportunity to put their metal to the test, so as to find out the caliber of stuff that is in them to fight the Housesmiths without the backing of our members. I am afraid it will be with them when the time comes like going on their local committees, the dear old cry will resound—"I decline"—that's where the shouters, and great I am come in at the last moment. "I decline." About those meetings where the business agents don't get instructions, Brother Coffey. Whose fault again—the members? How many disputes arises in firms in this district daily that is never heard about only with the wind-jammers. They know them all, but would never try to locate the business agents or report at their locals or the district when the meetings are in session, but the same old story—member's neglect—and fault finding by others who are never to blame. But they, the business agents, don't draw their salary for nothing, and they are supposed to visit shops and jobs when not out under instructions, as brothers seem to know that the business agents sit in their office and draw salaries for nothing. Prefer charges against them and don't be forever pounding out this nonsensical hearsay information.

For once and for all, if any brothers in this district will only quit their fondness for staying away from the locals on meeting nights and by being present put an end to all these false and self-destroying rumors that float around, and inculcate sound union principles among one another, we will not have the need of printing articles such as emanates from the brains of Wm. Coffey, of Lodge No. 33.

Hoping all the members of Greater New York district will study the agreement in detailed sections and weigh the sections word by word, so that they can inform us of something better for our next effort instead of knock, knock, knocking all the time at the one old thing.

H. H. OSBORNE,
Sec. D. No. 2.

FROM PHILADELPHIA LODGE.

I write these few lines to let the brothers know how we are progressing in Philadelphia. All of the locals are working for the welfare of the union, and are taking in new members at every meeting. From the way things look now it will not be long before Philadelphia will be one of the strongholds of the brotherhood. To give the brothers an idea how we stand in Philadelphia, I will relate an incident that happened a few days ago. A brother who had been an union man some two or three years ago in this city, and who had been away from the city, returned and applied for a job. The foreman asked him if he had a card. A card, he exclaimed: "My God, has it come to that in Philadelphia!" and Brother Bill Slack now carries a clean card, so you can see what progress we are making in Philadelphia. It is no clean card, no work, and, oh, we hope that the day is not far distant when all the men of craft will be carrying clean cards. Then will come the day of prosperity to our trade, which is known and acknowledged by all men as the hardest and the lowest paid trade in the country.

It is surprising how many brothers drift into this city with bad cards. At one time the finger of scorn was pointed at Philadelphia, and they would say, keep away from Philadelphia, it is a scab town, and now that we have bettered our conditions and are paid better wages, they come here with bad cards. Now, brothers, we will welcome any brother with a clean card, and do what we can for him, but brothers with a bad card cannot work here.

We are going to have a big time here on the evening of November 27. The Advisory Board is going to give a ball. It is to be a grand affair. Every one is talking about the ball. The proceeds are to go to create a fund for any emergencies that may arise. Brother Wm. J. Boyle, our business agent, is chairman of the committee.

Hoping you will allow us space in the Journal, I remain yours for Unity, Progress and Protection.

ERIE BASIN LODGE 307.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 1, 1903.

There are a great many members of Lodge 307 in various parts of this country, and it would be well for them to ask themselves this question, viz: "How do I stand on the books of the local that was my redemption?" By reminding you of this question, severe as it may seem, it is not exaggerated one iota. You cannot possibly forget the days not very long ago when you, in every sense of the word, did not own yourselves. When with tired, aching limbs, eyes that were idiotic in their stare from overwork and oppression, a fluttering heart that cried to an almost blank mind, "Is there no end to this constant torture; is there no sunshine in this earthly struggle for me? Can I ever comfort myself by the thought that I am one of God's free born creatures or must I bear the tyranny that is grinding my body into an untimely grave?" You found it compulsory, as the saying goes, to "Die dog or eat the hatchet." Now, Brothers, all those conditions you remember just as well as the mother remembers her first born, but I regret to state that when the dawn of liberty from such conditions crept over those mountains of tyranny, and drove them into oblivion, and the sun of freedom spread her bright rays of redemption on you in the form of Local 307, B. B. & I. S. of A, and gave you that freedom for which your whole being yearned, and a place among men, you show your ingratitude by not paying a few cents dues, and knowing you are behind on the books you hunt for some shop or shipyard where tyranny rules, and work 10 and 11 hours for an ordinary laborer's pay, helping to do the tyrant's work and destroying at the same time all chances of labor organizations.

Just a few more words and that is, pay your dues, or we will publish you in the Journal, and at the same time show true men how deep we had to dig to get you out of the mud.

Thanking you for space of this "sweet forget-us-not" article, I remain,

Fraternally yours,

JAMES CONNORS,
Journal Correspondent.

REPORT OF L. NESSELQUEST, COMMITTEE OF SOUTHERN SHOPS.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 21st, 1903.—I was notified on October 17th to meet Mr. Hig-Sup't. M. P. So. R. R., at 2:30 p. m., October 18th. In the conference he informed me that the boiler makers of Alexandria, Va., and Manchester, Va., and other points in Virginia, wanted an increase of 10 cents per day, and he was willing to raise them if the boiler makers of Lodge No. 4 did not consider it breaking the agreement he had with them. Mr. Higgins was informed by the shop committee that they would not consider it breaking the agreement. Mr. Higgins then asked for a letter from Lodge No. 4, stating that it was agreeable with Lodge No. 4 and not breaking the agreement he had with them.

Motion made by Brother G. S. Demott and seconded by Brother L. Nesselquest to furnish Mr. Higgins, Sup't. M. P. So. R. R., with a letter stating that the boiler makers of Lodge No. 4 did not have any objection of him raising the boiler makers of Alexandria, and other points in Virginia, and would not consider it breaking the agreement we have with him.

After being debated to some extent was carried.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 24, 1903.
Mr. S. Higgins, Sup't. M. P. So. R. R. Co.,
Washington, D. C.

Dear sir:—With reference to a recent conference in Birmingham between yourself and shop committee of the Southern Railroad shops of this city, will say the matter of your raising the wages of certain boiler makers at Alexandria, Va., and other points in that state, was placed properly before a regular meeting of the lodge of boiler makers of this city, and I was instructed to correspond with you, and assure you that we hadn't the slightest objections to your raising their wages, neither would we expect any increase here. We recognize the fact that we have an agreement with you for one year, and we are satisfied with it, and our intention is to live it out to the letter, if possible, as we have found the company doing all they agreed to do for us. However, there is one other matter that we would like to ask your assistance in. You will, no doubt, remember that there were other boiler makers on our former request from Princeton, Ind., and other divisions of the Southern Railroad at the time our agreement was made, who were told as they were under a different management their appeal could not be taken up there. These men, we understand, have never received any consideration since that, and we understand they are now making an effort to get an increase in wages, and should they get in any trouble over the matter, and their work is shipped to other points on Southern Road to be done, it goes without saying that boiler makers are very hard to control under such circumstances, and we earnestly hope you will use your good offices to prevent any trouble arising that could possibly effect us.

Hoping this will be satisfactory, and assuring of every confidence in you, we beg to remain,

Yours most respectfully,
J. S. SKIDMORE,
President Lodge No. 4.

LODGE 143.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 17, 1903.

While looking over a Knoxville paper the other day I noticed an account of the Methodist Episcopal convention held at Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 14. It stated that the general topic was the "Difficulties in the World's Evangelization," and at that convention one of the divines, the Rev. E. J. Helms, of Morgan Memorial Church at Boston, the birth place of liberty, as we some times call it, this noble speciman of God's handiwork, spoke on Home Missions, and declared that trade unions should be Christianized. "If we were wise," said he, "we should see to it that from out our schools and seminaries every year we would send missionaries into these great labor organizations to make them Christians. Here is open a wonderful opportunity to which the church thus far has been blind."

Now, dear friend, let us look over this statement just awhile. In the first place it is evident that this man of God, as they are sometimes called, believes that the members of labor organizations are either pagans or heathens, and I feel like adding these lines at the end of his speech:

"When the laboring man asserts his rights He becomes a heathen in this man's sight."

While I look over the words of our Friend Helms, I think he has made a great discovery, and I believe with him that they, the labor organizations, are heathens or pagans. First, from a social standpoint. They would never go out and kill one another on the battlefield as they do if they were Christians; also sell themselves as they do on the labor market if they were Christians, and from an economic standpoint they are the most dumb heathens that I know of when they will earn one dollar and then allow the capitalists to take 85 cents, and leave him 15 cents; and build palaces and make fine clothes and linen, and wear shoddy togs and eat coarse food and live in a shanty and see little pleasures of this life and work, work, work with all his might.

From a political standpoint he is heathen to join a labor union, and then go and vote the democratic or republican ticket. Again he is not Christian when he will allow a lot of loafers to eat the bread of idleness and live on the fat of the land.

But there is something strange about our Friend Helm, he being a man sent by God, that after all these years he has not made the discovery before. There must be something obscuring his world vision, or is a second Rip Van Winkle. Were he a man of clear sight he would not fail to see that labor organizations are nothing but the effect of certain causes. The principal one is competition. We have competition not only in the labor market, but also in the religious world. The other day the Pope of Rome told the working men of the world to be contented and satisfied. Now, most people know that discontent is the moving spirit of the world. Christ Himself was not satisfied or He never would have come to this world to save mankind, and I hope our Friend Helms will not be satisfied until he has found the reason that so many working men do not go to the churches, but rather to the labor unions.

Yours fraternally,

WM. POPE.

LODGE 143.

It has been a long time since I sent you a word or two for our Journal, but I hope you will please pardon me, because really I have not much time to think, read or write; however, I have just been reading the Miners' Magazine, published in Denver, Colo., and in it is a question, "Has Liberty Been Dethroned?" I answer as far as these United States are concerned, yes. I will herewith try and write you what this man says. I think it should be in our beloved Journal, so that our boiler makers and others may see it.

"The people of this nation for a century and a quarter have celebrated the anniversary of that greatest epoch in American history, and dedicated with parade and speech the memorable fourth day of July in commemoration of the notes of liberty that rang from the old casting suspended in the tower of Faneuil Hall, signaling the birth of a republic where people had groaned beneath the yoke of king rule. Each succeeding year the people have gathered in city and town and hamlet and boasted of the justice and freedom contained in this Declaration of Independence. The eloquent tongues and the poetic persons have paid tribute to our liberty and made us feel that here in this land where Columbus planted the cross, the emblem of Christianity, men were kings and women were queens, armored and shielded with a canopy of sovereignty that proclaims defiance to every species of despotism. Hearts that beat for a broader liberty in the kingdoms and monarchies of the old world, longed to leave the crumbling dynasties of regal oppression and tyranny, and crossed the trackless deep and builded homes upon the shattered ruins of deposed imperialism. The scourged and downtrodden of bayonet-bristling Europe, as they trod the decks of ocean steamers, mounting wave after wave, bearing them nearer and nearer to the land of promise, felt and believed that here in a new world, where royal domination was strangled to death, mankind would develop and citizenship would be forever forested by the inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. The great mass upon whose shoulders rests the stability of this nation have been lulled to sleep, and while they slept in the belief that human liberty was safe, a silken thread was woven which to day has become a mighty cable which the power of a Hercules or a Samson cannot break. On the soil of boasted freedom has risen an oligarchy of wealth that knows no law, that recognizes no liberty save the unbridled license of the mercenary brigand. The charter of '76 is as lifeless as the dust of the patriots that sleep in the voiceless tomb, and this document which called to arms the pioneers who consecrated its every word in a baptism of blood has been torn from the hand of the subjugated slaves in the isles of the Pacific and stamped with the brand of sedition and treason. The sacred souvenirs of American liberty have been desecrated by the polluted and sacriligious hand of lawless monopoly, and individual liberty, clothed in the shoddy fabric of wage slavery, has been sentenced to death. For more than a half a century the domain of human right has been contracting under the arrogant and untrammelled sway of corporate might, and privates on the sea of commercialism, drunk upon the wine of opulence, have no vision for the flecks or flaws that can be seen upon the raising billows of hungry desperation, threatening to engulf a world in an ocean of blood.

We have thrown wide the gates of this republic and beckoned to the millions of European brawn and brain, who were chanting requiem over the gates of buried liberty, to come to our shores and dwell in this paradise, where humanity has been taught that all men are created equal.

But now in this morning light of an infant century liberty is a corpse, assassinated by the dagger of military anarchy. Upon the industrial battlefields for a quarter of a century in this nation has been heard the dying wails and groans of labor's victims. The pistol of the kind corporate murderer and the rifle of the uniformed soldiers have poured their missiles of death into the ranks of labor, and monied nobility has applauded with cheers the wanton slaughter. The soil of every state of our union has been wet with the blood of labor's martyrs, to appease the thirst of soulless greed.

The commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill' has found no place in the lexicon of commercial avarice. 'The government of the people, by the people and for the people' has become the government of trusts and corporations and citizenship without property has no protection under the Constitution of state or nation.

The labor history of Pittsburg, Homestead, Lattimer, Chicago, Cour d'Alenes, and the usurpation of civil liberty in the Cripple Creek district of Colorado, proclaims beyond the question of a doubt that the reign of justice has passed away, and that corporate wealth, backed and supported by all the acts and intimidations concentrated in the machinery of military power are to be used in crushing the rebellion of organized labor against the invasion of solidified commercialism. The Dick military bill, which was written upon the federal statutes, appropriating to the President of the United States far more power than was ever enjoyed by a Russian Czar, might well cause the people to ponder, and ask themselves, whither is the republic drifting?

A civilization that demands the implements of war to protect it is doomed, and the greater mass whom plutocracy has destined to bear the brunt of conflict will not be carried off its feet by a patriotism that establishes commercial supremacy at the expense of human life. That nation is only strong whose yeomanry bask in the sunlight of a liberty that is free from the noxious effluvia of an atmosphere that breeds in the human heart the germs of murder. Wrong was never righted by the bullet or the sword. The savage and the barbarian who use the club and spear have as high a conception of justice as so-called civilized society, that slakes its thirst in blood through the polished steel of Gatling gun and cannon. Wrong maintained and perpetuated by all the modern machinery of war may have a temporary strength, and right may be put in prison, but the spirit of justice that will be as eternal as humanity itself, shall repeat the demands until the thundering voice of the mighty millions shall shake the pillars of a system that has moulded and invented the machines of blood and carnage. The poverty of the world born in greed shall weld together the links of a chain that shall circle the globe, and the plebeian disinherited mass will come together in a fraternity, whose brotherhood will sweep from the face of our planet the last vestige of that tinsel pageantry that marked the era of war."

Lodge 79.

DeKalb Lodge No. 79, Garrett, Indiana, has once more come to the front to show the public at large that the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America are composed of the very best material, as was demonstrated here on Labor Day. As the parade formed and the boiler makers came in view there was no end to the cheers given them along the line of march; and we were awarded the honor of the day and were requested to give a dress drill in the public square that evening. Talk about your military drills! You should have seen DeKalb Lodge No. 79 drill. They lifted the veil from the soldier boys' eyes, as our captain is a well drilled man, as well as a good true union man. The boiler makers extend to him a vote of thanks for his interest taken in his brother boiler makers. C. M. Helferstay is captain of the boiler makers drill corps.

Lodge 285.

Hello! 'As this is our first insertion in the Journal, I guess the sister lodges think that lodge 285 is away behind the times, but if they think that they are very much mistaken, as Lodge 285 is getting along all O. K.

We want to make a few remarks about Labor Day, for that was certainly our day, as all the boys were at their best, wearing uniforms of blue, which made a good hit, as along the route of the procession we could hear the people say "The boiler makers take the bun." We had a float of a shell of a boiler being riveted by a squad, and as for a band we certainly had one of our own, as they could be heard all along the line.

I may here say that Lodge 285 is getting along all right and is still growing, as our worthy president, Mr. Thomas Burns, who is second to none, and who has the good will of all our brother members, is keeping the boys up to the mark.

Hoping that we have not taken too much of your valuable space, we remain,

Yours fraternally,

JAS. WOOD, Asst. J. C.

Lodge 339.

WADSWORTH, Nev., Oct. 22.—To the Journal and all interested, in regards to page 520 October Journal where Lodge 233 has a statement. Now, brothers, refer this statement to same Journal, page 533, from Lodge 46, Cheyenne, Wyo. Brothers, after looking over these two articles satisfy yourself in your opinion. My opinion, the U. P. settlement was a disgrace and rotten.

L. W. McCARL, President.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Dear Sirs and Brothers:—The D. Maydole Hammer Company, of Norwich, N. Y., with whom one hundred and fourteen members of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers have been on strike since May 25, are still unfair to organized labor.

We ask your moral support and co-operation in bringing this enemy of labor to terms.

The factory is being operated by "scabs." The products of this firm bear either the stamp of the D. Maydole Hammer Company, E. L. Brown, or no stamp at all, it being their policy of late to put out goods bearing no name or stamp whatsoever.

Don't buy a hammer unless it bears the name of some reliable and fair firm.

Please post enclosed stickers, and DON'T throw them away.

Faternally yours,

HAMMERMAKERS' UNION NO. 232.

Kern, Cal., Oct. 23, 1903.—We would like it known that such poor ungrateful things, like a member, who styles himself as such, and who is now working in Seattle Lodge 104, got a card from the financial secretary by misrepresenting himself, and left his family and children and $165.00 owing to his creditors. Now, I wrote to 104 and I told them if he would send $25.00 per month we would let him work, but over two months has passed and he has not sent a cent, so we would have him expelled if possible. His name is G. F. Fisher, Reg. No. 12233, and be careful brothers that he don't get any of you as he is one of these fellows that can take your vest off without removing your coat. A liar and a scoundrel. He stands suspended until these bills are paid.

LODGE 253.

Kern, Cal., Oct. 15, 1903.—It has been a long time since lodge 253 last took space in the Journal, but we feel it our duty. And all of 253 thank the brothers of 194 for the way they brought about the raise of per capita from 25 cents to 50 cents per month, as it gives the C. S. something to do business on. Now, this lodge here never passes a month that we don't have $2.00 or more assessment and we are getting a little tired of seeing some of the lodges who assess them as much as 10 cents where most of the lodges out this way make it a $1.00. Now, I am not saying that all the lodges try and live on this cheap 10 cent plan, but a great many of them do and when we see some of our worthy brothers in Baltimore, Md., trying to teach unionism on this plan, it is about time some one was saying something. And when we get it, which I hope we will, the 50 cents per capita system, it will make them all pay alike and will do away with a great many of the assessments and one of the best things that ever was put before the brotherhood and almost makes it compulsory for every lodge to send a delegate to the convention, is the 50 cents per capita, and we hope when the vote is counted that it will win.

J. A. GRIFFIN,

LODGE 308.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 22, 1903.—Will you kindly allow a space in our most valuable Journal, for this is of more importance than the petty quarreling some of our brother boiler makers are carrying on with the Grand Officers of our brotherhood all on account of that miserable $2.00 dollar assessment. Nine boiler makers out of every 10 will spend more than $2.00 on pay night before washed and think nothing of it. We all know some of you have bettered your condition without assistance from the Grand Lodge, at the same time you knew in your hearts that the union was back of you in its members staying away until the battle was won or lost. If we are working as individuals some of us may be satisfied with what we get and with the help of a few stragglers, such as are coming here, the firm would run just the same. From reading different articles in our Journal I see we have a few orators as well as hammer swingers, who try to impress on the minds of the rest of the craft that their mind is muddled and very often it is. It's then when our orators will take them in hand and try to have them think as they do.

I see some of the charters are revoked all on account of that little 2 dollar bill. Shame on you brothers, for allowing such a small matter as that little $2.00 bill to put you out of existence. If we became separated now with the Manufacturers' Association becoming more powerful, what will become of the present conditions you all fought so hard to gain?

Lodge 308 has been on strike since the 12th of June. Its members, who stayed there trying to better the conditions of their fellowman, haven't worked but three weeks in almost five months, and we are still out. Every member to a man gave up his little miserable $2.00, and don't think the price high at that. We have had $3.00 dollars to pay in one year for assessments, which we should consider very cheap considering what we gained in the last year.

I hear some talk of starting another Boiler Makers' Union in the Middle and Eastern states. Wouldn't that be very nice? We could carry two cards instead of one and tell any one who had the patience to listen, that we belonged to two unions. Which one of our members are looking for that grand and glorious office of Grand President of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of the Middle and Eastern states? Speak up brothers. When a man is running for office he should declare himself in the open. For goodness sake how are we going to carry two cards, when we can't carry the present card clear and have our charters revoked for that little $2.00 bill. I actually believe if the officers of those lodges would reason the matter with the members there would be no trouble in collecting that little $2.00 bill. It's only a matter twenty rums or forty mixed ales. Sometimes we can do better on prices but not in quality. Don't think I am preaching temperance brothers, I am not, for I have been there quite often. Brothers we have argued and voted on moving the Grand Officers to Washington, and goodness knows what we haven't argued on, but the last argument on that little $2.00 bill is a disgrace to the profession. Will some of our orators kindly tell us what the next act will be, so what are left of us can prepare to meet the shock. Now brothers, be kind to me and don't criticise these few lines, for this is my second attempt. The other you all read and not getting no notice with cross-bones and coffin to date, I took the opportunity of trying once more.

At the last regular meeting of Elm City Lodge 61 of New Haven, Conn., the brothers of 61 passed resolutions to assess their members 25 cents each week to go to the members of 308 of Bridgeport, Conn., who have been on strike for the past 5 months. What will our little $2.00 bill brothers think of this; not only paying their assessment but paying 25 cents a member to help win this strike. That proves to the men and it goes to show they want to better the condition of their fellowman. No. 61 can't receive to much praise from our brothers through the country in the stand they have taken in our behalf. Let me thank 61 through the columns of our Journal for there kindness and sympathy in behalf of the members of 308, wishing them long life and prosperity throughout life.

In regards to the conditions of the two boiler shops here I would like to say a few words. Both shops are filled with Italian and Hungarian helpers trying to do boiler work. There are three boiler makers here from scab town, Philadelphia. One by the name of Martin Reynolds and a father and son by the name of Carpenter. I called on the son. He promised me both him and father would leave. They are both still working. This bunch of rats were imported here, getting $3.00 per day. Martin Reynolds I had a talk with. The answer he gave me was, "did I want him to starve." Think of that for an answer and we walking the streets for four months. If the curse of the Almighty don't fall on the likes of him I will have no faith in a hereafter.

The Pacific Iron Works imported six Italians from Bayonne, N. J. We drove them off the job with the help of George Shepard, a New York brother, who was doing a repair job here and one of the hottest union men a person ever met. He knew the Italians and said that scabbing was their business. In the Standard refinery we only have two rats who left our ranks. Joe Hagley and Nicholas Gaynor, register No. 20325. Gaynor is the worst of the two. We gave him $7 on Saturday; the following Wednesday he went scabbing. He told the foreman he only received $10.50 in two months, when he received 38 dollars. Every cent I got hold of I gave to him. He is one more Saint Peter will look after later on.

We were taken by surprise a few weeks ago. The President and Vice-President of Lodge 16, of Jersey City, Wm. Davison and Vice Kelly, heard some of their men were working here. They found one working in the Pacific Iron Works by the name of Mike Curwin, better known as Mike, the horse, and two more they located wouldn't tell who they were. Lodge 16 can tell you more about it than I can. I thank the brothers of Lodge 16 for the trouble they went to in behalf of 308. If there is any way 308 can repay them in the future, we will gladly do so. They went to quite an expense to do us a favor, which we didn't expect.

We heard a great deal about the boiler makers Henry McCathren was going to make in six weeks. It would do you good to see them. They are as far advanced in the business as himself. All they want now is a card and the devil will pass them in without taking it up.

Hoping you won't get weary from reading these few lines and any damage it does to the press, charge it to that $2.00 bill, but for goodness sake brothers, don't let us hear no more from that miserable $2.00 dollar bill.

Fraternally yours,
B. M. BRENNAN, Pres.

LODGE 168.

I would like to say a few words in regards to referendum system now in use by this brotherhood and a few other things and doings that is going on in this brotherhood.

In the first place, the referendum system we now have is no system at all. For instance some question like the assessment vote, a majority of lodges win, and another question is settled by 10 per cent vote and the minority wins. Now, that don't look just right, does it, and should be corrected as soon as possible. Referendum vote on all questions should be the majority of all members in good standing and not by lodges or 10 per cent of lodges. Now, I would like to say a few words in regard to that $2 assessment. A $1.00 assessment, we all know, is a hard job to collect and I don't know how we are going to collect a $2.00 assessment; and one thing is sure, we are not going to pay it out of our treasury the same as we have always done before. I am afraid that we will lose a good number of lodges and more members than we can spare, for you know we never had to call for assistance here and I hear them say, what do we get out of it? Of course they don't understand, and $2.00 is a large sum for some of these men to throw away. They think they are throwing it away. Now, for myself, I think that this assessment is too large. It should have been $1.00 and another assessment could be called for later on. Now, all the large lodges in the East voted no, and all the small lodges in the West voted yes, and as they are the lodges who have received all the benefit why should they not vote for it.

Now, I wish to say a few words in regards to that circular which Lodge 194 has sent out. The first part about raising dues is all right. The dues of No. 168 are now 75 cents per month and if this amendment passes we will have to raise our dues to $1.00 and again we will lose some of our members, but we can't help that. We can't let a few narrow-minded, half-hearted union men hold us back, so I hope that it passes all right.

Now, in regards to laying aside 10 per cent for a convention fund. Will say that 168 does not propose to pay any delegate's fare and expenses to a convention. Take a lodge like ours for instance. We have about 130 members in good standing, and at 10 cents per month, starting from October 1, 1903, to July 1, 1905, we would have paid in that fund $273, and some little lodge in Mexico or any place out west with about 15 members, which is the average of western lodges, have paid in $31.50. Now, we would look nice paying $273 for somebody to have a good time on. I guess not. I don't see the use of a convention at all if we are going to continue the referendum. At the last convention resolutions were passed proposing to establish a universal sick and death fund, the only sensible resolution that was passed, and it was voted down, and a step backward instead of forward was taken, so what is the good of a convention. It would be far better if each lodge would give the Grand Lodge $50 each instead of sending a delegate to a convention. Now, 194 want the Grand Lodge to have 40 cents and 168 would like to see the other 10 cents put away and let it accumulate to, say, about $50,000 for a strike and defense fund. Now, brothers, don't you think that would be better than sending a good fellow on a good time?

Just a few words in regards to lodges that have more names on their books than they pay per capita for. Now, that should not be, and you lodges who are doing so are injuring the brotherhood at large, and obtaining money under false pretences. In other words, you are defrauding the unsuspecting brothers. The books of every lodge should be examined semi-annually by some one appointed by the G. P. O., and lodges which refuse should be suspended. The books of No. 168 are open for inspection at all times.

In regards to shorter hours. Your G. P. O. when in Bath, I am glad to say, enjoyed himself, and persuaded us to put off our demand for a shorter day, which we did, partly from his advice and partly from the financial difficulty in which the firm of whom we were going to make a demand on were in. I had occasion as president of Bath Central Labor Union a few weeks ago to interview Mr. John S. Hyde, general manager, on another subject and our talk drifted to a shorter work day, and we explained to him the reason that we did not make a demand at the time we intended to, and he thanked us very much for it, for if we had struck at that time it would have meant ruin to him. He is in favor of 8 hours a day, which he says is enough for any man to work, but he cannot give it until Philadelphia, Camden and Newport News do, as they are his direct competitors, and something must be done all along the coast. We have also since then established a new overtime rule which now is time and half on new work till 12, and double time till 6:30, and double time and 9 hours on all old work.

In conclusion will say a few words in regards to union men in politics. Of course we are not allowed to let politics interfere with the workings of our union, and I think that it would be for the good and welfare to all the members if politics were discussed under good and welfare. Now, brothers, you are good union men 364 days in the year, and on the 365th day, I don't mean the last day in the year, but election day, you undo the year's work in a few minutes. You say that in union there is strength in your hall, and then go to the polls and divide yourselves. Some of you vote the Republican and some the Democrat ticket. Now, brothers, we must get together and vote the same ticket, and put men of our class in power. Vote the workingman's ticket, the socialist ticket, which has pledged itself to the emancipation of our class from poverty, ignorance and selfishness. In union there is strength, so while we cannot hope to be successful when fighting individually, by combining our efforts the most beneficial results may be attained. So workingmen unite, you have nothing to lose but your chains. I am,

Fraternally yours,

NICK HAUBRICK, J. C.

WARNING.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 8, 1903.—To all Boiler Makers in General:—You had better have a good clear card, punched up to date before alighting in Albuquerque if you don't want a cyclone to strike you, for our shop committee is the real thing and nothing looks good to them but a good card. So come prepared, as there is no favors shown. No card, no job, is our motto. There has been a dozen told to hit the pike in the last month. Some put up a good talk and give all kinds of excuses, but they don't go here. Yours fraternally,

Geo. Reeves, Reg. No. 7975, by Lodge 125, Dunkirk, N. Y., for insubordination and contumacy. Fine, $25.

Frank Sheehan, Reg. No. 24784, by Lodge 56, H. D., Dunkirk, N. Y., for running away with local's money, as told in last Journal. Suspension.

Frank A. Walker, Reg. No. 21584, by Lodge 92, Los Angeles, Calif., for scabbing. Fine, $150.

Joe Soners, Reg. No. 28643, by Lodge 84, H. D., for defrauding local. Expelled and fined $5.00.

Elbert W. Eaton, Reg. No. 28639, by Lodge 84, H. D., for defrauding local while president. Expelled and fined $5.00.

Isaac Ingram, Reg. No. 33796, by Lodge 84, H. D., for actions unbecoming a member. Expelled and fined $3.00.

CARD OF THANKS.

Officers and Members of the Jersey Lilly Lodge 16. Gentlemen.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18th, 1903.—I thank you very much for the many, many expressions of sympathy shown me in my great affliction. The resolutions are indeed beautifully finished, and I have added to them by having them framed. I shall always keep and cherish them. Again thanking you most sincerely for your kindness, I remain very sincerely yours,

MARY J. GEARY.

LODGE 167.

Brother Chas. Kane of Lodge 53 was killed at Youngstown, O., Sept. 24th. The remains were brought to Meadville and the funeral was held from the home of his uncle, the brothers of Lodge 167 attending in a body. The following brothers acted as pall bearers: George Barber, Wm. Bond, Fred Cromwell, Henry Miller, John Grossart and Wm. McHugh.

Respectfully,

THE COMMITTEE.

L. P. HUMPHRIES,

Paducah, Ky.

WANTED.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of a boiler maker named Wm. Voigt will confer a great favor on his mother by sending his address to recording secretary, Jackson, Mich. Last heard of was July last at Helpers. His name appeared in the list of contributors to the U. P. strikers' fund.

W. M. DOYLE, R. S. No. 64.

NOTICE.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 10, 1903.—Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Mr. John Renolds, who was last heard from at Olean, Pa. (he wrote to his brother, telling him he was going to Kansas City, just about the time of the flood in that city), will confer a great favor on his brother, by giving him all the information obtainable. Address

MR. JAMES RENOLDS,
Lodge 341, Phila., Pa.

LODGE 98..

Tucson, Ariz., Lodge No. 98 would like to hear from Brother C. Ripley, Reg. No. 16092, and Brother Thomas Tarley, Reg. No. 25023. They will find it to their interest to correspond at once with the secretary.

THOMAS J. DAVIS,
Cor. and Fin. Sec.

The relatives and friends of Mr. Ed Darby are anxious about him. Anyone knowing of his whereabouts will kindly address 408 Armstrong avenue, or G. S.-T. He has not been heard from since Sept. 1, 1903.

LOST.

Due book belonging to Edward Smith, Lodge 341, Reg. No. 27955. Anyone finding same please return to Lodge 341.

J. KELLEY, J. C.

NOTICE.

F. T. Hayes, Reg. No. 21032, was granted a withdrawal card in August, by Lonsdale Lodge No. 27, HD.

H. S. Turner, Reg. No. 33166, was suspended by No. 27 in August.

In September Journal two suspensions—W. D. Amams, 27260, and W. P. Amams, 27265—should have read W. D. Amanns 27260, and W. P. Amanns, 27265.

NOTICE.

A mistake in September Journal read J. M. Printin, Reg. No. 21835, admitted by card from Lodge 165. It should have been Jas. Martin, Reg. No. 21833, from Lodge No. 11.

Lodge 242 by mistake suspended Mike Filben, Reg. No. 15859.

ADDRESS WANTED.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Brother Joe Laughlin, Registered No. 22823, H. D., 46, will kindly write the secretary, M. Devine, 1054 Buena Vista street, Los Angeles, Cal.

LODGE 249.

Lodge No. 249 would like the addresses of these Brothers:

J. B. Fridinger, Morgan Collins, R. O'Brien, Charles B. Suits, R. P. Downer, Howard E. Giles, John W. Kries. For dues to 249 or something will be doing out this way.

G. L. BUSICK, Secy.

ADDRESS WANTED.

I have a brother who is a member of the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, and I have hunted for him for six years, and have not found him yet. Will you be so kind and put this in the Journal to help me find his whereabouts? His name is Charles Smith from Wyandotte, Mich. I remain,

Yours truly,

MR. B. J. SMITH,
Box 736, Douglas, Ariz.

LODGE 69 HD.

Anyone knowing the address of Ralph Brownlee of Freeport, Ill., will confer a favor on Lodge 69, H. D. by sending his address. We heard that he was at Davenport or Rock Island, Ill.

U. BUONINI, C. S.

ADDRESSES WANTED.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of Brother George Butler, B. M. Helper, will confer a favor on his father and mother by sending his address to his sister, Mrs. Susie Harris, Kemmerer, Wyo., or to the Cor. Sec. Lodge No. 16 H. D.

Yours fraternally,

JOHN E. SMITH, Cor. Sec.

ADDRESSES WANTED.

Would you kindly advertise in the Journal for J. J. Hickey, Reg. No. 5904, and George Calmpack, Reg. No. 20396, as No. 337 would like to hear from them.

Yours fraternally,

H. E. JOHNSON, Cor. Sec. No. 337.

The Labor World.

All of the type casters in the leading cities are either striking or are locked out and the plants are idle.

On October 20., at Philadelphia, Pa., the United Textile Workers of America met in convention.

Nearly 20,000 women are employed in England in the manufacture of jewelry and delicate instruments.

Weavers throughout New England are preparing organized resistance to the two-loom system proposed by the mill owners.

The Tennessee Federation of Labor meets in Knoxville, that state, in December.

Organized labor in Canada is preparing for concerted action in the political field.

Non-union workmen from New Jersey have been sent to Morgantown, W. Va., to break the strike in the glass factories.

The Woman's International Union Label League of Rochester, N. Y., held its state convention in that city October 13 and 14.

Iowa socialists are making a fight for control of the Iowa delegation to the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Boston in November.

The Bricklayers' and Stone Masons' International union will absorb the Plasterers', Stone Cutters' and Stone Masons' International union.

The American Flint Glass Workers' union has come to an agreement on the wage scale for the men under the union's jurisdiction in Indiana.

The members of organized labor of Nashville, Tenn., are demanding that the merchants with whom they trade use the union label on their printing.

October 29, Mitchell day, will be celebrated by the United Mine Workers in the anthracite region by parades and mass-meeting of all local unions.

The Illinois child labor law is being vigorously enforced, and the result is that about 2,500 children in Chicago have been taken out of the factories and workshops.

The executive committee of the Dominion Trades congress will formulate a plan to raise a legal defense fund and submit it to the referendum of all affiliated unions.

The employes in the blast furnace department of the Bethlehem Steel company will have to accept a general reduction of ten per cent in wages. Nearly 400 men are affected.

Railway employes in Victoria, Australia, are public servants, well paid, have good hours and are entitled to pensions after a certain term of service. They number 11,000.

Another national union of iron, steel and tin workers may be formed, many members of the Amalgamated association being dissatisfied with the present policy of that organization.

By a referendum vote the Bakers' union has decided to charter the helpers and packers in candy and cracker factories, as well as the bakery wagon drivers or salesmen of bakery goods.

The Piano and Organ Workers International Union of America are preparing to strike in order to force employers to employ only union men. About 6,000 men will go out.

The American Window Glass company, notwithstanding its intention to manufacture three-fourths of its production by machines, will give its employes a 10 per cent increase in wages.

The bread of America is baked largely by Germans. Almost to a man the fifty delegates to the fourth annual convention of the United Master Bakers of America, held recently at Milwaukee, Wis., were Germans.

Amalgamated Workers of Glass have made a request for an extension of jurisdiction over plate glass and opalescent glass workers. They also ask that the name of the organization be changed to cover such an extension.

Kansas City, Mo., journeyman tailors have decided not to abide by the decision of the state board of arbitration. They object to the recommendation that they should return to work and the bosses receive them without discrimination.

Committees representing the various labor orders on the Lackawanna railroad, having failed to have their grievances satisfactorily adjusted, have summoned their chiefs to Scranton, Pa., where final efforts will be made to get together.

Sixty unions having a membership of nearly 50,000 affiliated with the Chicago, Ill., Building Material Trades Council, will support the Marble Workers union against the effort of the National Marble Dealers to maintain "open shops."

Indiana Federation of Labor has decided to encourage all unions to do missionary work among labor in general, and to place an additional tax upon the members to raise a defense fund with which to meet employers in a fight for supremacy.

Thomas I. Kidd, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, after investigation of the damage suit which the American anti-boycott and employers' association have filed against trade unions within the last three months, intimated recently that it was within the power of union labor to throw the country into a financial panic by taking from circulation the $400,000,000 which he says labor controls. It may be stated that the money stock of the country approximates $2,275,000,000.

The New Orleans screwmen's lockout is virtually over and the strikebreakers will return to St. Louis. The screwmen obtained a scale for a day's work of ninety bales hand screw and 160 bales stowed. This is a substantial increase.

Master Printers of Providence, R. I., have signed the new wage scale presented by the book and job printers., which calls for a substantial increase over the present rate and an eight hour day beginning January 1, 1905.

In Australia, under a new law, no contract can be made for the carrying of mails by any steamship line which allows a colored man to work on any of the ships. The mail steamers hitherto have been largely manned by darkskinned British subjects from India.

Retail clerks at Birmingham, Ala., have conferred with their employers with a view to regulate the hours of labor. The clerks contend for a workday beginning at 9 a. m. and ending at 6 p. m. for every day except Saturday, when the hours of closing shall be 10 p. m.

A committee of miners in Telluride, Col., has had a conference with the Citizens' Alliance looking to an arrangement whereby the miners of the district shall organize a new union independent of the Western Federation of Miners and resume work in the mines.

A general strike at all the union works of the American Sheet Steel company is threatened by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. It is alleged that the company has violated the agreement at Philadelphia, Pa., works in limiting the output.

A Chicago bread trust that contemplates absorbing all the bakeries in the city or driving rebellious ones out of existence and then raising the price of bread to six cents is in process of formation. The movement is said to be backed by the the Chicago Merchant Bakers' association, consisting of nine members.

Blacksmiths at Aberdeen, Scotland, have decided not to resist the proposed reduction of wages. The members in the district resolved to more thoroughly organize the trade, with the view of bettering the condition of the men, whose wages are said to be low in comparison with those in other Scotch towns.

Fifteen hundred striking linen workers of Armentiers, France, marched from that place to the town of Lille and attempted to force and entrance recently. The troops of Lille, which is a strongly fortified place, repulsed them. The strike movement among the cotton and linen workers is steadily spreading throughout the entire region.

The conference between officers and employees of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ended in an amicable settlement. The points of disagreement were adjusted by mutual concessions. The men withdrew the claim for the expenses of the conference, estimated at $65,000.

Officers of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers have not considered a strike at the New Philadelphia, Pa. plant for the enforcement of the limit-on-production clause of the scale. Efforts are being made to adjust differences. President Shaffer stated that the situation was grave but he hoped for a n amicable settlement.

At the recent convention of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers union at Kansas City, Mo., Frank Buchana of Chicago was re-elected president over F. F. Donnelly of Albany, N. Y., the candidate of Sam Parks. Other officers were elected as follows: William McCain, of Kansas City, first vice-president; John J. McNamara of Cleveland, second vice-president, over William C. French, of San Francisco; J. W. Johnson, of New York City, secretary-treasurer.

President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers and members of the executive board met in Indianapolis for consideration of grievances presented by the officers representing the district composed of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah, and a strike of 22,000 miners in the territory is regarded as highly probable. The miners want a reduction in hours, an increase of 20 per cent in wages, and appointment of a checkweigher and payment semi-monthly in legal tender, it being charged they have pay only in script.

Two thousand five hundred employees of the New York Central railway and allied systems were discharged October 12. This is about one-seventh of the entire force of all the Vanderbilt employees, and their dismissal was due to the bad business outlook for the coming year, according to one of the high officials of the road. "We shall not be alone in this retrenchment," said the official. "Every railroad in the United States will be compelled to follow our example. There can be no other solution of the problem that confronts us. Business has fallen off 20 per cent during the last few months, and it would mean certain bankruptcy for any railroad to continue its present force." Further reductions will be made next spring if the situation does not improve, it is said. It is said the Southern Pacific will soon discharge 300 men for the same reason.

he Chicago packers have signed an agreement providing for a wage increase for the butchers of 25 cents a day. Negotiations for an increase for other trades included in the recent demands have been open up.

At a mass meeting of unionists of Colorado Springs recently resolutions were adopted, denouncing Governor Peabody for sending troops to the Cripple Creek district. President Moyer and other labor leaders addressed the meeting.

The six coal mines near Colorado Springs have resumed operations with non-union men. Forty special deputy sheriffs have been placed at the mines. The union miners struck October 1 for a 20 per cent increase in an eight-hour day.

Judge Gray of the anthracite strike commission has appointed Carroll D. Wright to preside in connection with the question of the short working day on Saturday in the Anthracite coal region. He has acted in a similar capacity in over five previous questions.

Steamfitters and helpers to the number of 1,000, who have been on strike at New York for several weeks, have signed the arbitration agreement of the Building Trades Employers' association and taken in as members of the union 139 men who had been employed to fill their places. They will get $5 a day.

That a general strike of structural iron workers in the United States and Canada is being called has been denied emphatically by Frank Buchanan, newly elected president of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union. He also denied the report that Sam Marks has lined up the iron workers for a strike in sympathy with the New York Iron Workers' local.

Three representatives from each of the twelve largest building trades labor organizations held a joint meeting in Indianapolis recently for the purpose of organizing a national federation to adjudicate, arbitrate and carry through to conclusion all questions arising in the building trades. The twelve organizations have a combined membership of 1,000,000 union workers.

National officers of the United Textile Workers' Union of America announce that their campaign for the organization of the textile workers in Southern mills is at an end, so far as the union is concerned. This attempt to organize the South, which has ended in failure, has cost the union many thousands of dollars. The leaders say that the Southern operatives refuse to pay dues.

It is reported that the newly formed organization of commercial telegraphers now has 11,000 members, and is growing at the rate of 1,000 a month. The officers of the Commercial Telegraphers' union are: President, Will C. Long, Dallas, Tex.; vice-presidents, E. H. Lingquist, Chicago, J. J. Dunn, Montreal; A. T. Baum, San Francisco; secretary-treasurer, Wilbur Eastlake, New York.

The United States bureau of labor will shortly issue the results of an exhaustive study of the increased cost of living during the last few years in relation to the increase of wages. The result shows that there has been a striking similarity between the advance in wages and the increased cost of living and that neither has gone forward as much as popularly supposed. The charge that commodities have advanced 25 per cent is shown to be wide of the mark. It will be nearer 15 or 17 per cent.

Ladies Auxillary.

FROM A WIFE OF A MEMBER OF NO. 14.

From what I can hear talked among boiler makers of Lodge No. 14, it is still in existence and struggling up the weary pathway of life, with the greatest of interest.

Also judging from the length of time they spend in the lodge hall every first and third Wednesdays in each month, they must have a very good time, and think a great deal of each other, as well as to have so much to discuss.

I think with so much interest manifested in their lodge work they ought to think seriously on the question of having their wives, mothers, daughters and sisters organized, for what a great benefit it would be to Lodge 14, as most all the lodges in this city have auxiliaries but the boiler makers. "And why can't they?" For the day for organized bodies of men only has long since vanished. Although the lesson was hard to learn, it is now well understood that organizations are to be composed of women as well as of men, and woman can enjoy the sociability as well as man. So I hope all the boiler makers who chance to see this will prevail on their ladies to get interested in an auxiliary, for the cost is trifling and the benefit more than can be explained. So with best wishes to all members of the B. of B. & I. S. B. of A., I am,

Yours fraternally,

"A BOILER MAKER'S WIFE."

EDITORIAL

HONESTY OF PURPOSE IS EASILY EXPLAINED.

Men have motives for their every action or else any undertaking of theirs would be useless, hence it is that men undertaking any reforms should be very careful to keep their actions inside of business principles, but in the walks of life we find some men who are systematic; we find others who are not, yet when we come to analyze the actions of either of the above, we find that in the majority of cases they have acted with the best motives and intentions to gain their object.

We have always deemed it a pleasure to mingle with men of strong minds. The stronger the intellect a man has the less need he has of explaining his actions, and without a doubt, the strong minded men can always settle their difficulties without creating enmity. It is a well understood principle in the business world that short reckoning makes the best friend, and nowhere can such a principle be used to a greater advantage than in the labor world among the rank and file. It is absolutely necessary because we have all kinds of dispositions and temperaments to deal with, and will, in the natural order of things, meet in our intercourse with the best members, that we are compelled to do business with. Men who are of a high standard of intelligence, who have a full knowledge of good business, those men generally have determined ways about them and can say NO, besides settling any difficulty in a manly and business way without agitating the subject to make capital out of it for themselves.

We have so many different minds that it requires the greatest discrimination in our every day business, dealing with the rank and file. The determined and positive man, the man who can say NO, is without a doubt, the better man to do business with. It is a pleasure to deal with him, even when he is opposed to you, as under no condition will he vouchsafe to dictate or try to force his own opinions or ideas on the other one. His NO to a question or a subject is a pleasure to record, for it strikes you as being conclusive and made after consideration. Would that these men predominate in all labor organizations. It is, on the other hand, a detriment to the parties themselves, and to the rank and file, when you are compelled to do business with a man who does not know how to say NO, that generally takes exceptions to any idea or plan evolved by anyone else without giving an adequate idea of what would make the said subject matter better. This is the great trouble with the alleged all-powerful man, who cannot agree with anyone, regardless of what reform is under discussion or what line of business he may be in. It is all the same, as he takes exceptions to the plan proposed or adopted, by a positive majority, and which in its very nature must react on himself, if he is surrounded by intelligence and strong minded men. His opposition to the ideas of others will after while be reduced until at last the same person will be completely broken down, as it is written in the pages of history that a constant drop will wear a stone, and the association with strong minded men will wear all opposition down, of the one who endeavors to dictate to all others.

It is essentially necessary at all times that the utmost good feeling should prevail in the labor world, but the public press, our home like meetings and all avenues of information proves the contrary to be true, and in nine cases out of ten it is always found to be the case that the would-be intelligent person, this would-be leader, is generally the cause of the commotion, so it is evident that the broad minded man, the man who does not bother himself with the minor topics, the man who stands aloof from petty animosities and always found on the plain of broad mindedness and good will to others, this man produces from his brain that which is absolutely necessary for the well being of his good society, whether it be in the lodge oom or in the world. He is to be admired as he endeavors to greet all alike. He has no enemies, but treats everyone alike, and he is a gentleman who is respected by all. His opponent is generally of a different class in mental arrangements, but it is the opponent of this nature that generally keeps the broad minded man working, and only for him the cause he has espoused would soon go to the wall from utter lack of business methods and find itself backward in the race for life; so it is evident to the thinkers that the person or persons that are always agitating and picking flaws in the character of other men is counted as a detriment to society at large and the organization to which they belong. It makes no difference whether the organization is fraternal, protective or benevolent, the agitators are always to the front and are never satisfied and it is badly needed in all associations that the rank and file shall be heard, not at any time delegate their powers to anyone, but that they handle all subject matters themselves. It is better that nine guilty men should escape than one innocent man suffer. This is a rule that we should all keep in front of our thoughts and be sure to investigate and consider well before acting on any proposition, no matter by whom presented. The brainy man is slow to act, and it is found to be the best maxim to all as a rule for our actions. Consider well every proposition presented; we must not be hasty or jump to conclusions, but examine all things carefully and hold on to that which is good.

In the labor world the greatest difficulty to overcome is to handle the different temperaments and dispositions of those with whom we come in contact. It requires rare judgment and tact, and it is on the records of all the organizations in this country that in ninety-five cases out of one hundred that the relations are always of the brightest and best kind, but it is a fact that cannot be gainsaid that there are about 5 per cent in all organizations that are too proud to be curbed and consequently are always up in arms against any and all edicts set by the majority. In this way it will be found that to proceed along the most conservative lines in handling any subject that may be either sent or handed to the rank and file, it is a wrong principle at any time to pass judgment on one side of a question. Hear both sides and then determine and you will be fulfilling the highest type of manhood and the principles which civilization upholds. There is nothing that hurts any cause worse than jumping to conclusions. It has been the curse of nations as well as individuals, as many cases are on record where a judgment has had to be reversed when justice was demanded. This in the courts of the land should act as an incentive to the members of organized labor: To hear both sides before determining, and the organization that follows this conservative and proper course, will never have any cause to regret any of their actions, but will live as monuments of their intelligence and be transmitted to the wisdom of future generations to gaze on with profit to themselves and honor to their progeny.

In order that a better understanding of the cause, or rather a great deal the cause of the dissatisfaction existing in a very few minds, while these few are indefatigable in their efforts to keep the water boiling all the time, we will submit without using location, name or numbers a specimen of some of the communications that have been going over the country with a few remarks on same, for the purpose of appealing to the writers, and to those into whose hands such things may fall, of disabusing their minds against the insidious and dangerous methods, both in writing and in reading on the impulse of the moment without investigating, what may be termed imaginations simply, and it generally is according to the vent of the gentlemen's ideas whether those communications are for good or for evil.

Here is one in answer to a letter that was received by the writer of this one:

"Your favor of the 24th inst., to hand and noted. You state assessment is legal. I trust it is. I received this day a communication from one of our G. V. Ps. in which he informs Lodge — that our G. P. O., when in the city of —, gave the Brothers there to understand that the late assessment was illegal, but when he returned to — he informed them it was legal. What kind of decisions do you call such as that? I also wish to let you know that Brother Kane, one of G. V. Ps., also Brother Gilthorpe, never voted to order that assessment, although he sent that document to the council for their approval.

The whole cause of our present trouble is not the assessment, but the abuse of our referendum system, for when they desire anything to go through, they make it a lodge vote. If they desire to be defeated, they make it a referendum vote.

Yours truly and fraternally,

COR.-SEC. LODGE —

Now, we think at this time that it is just, proper and in perfect order to comment in a fatherly way on the abuse of freedom of the press and speech. No man of intelligence will deny the fact that freedom of the press and speech must and shall be acknowledged any and everywhere, if not, it is despotic, no matter where curtailed. We believe in it, we desire it, we invite it, but in a gentlemanly and honest endeavor, and not that insinuating and especially so, must free speech and writing be used from a correct knowledge of the case, that is written on, and from evidence that cannot at any time be disputed. See the position we find ourselves in this, the writer of the above especially.

It is true, to begin with, the assessment is legal; it is also true that the writer received the communication from one of the G. V. Ps., that is perfectly true and could not be more so, but then when he attempts to mislead by his reference to the G. P. O. making a decision in one city, and in another city another decision, he is going outside of facts, as in idle talk such as all men are subject to any man has the liberty to talk with freedom as long as he is not breaking the law of the land, but the point we desire at this time to illustrate is simply this, that idle talk at no time can be construed into a decision. This is one vital mistake and should be corrected in the mind of the writer of the above communication, as if we do not desire to deceive and we are looking for information, we would simply state to the executive officer that we wanted his decision on a certain subject. That fact would certainly commend itself to reasonable minded men, and make the party referred to for the decision be careful in what he would say, but such was not done in this case referred to, therefore, with all that can be said about it is, let charity rest over all who are otherwise inclined to think differently.

Now, we desire to say that there was no decision given whatever in any city by the G. P. O. When the question was raised we simply refused to say a word one way or the other, but instantly referred the case in all its bearings from both sides of the house to the executive council, and to the credit of that body, be it said, a unanimous vote was received and recorded, that that assessment is legal and must stand and be paid by all lodges except those excused by the council. This is good law; no one will deny that. Now, so much for that portion of it.

We desire most emphatically to deny the following statement, quoting again: "I also wish to let you know that Brother Kane, one of our G. V. Ps., and Brother Gilthorpe, never voted to order that assessment, although he sent that document to the council for their approval."

This is diametrically opposed to the facts. The facts are exactly opposite in regard to voting, as we desire with all the powers of our being to state positively that Brothers Kane and Gilthorpe did vote a long time before the final vote was received. They did not wait until such time as others voted. They voted first, and in favor of it, and we desire to say at this time that it is our positive conviction that the documents all going to the council each month should by right be published in the Journal every month, with the votes of the council, Yes and No.

That is a hobby with the writer of this, but the powers that rule say differently, and he submits with all graciousness and will carry out all orders from superior authority every time.

Then we come to the last clause, which states: "The whole cause of our present trouble is not the assessment, but the abuse of our referendum system, for when they desire anything to go through, they make it a lodge vote; if they desire to be defeated, they make it a referendum vote."

Now, this is an opinion only of the writer of the above letter, and it might be appropriate at this time to state that only a few short years ago the writer of the above letter, and the clause just quoted, was in the identical position that he now repudiates, while of that fact no man could take exceptions to, and he is only referred to at this time for the better of presenting the insinuation in its entirety, that he endeavors to besmirch the characters of the whole council, as he uses the plural term all the way through it.

Now, the facts of the case are simply this: This last assessment for $2 has been issued identically with all that was ever issued in this Brotherhood from its very foundation, never has there been anything issued of an assessment that was not issued exactly upon the same lines as this one, consequently the insinuations that are thrown out, "that they work it one way now, and another way again," is simply without foundation, and is meant to reflect the opinions only of the writer of the letter, as we cannot permit ourselves to believe that those opinions are indulged in to any great extent by the thinkers and intelligent members of this order.

The very last paragraph above quoted is: "If they desire to be defeated they make it a referendum vote."

We have here an unconscious compliment, but we, in our good nature, cover all that may seem to be opposed to good nature in this, by saying that this sentence is a compliment, and why? Because here, after attributing the meanest motives, sinister purposes and the most ungracious way of dealing with subject matters, we see that the inference is placed that the bad laws, or laws that would be a detriment to the order at large, is placed to the referendum vote, while the votes on the several propositions submitted for the past three years is the very opposite to this sentence, therefore, we take this with all the charity of our heart to be a compliment, and we desire to impress upon our people, whether large or small in numbers, to beware of any statement whether written or printed that they may come across that does not have both sides of the controversy. Now, since the referendum law was adopted, it has never been used only in the one way; as our people must understand that when the referendum law was first established and adopted it was intended only for amendments, questions, etc. One of your foremost craftsmen in intellect, energy and all that goes to make up a man, seen that there was something wrong in that way of doing business, and four hours after the adoption of the referendum law in convention he introduced a resolution making the referendum system applicable to the election of officers, hence this difference of opinion in many of our members, while the law of levying assessments was never touched; never taken into consideration; never was acted on nor brought in any shape, manner or form before a convention or the vote of the lodges.

It is only natural and in line with good thoughts to say that if the majority of our people desired the law on levying assessments to be changed, they would certainly have used the article and section, and give it in plain language so that no misunderstanding could be had. We have recommended in the past that our Constitution be thrown away and a committee appointed to make a new one altogether, and let it be known as rules 1, 2, 3, 4, etc., as there is no question about it, but that our present Constitution is ambiguous and liable, now and always, if left alone to have complications and constructions by as many men as desire to pick flaws in it, or have a difference in regard to the mode of working, so, therefore, it is essentially necessary that all will have charity enough in their hearts to study up the Constitution. Remember the men who are on your council are obligated, they have much more at stake than the men who are not obligated, and while their votes may not appear to many to be correct, yet you can reasonably rest assured that they have voted in full consciousness and according to the Constitution and their obligations.

As the reason given by the Baltimore lodges for refusing to pay this assessment is that it was levied illegally, that is because of not having Brother McNeil's signature to it, and as they still persist in this claim, notwithstanding the fact that the calls of 1901 and 1902, with the same signature to them that was to this one objected to, and when all realize that the objections that are raised by those five lodges should be better understood, we will publish below the call that levied this assessment with the only signature that was to it, which was that of Brother John McNeil, G. P. O. And it would seem that the position assumed by those five lodges is so very ridiculous and absurd as actually to make people wonder whether they are in their right senses or not, as they object because it was not levied by Brother McNeil, and yet his signature is signed to the document and by himself too. The following is the call as levied and also the votes that came late or after the call was issued. In the original call there is a slight difference in the figures. Especially is this so in the case of Lodge No. 35, of Baltimore, appearing as voting "Yes," but when brought to our attention it was found that Lodge No. 35, H. D., had voted twice, at one time "Yea" and the other "Nay," and only once did Lodge No. 35, H. D., appear on the ballot, so it was taken to be Lodge No. 35. We found that Lodge No. 35 did not vote at all. Lodge No. 36, Boiler Makers, and Lodge No. 36, H. D., were given credit as voting "No," but we found that neither voted. With those corrections all totals will be correct. The following is the call:

Kansas City, Kan., Sept. 2, 1903

To the Officers and Members of Subordinate Lodges, Greeting:

Owing to the large number of lodges we have on strike, we were compelled to take advantage of Article 9, Section 2, of the Sub-Lodge Constitution, which empowers the Executive Council to submit a proposition to the lodges for an assessment, which requires the majority vote of all lodges in good standing before same could be levied and collected. In complying with that part of the Constitution, a call was made by the Executive Council for an assessment of $2.00 on boiler makers and $1.00 each on helpers, and submitted to the lodges.

The result of the vote is, one hundred eighty-two (182) lodges have voted in favor of the call; one hundred thirty-seven (137) lodges unfavorable, making a total vote of three hundred nineteen (319) lodges that voted. As one hundred eighty-two (182) lodges is the majority of all lodges in good standing, the assessment has been endorsed by the lodges, and is hereby levied and will be collected.

Following are the lodges that have voted:

Voted "Yes"—Boiler makers: 1, 3, 4, 6, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 27, 28, 31, 32, 40, 42, 44, 46, 49, 52, 53, 54, 58, 61, 64, 70, 72, 76, 77, 79, 80, 81, 82, 88, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100, 103, 104, 112, 113, 115, 116, 117, 118, 126, 129, 135, 137, 143, 144, 145, 147, 148, 156, 159, 161, 165, 166, 167, 169, 172, 173, 174, 179, 180, 184, 185, 186, 188, 191, 194, 196, 198, 199, 201, 203, 209, 212, 217, 220, 221, 224, 226, 230, 231, 232, 233, 234, 237, 238, 239, 241, 242, 244, 247, 254, 255, 259, 262, 265, 267, 269, 271, 280, 288, 300, 303, 308, 311, 312, 315, 316, 320, 321, 324, 330, 334, 335, 337, 338, 339, 340, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 351, 353, 354, 355, 356, 358, 360, 366, 369, 372, 375, 381, 382. Total, 148.

Voted "Yes"—Helpers' Division: 2, 4, 16, 20, 21, 26, 28, 30, 32, 43, 46, 54, 58, 60, 62, 67, 68, 70, 72, 73, 75, 76, 80, 83, 86, 87, 88, 89, 93, 95, 97, 101, 106, 109. Total 34.

Voted "No"—Boiler makers: 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 16, 17, 19, 25, 30, 33, 34, 37, 39, 43, 45, 47, 51, 55, 57, 59, 60, 67, 71, 75, 85, 87, 89, 93, 102, 123, 124, 125, 130, 139, 151, 154, 163, 164, 168, 170, 175, 182, 190, 192, 193, 195, 197, 202, 205, 208, 210, 211, 214, 219, 223, 227, 229, 246, 249, 250, 252, 253, 261, 272, 274, 275, 276, 277, 279, 281, 284, 285, 286, 289, 290, 291, 291, 294, 295, 297, 298, 302, 318, 322, 325, 326, 327, 329, 331, 332, 341, 359, 361, 363, 364, 365, 371, 374, 376, 377, 378. Total, 102.

Voted "No"—Helpers' Division: 1, 3, 12, 14, 15, 17, 22, 24, 25, 27, 31, 33, 34, 35, 37, 41, 49, 52, 56, 59, 64, 65, 69, 71, 78, 81, 84, 85, 90, 92, 94, 102, 103, 104, 105. Total, 35.

All lodges will be charged up for the amount, according to the number of members they have reported on, and it is expected that every lodge will make a special effort to pay this assessment as soon as possible, so that the Grand Lodge will be placed in a position whereby they can meet their indebtedness to the members who are on strike trying to better their conditions. It is also expected that by the end of October every lodge in the Brotherhood will have paid their assessment. Lodges that are in a position to send their assessment, or a part of it, will kindly do so at once, as the men who are on strike have not received any benefits for the last four weeks; and a number of those who have lately settled their trouble with the employer, have not received any benefits from the last one to four weeks that they were out.

LATE VOTES.

Boiler makers "Yes"—2, 38, 74, 105, 183, 204, 218, 309, 317, 373, 379.

Helpers "Yes"—7, 36, 44, 48, 61, 91, 99.

Boiler makers "No"—21, 50, 56, 107, 128, 134, 176, 181, 200, 222, 257.

Helpers "No"—8, 18, 53, 100.

Hoping and trusting that this letter will meet with a prompt response so that we can show to the members who are trying to better their conditions that unionism is more than mere empty words, and with best wishes and kindest regards, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

JOHN MCNEIL, G. P. O.

From the above it will be seen that not only our Executive Council has spoken, but more than the majority of the lodges in good standing have. While the claim has been raised that the large lodges pay so much more than the small ones, that is impossible, as every man pays pro rata, or so much per head, consequently, five men anywhere pay as much as any other five men in the country.

Now, it does seem to be a very small matter that union men should refuse to pay two dollars to help their Brothers who are striving to better their conditions, and while bettering their condition they are bettering the conditions of those they ask two dollars from. Their turn to-day may be yours tomorrow. It is not just, especially when men are working constantly, with prosperity around them and at a good advance in wages from what they had a year ago. Some will say that it is through our own exertions and this should be determined first whether it is or not, and intelligence says it is the prestige of the silent power of organization that is behind every move that is made, that makes the adventure successful. Why, to go it alone, and if union men determined to just walk into a city in droves and take the places of all men who are striving to better their conditions, who are not union men, it would destroy union men's standing to do so, and not likely to happen, but the moral attached to this, that is, that the locals that might be tempted to go it alone must not tempt the union men too much, because when they do make a move for reforms, or to better their conditions, they do so at the expense of union men, and it is a matter of victory whether the union men step in or not. Therefore, union men are the ones who should have credit for any such victory, not the ones who are fighting. This should be plain enough for any intelligent man to see. Anyhow, one of the most absurd propositions that men of standing could make is to claim they are union men when their very souls are engaged in the business of disorganizing, disrupting, seceding and playing havoc generally, in their sphere for the purpose of catching recruits. Why, it is ridiculous, and believe that any man with good common sense and with a fair knowledge of unionism and what it stands for, should be found in this category. When union men are on strike, and whether union or non-union men take their places they are called scabs, but between a scab and a disorganizer there is a great deal of difference. The one acts as an individual; the other acts in a collective fashion and consequently the crime of disrupting, seceding or disorganizing is in that degree greater than that of a scab. It is a horrible thing to contemplate that men shall be so blind to their own interests that they will, in their blindness, imagine that they know better than the power that has been elected to govern, and unless you make a proposition the way "We believe is right, we will agree to disagree," or, in other words, "We will disrupt." It is absurd to think that a man is in his right senses when he comes to such a conclusion as this. We have in every way endeavored to give satisfaction to all in every request that is made on us, but the fiat has gone forth, and fights about the assessment being levied at all, so the only way is to enforce discipline, and the wayward ones will find it much more to their advantage after going it alone for awhile.

In regard to conventions. While we know that the sovereign rulers of this organization are the individual members in the lodges, they are the highest power in this order. Their combined wisdom is safe to follow and carry out any edict that they may sanction by their votes. Consequently, when a subordinate lodge in its sovereign capacity desires a convention held, the simplest way to do so, is the way the law directs, to write up a short request to the G. P. O., if you are in favor of having a special convention, stating that lodge so and so requests the G. P. O. to send out calls for nominations for a special convention to the lodges, for a city to hold it in, and sent to the lodges for a vote on the proposition. If sanctioned by a majority of the lodges, 60 days after the votes are promulgated the convention should be held, or as soon as possible. But, when a lodge or two or five lodges say, "We desire a special convention with full power to act, held in such and such a city and date," it is impossible to carry out such an order or request. How about receiving same request from two or three, or even ten or fifty lodges? Has not one lodge the same privilege as another in that respect? We think so, and, therefore, the only safe way is to have nominations sent out for a city to hold a special convention in and you will be doing your duty and showing your sister lodges that you have all the respect in the world for their welfare.

Then in the event of a special convention being called, the business for which it is called must be stated, and it is an open question whether a convention that has a bare quorum present can carry out the smallest or greatest amendment or resolution that they can pass, and why? The lodges that have not been represented can turn them down. The fallacy of holding a convention under those circumstances will appeal to the intelligent person in this way; that is what should run through the minds of any one of our members and must appeal to their business qualities as being correct. A convention is sure to go to a vote without any request next February or March, regardless of whether any lodge desires it or not, under orders from the last, or rather request from the last convention. So it is very likely that if a special convention is carried now, the vote for the regular convention would overtake it before the special convention could be held.

There has probably never been a period in the history of American railroading when telegraph operators were so few for the needs of the railroad operations. Extensions of block signal systems, new lines and numerous other modern contingencies enter into the situation. All over the country comes the cry for more telegraph operators

Official Communications and Decisions.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:—This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of THE JOURNAL by the Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

In the October issue of Journal I called your attention to an agitation going around the country to call a special convention, also to lodges who refuse to pay the assessment claiming same was illegal.

Believing it is advisable to keep down all such agitations, and have some precedence to go by, I placed the whole matter before the council and had their advice and decision as best what to do under the circumstances. Their decision was, that owing to having so much trouble on hand and the advisability of preserving the discipline that is necessary to run the organization, they ordered me to annul the charter of any lodge who refused to pay the assessment. The majority of the lodges in good standing have indorsed the assessment according to the Constitution, and all members in taking their obligation state they are willing to be governed by the ruling of the majority, therefore, in complying with the ruling of council, I have been compelled to annul the charters of the five lodges in the city of Baltimore, as they absolutely refused to pay the assessment, claiming that same was illegal. It is rather unfortunate that we had to apply to such a remedy in order to preserve the discipline of the order and enforce the Constitution.

The Brothers in Baltimore in refusing to comply with the Constitution and the decision of the council, have placed themselves in a position that they lose all rights of appeal or protest, and also make it impossible for any communication coming from those lodges to be recognized by any lodge in good standing. Should any communications be sent by those suspended lodges, no lodge in the Brotherhood can take part in any discussion appertaining to same while the lodge is in session, as communications from suspended lodges are entirely out of order. We understand that they are about to issue a circular letter to all the lodges, calling upon them to sustain the lodges in Baltimore in their refusal to pay the assessment. We are sensible of the fact that some lodges will recognize their communications and assist them in every way possible without committing themselves, simply because they are protesting against paying the assessment of $2 per member. A vast number of the members in Baltimore would willingly pay the $2, as the money consideration is not altogether their objection, but they have taken the stand, that the assessment, according to their opinion, is illegal, and will try to have all the lodges in the Brotherhood think likewise. It may be good policy on their part, but it is very poor unionism in my estimation. There is not an organization in the iron family to-day but pays higher dues than the boiler makers and the boiler makers are ever lastingly calling down the machinists, but the machinists will willingly pay any assessment called upon them by their national officers.

During the Union Pacific strike the machinists in the western country willingly gave a day's wages each month. The same strike has, in a manner, bankrupt our organization, and now, when we ask for $2 a member of an assessment from the boiler makers to replenish the treasury and help to pay benefits to a large number of men who are out on strike, and also back strike benefits to the lodges that we are indebted to, the men in Baltimore protest against that by giving up their charter. Some of our would be guiding stars are responsible for terrible amount of the agitation, as we have received communications from other lodges claiming that the referendum law as applied to the assessment is not legal. The assessment was called according to the Constitution, and is legal and will be enforced. Some of the large lodges claim that the small lodges with ten and twenty members have as much to say as the lodges with fifty or one hundred, on the assessment. Why shouldn't they? They have to pay $2 per member as an assessment, and that is all that is asked of the large lodges.

There seems to be no consistency in some of our lodges because they themselves have enjoyed the benefits of the strike clause in our Constitution, and received thousands of dollars from this office, and now when it comes to the other fellow, they vote against the assessment and ask to be excused on some frivolous plea. Some lodges claim they have men on strike. Others claim that their membership consists of 50 per cent helpers; and others, that their treasury has been exhausted through the mismanagement of their officers, but all such excuses fall dead upon the ears of the council because we are in such a financial condition at the present time that in order to pay our members what the Constitution promises them, we must have the money, and the only source that we know of at the present time to secure the money is from the members.

I am also satisfied that a large amount of this agitation going on is brought around by men who are trying to make capital for themselves at the expense of others, and I know for a fact that something must be done in order to preserve the harmony that has existed in this Brotherhood since 1897.

The lodges in Baltimore sent to this office a request for a special convention, but as their lodges were at the time suspended according to the decision of the council, a protest was taken to the council against any recognition being given those lodges; their call was turned down by the council and protest sustained. 'If the lodges want a convention, why not some of the lodges that are in good standing make a call, selecting a number of cities in the interior of the country, and give every lodge an opportunity of having a delegate? Do not try to have the convention in the extreme East, West, North or South of the country, but have it in some of the intermediate states, and a city where the transportation can be easily obtained from any part of the country.

There is no member in the Brotherhood more desirous of a convention being called than your humble servant, as there are several very important matters that I desire to bring before the convention, that is an eye sore to me at every issue of the Journal. Some men take exceptions to how the office has been conducted, and what should be done. Those men are criticising the work as individuals, and as an individual lodge, but they do not take into consideration I have to consider the Brotherhood at large and don't know one part from the other. There is a feeling going along among the western members that everything was not as it should be in the settling of the Union Pacific strike. I want to say as far as I was individually concerned that everything was conducted honorably and to the best interest of the organization, and the feeling would not exist only for some who are trying to make capital for themselves at my expense. This has been going on long enough, and I have now come to the point where patience ceases to be a virtue, borne it long enough, and intend to take the matter up at the first convention whenever that may be, and I hope it will not be long. In every issue of the Journal for the past four months there has been items in the Journal that should never appear, and there is also one in this issue, but if I were to refuse to allow them to go in the Journal, those slanderers would think I had something to hide. Such is not the case. I believe, worthy Brothers, we are at the turn of the road, and the sooner we have a convention the better it will be for all concerned. If we have soiled linens to wash, for goodness sake do not wash them in the other fellow's back yard. Let us have a convention, but let same be called according to the Constitution as it is now framed by the members.

In taking office my obligation was to enforce the laws of this Brotherhood, which I intend to live up to. Should a change be made in our Constitution it must be by a referendum vote, and not by a few who take exception to anything not emanating from themselves.

NOMINATIONS.

Through the resignation of Brother M. M. Hart as G. V. P. for the Eastern Sea Board District, that office is now vacant. Also through the suspension of Lodge 193, Baltimore, Brother F. P. Shaney has resigned the office of G. V. P., for the Gulf and South Atlantic District, consequently we have two vacancies in council. At the Baltimore convention an amendment was passed and indorsed by a referendum vote that the executive council shall be elected by the members at large, and not as now designated in electoral districts, therefore, all lodges are entitled to nominate and elect officers to fill the vacancies in council. No lodge can nominate more than one officer for each office.

IN COMPLYING WITH THE CONSTITUTION I HEREBY CALL FOR NOMINATIONS TO FILL THE OFFICES OF GRAND VICE PRESIDENT MADE VACANT BY THE RESIGNATION OF BROTHERS M. M. HART AND F. P. SHANEY. ALL NOMINATIONS MUST BE IN THIS OFFICE BY THE 26TH OF NOVEMBER, SO NOMINATIONS CAN BE PUBLISHED IN DECEMBER JOURNAL. NOMINEES MUST BE IN GOOD STANDING IN THEIR LODGE AND THEIR LODGE MUST BE ALSO IN GOOD STANDING IN THE GRAND LODGE.

In October issue of the Journal I stated that the boiler makers on the Big Four R. R. were ordered back to work pending a settlement with the company. Indianapolis, and Wabash, Indiana, and Bellefontaine, Ohio, refused to comply. My object in ordering them back to work was to secure an interview for the committee, because railroad officials will not confer with men that leaves their employ. On my arrival in Indianapolis, I held a meeting with the committee, tried to advise them. No attention was paid to my remarks, as a number of the committee was under the impression that the chairman of their District Lodge had more authority than the whole brotherhood who I was there to represent. Seeing nothing could be accomplished if such feeling would be allowed to exist, I notified the committee I would withdraw and allow them to make the best arrangement they could with the company. The committee held a meeting and they decided to leave the matter entirely in my hands. We then drew up a proposition and presented same to the the company which they accepted. The proposition was that all men return to their respective positions with the assurance that a substantial increase in wages would be given. Arrangements was made to hold another meeting with the officials as soon as the men returned to work. At said meeting an agreement was made and signed by the officials, and our members establishing a uniform rate of 32c per hour for all boiler makers working on Big Four R. R. in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. We also defined boiler makers work, regulated apprentices, established shop rules and secured an increase of 2c per hour for the boiler makers helpers.

Taking everything into consideration I believe the contract we have with the Big Four R. R. will compare favorably with any in the eastern country. I am satisfied this agreement never would have been arrived at had the committee followed the dictates of men who have no interest in any town they may be working in. Those people I find are responsible for a large amount of unnecessary trouble all over the country. Such men should not be allowed on any committee.

On my return to Kansas City a request was awaiting me to visit Pittsburg, Kans., where some of our members, apprentices and helpers were discharged without any apparent cause. On my arrival in Pittsburg, Kans., I called on the committee; with them arranged to meet Mr. Roberts, superintendent M. P. and the foreman boiler maker, Bro. Lines of St. Joe, Mo. On investigation we found the foreman discharged the men because he considered they were not doing enough work, but he could not sustain that charge when face to face with the men, consequently the men were reinstated and that foreman given to understand his position.

On the 16th I was called to Springfield, Mo., where our members stopped work to have an apprentice reinstated who the foreman discharged because he refused to drive rivets with a helper. As our men left the service of the company the superintendent of motive power refused to grant them an interview, but referred them to the officials of the shop. A proposition was made by the shop officials for our men to return and take up the apprentice case with the superintendent of motive power, with the assurance that everything would be satisfactory. Before stating to the men the proposition made by the officials, I called on the superintendent of motive power. When the proposition was stated to him he was not altogether satisfied, and showed a desire to hold some of our members responsible for the trouble, and did not wish to allow all to return to work. But the men came out together and unless they were allowed to return in a body, I refused to allow any to return. Our interview terminated without coming to any agreement. We then held a meeting and arranged to call in a committee from the whole system. When the committee notified them, arrangements were made whereby all our men returned to work and the apprentice also, after he appears before the superintendent of motive power.

It must be evident to all our members that if we desire to secure concessions from railroad companies, we must consider their interest as well as our own. I am satisfied if our men would only stop to consider the injustice committed on the railroad company as well as the traveling people we would not have a railroad strike, because the officials are always willing to meet their employes and adjust matters; but when the men strike they are no longer considered employes of the company, consequently the officials refuse to treat with them. My advice to our members working in railroad shops is don't strike, until all other means are exhausted. First, consult your master mechanic. If no satisfaction is given keep going until you reach the head; then if no satisfaction is given take the matter up with council before you consider strike. I am satisfied if these instructions are carried out strikes on railroads will be a thing of the past, because, I have been requested by several high officials of railroads to advise our men at all times before creating any trouble to seek interviews with the highest officials.

I also desire to call your attention to the advisability of keeping contracts. Several of our lodges who have made contracts with their employers have taken advantage of conditions and made demands before the expiration of their existing contract. In each case they have been ordered back to work at once. Lodges violating a contract can not hold membership in this brotherhood as we consider a contract jumper a detriment to organized labor.

G. P. O.

A National Federation of Millionaire Employers has been organized at Chicago by Fredrick W. Job in the interests of themselves and non-union wage workers. It is strange how much interest the millionaire takes in the non-union man; not so strange, either, to one who has ever watched a farmer fattening his turkeys for market.

One of the most apparent crimes of this too common individual, known commonly as a knocker, is ingratitude, of which Shakespeare says:

"This was the most unkindest cut of all. Ingratitude, more strong than traitors' arms Quite vanquished him; then burst his mighty heart."

What hellish ingratitude for a person to say, "The union didn't do anything for me. I see no need of one."

The wretch formerly worked for probably $2 a day of ten hours, and by joining the union got $2.50 for eight or at most nine hours, and may be better than $2.50.

We need have no fear of the bosses nor their associations and the scabs are too contemptible to be taken into consideration. Watch the fellow that speaks against the union, get rid of him if you can't reform and make a man out of him, for he will surely stab you in the back if he gets a chance.

More than ninety new industries were established in the Southern states last week.

This year strikes have cost Colorado two and a half million dollars and will reduce her output of the precious metals six million dollars and probably more.

The Western Cold Storage company of Chicago met the demands of the freight handlers for more pay with dismissals. These employes are the first to feel the effect of the lockout policy of the Employers' association against the labor movement.

At a secret meeting of committees representing the engineers, conductors and trainmen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, in New Haven recently, the men were closeted with Valentine Fitzpatrick, third vice-president of the Order of Railway Men. No official statement could be obtained. It is known that the trainmen and conductors are dissatisfied with changes contemplated, which will result in one crew running through from New York to Boston instead of having relay by divisions. The engineers, it is understood are discussing the wage question.

Several New York City women of wealth and social prominence have started a movement for a servant's guild, intended to benefit, both the sorely tried housekeeper and unappreciative maid. The head of the household will get for a moderate fee girls whose references have been investigated and who must behave or be barred forever from the privileges intended for them, including a comfortable club room, and lectures and instructions on practical lines. For those who remain for one year in the places obtained for them by the guild there will be various prizes which will be increased on each succeeding anniversary. The name of the new organization is the Woman's Domestic Guild.

DUEL.

It having pleased the Great Creator to re-move from our midst the father of our brother, J. J. Duel. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, as members of Lodge No. 253, E. of B. M. & I. S. B. of A., extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family in this hour of their affliction. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes of our lodge, one be sent to the bereaved family, and one sent to the Journal for publication.

MYRON HILL,
FRED ROUNDS,
C. F. HEALY,
Committee.

CANTWELL.

At the last regular meeting, (Executive) held by the delegates of lodges comprising District No. 2 at 67, St. Marks Place, New York City, Thursday, October 15th, the fol-lowing resolution and preamble was adopted on the death of Louis M. Cantwell, beloved son of Past District President P. W. Cantwell:

Whereas, The Supreme God in His Infinite and Divine wisdom, has seen fit to remove from the midst of the family of Brother Cant-well, his oldest son, Louis, after a long and tedious sickness; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the delegates of Lodges

Nos. 16, 21, 33, 36, 45, 163, 171, 176, 200, 264, 307, 338, assembled at the regular Executive Board meeting of District Lodge No. 2, extend to our co-delegate, Brother P. W. Cantwell of Lodge No. 45, our heartfelt sympathy and condolence, in this hour of sorrow and affliction that has overcome himself and family. Therefore, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this preamble be sent to the family of our bereaved brother, a copy placed on the minutes of this District, and a copy sent to the official Journal for publication. We remain fraternally, delegates of District No. 2.

HENRY H. OSBORNE,
Secretary.

KEMMERER.

Chillicothe, O., Oct. 3, 1903.

At a special meeting of Lodge No. 135, Brotherhood of Boilermakers & Iron Ship Builders of America, we, a committee appointed by Lodge No. 135, to draft resolutions expressive of our sorrow and condolence for his bereaved family, present the following:

Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God in His Divine wisdom to remove from our midst our true friend and beloved brother, Joseph Kemmerer, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, his brother members assembled, extend to his family our most heartfelt sympathy in the time of their sad affliction and pray that Almighty God by His strength, enable them to bear their loss with Christian fortitude; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of our lodge, and a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and that a copy be sent to the Journal for publication.

JOHN E. WATTS,
MILLARD MILLS,
Committee.

KELLY.

At a regular meeting of Valley City Lodge No. 300, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased the God of love in His Infinite wisdom, to call from our worthy president, O. W. Erikson, his beloved sister, Mrs. Matilda Kelly; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, his brothers of Lodge No. 300, extend to him and the grief-stricken family our heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour of bereavement. Further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon our minutes, a copy be sent to the bereaved family and a copy sent to the Journal for publication.

WM. H. ROBINSON,
WM. F. HENRY,
Committee.

ALMEIDA.

At a regular meeting of Tar Heel Lodge No. 226, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Our Almighty God in His Infinite mercy has seen fit to remove from our midst, our Brother George H. Almeida, who was so dastardly shot down in Georgetown, S. C., October 2, 1903, by a negro, who was resisting arrest from the officers of the law and our late brother, who was deputized to assist, be it therefore

Resolved, That we deplore his loss, with deep feelings and regret and that we extend to his bereaved family our sincere sympathy, in this sad hour of sorrow, softened only by the confiding hope that his spirit is gone to a higher and a better world where there is no sorrow. Therefore be it further

Resolved, That we drape our charter for thirty days and forward a copy of these resolutions to the bereaved widow, also forward one for publication in our official Journal and also a copy be spread on our minutes.

G. E. BROOKSHAW,
A. L. LYONS,
Committee.

A strike is probable at the great Krupp works, Essen, Germany.

The Erie railroad, it is stated, will immediately reduce its force of employees.

Chicago elevator runners have asked for an increase in wages of 100 per cent.

Forty Louisville railway clerks were recently discharged for joining a union.

About 1,500 press feeders of the Chicago printing plants are on strike. The employers are advertising for young women to take the places of the men.

The Philadelphia Dyers and Mercerizers' union has given the dyers permission to return to work, thus finally ending the textile strike which began in this city on June 1. The dyers are the last of the 120,000 strikers to return to work.

A comparison of the occupation of the population of the following countries is of interest: The per cents in Hungary, are: In agriculture 38, in industries 22, in commerce 6. In Great Britain the figures are: In agriculture 15, in industries 54, in commerce 10. In the United States, 35, 24, 14.

Omaha, Neb., will become the headquarters of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen, now located at Toledo, O. The purpose is to get the headquarters further west, in contact with the great growing centers of population and industry, so that the membership of the order may be enlarged.

Artists and sculptors throughout the country are preparing to make an organized fight against the control which they assert organized labor is trying to obtain over the realm of art. The recent experience of Director of Sculpture Ritter of the St. Louis exposition, with the Plasters' union of that city, has brought the matter to a focus and a movement is now under way to establish one or more international organizations in an effort to protect art workers from interference by striking plasters, house painters, plumbers, bricklayers and other craftsmen employed on structures where the artist or sculptor does his part of the scheme of ornamentation.

THE HEAVENLY STAR.

A myriad stars o'erhung the plains
Of Bethlehem that night;
But brighter far than all the rest,
One star flung out its light.
The brightness of that star proclaimed
The coming of the King;
And startled shepherds woke to hear
Angelic voices sing:

Hosanna, Hosanna,
Your King is come to-night!
Mortals, arise! In Bethlehem
Behold the wondrous sight.
Lo, there beneath that brightest star,
In midnight sky impearled,
There in a manger see your Lord,
The Saviour of the world.

From out the east, with precious gifts,
Came wise men from afar,
To where with fullest glory shone
The radiance from that star.
"Here is the dwelling of the King,"
They cried with gladsome shout;
And far above them through the night;
The heavenly song rang out:

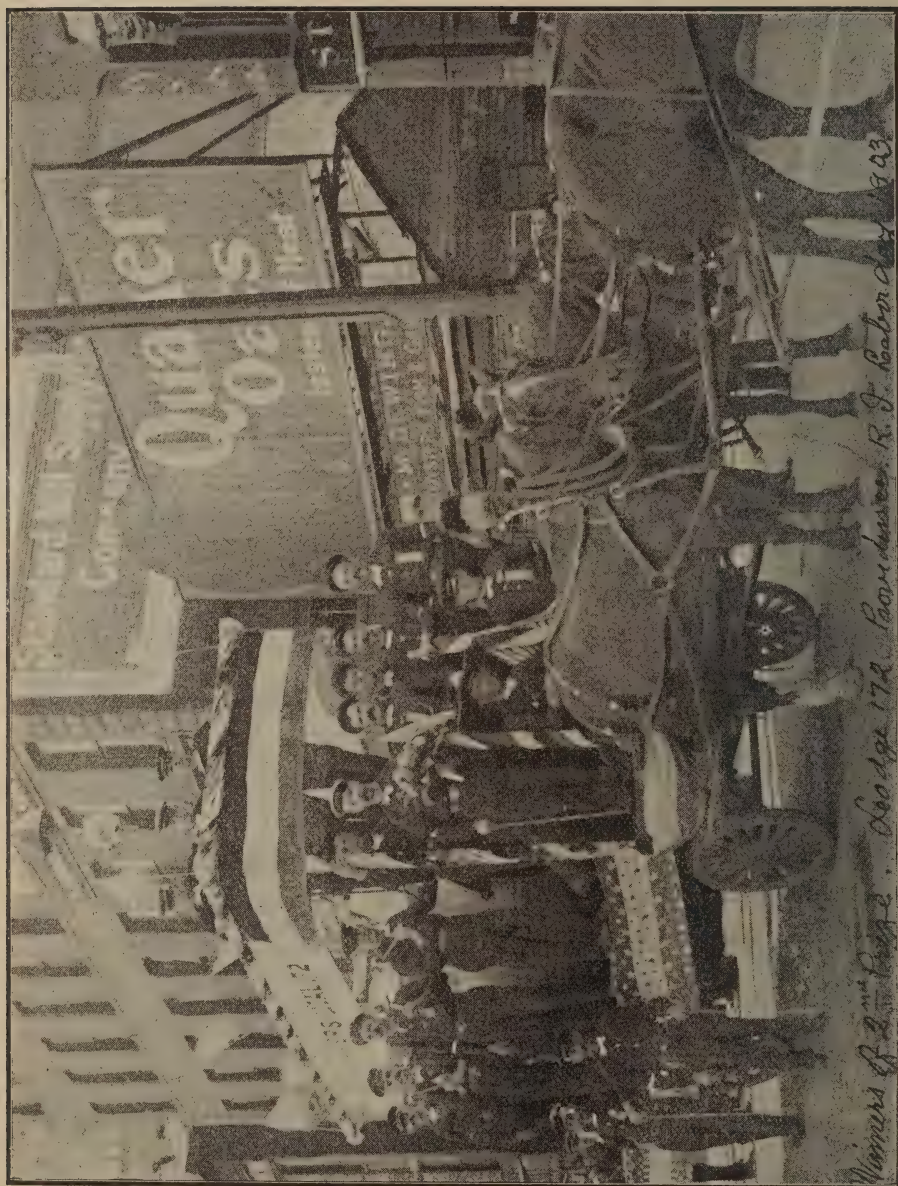

Hosanna, Hosanna,
Joy to the waiting earth!
Mortals, with heavenly choirs unite,
And sing your Savior's birth.
Peace to the world, good-will to men—
The tidings glad He brings;
Oh, hasten to that lowly hut,
And hail the King of Kings!

Dear Lord, we bring our hearts to Thee,
Not frankincense or gold,
Such as that night, with holy joy,
The wise men brought of old.
Abide with us, oh, heavenly Child,
Our Saviour, Master, Friend;
And to Thy name our songs shall rise
In praises without end:

Hosanna, Hosanna,
Hail to Thee, Prince of Peace!
Mortals, there shines through all the earth
A light that shall not cease.
Lead Thou us still Emanuel,
That we, still following,
May serve Thee till our journey's end,
And we shall see our King!

LODGE 262.

New London, Conn., Nov. 8.—The last time I wrote to you I made an appeal in my behalf, but this time I will make an appeal to all good union men who happen to come this way. As you are, no doubt, aware of the conditions here, I must tell you how a lot of men are conducting themselves who have good cards in their pockets. I have been other places where some of them were red hot union men, to hear them talk, but right here in Groton, where the members of 262 are nearly discouraged at the small attendance of the meetings these men help us along by staying away. Some of them have had the nerve to say the lodge would bust up but they don't seem to care whether it does or not. I have requested several brothers of other lodges to accompany me, but they were not feeling well. Bro. McNeil, this lodge needs all the help they can get. I do hope and pray that traveling brothers will do all they can to help us. I have been told that I would be discharged for talking unionism in the yard, but some one must sacrifice themselves, and if so, let it come to me. There are quite a few of us left here yet and with the good men of 262, about 10 or 12 left who pay dues, we are trying to unfurl the banner to the breeze again. It will take more than this company here to haul that banner down.

Well I better stop and if this meets the eyes of good loyal union men I desire them to help us in any way they can and also a larger crowd at our meetings is the desire of

Yours fraternally,

THOS. J. SMITH.

LODGE 194.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 2.—As you are aware Local Lodge 194 has had placed before the brothers, for a vote to be taken upon, several amendments to our constitution, which if adopted by this organization will place it above want, and do away with assessments which are such a constant source of annoyance. The alteration means, the raising of the per capita tax, to the Grand Lodge, of from 25 cents to 50 cents per member per month. This would mean only an increase of 25 cents per month on our dues; besides this it is intended to take 10 cents per member from the increase, and make a fund to be set aside to pay delegates expenses to the convention when held, so that the lodges will not have to bear that expense, which they formerly did. These are reforms in our constitution which is absolutely needed, and 194 rose to the occasion and decided to ask permission to lay the plan before the whole brotherhood. No. 194 had no other motive than to see this union placed on a higher plain financially, than she had hitherto been accustomed to. What are the facts and the history of this order? She is too cheap to be good. If people paid more into it, they would think more of it and when 194 did this thing her motives were of the highest kind. Would to God most of our locals were imbued with the same desire, but the contrary is the fact. Since the executive committee sent out the printed form with the amendments printed on it, would you believe it sir, I have received from a number of secretaries of unions the slip sent out advising me their union had voted unanimously against the proposition. Some wrote letters, and one actually wrote and said, "If you wish to see this union go ahead, for God sake drop this sort of thing." I am really amazed at the stupidity and ignorance some of our members display in these matters. One would think Local 194 was trying to draw the teeth from their head, instead of helping them. Let me say to these brothers who sent the letters and to those who are voting against this proposition, 194 has never received a cent from the brotherhood for strike pay or anything else, and when she makes the stand she has, it is not so much to benefit herself as it is to help those men who cannot run their business without strikes, which I am sorry to say, so many of our brothers are in the habit of doing, wanting a holiday at other people's expense. It is these very men who are now sending me these letters and voting against the amendments. It is a notorious fact some of the unions who have received the most strike pay from this union are voting against this proposition. It is clear proof they don't understand the proposition. You men who want a union, for God's sake wake up and don't be miserly about it. You men who are the loudest shouters against it will be the first to want help and if you can't get it, you will be the first to curse the officers, and the union, if it can't supply the funds on the spot. I have come across too many of this class in other unions and other walks of life and I know them. You can smell them a long ways off like a certain animal I know whose stink is worse than his bite. To these men it is no use talking to.

I appeal to the sensible men, to the thinkers in our unions I make the appeal not to allow the demagogue in your union to run it. Attend and take more interest in the unions affairs. Insist on a fair discussion and vote being taken on the matter. There is too much apathy shown by the thinking members, and that is where the agitator and the don't-care-who-sinks-as-long-as-I-swim man gets his work in. Wake up, these men don't want reform. They want everything but reform and will sacrifice nothing, to you men who think.

I would ask how can we have a successful union unless we can place in her the machinery to keep her afloat to fight our battles? What is a paltry 25 cents more a month if it will do so much? Why, many of our members spend that on a drink. Are we such miserable wretches that we cannot deny ourselves one drink a month to make our union a success? Think over it, use your own judgment, and don't let one or two men do all the thinking for your union, or they will soon run it on the rocks, where many of them want to see her go. Don't mistake me in what I say. They will do and say anything to bring about the destruction of your union. I know them. If your union has not voted upon this matter insist that it be done at once, and do your best to make the vote favorable to progress and success, don't let us have a weakling for a union, but let her be the strong, vigorous athlete or gladiator, ready to take up the cause of all of her members when oppressed by the enemy and to be feared and respected. This should be the aim of all our members; this was the spirit of 194 in introducing the amendments. If this union rejects them it will not be because you had not the chance to make an improvement and 194 will accept the decision of the majority with regret. I am, sir,

Yours fraternally,

J. H. WATSON, 194.

LODGE 341.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 20.—Since my last letter to the Journal we have had a little trouble here: Our men were on strike at the American line shops and they were out about three weeks for 9 hours a day and double time for all over-time, and through the efforts of our Business Agent Bro. Boyle, the strike has been settled, as all other troubles in this district has been settled; in our favor. Bro. Boyle has a way of approaching the manufacturer which seems to be out of the ordinary and they cannot resist his advances and are bound to give in to him, and all whom he has come in contact with commend him for his straight forwardness and manly manner in which he transacts business.

The old year is now drawing to a close and as this is my last letter for the year of 1903, I want to say that we expect to have good news from Philadelphia with the beginning of the new year. The whole brotherhood in this district at the present time is in a state of excitement. The Advisory Boards ball takes place on the 27th of November and we expect it to be a grand affair. Bro. Garvey of Local 17 is going to lead the grand march.

Helpers division No. 93 gave a smoker on the 13th of November which was a success in every way and Bro. Ray Logan, their president and chairman of the committee, deserves great credit for the manner in which the entertainment was conducted and he was ably assisted by the following committees: Brothers Jorett, Owens, Fields, Smith, Henecker, Robinson, Mooney, Farrlow, Brown, J. Hennig, F. Hennig, Rockwell, Wicke.

LODGE 128, TORONTO, CAN., LABOR DAY, 1903.

No. 93 under the guidance of their president Brother Logan is hustling to reach the century mark in membership by the last of the year and we hope they will succeed. All of the locals are making preparations for the election of new officers for the year of 1904, and we hope that each local will select brothers whom they know will attend to their duties with a zealous care.

On the evening of October 19th Local 17 of Chester gave a smoker which proved to be a most enjoyable and huge success. Bro. Garvey is president and under his wise direction and good judgement the brothers done everything in their power to make the evening a memorable one and we must congratulate the members of Lodge 17 on the pleasant and fraternal manner in which they entertained visiting brothers.

Brother Barney Fullerton, the Chester giant, created no end of amusement by his funny antics and witty sayings and he remarked that it looked like old times to see so many of the boys together at one time.

Bro. Joe. Malloy, who was chairman of the refreshment committee did everthing in his power to please the inner man.

Bro. McFadden was about to recite "Mary had a Little Lamb," when he was informed by Bro. Fullerton and other brothers that the only undertaker in the town had more than he could attend to, so he decided to postpone the recitation for the time being. Brothers Higgins, Larkins and Huttie done everything in their power to make the smoker the success that it was. The boys from Marcus Hook enjoyed themselves in a good old fashioned way, singing, dancing, and in various other ways made it pleasant and agreeable for all present.

Lodge 17 intends to give another smoker in the near future and we only hope that we will be able to attend with a good delegation from Philadelphia.

Hoping to see this in the next issue of the Journal, I remain,

Fraternally.

JOSHUA KELLEY, J. C.

LODGE 388.

Mechanicville, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Will you please give these few lines space in our Journal. We want to let our brothers know that we are alive and doing some work here. We initiated five new members the 6th and after the business of the evening was finished we had some chowder. After the boys had done justice to the chowder they ret red to have some wet goods, for we had a couple of kegs on hand and some pipes and tobacco. The boys began to feel quite good by this time, so our quartette sang songs of their best selections. This was followed by Brothers Boshier and Abel, singing a very pretty song entitled, "Old Black Joe." They did very nicely. They were followed by Brothers Lester and Mullvany. They were cheered loud and long. Bro. Grimes made a bayonet charge on the keg and it run dry, so we had to go home. Our foreman, James McCloury, attended and all in all they boys had a good time.

Yours truly,

C. J. S.

A FEW DONT'S FROM LODGE 117 FOR BOILERMAKERS.

Don't come here without a card, as we want to know who and what you are, before going to work.

Don't land here drunk, it will not help your chances for a job.

Don't leave any unpaid bills behind, as you will get no card from Lodge 117 until we receive an answer from lodge issuing your card.

To Lodges.

Don't grant a card to a member unless he is square, if you have anything against him, notify us as soon as possible.

Don't wait for next meeting. A boiler-maker may for good cause not stay over a week at one place and will want a card when he leaves.

Don't grant cards to apprentices as such cards are fraudulent. Give them a letter, or if given a card, state apprentice and give length of service. It is an injustice to the apprentice, to send him out inexperienced, and causing him to jump his contract. It is an injustice to other apprentices, as well as to the firm or railway company he worked for and who is entitled to his services as per contract. It is an injustice to the brotherhood to send an apprentice out and by card recommend him as a boiler-maker and have him discharged for incompetence. By this you create the impression and naturally so, that you do not respect the constitution of the brotherhood,

LODGE 134, MOTREAL, CAN., LABOR DAY, 1903.

or the contract you have with your employers.

Don't allow your financial secretary to send a card to the member it was granted to, after it had been deposited, indorsed on back and sent to your lodge asking for information. After this proceeding the card does not belong to the brother, but to the lodge sending it to lodge of issue, and the secretary that fails to answer is guilty of gross violation of his obligation and any erasure made of indorsement on back of card, is as bad as forgery, in fact, if not in law. These things have all occurred and we say, don't. Should any man come here with a card he is not entitled to, it will be taken up and if we grant a card on the evidence of a card presented that turns out to be fraudulent we certainly will call in said card and present the case to the Grand Lodge.

We bar helpers from doing boilermakers work of any kind, as we have a right to do, to protect our apprentices. Then some of these apprentices jump their contract and some lodges grant them cards, thereby violating their contract and encouraging others to do the same. Any apprentice guilty of jumping his contract should not be allowed to work after the fact has been discovered, unless he is willing to finish serving his time out at the shop he quit or some other shop of the same firm or railway company, and the good offices of the boilermakers should be extended, to have such apprentice reinstated. This is the only remedy to keep apprentices from jumping out, and we are bound under our contracts to apply the remedy, if we want to be honest in the matter.

We are not angels at De Soto; wings are not even sprouting, but we have sense enough to know that the old saying, "honesty is the best policy," holds good to date, and if we are not honest because we love the right, we can at least be honest from pure selfishness, that is be honest where it is to our interest to be honest.

C. W. BRUMMER,
President.

— 0 — THAT $2.00 ASSESSMENT.

We all know that the drain on the treasury of the brotherhood in the last two years on account of strikes has been very heavy, in fact that it was expected there would be several assessments on the members to pay the strike benefits. That the brothers at large expected this is proven by the vote as promptly registered as could be expected. The assessment having been approved, it naturally follows the brothers would be willing to pay it without any criticism and no doubt would, if not stirred up to protest. If we was at the time of voting in sympathy with the brethren on strike—and the majority so voted—is it right for a minority to refuse to pay the assessment. If the striking brethren deserved support, which no one will deny, is it right to withhold the money, and make them suffer for some real or imaginary technicality. The assessment being ordered by the council, entitles the brothers that have not been paid, to the money and it should be paid at once, and any lodge having a complaint to make on the form of the call, should pay under protest, that is the only logical way. We cannot do justice to the brothers that are entitled to this money by making war on individuals. Pay the men their money and fight out the personal matter after.

That it is a fight on the grand officers is so plain it is not worthy of mention; it is stated as such.

If we believe, as we must, that the assessment was voted, it seems a transparent argument that it is right to refuse to pay, because the Grand Secretary did not sign, Acting Grand President, which in the absence of the Grand President, he no doubt has authority to do. Who will deny the Grand President the right to authorize the Grand Secretary to sign his name in emergency cases?

If the Grand President must attend to all office duties, keep him in the office, that is where he should be. He cannot be on the road and in the office at the same time, and in his absence there must be a head to the brotherhood. This is the sentiments of the brothers of Lodge 117. True we are not so numerous as some of the Eastern lodges, but we uphold the brothers, when on strike, cheerfully and have fortunately never drawn any strike benefits and of course can only imagine how we would feel if we had been on a strike and had to wait for our benefits voted to us and ordered collected by the Council, until some one fought out a grievance against another. It looks as much like politics as other cases mentioned.

We do not expect this little protest to act as oil on troubled water, but thought it right to have our little say in the matter. We are not so much technical as just.

Without any partiality, favoritism or affectation, but for the honor of the brotherhood.

C. W. BRUMMER,
President Lodge 117.

— 0 — FROM AN AFFLICTED MEMBER OF NO. 5.

I suppose you will be surprised to hear from me, but I thought I would write and let you know that I am getting along nicely and that I am out of the hospital and at home again, but I can tell you it is pretty hard to be cut down in the prime of life the way I am and I can tell you it is an awful accident to meet with. To be deprived of both legs is something pretty hard to bear, but I would like the brotherhood at large to know what the brothers of Lodge No. 5 have done for me.

When I was in the hospital they done all they possibly could for me, to help me bear my trouble and suffering. They always had an encouraging word and a smile for me and bought me everything that I needed to make me comfortable and some of them would come every night and sit and talk with me for an hour or more and always tried to make my trouble as light as they could and now I am home they have bought me an invalid chair so that I can push myself around and help myself and I tell you they have shown their brotherly love to me and I most sincerely appreciate their kindness, and I thank them for it. Hoping none of them will ever meet with an accident like mine is my earnest prayer.

Again thanking them for their kindness,

I am yours fraternally,

CHAS. BROOKS,

Treas. Lodge No. 5.

LODGE 85.

Toledo, Ohio, Nov. 14.—Reading the Journal makes a man think that some of our brothers don't think. They make a great boiler over a $2.00 assessment and a lot of trouble. It seems as though they want the boys to notice them, and it generally is those that are getting good money. Now brothers we voted down the increase in dues that was sent out. How are we going to better our conditions if we do not put some money in our treasury. Local No. 85 never drew one cent out of the Grand Treasury, and was working for very near nothing, and wanted permission to go out, but was forbidden, but like honest brothers, paid the $2.00, after the first meeting we held knowing at the same time we were going on a strike and needed the money ourselves. This obligation is no idle ceremony. To my knowledge some of the brothers ought to think of the obligation they have taken; and I think it says we should abide by the obligation, rules and regulations of the Order. We ought to have to pay 50c per capita tax, and as long as we kick on the small amount we pay at present this brotherhood will never come to the front. And at the front is where we ought to be. If we look at it right and every boilermaker would quit in the United States for six months what would the United States do? What would the factories do? Not anything. They would have to stop running, but the boilermakers jangle too much among themselves. We are brothers and let's be brothers. There isn't a man living that isn't liable to a mistake. A brother might go on a job and have bad luck, and it leaks perhaps a week after. Another brother goes out to caulk it up. Who done that? Mr. ——. Then this brother sends him down where he should make things right with the engineer, and does not tell him he isn't any good.

Another thing is this, as long as we are having so many apprentices we never will get to the front. We ought to have one in every shop and that is a plenty, until such time as boilermakers are scare. We are making so many boilermakers now that we can't keep them all working, and when we go on a strike they are just handy enough to take our places and make the strike last so much longer. Let us be brothers and work for the good of the Order and not make so many boilermakers. Go to the meeting, help the thing along. Don't get mad and stay home because things didn't come your way. Come until they do come and keep on coming. The more the merrier. You can nearly always tell a good union man as you can find him in the hall meeting nights, pushing a good thing along. A good union man won't kick on that assessment, because its helping the Order along. They must have money and that is the only way of getting it. As long as we vote against increasing the per capita tax, there always will be assessments. Stay at home some pay day night and you will have enough to pay two assessments.

Buckeye Lodge No. 85 is on a strike at present, and we are not getting any strike benefits. We might get a small donation. I should hope so as we are very badly in need of it, and this local has been paying in the general treasury since its been organized and never drew one cent, but we didn't kick on the assessment when we knew we needed it, and we knew we had to pay it so we did. Members not getting strike benefits is just where a good many strikes are lost. And the General Treasurer can't pay them when we vote against everything. Think boys, think, and think it's for the good of the Order and pay and say nothing about it. You can't tell how soon you might want strike benefits.

Fraternally yours,

FROSTY, C. S.

Warren, Pa., Oct. 24.—Perhaps this is the first but not the last that Lodge No. 183 has been heard from.

I suppose that every one knows the Hammond Iron Works has been destroyed by fire, but will be rebuilt at once. Lodge No. 183 now declares Struthers Wells & Co. an open shop.

Lodge 183 is not a large one but are doing the best they can. We are getting fair wages and are working ten hours a day.

In Warren, Pa., there are seventeen locals and on Labor Day there were one thousand men in line. Warren is growing to be a union city fast. There is plenty of work here at the present time.

I remain, your brother vice-president,
T. H. DIETCH.

LODGE 211.

Lodge No. 211 gave a ball Monday, Nov. 9, which will be remembered in Newburgh. As the papers stated all roads led to Columbus hall. The boilermakers are bright, up-to-date entertainers and they drew a large crowd. The U. S. A. ragtime selections were so gingery that the oldest boilermaker could hear distinctly and follow the step with the youngest of the craft. More power to the boilermakers.

The committees in charge were as follows: John Downey, Waler Tobin, Frank Maguire, John Fogarty. Floor committee: George Tobias, manager; James Casey, David Tower, Stewart Workman, John Maguire, John Heines, Thomas Penny, Benjamin Penny, Edward Sheehy, Timothy Grady.

LODGE 194.

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 2.—I have received a whole batch of correspondence today from Donald Crawford, Baltimore, who is the business agent of a number of lodges there, making complaint of a number of our Grand Officers, in their action, in the calling of the late assessment, and asking the Lodges if they think they are right, in the course they have taken, to send delegates to meet in convention, on the 30th day of November, in either of the following cities: Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburg or Baltimore. They close this long letter by saying, "Baltimore without a home goes out into the future, strongly fortified she is right, and will make such endeavors to prove 'twas only for the good of all, and the injury of none, that she was made homeless."

Now Mr. Editor, I have read the correspondence very carefully and I can't help thinking there is a nigger in the fence somewhere, and underlying the whole of the correspondence there is the disappointed office seeker and sore head cropping up all through it, with the don't-care-if-you-sink-as-long-as-I-swim policy underlying the whole of it, a policy which can never make this brotherhood anything but a miserable apology for a beneficial institution to our fellow workers.

As I take it, the Grand Officers of this brotherhood are appointed and selected by referendum vote of the whole order. This being the case they must have the confidence of a very large majority of our members, and the minority must of necessity, bow to the majority. Allowing this to be true, what is our duty to the Grand Officers? Is it not that we give them our hearty support and obedience? (which is the first principle in good government and discipline) in their arduous duties they have to perform, not forgetting, these men are working men, taken out of the shop and placed in a responsible position of trust, and being working men would it not be a wonder if these men did not make mistakes, and is it not our duty to be charitable towards them, and allowance made accordingly?

Allowing mistakes have been made by our officers (which I do not allow), are they not mistakes of the head, and not of the heart, and is that any reason we are to sling mud at these men at every opportunity, which seems to be the habit of some men? Our officers positions lay them open, especially to the vituperations and slanders of the disappointed office seekers who are ever ready to make discord, and hold up to scorn, those who have been more successful in the running. Then there is another body of men who never can hope to be recognized for their ability, because they have none, but are ever grumbling and groaning, they are never treated right. Their officers, are labor lakirs and grafters, and they hint at the manipulating of things, to suit themselves. They are the first to cry out if they don't get all that is coming to them, but are the last to get a move on them, to see others get their rights also. A large body of union men are only union men, as long as they don't have to put their hands in their pockets, and pay for it, but as soon as they have to do this their unionism ceases; at least that is my experience. There is another body of men who are shrewd enough but only to find fault with the way things are run. They could do it so much better, willing to grasp at anything, rather than the real thing, wanting everything done constitutionally, but break the very first principle of unionism themselves, namely, discipline in the ranks.

It is told in history that in the charge of the light brigade at Balaclava, they obeyed the command to charge the enemy, although they knew some one had blundered. Theirs was not to ask the reason why, theirs was to obey the order given at the time, and leave the rightness, or the wrongness of the order for others to enquire into, and it appears to me this is the spirit which should have been shown by the brothers of Baltimore. Other people noticed the president's name was not attached to the order sent out, but what was that compared with the fact that the brotherhood needed money; famishing wives and mothers needed it, and that should have been our first thought.

Supposing it was not quite legal, and a mistake made although I don't admit it, Baltimore's duty was clear and that was to pay the assessment and complain about the legality of it after, in the proper place, and in a legal manner, which is not by the process adopted by them. The whole transaction as far as Baltimore is concerned is preposterous in the extreme. To think a small section of this brotherhood can take upon themselves to call a convention whenever they feel disposed to do so is absurd. We would never know where we are at. would be the tail wagging the dog, instead of the dog wagging the tail. What men with any spirit could we get to take office? None, who had a spark of manhood in them would think of such a thing. The mere fact of the brotherhood being in need of the funds should be enough for any loyal boiler-maker to be ready and willing to pay his quota, and on his part place the union above assessments. Baltimore knew perfectly well, a large number of our brothers were waiting for this assessment to help them hold out in the struggle for existence and better conditions, knowing full well without it they must succumb to their employers, and it is more than cruel, to these men, for men with the least spark of manhood in their breast, to raise a quibble at such a time on purpose to get out of paying the paltry sum of two dollars per man to help their fellow man in their time of need.

These men are calling a convention and asking locals to send men to it. I would like to ask what use is their convention? The whole thing is grossly illegal according to our constitution; this is where they are making another mistake, and a very serious one it is for this brotherhood, if allowed. For any portion of this brotherhood not in a majority to take the direction of the affairs of this Order and ignore all placed in authority over it is to my mind beyond a joke.

Their long letter bristles with a tirade of abuse of our officials, especially the president, secretary-treasurer, and First Vice-President Kane. Everything they say, if true, which I for one do not believe, is out of place in their letter. It appears to me the harder a man works for working men, the more self-sacrificing they are for the fellow worker, the more abuse they receive from the men they serve. If officers and self-sacrificing workers of our unions were to work one quarter as hard for the capitalist, they would load him down with honors, and pay them well in the bargain. The more I learn of some men calling themselves trade unionists the more I feel ashamed to acknowledge them. There is not the least shadow of trade unionism in their nature and they only wait to crucify those who have the spirit of it.

Away with such pettifoggery unmanly conduct from amongst us. Let Baltimore and all other Lodges, of this brotherhood, who has refused to make this union what it should be, a power in the land, and have refused to pay this assessment, pay up at once, and make themselves in good standing with this brotherhood then, when this is done, apply in the constitutional way, for a convention. Until this is done it is impossible for the law abiding members of this body, to have anything to do with them. Hoping by this time the Baltimore brothers have complied with the demands of the executive. They will not then be homeless. And believe me

Yours for obedience to law and order,

J. H. WATSON, 194.

LOGGE 58.

Raton, N. M., Nov. 1.—I would like a space in our valuable Journal to let you know that No. 58 is still on your list.

Elmer Jaquay, for the last five years foreman boilermaker of the Santa Fe Ry. Co. at this place resigned his position to accept one in a lower climate for the benefit of his wife's health, applied for membership in our brotherhood and on the 17th of Oct. was initiated. The president suggested that we have a short recess. We all went down the street for a cold bottle; the boilermakers, helpers and apprentices having previously made arrangements for a reception to Brother Jaquay. When we returned to the lodge room the wives and families of the boilermakers and helpers had taken possession to the surprise of Brother Jaquay. President Scanlon in behalf of the boilermakers, helpers and apprentices presented to Brother Jaquay a chain and charm and to Mrs. Jaquay a silver cake plate. In response Brother Jaquay thanked us all in a few well chosen remarks.

The head waiter, Brother Coyle, announced that supper was now ready in the banquet room for about thirty couples, after which the cigars were passed around by Brother Chas. Akins of the Helpers Division, our latest benedict. Cards and other games were played until 12 o'clock when we all took our departure for home, wishing Brother and Mrs. Jaquay and family unbounded happiness, success and many friends in their new home. Brother Jaquay and family intends visiting in Topeka, Kas., for a short while when he will be found in or about Kansas City looking for a job. Brother Jaquay is a good foreman, a good friend and an all around good fellow, and if he settles in your midst you can congratulate yourselves on having received him and his estimable family. Hoping you will not criticise this, my first attempt, at Journal correspondence and publish it in your next Journal. I remain,

Yours truly,

S. J. PORTER,
Journal Correspondent.

LODGE 24.

As Lodge 24 has not had anything in the Journal of late, I will try and give some of our brothers who have been in our city a little idea of what has passed of late, as a great many of them have worked here in the last year and as we have heard from a great many of them.

Lodge 24 had the pleasure of hearing from Brother Michael Devine, who is working at Winona, Minn.

Brother C. Quinn was in the city last week. He came over from Clinton and paid up the dues of some of our members that are working for the I. C. R. R. We were pleased to hear that the brothers are going to have a lodge of their own. Lodge 24 wishes them good luck and will do all in their power to help the good cause along.

At our last meeting the brothers had a big smoker and Brother E. Farrel had charge of our new members that rode the goat and he put them through all right. He is all right for that part of the work.

Brother Myers put his card in Lodge 24. He is better known as "Snow Ball." All the brothers were glad to see him and he told them of his travels. He has been on the road and has been a clown for the Carnival company that showed in our city. "Snow Ball" will winter in our city and has decided to work for the C. & A. R. R. Company.

Brother Nick Duggan has returned to work again. He was on the sick list.

Brother Tom Kennedy is back to work again. He was in the country for his health.

Brother Morigan has been laid up for the past 3 weeks, a side road fell on his ankle. He is getting along all right.

The stockholders of the Bloomington Ship Yard have decided to close down for the winter on account of making improvements in ship yard.

Brother Thos. McAle is still in the city and Brother T. Mahoney was his guest for the past two weeks. He came to see the Carnival which was in our city for a week last month. Tom called at the "Old house at Home." He was given a big reception by the proprietor and brothers. He left on a special train for Chicago.

Brother J. Kelley is in the city and is the guest of Brother New Shaw.

Brother New Shaw was in Stone City last week and reports all the brothers as well.

Brother Wm. McCarthy has built a fine residence and will soon move in. All the brothers wish him good luck in his new home. He is all right.

Our foreman, J. H. Smythe, has gone East to Paterson, N. J., to have a look over the Rodger Locomotive Works as he was offered a better job from that company. He has not got back and has not resigned his office with the Alton yet.

I had a letter from Lodge 300 in regard to a card of Brother Toney. Lodge 24 has had a great deal of bother with cards of some of the brothers that have come here and will try and fix matters all right with all of the lodges. A card of Brother En-rights was deposited in Lodge 24 by a brother and was sent to Lodge 340 sometime ago and we never received an answer. The brother paid dues here. The lodge never sent any reply back in regard to this and I hope C. S. will look this up. Lodge 24 has a few cases of this to attend to other lodges having given brother cards.

Big Mike was transferred to 66.

L. Widing was in the city. His brother was buried here three weeks ago. Big Mike knows him.

One word more, Mr. Editor, in regard to Lodge 5. I think a lot of our brothers think the same and the expenses ought to be cut down as very nearly all the boiler makers are organized, in fact all except a few that don't amount to very much. I will let you know that I got a letter from Lodge 1 in regard to a brother who is sick in our city. His name is James O'Neal. He is in poor health and it will take some time for him to be able to work.

With best wishes and regards to all lodges, I remain,

Yours,

J. W. H.

LODGE 172.

If you will give me a small space in the Journal I would like to make a few remarks about 172, that is still gathering in the few stragglers that come our way. We have all kinds of people to deal with, but they have to come up to the mark just the same. James Perry, register number 15252, had to send and get his card from 172 after a year and a half. It is no trouble to keep track of the stray ones we have in our flock.

I was informed by one of the leading manufacturers of the Eastern states that this coming year the manufacturers of the country would combine together and forfeit one hundred and eighty million dollars worth of orders before they would submit to the unions this coming year. I think it is pretty near time the working people of the country was beginning to get their eyes open, and I hope the people that reads these few lines will stop and think for a moment. If the manufacturers will forfeit orders before they will pay a man a decent day's pay, I think it is about time we were all organized.

You will find inclosed a picture of 172, which took second prize in Labor Day parade.

Yours sincerely,

A. L. McCOOL, J. C.

HELPERS DIVISION.

LODGE 43 H. D.

At the regular meeting of the above lodge, held 5th inst., the circulars issued by the dissenting Baltimore lodges and the G. P. O. was discussed and a resolution unanimously carried deprecating the action of the Baltimore lodges in refusing to pay the assessment, the premises not justifying their action, and expressing confidence in the Grand Lodge Officers.

J. C. WATTERS, C. S.

In connection with the above, permit me, as an individual member of the Brotherhood, to make a few comments pertinent to the dispute.

In reading over the correspondence which passed between Brother Crawford and the G. P. O., calmly and dispassionately, the thought impressed more firmly than any other on my mind was, the large interests involved in such a trivial dispute. Were some great issue at stake, were some fundamental principle menaced, were reasonable exception taken to the policy pursued by the Brotherhood, I could understand and appreciate, whether in sympathy or otherwise the extreme stand taken by our sister lodges in Baltimore; but when the only point at issue, after all, is one of legality, and logic gives place to quibbling, it is deplorable that the stability of the Brotherhood should be menaced for a moment.

If the call was illegally made surely those demurring would be careful to adopt only legal methods to have the matter adjusted, since it is only a constitutional question; but has this been done?

Had the Baltimore Lodges been as careful to comply with the requirements of the constitution as they were strenuous in their condemnation of others for alleged non-compliance, I am of opinion that the matter could have been amicably settled. If there contention was right, most assuredly the majority of the members of the Brotherhood would have sustained them, either in national convention or through the referendum. As the grievance itself was not the paying of the assessment, as proved by the generous action of the Baltimore Lodges in forwarding assistance to our striking brothers, it seems to me to have been very short-sighted policy on the part of the Lodges concerned, to have placed themselves beyond the pale of "legally" demanding redress.

As one, disinterested to the extent of having no personal acquaintance with either of the parties immediately concerned in the dispute, the mind consequently free from prejudice, I am forced to the conclusion that the position of Brother Crawford is untenable in so far as the method employed by him to bring the national officers to time is concerned.

The lesson to be drawn from this ripple on the surface is obvious. So long as strife exists within our own ranks, we are at the mercy of the enemy. Even labor organized solidly as an economic body, has practically no chance to wrest from capital, securely entrenched as it is behind the law courts, government, civil and military powers, a greater portion of the wealth it produces. The contest is unequal. It is wealth against human lives, profits against the life blood of the little white slaves in our cotton mills. With the combinations of capital confronting us, as witness, the Manufacturers' Association, Employers' Associations, etc., with the power they possess of absolutely controlling our very existence by their ownership of our means of subsistence, we require every available man in our ranks.

The day has almost gone when we can fight effectively against capital with their own weapons; we must learn to make our numbers count, not in the manner in which the representatives of two million organized workmen endeavored to influence the senate to pass an eight hour bill, but whose influence was less than the representation of two thousand manufacturers who succeeded in having the bill defeated, but let our numbers count in electing our own men to be our servants to carry out our instructions.

Would to heaven we would devote the time and energy spent in petty squabbles, profitless and injurious, to the study of economics with the light it gives us to guide us intelligently on the way to a higher and broader conception of life, a better condition of material, intellectual, moral and spiritual existence. Fraternally,

J. C. WATTERS, C. S.

95 H. D.
Cleveland, Oct. 30, 1903.

Half a world away we waited,
Peering blindly through the veil
That obscured the frowning future,
That's in case that we should fail.

We had seen our lodge in thralldom,
While its life blood ebbed away,
Tortured by a heartless tyrant,
Maddened by a fiendish sway.

We had uttered tardy protest,
In the deathless name of right,
And in freedom's sacred service,
Saw the time had come to fight.

From beyond, in far off Kansas,
Came the orders here that day,

Telling us to get nine hours,
With an increase in our pay.

Stealthily as steals the wild cat,
Following its victim's flight,
We went stealing on the ship trust
At a meeting held one night.

Then we held a big joint meeting of L. 2
and 95
And thought the best thing we could do was to go upon a strike,
And we vowed to one another we would do or die,
And we started into battle on the 13th of July.

For a while things looked quite rosy; we were a solid pack
When a few non-union fitters bolted and went back,
But this did not deter us, it made us stronger
that's a fact,
And to use the words of Hanna, we voted to stand pat.

For nine long weeks we struggled
And it hurt them mighty hard.
When they saw we had no pickets
And no one went down near the yard.

But there is an end to everything, and one
September day
They sent for our committee, and gave us everything our way
Which places us among the leaders of our strong and mighty craft,
And on the sixteenth of September to the yard we all marched back.

There was a notorious old scab helper discharged from the U. P. shops at Armstrong the first of this month, known here as old Perry. He was about 40 or 45 years of age, dark complexion, dark hair, weight about 145, slightly stooped shouldered. He is out for another job, so look out for him and keep him on the bum. The other is Willie Pollack, Reg. No. 37093, age 31. He was born in Missouri. Was working at the Santa Fe shop in Argentine at time of initiation, Oct. 24, 1903. He could not pay his initiation fee so he got the boys to go his security for the fee. Then he found out all he could, went back to the shops, told his boss all he knew, then he left there and went somewhere to try his hand and left the brother who had went his security, to pay his debts. Now, the new boiler boss at Argentine brought this man to Argentine with him, and the man claimed he was broke. Brother McCarmack went his security for initiation and goods at the store, which Brother McCarmack has to pay for him. Now Brothers, watch out for this man and don't allow him to have a job, unless he pays Bro. McCarmack what he owes him.

A union information bureau is reported as formed of the trainmen of 44 railway systems, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill., for the interchange of secret information about railroad matters.

Ornament plasterers at St. Louis, Mo., have demanded that they be allowed to do the finishing work on the statuary at the Fair. This work is now in the hands of the Sculptors' Union.

Trade unionists in Germany have been trying to keep women from doing certain kinds of work in the factories and foundries, and the unions are generally against the employment of married women when their husbands have work.

Within the last few years the Russian government has been enacting laws favoring the laboring men. It has provided that all factories and mill owners shall contribute to hospitals and give medical assistance for their workmen. There are labor pensions and labor insurance both for death and accidents. There are also mutual labor insurance companies for permanent and temporary disablements, and one or two old-age insurance companies.

The striking coal miners of Bilboa, Spain, have returned to work.

Blacksmiths on the Pacific division of the Canadian Pacific are on strike for thirty-five cents an hour.

The age at death of workmen in East London is about twenty-nine, whereas in the well-to-do districts of West London the average is about fifty-five.

The International Union of Bricklayers and Stone Masons holds its annual convention in Trenton, N. J., early in January, when the proposition to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor will again be taken up and sent to the membership for a vote. The proposition a month ago failed to be carried by only a few votes.

The Philadelphia & Reading Co. is making strong efforts to break the strike of its trackmen on the Shamokin division. The company has imported a large number of Italians workmen who are working under the protection of the coal and iron policemen.

The designers in the silk industry have gone on strike in Patterson, N. J., and it is said that the strike is to spread to Union Hill, Hoboken and New York. The designers are the artists of the silk trade and are the best paid class of workmen. Many of them are paid between $30 and $40 a week.

United States Commissioner of Immigration Watchhorn, stationed at Montreal, Canada, has denied admission to the United States to twelve glass blowers from England and has recommended that they be deported to England. The men were on their way to the Steuben Glass Works at Corning, N. Y., to go to work.

Unless there is a satisfactory arrangement of differences between the officials of the Central Railway and the carpenters and machinists employed in the Central's shops at Savannah, Ga., there will probably be a strike among the employees. The carpenters and machinists have made a demand for an increase in pay.

Milwaukee (Wis.) glass workers have returned to work. The demands of the men were compromised, but they will receive the recognition of their union, an increase from 5 to 10 per cent in their wages and a nine-hour day. The request, concerning the temporary abolition of apprentices, was modified.

Two thousand men were laid off by the Illinois Steel Works at South Chicago last Saturday night. In addition to this reduction 1,200 men, who were discharged two weeks ago and who expected to return to work, have been informed that there is no work for them. The officials of the company refused to talk about the retrenchment going on, but it is said by the men that they are being laid off because of curtailment in the output.

Many Ohio and Indiana window glass manufacturers attended a wage conference in Philadelphia recently.

The Illinois State Federation of Labor convention has refused to adopt a resolution boycotting the state militia.

The joint conference of plate glass manufacturers and skilled workmen, held in Philadelphia this week, adopted a uniform wage scale whereby nearly 10,000 workers will receive an advance in wages of from 1½ to 2½ per cent. To meet this increase the price of glass probably will be advanced 15 to 20 per cent. There are nearly 4,000 pots in the United States, employing 2,000 expert blowers. The others who will benefit by the increase are gatherers, flatteners and cutters. Under the new scale the wages of blowers will average $180 a month for single strength glass and $400 a month for double thick plate.

That the coal miners in Utah are unfavorable to the general strike movement inaugurated in Colorado, is indicated by specials from several coal mining camps. According to the reports received the men are satisfied with the present scale of wages, and will continue to work disregarding the orders to strike. There are about 800 men employed in the coal mines of the state.

Indianapolis, Ind., labor unions will try to secure the choice of that city for the convention of the American Federation of Labor in 1904.

The miners at Whitwell, Tenn., have struck on account of a disagreement between them and the company as to the method of weighing coal.

United Garment Workers of America and the Journeymen Tailors of America have reached an agreement defining the jurisdiction of the two bodies and for the creation of a committee looking to the amalgamation of those bodies, to comprise all clothing workers in the United States.

Although the Chicago candymakers offered the skilled workmen an advance if they would break away from the union and go back to work, the offer was refused. Instead the union decided to abandon the contention for a shorter workday and all went back to work under old conditions.

Twelve of the largest printing firms in Chicago are now employing non-union girl press feeders and find them satisfactory. As they are paid from $7 to $10 per week and the men of the Franklin Union desire $15 per week it seems probable that girls will be employed in every shop in Chicago.

The carpenters have grown to 1,696 local unions, with a total membership on July 1 of 167,229 members.

James Duncan, national secretary of the granite cutters and first vice president of the American Federation of Labor, is mentioned as a possible opponent to Mr. Gompers for the presidency of the organization at the convention in Boston, Mass., this week. Mr. Duncan is said to have the backing of the miners' contingent.

Industrial unions registered under the New Zealand compulsory arbitration act become corporate bodies, and their property and funds are available in satisfaction of any judgment. If these are insufficient the members of the union are personally liable. The aggregate amount of penalty payable under any award shall not exceed $2,500, and no member of any industrial union shall be liable for more than $50.

The 10,000 locomotive firemen of the country have perfected their plans for a wage increase, and consultations with the officials of the railroads will now begin. A uniform wage scale is wanted.

Glasgow, Scotland, Marine Engineers' Association announces that some of the largest engineering concerns on the Clyde have issued orders that in future no engineers over forty-five years of age are to be employed.

A new wage and working agreement with the employers will be presented by the coal hoisting engineers of Boston and vicinity, one providing for some slight advance in wages for different work.

During the year 1902 Japanese laborers employed in the Hawaiian Islands sent nearly $3,000,000 in money to their relatives and banks in Japan.

Thirty thousand puddlers and finishers throughout the country received a reduction in wages at the bi-monthly adjustment which was made November 10.

The wages based on the selling price of bar iron of the prevailing quotations are somewhat lower than two years ago. The men will receive a cut of 25 cents at once.

Arbitration having failed, the International Association of Machinists has given up the general marine machinists' strike for a minimum wage of $3 a day. The strike was inaugurated in May. Some of strikers' places have been taken by members of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, an international organization, with headquarters in Great Britain, which has been fighting the International Association for years.

The striking street car motormen of Waco, Tex., have returned to work.

The Executive Committee of the National Association of Agriculture Implements and Vehicle Manufacturers, in session in Chicago recently, adopted a resolution favoring the "open shop."

Ten thousand members of the building trades are locked out in Philadelphia.

Several thousand machinists of the M. K. & T. Railway, in Texas, are on strike.

Five manufacturing corporations of Southbridge, Mass., employing 1,887 hands, shut down Nov. 10, and established a lockout against the labor unions recently formed in the town.

A lockout threatening to effect 30,000 men in Cincinnati is imminent on account of trouble between the Journeymen Plumbers Union and the Master Plumbers Association.

The Longshoremen's strike of Mobile, Ala., which has been on for some weeks has been ended. The strikers will return to work at prices prior to their walkout. About 1,000 men were affected.

Notices were posted in the cotton mills, of Fall River, Mass., announced a general reduction of 10 per cent in wages, to take effect Nov. 23. About 30,000 hands are affected.

Three thousand employees of one of the street railways of Chicago are on strike. There has been considerable disorder attendant on the strike.

Union labor now faces a falling market for labor. The pig iron output is cut a fifth to a fourth, say four million tons a year, worth say $60,000,000, nearly all paid to labor at one stage or another. The New York Central has dropped fifteen hundred men, the Homestead Steel Works two thousand. The facts in regard to unused material and discharged men in the iron and steel industry are serious in Philadelphia and Pittsburg. Chicago this year, built three miles less of frontage and put $13,601,835 less into building than last year. Colorado lost $6,000,000—again mostly labor—by the Cripple Creek strikes.

A strike of 2,000 tanners and curriers in the employ of the American Hide and Leather Company, is said to be imminent in Chicago. The men have recently been granted shorter hours and a better rate per hour, but they declare that conditions imposed make it impossible to earn as much per week as formerly.

The census bureau recently promulgated a report on wages of employees in manufacturing establishments in the United States. From the actual pay rolls of 720 manufacturing establishments employing in 1900 about 250,000 employees, 340 different occupations in thirty-four industries have been tabulated. In the cotton manufacturing industry between 1890 and 1900 wages of both men and women increased in the New England states, but showed little change in the South. There was an increase of wages for both men and women in the woolen industry in New England. In dyeing and finishing textiles there was an increase in the New England states and in the middle states. Wages in carpet and knitting mills show little change.

It is stated in Washington that should President Roosevelt be re-elected in 1904, John Mitchell will succeed Secretary Cortelyou as secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Representatives of the packing interests at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, have offered the striking sausage makers and canners an increase of about 6 per cent in wages that probably will be accepted, preventing a general strike.

Resumption of operations at plants along the Monongahela River, Pennsylvania, will give employment to more than five thousand additional men this week. Notices were posted at the Duquesne works of the Carnegie Company that work would this week be resumed in all departments, after a suspension of three weeks.

A general strike in the Northern Colorado coal fields was declared at Louisville, Col., last Saturday. In all about 1,275 men are idle or will be idle. This makes the shut-down practically complete and only a few of the small independent mines will continue open.

The convention will be in session at least ten days and 475 delegates, representing 17,000 votes, are in attendance. One of the principal questions considered by the convention will be whether the American Federation of Labor shall recommend that its affiliated members ally themselves with that political party which, in their judgment, will best promote the causes of labor. It is said that a resolution will be introduced impliedly pledging the Federation to the cause of Socialism.

President Gompers' address showed that the gain in membership of the affiliated internal unions and of the Federation of Labor during the last year had been 442,100. Mr. Gompers pointed out that the grave danger which confronted their movements was the internal strife due to conflicting claims of trade jurisdiction.

The Treasurer's report showed the income of the year was $547,800, the expenditures $196,915.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor opened in Faneuil Hall, Nov. 10th, at Boston. Nearly all the delegates were present, including Samuel Gompers and President Mitchell.

Fraternal delegates from Great Britain addressed the convention.

It is now evident that the strike of the coal miners in the First District of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company is no small affair. In fact, it is a strike out of all proportions, even to that hoped for by the officers of the United Mine Workers of America, and ten times what was looked for by the coal operators.

In the agriculture implement occupation, involving mainly the central states, increase of wages have occurred, with few exceptions. Wages in furniture factories declined in the middle states. Slight increases are reported in the lumber and planing mills in central and Pacific states.

Christmas once more is upon us, and we, in the exuberance of our spirits, wish every member of the order, and even those who have left the order, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER.

Organization of the workers has steadily increased during the past year. Go where you will throughout the length and breadth of the United States, there you will find an organizer of the A. F. of L., and through their indefatigable efforts can be traced the great increase of this Brotherhood as well as all others, as they pave the way for an organization of this Brotherhood by organizing those of other crafts. The sentiment becomes fixed in a community that, an injury to one, is the concern of all, and to be equal, every man and woman must be a member of a Labor organization, to hold their own in the race for life, as the lines of monopoly are drawn so tight that an individual would not have any consideration whatever looking for better conditions.

When the wage earners realize that it is through their own individual efforts that they may look for reforms, when they become conversant with the means that is within organizations, the ranks will rapidly increase, and by the united efforts of those who are organized, will forward the movement and give an impetus to those who are not organized, because of the effects seen as the result of the conservative leaders of the labor movement.

We are fast approaching the age where the greatest gigantic forces ever conceived of will be arrayed against each other, as we note with some concern, how solid the Trusts are built and how far-reaching in their endeavors to control not only the commodities of the country but also the services of all that are in it. While the leaders of industry that compose the several Trusts of this country may not be directly affiliated with the Manufacturers' Associations, there is no doubt in the minds of the thinking men and women of this country but what their ideas are merged into the laws governing the Manufacturers' Association, and by the officers of the same are crystalized in to actions. The fight long predicted is coming to a head, and it behooves every wage earner in the land to align himself with the organization of his craft, so as to be able to meet the Employers' Association on their own vantage ground. Individuals are like chaff, they are brushed away and not given any consideration in regard to any conditions that they might desire, but it is written even by the subsidized press that the organization that is built up on solid lines, that pays the highest dues, and the greatest proportion of the craft organized receives this same consideration from the employers that is refused to an individual or a weak organization. This fact needs no defense as it is plainly stated in the Daily Press day after day; it only remains now for the unorganized to use their gifts and crystallize their thoughts by becoming attached to some organization that will fit their mode of living and be in the fray with all the powers and prestige of organized labor behind them. It must be remembered also that the signs of the times to-day are, that the trade of this country shows a slight depression. Let the thinking man and woman consider, and use the facts that are presented to them, and the signs of the times as they read them from day to day, it being well evident to those of the several industries of this country among the toilers anyway, that there is no appearance of slack in their respective work shops, but that all are as busy as they were at this time last year; hence, the point is raised: What power is it that is causing this noticeable depression in the trade at this time? We reason it out that the monopolists of this country, in their mad endeavor to curtail the power of organized labor, to curtail the need of the services of the members that compose the great body of labor unions in this country, desire first, to reduce the quantity of work so that they will have easier work in reducing the wages and lengthening the hours. The greatest good for the greatest number would appeal at this time to the organized and unorganized working men of this country, that it is to their mutual advantage, also to the advantage of society at large that every man, woman and child who is compelled to earn bread for daily wage should be connected with the labor movement and present a solid front to the methods adopted by those who would destroy the usefulness of the trade union movement. There is no question but that the unorganized will strengthen themselves and the movement throughout the country; it only remains for them to exercise their own rights, in order that they may, in company with their fellows, enjoy the blessings of a united front and a peaceable consideration to all of their just demands. Without a solid front and the majority organized, it will be a hard matter for the unions that have small membership to tide the crisis that appears to be on, so it is up to those who are not organized to do their own thinking and join the forces that stand for the trade union movement and for the uplifting of humanity as it will prove now and always, that the greatest good to the greatest number will be the result.

In approaching this trouble that has its headquarters in Baltimore, Md., it does not take a philosopher to understand the principle that is involved, a principle that we feel certain no union man endorses; a principle that cannot stand on its own bottom; a principle that cannot live in the atmosphere of true men or women anywhere in the world. It is the principle of kicking, complaining for $2.00 worth; complaints are made and we believe that it is the only way for manly men to act, when they find themselves in a position where they have not received justice. Complaints have been made since the world began and will be made as long as intelligent men are in it. Naturally everyone that does not have their own way has a complaint to make. Intelligent men, when they find an injustice has been committed against them, no matter how remote, they seek a remedy, but intelligent men who endeavor to lead others into a dissatisfied state while at the same time having the remedy in their own hands, cannot be classed as intelligent beings, and why? A purely manly man, when he finds something going wrong, he does not attribute that wrong to any person or persons on the impulse of the moment, but he studies up the case under which he is laboring and endeavors to find a remedy within his own grasp; and right now it is advisable to point out that in no organization, National or International union in the labor ranks, does the opportunity appear to be within the grasp of every member that feels himself slighted than what we find in the laws of this Brotherhood. Our laws, in our humble opinion, are at fault. We have never endeavored to deny this fact, but we have pointed it out time and time again, that our laws are the fault of the controversy right now in Baltimore, and because of our friends in Baltimore not taking advantage of those laws and making them conform to their own ideas, or at least trying to, in the usual constitutional method, the leader of the trouble in Baltimore prefers to throw odium on the officers and lays all the blame on those worthies; something we would not be willing to admit previous to this trouble, that the leader would ever think of doing such a thing, and from his own endeavors to pose as a leader, it would appear to the casual thinker that he preaches one thing and practices another, because of the inconsistencies shown in all of his actions during this controversy. To make this sentiment more plain, we will say that he charges wrong doing on the Grand Lodge officers, and a remark that came to the Editor in a letter might illustrate the point better than any words we could use. The quotation is as follows: "A man dissatisfied and starting to disrupt and disorganize is a thousand times worse than the worst scab in the country." This sentiment is literally true because there is no crime in the trade union calendar greater than disrupting, while it is true that the leader in Baltimore denies the fact that he is disrupting or intended to disrupt, there are no facts can bear that out, but positively on the other hand proves that he is doing so; he violates his obligation without getting that release that all honorable men should seek for. He violates the constitution as the constitution is within his own keeping and gives him the privilege of righting the wrong of which he complains, if he desired to take the advantage of it.

It is very peculiar to see the endeavor of this leader, trying to force his own imaginations on the minds of thinking people. He declares time and again all offenses committed, and you will note the first chief offense is, in that the G. S. T. did more work than he was entitled to do. Most people generally have praise for such a condition, and yet if he would look at the laws, he would see that that was the fault of the law, as the laws being so ambiguous it is hard to say what is the work of one or the work of the other, but in order to keep the business of the Brotherhood going somebody has to do it when the other one is not in a position to do so. If this is an offense, we are guilty, but the cure for all of this trouble is simply this: As it has appeared in print time and time again from our pen, to make the laws read, must, and must not. You never knew and never will know, anyone that will endeavor to live up to such laws, more so, than we will, as we believe the best way to break a bad law is to force it. It is an open secret, that our leader in Baltimore in one of his letters that he published himself, states that if the assessment levied had been for $1.00 there would be no trouble, or in other words, the lodges in Baltimore would pay it, yet the circular is full of maledictions and imaginations not against the $2.00, but against the efforts of one who was trying to push the work of the order along, hence, it is that $2.00 that is the sole topic, principle and thought of the famous thirteen paged circular. No question about that in the minds of the union men.

It perhaps might be consistent just now to say that we have several lodges on file in headquarters where the members are complaining because it was not made $5.00 instead of $2.00. This is the sentiment of a union man and must be commended as the right spirit in all emergencies. The crime has been committed and the sooner it is recognized as a crime by all of our members, and such things stamped out, it will be best for the movement. No animosity, no feeling whatever in the matter, but that the greatest good will be done for the greatest number.

We think that Brother Shaney would have been doing his whole duty as a councilman to have preached harmony instead of lending his aid to any move looking to disruption or disorganization. His actions certainly cannot be classed as even prudent.

Lodges are respectfully requested to take notice of all documents that are sent them from headquarters, and as time is given for debate, then vote. All should attend to the matter and see that their votes on all documents are in the grand lodge office on or before the date set.

Believing that there is a misunderstanding some place, and desiring only that no injustice shall be done to anyone in order to remove a good deal of the misapprehensions in the mind of a great many in regard to the heavy expenses of Brother Kane, we will say that if it is taken into consideration that the first three months the brother was on the road he was authorized by the Executive Council to travel and report inside of 30 days the conditions as he found them on the Southern Pacific. He accomplished the task and inside of three months, of which exceptions have been taken particularly, he traveled in or about 18,000 miles. This fact I do not think is known to a great many of the brothers who are taking exceptions to Brother Kane's expenses, and therefore, in order that they will be better informed it is hereby given with as near a figure as is possible to make it, and remember that some of these miles can be counted at 4c a mile, and it would be wise to compute this figure and then find out the product of total expenses for the three months outside of the salary.

By way of instruction on the growth of this Order and the influence it throws around all of our craftsmen, the following will be interesting to those thinkers who are always figuring and deciding for themselves on facts as they present themselves.

In 1896 our voting power in the A. F. of L. was 25; in 1897 it was 18, in 1898 it was 22, in 1899 it was 27, in 1900 it was 51, in 1901 it was 73, in 1902 it was 95, in 1903 it was 178, and this year we had on the floor of the convention a representation, such that our undomesticated thoughts never permitted us to dream of. We have our worthy G. P. O., John McNeil, Brother Ed Fox, G. V. P. and Brother Thos. Flynn, of Lodge No. 154, and through the dispensation of an all-wise providence compelling Brother Wm. J. Gilthorpe, G. S. T., to be excused by our Council on account of sickness and death in his family, Brother David Malloy of District Lodge No. 2, was added to the representation of this Brotherhood, and no fact, which has happened in a long time in this Order in our humble judgment, holds the same influences over those harmonious relations that should exist at all times between brothers of this craft, than having Brother David Malloy a representative. It pleases us very much to announce this fact as we are firmly impressed with the idea that with a little more forbearance and a little more effort to co-operate, will result in a representative from District No. 2, attending every convention. It is an important feature and we look to it as the forerunner of that co-operation which should always exist, and which we hope, never to see it depart or weakened in any of its links.

Since October 1st, 1902, up to October 1, 1903, we issued 171 charters; reissued 22; there were 21 surrendered and a gain in a membership of 8,855. Number of strikes, 78;

60 won, 3 lost, 15 compromised; number of members involved, 9,872; benefited by those strikes, 15,670; number of members worsted, 380. In 103 cities we have made a gain from 10 to 20 per cent; reduced the hours by one hour per day in 23 cities and by two hours per day in 12 cities, beside the great gains in regard to regulating apprentices, good shop rules and regulations, and concessions granted without strikes, and in many cases without demands from 10 to 20 per cent in 8 cities, and one hour less per day. Our strikes as a total cost us, $67,405.53; the donations to other organizations, $850. This is a showing that the indifferent man will take notice of, but the thinking man will endeavor to help, in order that the future showings of this Brotherhood will be equally as large.

"Capital is the fruit of labor, and could not exist if labor had not first existed. Labor, therefore, deserves much the higher consideration."—Abraham Lincoln.

"I rejoice at every effort working men make to organize—I hail the labor movement, it is my only hope for democracy—organize and stand together. Let the nation hear a united demand from the laboring voice."—Wendell Phillips.

"Trade unions are the bulwarks of modern democracy."—W. E. Gladstone.

Believing that it will be a benefit to all our members and a great insight into the workings of the Order and an education to the old as well as the new members, we have come to the conclusion of publishing the report of the Auditing Committee verbatim and complete. One thing, it will do: It will prove up the growth of the Order and the hard work that has accomplished it, and at this time, no one can tell the number yet to be enrolled.

This is the complete report of the Auditing Committee from beginning to end, which has been in controversy lately, and a result of the agitation made by the G. S. T. in his appeal for this committee to meet and audit his books and relieve him of the responsibility which necessarily follows when his accounts are not audited regularly and promptly. Through his exertions this Committee was ordered to Kansas City, and to-day he is also appealing for a committee to audit his books; while circumstances some times prevent it, yet we are of the opinion that right now, would be the best time for such work to be done, and we would like to have the lodges once in a while take this matter up, and help along the cause by injecting the best business methods that are attainable.

REPORT OF THE AUDITING COMMITTEE

Kansas City, Kas., Nov. 13. 1899.

To the Officers and Members of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship

Builders:

Greeting: We, your auditing committee beg leave to offer the following report of our labors at Kansas City in auditing accounts of Grand Lodge.

Committee met November 13, 1899, at 9 a. m. in offices of Grand Lodge at Kansas City. Organized by electing James Roache, of No. 27, Chairman; M. C. Byrne, of No. 32, Secretary; the other member being Alfred T. Gow, of No. 1, and proceeded to business.

We thoroughly examined the books of Grand Secretary-Treasurer, commencing June 1, 1896, up to and including Nov. 18, 1899; went over every bill of expense and every receipt for that period and can heartily congratulate the Order on having a most efficient Secretary. In his accounts extending over a period of three and one-half years we found but six errors, two in his favor for a total of $1.07 and four against him for a total of $13.48, the items being as follows:

|---------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Dec. 7, 1896, overcharge postage.....                         | $ 1.00 |
| Sept. 24, 1898, ovecharges, Frank Morrison, Japan Letter..... | .07     |

We found the following bills paid but not charged:

|                                                                      |       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Sept. 26, 1898, Postage Stamps....                                   | 10.00 |
| Dec. 30, 1898, Laura Walsh, cleaning office.....                     | 2.00  |
| Oct. 23, 1899, Pacific Express Co., charges on outfit to Lodge 217.. | .73   |
| Oct. 23, 1899, Pacific Express Co., charges on outfit to Lodge 217.. | .75   |

With these items corrected on books we find the following results:

|                                                       |             |

It is our belief from investigation that a great number of Lodges are not paying their full amount of per capita tax which is working a hardship on those Lodges which are honest in dealing with the Brotherhood. If all Lodges would pay their full tax we could avoid strike assessments and be prepared to assist brothers on strike and this committee believes that some remedy should be offered. We have investigated the methods in use by other unions and find the stamp system as used by the Cigar Makers, Machinists, Moulders, Printers and others to be the best for our purpose. The stamps are issued by the Grand Lodge and are sold to the Locals at 20 cents. Each stamp represents one months per capita on one member and each member must have a stamp placed in Due Book by Financial Secretary as a receipt for one month's dues. Another point on strikes. We find that a great number of Lodges are hasty in their strikes and deprive themselves of the assistance that is so very essential to a successful strike. If they would only look up the law in their constitutions and have some patience there would be fewer strikes lost and less hardships endured by members on strike and we would urge upon the members to be careful and under no circumstances strike until their grievances have been laid before the Executive Council. There are no conditions so bad that they cannot be endured for a few days longer when by waiting those few days the means can be procured to carry a strike to a successful conclusion.

We will cite a few cases where the law was strictly complied with:

July 3, 1896, Lodge 162, West Bay City, obtained permission to strike and received $4,639.25 in benefits.

June 4, 1896, Lodge No. 5, Cleveland, had permission to strike and received $444.00 in benefits.

February 27, 1897, Lodge No. 7, Buffalo, had permission to strike and received $427.00 in benefits.

April 9, 1899, Lodge No. 157, Erie, Pa., had permission to strike and received $1,107.4 in benefits.

July 17, 1899, Lodge No. 1, received the sanction of the Executive Council to strike for eight hours and have received up to this date $3,387.00 in benefits.

There are a number of other cases where they received small amounts.

There being a vacancy in the office of Grand Organizer, we recommend to the Executive Council that Article No. 4 of the constitution be enforced.

Committee would recommend that the Stenographer be made Assistant Secretary at a monthly salary to be set by the Executive Council.

We would also recommend that in no case should the Grand President and Grand Secretary be called away from headquarters at one time. If it becomes necessary to send an officer to some point of trouble when one of said officers be out of the city, the member of the Executive Committee nearest trouble be sent.

Committee would recommend that the report of Local Lodges to Grand Secretary be made monthly by Financial Secretary instead of Corresponding Secretary and that he be compelled to make a report monthly on every member on his books.

We find the number of member in good standing at the close of 1898 was 2373, the number at the present time is 3,579, a gain in one year of 1,206 members or an increase of over 50 per cent in one year.

There is now 8,073 names registered on roll book so it must be evident that some Lodges are not reporting on the full number of members in good standing as it is hardly possible that over one-half of the members are not in good standing.

If all the Lodges will make a strong effort to get all members in good standing by the first of the new year we can certainly increase to over 5,000, and the revenue would be enough to support all our strikers without assessing our members.

The regular revenue last year was $7,436.35; the regular expenses for same period was $5,887.98, leaving a surplus of $1,548.37. An increase to 5,000 members would increase the surplus to $5,000.00, which would allow placing an Organizer in the field in addition to our Grand Organizer and it is reasonable to believe that within two years we could have an organization second to none.

We hope that each Financial Secretary will take it upon himself to bring about such desirable results.

Believing that this Brotherhood is on the eve of a new era in its history and that the next year will be one of rapid growth and that the time has nearly arrived for a united effort to reduce the hours of labor, we believe it is most essential that a Convention be held as early in the new year as possible to allow the Boiler Makers of the country to come together and discuss the conditions of the trade and decide on some means of making those conditions better. We would recommend that the convention be held in April and in central location so that all may have an equal chance to be represented from San Francisco to New York and from Canada to the Gulf.

Committee believing their investigation has been thorough can safely say that the interests and property of the Brotherhood are safely guarded.

Hoping each member of the Order will commence with renewed energy to build up the Brotherhood and not relax their efforts until every man working at the trade is enrolled in the membership of the Brotherhood, we beg leave to submit this, our report.

November 23, 1899.

The whereabouts of Arthur McGovern is earnestly desired as a post-office money order received Dec. 7 from Crookston, Minn., for $7.00 awaits the brother at Grand Lodge headquarters, dated Jan. 17, 1903, and was sent for account of Lodge 66, Little Rock, Ark. Anyone knowing his whereabouts will kindly correspond with G. S.-T. as the money came to hand to-day. It has been misplaced or lost since the above date. The party sending it to-day signs M. S.

President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, has recommended that the building trades unions of New York City accept the arbitration agreement proposed by the Employers' Association.

SECRETARIES TAKE NOTICE:—This column must be read to the Lodge at the first meeting after each issue of THE JOURNAL by the Corresponding Secretary.

To Officers and Members, Greeting:

As chairman of the delegation representing the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America at the Twenty-third Annual Convention of the American Federation of Labor, I desire to make a report, believing that members throughout the country are desirous of knowing our position and the stand the delegation has taken on the various questions that came up before that convention, as we have quite a lot of contentions with various other crafts, especially in the building trades, who are claiming jurisdiction over part of our work, and knowing that if there were any possibility of drawing a demarcation line that would govern all trades, that the convention of the A. F. of L. was the proper place to bring such forth.

Your delegation was ever watchful of all the resolutions that came up from the various delegates to see that no resolutions would be endorsed that would commit an injustice on this Brotherhood.

I may say that the convention was in every way a success, and a credit to the officers and delegates of the A. F. of L. Although quite a large number of the delegates differed in opinions on very important matters, yet the good feeling that seemed to exist amongst all the delegates was something to be admired.

Your delegation presented four resolutions. One on a boycott; one on a demarcation line between the Boiler Makers and Structural Iron Workers; one upon the Boiler Makers' Helpers, now holding their affiliation with the A. F. of L. and one against the organization known as the United Metal Workers' International Union. This organization is encroaching on our rights especially on the tank work, and has no regard as to the principle of true unionism. The following is the resolution bearing upon the United Metal Workers:

Resolution No. 224.—By Delegate John McNeil, Ed. for Thos. Flynn and David Malloy, of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders:

WHEREAS, The United Metal Workers' International Union have been encroaching and endeavoring to further encroach upon the work of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America with impunity and disregard for the principles of trade unionism and the doctrines of organized labor; and

WHEREAS, The members of said organization are taking the places of the members of the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders with longer hours of toil and less wages; and

WHEREAS, Said United Metal Workers' International Union are doing the work not granted to them in their charter, they are now doing work in the city of Chicago, State of Illinois, such as building and erecting breechings, smoke consumers, brewery vats, coal hoppers, ash pans, and tanks of every description, leaving our craft virtually nothing; that they are not in direct competition with us; and

WHEREAS, Said United Metal Workers' International Union are now working at the following shops: Goetz & Flodin Copper & Iron Works, 109 Chicago avenue; Herman Steer Mfg. Co., 552-560 N. Halstead street; Link Belt Machinery Co., 39th street and Stewart avenue; and

WHEREAS, Members of United Metal Workers' International Union are now erecting coal hoppers on a job at Canal and 14th streets, ash pans at Kingsbury and Michigan streets, tanks at Citizens' Brewery, Archer avenue and Main street, the iron used on all such work running as high as five-eighths of an inch thick; and

WHEREAS, These men received at the rate of 25 cents per hour, 9 hours a day, and boiler makers receive on same work 40 cents per hour and 8 hours a day, the ratio applying on work in shops; and

WHEREAS, The Metal Bosses' Association of the city of Chicago have always showed a tendency to employ the cheapest labor; be it

RESOLVED, By the twenty-third Convention of the American Federation of Labor assembled that it revoke the charter of the United Metal Workers' International Union, they showing by their action that they are working to the detriment of the principles of organized labor.

Several other organizations had protests against the same craft, and the Grievance Committee recommended that the whole matter be placed in the hands of the Executive Board of the A. F. of L., and they to call a meeting to draw up a demarcation line to govern all trades who have made a protest against the United Metal Workers. The resolution bearing upon the Helpers who now hold membership in the A. F. of L. has also been placed in the hands of the Executive Board of the A. F. of L. with the recommendation that they act on the same immediately. The following is the resolution:

Resolution No. 222.—By Delegate John McNeil, Ed. for Thos. Flynn and David A. Malloy, of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders:

WHEREAS, We, the Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders, request that all lodges of boiler makers and iron ship builders' helpers now under the jurisdiction of the American Federation of Labor be turned over to the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders. By those helpers holding their charters from the American Federation of Labor we, the boiler makers, have not the control over them in time of trouble with our employers necessary to make a success of our movement. We also contend that owing to the apprentice system in our trade being opposed by our employers, the helpers are practical men under instruction who are helpers to-day and will be boiler makers to-morrow. Consequently we claim they are part of our family and should be under the jurisdiction of our organization; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That all boiler makers and iron ship builders' helpers now holding their charters from the American Federation of Labor be turned over to the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders; and be it further

RESOLVED, That all charters issued in the future to boiler makers and iron ship builders' helpers must be secured from the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America.

I think our members will see the advisability of having those Helpers under our jurisdiction as in several cases we have been compelled to call our members out in shops where the Helpers were organized under the A. F. of L. and before some of these Helpers would come out to assist us in the matter we were compelled to grant them assistance. Therefore, believing that if we are compelled to assist men to better their own conditions, they should assist us in accumulating a fund for that purpose, hence the resolution.

The third resolution is bearing upon the Structural Iron Workers. In the month of January, 1903, an agreement was arrived at between the Structural Iron Workers and a committee from this Brotherhood, but we are sorry to say, in a great many cases, the Structural Iron Workers never made any pretence at living up to the agreement, and as they were not then affiliated with the A. F. of L. we could not bring any influence to bear upon them in order to have them live up to the agreement, but now, as they are affiliated with the A. F. of L., we are satisfied that any agreement made between them and the boiler makers in the future will be lived up to. In order to have a meeting as soon as possible between the Structural

Iron Workers and our organization, the following resolution was introduced:

Resolution No. 221.—By Delegate John McNeil, Ed. Fosland and David Malloy of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders:

WHEREAS, We, the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America desire to call attention of the delegates to the fact that the bridge and structural workers who are now affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have secured their charter without notifying our organization of same, contrary to Article 9, Section 11, of the Constitution, that "No charter shall be granted by the American Federation of Labor to any national, international, trade or federal labor union without a positive and clear definition of the trade jurisdiction claimed by the applicant, and the charter shall not be granted if the jurisdiction claimed is a trespass on the jurisdiction of existing affiliated unions, without the written consent of such unions." And believing the above section has not been lived up to, and knowing the advisability of a thorough understanding necessary between our craft and structural workers, we desire to have the Convention call a meeting of a committee from the Boiler Makers and Structural Workers to be held in order to draw up a demarcation line for both trades; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the delegates assembled authorize a meeting to be held in the city of Chicago as above described, no later than December 1, 1903, and that a representative from the American Federation of Labor be present at the meeting

The understanding is that a meeting is to be held as soon as possible in the city of Chicago between the Structural Iron Workers and our craft, and we are now just waiting the advices from the officials of the Structural Iron Workers to call in a committee to represent this Brotherhood at such meeting. Our intentions are to call a representative from each large city where we have any trouble with the Structural Workers.

The fourth resolution introduced by your delegates was on the boycott we wish placed on the Erie Boiler Works Erie, Pa., who have done everything in their power to break up our lodge No. 151 by discriminating against our members and discharging the men as soon as they were aware that they became members of our organization. We called the attention of the Executive Board of the A. F. of L. to the matter some time ago, and they authorized Brother Thos. H. Flynn to investigate the matter, which he did, and has recommended the boycott. The following is a resolution bearing on that, and which has been referred to the A. F. of L. by the boycott committee, with the recommendation that they place the boycott on that firm at once:

Resolution No. 101.—By Delegates John McNeil, Edward Fox and David A. Malloy of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders:

WHEREAS, We, the Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders of America, respectfully requested that the Erie City Iron Works of Erie, Pa., be placed upon the unfair list of the American Federation of Labor for discriminating against the members of our organization by discharging them when found they were members of our organization. Upon investigation, authorized by the Executive Board of the American Federation of Labor the above conditions were found to exist and reported by R. H. Flynn, organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and said report is now in the hands of the Executive Council; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the above request be complied with.

The drillers and tappers presented a resolution requesting the convention to compel the Brotherhood of Boilermakers from discriminating against the members of the Drillers' and Tappers' Union. A resolution was also presented by the Central Body of New York requesting the A. F. of L. to place the Drillers' and Tappers under the jurisdiction of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders. The convention decided to place them under our jurisdiction, consequently after the first of the year 1904 the Drillers and Tappers must hold their membership in this Brotherhood.

Owing to so much misunderstanding between ourselves and the other crafts we thought it advisable to be as strongly represented at that convention as possible, consequently the council advised that we should have three delegates, Bros. Gilthorpe, Fox and Flynn, but owing to sickness and death in his family, Bro. Gilthorpe was unable to attend. Bro. Malloy of Lodge No. 36 came to Boston in order to supply the delegation with information regarding the trouble in New York, and believing it advisable to have the district represented, I immediately applied to the secretary of the A. F. of L. and had Bro. Malloy seated as a delegate, as we were entitled to four, which I hope will meet with your approval.

When in Boston I visited Lodge 9 and Lodge 250. At both meetings we had a good heart-to-heart talk. Everything was laid bare, and I am satisfied every member present was pleased to be at the meeting. While we may not have agreed on all matters, yet we were satisfied to agree to differ. The members in Boston were all worked up through communications and circulars mailed to their corresponding secretary, who has the entire confidence of the members of Lodge 9. Lodge 250 is composed mostly of railroad boilermakers. Bro. Mitchell, president, is the moving spirit of that lodge, and the members are satisfied to be governed by his decisions.

Bro. Chaisson, president of No. 9, and Bro. Mitchell, president of No. 250, called my attention to the fact that the blacksmiths on the Boston & Albany R. R. had been on strike for some time with very poor prospects of securing any compromise, and requested me to take the matter up. Complying with their request I called on the superintendent of motive power and arranged for a meeting with the railroad officials, the national officers of the blacksmiths and a committee of blacksmiths and boilermakers, including Bro. Fox, and your G. P. O. The principal obstacle in the way of a settlement was the removal of the scabs who took the places of the blacksmiths. When the company realized the fact that the boilermakers would not stand and see any blacksmith victimized for the part he had taken in the strike, arrangements were made whereby all blacksmiths who went out on strike be returned to their respective positions, and no onus cast on any man for the part he had taken in the strike. So much for the boilermakers in Boston, also the other members working on the B. & A. R. R. in Springfield, Mass., and Albany, N. Y.

In my opinion nothing could demonstrate more fully the advisability of having a more close affiliation between the various crafts working in locomotive shops than the little incident in Boston. A committee of two, Bro. Mogan and Bro. Kirby of No. 172, called on me in Boston and we arranged to call an open meeting in Providence, R. I., for blacksmiths, machinists and boilermakers in order to organize the blacksmiths and try and create some enthusiasm among the machinists. Every boilermaker in Providence is a member of No. 172. The company has reduced the wages of the machinists and blacksmiths, because they are not in a position to resist, and we know that if the company can reduce those other crafts because of their not being organized, they would also try to reduce the wages of the boilermakers. At the open meeting very few machinists or blacksmiths were present, but the members of 172 were out in full force, and I am satisfied had the other crafts known what our members had prepared for them; there would have been a large attendance. Lodge No. 172 is one of the best lodges in the New England states. Bro. Mogan has an eye on every boilermaker employed in Providence. No excuse goes. No card, no work. The boys in Providence were perfectly satisfied with the explanation given them about the misunderstanding between the lodges in Baltimore and the Grand Lodge.

Also visited No. 218, Springfield, Mass., where I met the war horse of Albany, N. Y., Bro. Dennis Crowley. The members working on the B. & A. are contemplating the advisability of presenting an agreement to their employers for an increase in wages and the regulation of apprentices, consequently a committee from Boston, Bros. Mitchell and Chaisson, Bro. D. Crowley from Albany, N. Y., and a committee from No. 218 met in Springfield to consider the matter. No hasty action will be taken and every opportunity will be given the company to arrange between themselves and our men. Everything is satisfactory with the boys in Springfield. As I desired to be home for Thanksgiving it was necessary for me to leave Boston on the 20th, as I had made arrangements to meet the advisory board of Philadelphia on 21 and District Lodge No. 2 on the 22nd. On the night of the 20th Lodge 9, Boston, gave a banquet in honor of the delegates representing our Brotherhood at the convention of the A. F. of L. The spread was admirable and everybody present enjoyed themselves. On Saturday the 21st I arrived in Philadelphia and called on Bro. Boyle, B. A. of Philadelphia. The improvement in the condition of our members in the Quaker City is astonishing and it was all brought around through the hard work of the advisory board and their B. A. Brother Boyle.

Saturday night I met the board and explained matters to them and received in return their hearty support to the grand lodge. On Sunday, the 22nd, I attended the meeting of District Lodge No. 2. As usual the meeting was very interesting and instructive. After a little explanation from me and a few questions being answered everyone present seemed satisfied. Conditions around the port of New York is anything but encouraging and I would advise all boilermakers and iron shipbuilders to keep away from District No. 2 as there are at present a large number of members walking the streets. There also is trouble in New York with the structural workers claiming our work on gasometers and other work in building. While we are desirous of getting along in harmony with the structural workers, we will not surrender any of our rights to satisfy any craft, therefore, I hope our members will not allow any of our work to pass into the hands of any other craft.

BALDIE LODGE NO. 372.

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 4.—We want to warn our brothers throughout the country against one Charles Berthold who left here in October. He is a coppersmith by trade, and while here took a contract to do boiler work, but could not carry it through, and when he quit here he went to Raton, N. M., and made a statement to the master mechanic there, trying to get the division foreman and the round house foreman here at Las Vegas, discharged, and he gave us all a very bad name here, and acted the role of spotter to a finish. So brothers, look out for him.

LODGE 21.

New York City, Oct. 19, 1903.—I wish to say a few words in regard to the work done on the Standard Oil boats. Now, in looking over the September Journal, I saw my name mentioned with other brothers as having finished a job on one of the oil company's boats. Now, we did nothing of the kind. I was working in Shooters' Island in July and was sent over to Bayonne Constable Hook, as they call it, to roll flues in a boiler. I did not know where the boiler was. The foreman told me I would see the rest of the men on the ferry boat at 6 in the morning. I took the rollers home with me that night, but was late in the morning and I went across the river myself, and the first man I met was one of the pickets, a boiler maker of 33, and I told him I was sent to roll flues on a job over here some place. He said it was on the boats, and he told me that there were men on them and he did not think it right. I told him I did not think it right either, and I picked up my bundle of tools and was starting home when along came Brother Diamond, and I told him I was going home. He said if we went to the shop we would be fired and then get the horse laugh, so he thought it better for the picket to go up and send for McKay, and I told him to hurry up as I did not want to get dirty, and we went down to the boat. The rest of the men there had come on a tug. The boat we were on her boilers wanted flues rolled and a four and aft brace was broke. This was on Friday. The labor was to scrape the flues, and all we did was to take the brace out and send it to the shop to be welded, and McKay came and knocked us off, and that was what we were waiting for. The brace was not put back, and the boiler was in no way that a man could call it a finish. There was not one flue rolled, as the set I had never was down in the hole. Now, Brother Coffey says we finished the job.

I am not much of a writer, but I can't stand and see my name mixed up with that kind of work. I thought I would explain the matter the best way I could. Now, I am fifteen years or more a union man and worked up and down this coast, often feeling the pangs of poverty, and never had my name mixed in anything unfair nor would not for all the oil company's boats in the country, and Rockefeller thrown in.

But how nice Brother Coffey puts it, by request of 33, when Brother Diamond and myself sent for the delegate, and there was not one of the brothers on that job but what are as good union men as there are in the country, but just because they had the misfortune of being sent on that boat that their names should be branded for one mistake, if you call it one, is an injustice. I can assure you it was a mistake of the head and not the heart, as they all knocked off cheerfully. I will now say right here that Brother Coffey was very poorly informed or otherwise a poor overseer of boiler work when he says we finished the job. Brothers from his own lodge, 33, will tell him different, as they were the most numerous on it.

Well, I will now ring off, hoping to see this in print in the Journal, that is if you can make it out, and I will be very thankful to you. I remain,

Yours,
WILLIAM J. CUMMINGS.

LODGE 128.

Toronto, Nov. 7, 1903.—Yours of last week to hand, and am pleased to say that I received the books all O. K., and I must thank you for your kind words of encouragement to me. Now, sir, I have quite a bit of news to say this time.

First, I would like you to mail me full information in regards to forming a Helpers Division here, as they are in the A. F. of M., and I think it would be to our advantage to have them under our charter, so if you will kindly attend to this at once and let me know so that I can have it for next meeting night, which falls on November 13, I will be much obliged to you.

Now, sir, the next thing is in regards to our Labor Day parade which we held here, and I am pleased to say that the boiler makers and shipbuilders of Toronto won the silver trophy donated for the occasion by the Musical Association of Toronto, and on Wednesday evening, the 4th, we were presented with the cup. There was about 300 present in the hall. We had Alderman Woods in the chair, and present were representatives from the general Labor Day committee and representatives from the Musical Protective Association, which were the donors of the cup. It is a magnificent piece of work. The base comprises two base drums and then the loving cup surrounded by musical instruments, and it seems strange to me that we should be the winners, for we are drumming on boilers from day to day, and now we can look at the trophy and think we are musicians drumming on the drum. Well, sir, after the presentation we had a programme of songs, etc., and refreshments, for we have quite a lot of good talent here in our lodge, and everybody went home having spent a very enjoyable evening. We had Brother Jos. Cass' little boy, Joe, singing, and he is truly a marvel. He brought down the house and was encored several times. Then yesterday the Labor Day committee of our lodge went up and got a photo taken of the float and the cup, so I will mail you one for to put in the Journal.

I hope you will put this in the Journal for me and oblige.

Yours truly,
N. QUESNEL, Cor. Sec'y.

THE HISTORY OF M. M. HART, A MUCH MALIGNED BUT TRUSTWORTHY MAN.

The caption under which this article is written will doubtless seem unintelligible, but close scrutiny of the facts contained herein will serve to bear out the writer in his assertion.

This opportunity is here taken to present to the brothers at large facts that are not generally known, and of the condition under which slurs have been heaped upon the undeserving head of one who has by his untiring energy devoted years of his time to the interests of this organization, not locally, but nationally, in every sense that that broad word implies.

Brother M. M. Hart, who is again nominated for the position of Grand Vice-President submits his name, with the firm conviction that despite the local disposition to defeat him, his unblemished record will stand him in good stead.

Born in Pennsylvania, his early education was obtained at the public schools, and when, like many of yourselves, he was compelled to "go forth and by the sweat of his brow earn his bread" he was not gifted with an over abundant supply of knowledge, but the industry which still characterizes him was then asserting itself, and when the day's toil was over he would hie himself away to night school, where among other things he was taught the value of conservatism. Strange to say this quality, which is a dominant factor in his make-up, has been the means of making him many enemies in this hotbed of radicalism, for it is his failure to cater to the desires of the radicals of this district that has made him the butt of malicious and entirely unfounded accusations. A synopsis of his record is sufficient to corroborate the above assertion, although it by no means metes out full justice to Brother Hart.

In the year 1890, while a member of Lodge 36 (old International) he was elected as Corresponding Secretary, and was chosen each successive year in that capacity till 1893, when he took a much deserved rest. From 1900 until 1901 he acted as shop steward in the Erie Basin, and at the time of the strike in that yard made himself so conspicuous by his activity in keeping back "scabs" that he was entered as a marked man on the black list of that company. His only regret while acting picket was that he was not able to keep from "scabbing" some of the very brothers who are now most active in seeking his downfall, but which with the help of the fair-minded brothers of this organization he hopes will not be accomplished.

When at the termination of that ill-fated strike Brother Hart found himself a black-listed man this fact did not deter him from continuing his good work, but more zealously than ever did he push the cause of unionism, until to-day he stands unexcelled as a promoter of labor unionism. His zeal and ability were so pronounced that in 1893 he was honored by his election as a delegate to the convention of that year and proved his broad-mindedness by voting in favor of the consolidation of those two enemies, the National and International organizations.

When in 1894 the strike against the shop of John Roach took place, which after a five weeks' struggle was lost, it would have resulted in the utter annihilation of Lodge 36 had not Brother Hart, with seven other "true blue" brothers, among those still alive being John Watkinson, Alex Stewart, A. Duffy and D. Laughlin, who refused to be "downed," continued to maintain the lodge and did not display the spirit of "cold feet" that characterized the other members, who dropped out after refusing to pay dues.

In 1896 he became a member of Lodge 171, when he was again put in harness by being elected Secretary of the Sick and Funeral Fund, which office he held for five consecutive years. In the year 1900 he was elected President of 171, and his reign proved successful, as in 1902 he was also chosen as Treasurer, in which year he was also elected a delegate to the Baltimore convention, where his votes stand as a fitting tribute to his broad-mindedness. For two years he was a delegate from 171 to District 2, and if the minutes of the meetings of District 2 were to be compared with the weather conditions of those dates, it would show the many sacrifices made by Brother Hart in taking the long journey on many a cold and stormy night.

In 1900 he was honored by receiving a commission as Deputy Organizer, which aroused the ire and jealousy of several brothers in this district who sought the office for themselves, and who ever since Brother Hart's elevation to that office have done everything in their power to block his progress by protesting against his organization of lodges, casting slurs and unfounded insinuations against his character, and in numerous other petty larceny ways which betrayed their true character, tried to stifle the advance of this organization, but fortunately they were not successful, as the following record of Brother Hart shows: Organized lodge, 264, 307, 316, 327, 271, 313 and 358, and in the Helpers' Division he organized lodges 3, 5, 12, 23, 37 and 71.

To quote a now famous expression: "Words are good when backed by deeds and only so"—it is very appropriate in the case of Hart. His antagonists are full of words, but the deeds are lacking, and it is Hart's words and deeds that have caused him so many enemies. He preached the doctrine that no district should consider itself, figuratively speaking, "the whole thing," and his future deeds prove the sincerity of his words.

When, on the resignation of P. J. Brady, he was appointed temporarily to fill the vacancy, there was another unjustifiable howl by the office-seekers, who raising false issues, endeavored to have the lodges comprising District 2 secede from the Grand Lodge and form an organization of their own, where they could choose their own position, but in this they reckoned without their host, for at a meeting held to vote on the question the effort to have the district become traitors to the Grand Lodge was defeated by a ratio of 2 to 1.

In order, however, to appease the discontented element, Hart resigned the appointment, but was immediately nominated as a regular candidate for the position by Lodge 338, and now comes before you resting on his record to sustain him.

Your suffrages are asked in his behalf in order that they may be woven into a wreath that at the conclusion of the voting will be placed upon his victorious brow, as the stamp of approval of deeds well done. He has grown old and gray in your service, and will you furnish a chapter of the story, "Man's Inhumanity to Man," or will you, like true brothers, approve of the record unsurpassed of M. M. Hart, the "Noblest Roman" of them all. Fraternally,

P. J. BRADY, Ex-G. V. P.

FROM D. KANE.

Port Orchard, Wash., Nov. 24, 1903.—I would certainly like to have this Brother C. Van Druver, who attacks me in November's Journal, explain some of the great sand-bagging feats that I performed in Cleveland. Did I have one with me last April when I visited his lodge? Perhaps the brother thought I had, as I do not remember getting introduced to anything so formidable as he appears at this distance. I have every reason to feel gratified in having so noble an enemy (I understand that "Van" stands for some type of nobility in Holland), but it would be interesting to me as well as to others if those feats were specified. I can see by the brother's letter that he means his remarks to be complimentary, but he fails to make his point clear. Now, with all the opportunities that he certainly must have, owing to his exalted standing, would it not be policy for him to signify some special point wherein I excelled in this remarkable and exhilarating sport. I am sure I would await the attack with pleasure. I certainly would be pleased to meet my Waterloo at the hand of so noble a specimen of the noble Van's. It might be policy for him to explain or rather put it plainer what point I can answer that would enlighten him and the brotherhood. Do not be afraid of the feelings or of the union, that will stand without you or I. Anyone can see that your whole interest is in its welfare.

I will answer your insinuation about the mills by defying you or any man on earth to say truthfully that I ever done anything in' any place I worked that was not white and manly. What is more I defy you to find the record of any of my family that were not white men and always upholding labor in its struggles. I do not know you, but I take you to be an innocent slob who wants to see your name in print and has not brains enough to write something edifying. You ask me to tell how I served my time where there was no yard. I refer you to your ex-president, Wm. Caldwell, for information on that score, whom I understand is around Cleveland. Someone is playing you for a sucker, that's sure, but the next time you attack take something of your own calibre.

DOMINICK KANE.

WHO IS THE WINNER.

The scabs or a good workingman that is on a strike and thereby holding up our country and our flag of liberty and good pay? Then comes a man that takes his place, and we all call him a scab, for he is no good or he would not scab and cut pay, for if a striker was to ask a scab what made him scab the scab could only answer "I was only cutting pay," then the striker would say to him, "You have cut your own pay in our next strike, for if we get 40c per hour now you will only make 27½c in our next strike, for you scab the world over and over and we as workingmen can go out in the sweet sunshine without a guard, but a scab must be guarded from the time he signs up a contract with a company, even in the hour he eats, the night he sleeps, and he never has a kind word at his work and not even the sunshine feels good to the scab, for when the strike is over the scab has no job or friends, not even the company that he worked for has any use for him. He may be called a boilermaker, or a machinist, or a blacksmith, but he is not even a helper to any of those trades, for our helpers are good men and will not try to steal a trade to get the name of a scab, for they are of the best of men and meeting is a pleasure and parting is a pain, and may God protect you and I until we meet again, for not even God wants to let the sun shine on a scab, for if they scab on earth they would be sure to scab in heaven, so you see, scabs, that it won't do you any good to cut an old head out in heaven, for God will cut you out. You may have been a good boy in your day, but you are no man to-day, for you are called a scab, and you will always be one. Then comes our good workingmen with their cards. We take them in and feed them and treat them nice and help them out of town. Then comes along a scab. We don't let him in or help him out, but the only way he gets out is to pay or walk out. For a good man that has a trade and don't want to scab, he will find us his friend."

In our daily life it is a pleasure to us to meet our brother in the shop or out on the streets, for we know we have done our duty unto all mankind, for the workingman is the winner at the end of the day.

LODGE 198.

Ogden, Utah, Nov. 23, 1903.—No. 198 gave their first annual ball November 5 in Dignan's hall. All the boiler makers and their wives were there except those that took other men's wives, and those who had no wives, and those who stayed at home. Our helpers were there in the same proportion.

A committee consisting of Messrs. and Mesdames Fornoff and Sullivan distributed the favors, carnations and chrysanthemums to the ladies and roses for gentlemen. The punch bowl did not last long, so we did not have to call a hack or policeman.

The grand march, led by our president, Brother J. J. Jones, and wife, assisted by Messrs. and Mesdames Payne and Webb, was a first class job. Two hundred of our guests helped them to do it.

Everybody was unanimous in saying if it was not the best ball given in Ogden this year, it was as good as the best. We think it was a social, and we know it was a financial success. It will sure guarantee a delegate to next convention.

Yours fraternally,
DAVID A. STARK, Cor. Sec.

LODGE 248.

In regard to letter in Journal of last month of Albert Yeager, of No. 147, Susquehanna, Pa.

We, the undersigned members of Mountain City Lodge No. 248, DuBois, Pa., see by last Journal that this brother, or would-be brother, is desirous of keeping his name before the public. In the June Journal we contradicted his statement, and furthermore will say that there never was a charge of any kind preferred against said, — nor was there ever a committee appointed to investigate said charges, but this same party took a whole lot of responsibility upon himself when he signed his name, committee, to charges that were never made. I think a little reading of constitution and by-laws especially Article 14, Section 1, and furthermore and that we have read Article 12.

We wish to say that some brothers seem to take the Journal for a good place to vent their own spite on certain brothers, instead of using it to promote and elevate each other. It also seems strange that when said party was a shop mate here and same charge was published in the Journal the writer could not be found out until he left town.

Hoping to see this in the next Journal, we remain,

Yours truly,

LODGE 80.

Anaconda, Mont., Nov. 22, 1903.—As No. 80 has not held space in the Journal for at least two years, we would like to let the brothers know that No. 80 is still alive and doing.

Now, my main motive in writing to the Journal is this matter of apprentices, and in this way: If an apprentice is forced to leave the shop in which he is serving his time, at say, within a year of the required time to serve, and goes to another part of the country to live, and applies at a shop for work and the foreman gives him work and pays him full journeyman's wages, has the local at that point a right to raise an objection because he has not served his full time? Now, I believe in a boy serving full time, and I would raise a howl if an apprentice had run away without finishing his apprenticeship and was allowed to work as a journeyman, but in this case it is different. As you know, most apprentices are minors and are subject to the rule of their parents or guardians, as the case may be, and if a parent or guardian moves to another part of the world why he must look after his charge, and, brothers, you know that a home is a home and no one has a right to break it up and to leave a young man in his teens in a town by himself just because he has a year to serve is always disastrous, especially to the young man. And, brothers, you who have served your time as an apprentice, how humiliating it would be to you to get thrown out of work or be a victim of the circumstances which I have just related, and belong to the Brotherhood and then get turned down by your own craft just because you were a victim of circumstances and had a year to serve, and especially when you were offered the full scale for your services. I guess it is discouraging, and does it make a good union man out of a boy? No, it don't. It gives him a chance to be prejudiced against the union, and you will always find him with little faith in the greatness of unionism. You will always find him lagging behind and easily induced to do dirty work.

A young man, as a rule, when once shown a bit of loyalty will remember it as long as he lives.

The constitution of this Brotherhood allows an apprentice to become a member before he is a mechanic, and if he becomes a subject of this letter the Brotherhood has got to encourage him, and not discourage, and give him a few advantages. If they can not put him on as an apprentice to finish his time, why put him on as a journeyman, and every union man help him out of his weak point; and you will find that the "union label" will be stamped on his heart and the letters in those two words will ever be kept bright and shining by good deeds and true brotherly love.

Now, brothers, this is not a farce, I am writing this from an actual fact, and my ire was aroused by a member being turned down not many months ago.

I will not mention any names or when and where, so I would like to hear through the Journal a few remarks on this subject from some of the older and wiser heads of the craft.

Apologizing to Brothers McNeil and Gilthorpe for the space I ask in the Journal, I am,

Fraternally yours,

SAM'L M. NYE, JR.,

Fin. and Cor. Sec.

FROM DOMINICK KANE.

Seeing that there is quite a kick about my expence account, a little explanation may set those members thinking that it might be policy to look before they leap. The following distances were traveled by me between the 26th day of March and the 8th of May: My home to Seattle, 16 miles; Seattle to Kansas City, 2027; Kansas City to Cleveland, not sure, but believe it to be about 700; Cleveland to Chicago, about 300; Chicago to New Orleans, 922; New Orleans to San Francisco, 2489; San Francisco to Ogden, 841; Ogden to Salt Lake City and return, 70; Ogden to Portland, 865; Portland to Seattle, 185; Seattle to my home, 16; making a grand total of 8,431 miles traveled on that trip. Multiply that by 4 cents a mile which is rather a small average for the Western country. You can add to that $327.00, my three months salary $300.00 and you will find that my living from the remainder for 7 more weeks after paying fare, would not be so extravagant without mentioning hotel expenses and berths on train. I cannot believe that the majority of our brotherhood would expect their representatives to travel cheaper or to live cheaper than other traveling men. Owing to my name being mentioned more particular than the others is the reason of my taking any notice of the criticism. An itemized account of my expenses are on file in the Grand Lodge for the benefit of the auditing committee.

Fraternally yours,

D. KANE.

As we have made a settlement with C. H. Wallace, for scabbing during a strike about two years ago, I thought it would not be amiss to let the Brotherhood at large know on what basis the settlement was made.

We fined him $200, and not having that much in ready money, he paid $30 down and $10 a month until all is paid up.

When we made that settlement Brother Wallace said that he, was the happiest man in the state of Iowa.

FINED FOR SCABBING.

Wm. Perry, Reg. No. ...., was fined $500 for his unfair tactics to the members of Lodge 7. John Hines, Reg. No. ...., was fined $200 for the same offense, as it seems they were naturally unfair, and could not stay away no matter what inducements were offered to them, but at the present writing, both have lost their life jobs, which they had at the steel plant with a good many more, which you will hear from later on.

LODGE 7, J. C.

LODGE 191.

Just a line to let the brothers of the various lodges know that Lodge 191 is still in existence, and everything is going along nicely, and the boys of Lodge 191, Victoria, B. C., wish all the brotherhood of the iron trade a Merry Christmas and a bright and prosperous New Year.

G. PENKETH,
J. C., L. 191.

BORN.

To Mr. and Mrs. Layton, twin boys. The father was very happy and passed around the cigars.

Sorrow has entered the home now, as one of the boys died, and we all extend our sympathy to brother and wife.

F. E. THOMPSON,
F. S., No. 67.

McDONALD.

At our last regular meeting the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, It is with the deepest sorrow that we are called upon to record the sad, and sudden death of Brother Wm. A. Mc-Donald of Bay Ridge Lodge No. 338, who died in Baltimore, Md., Wednesday, Oct. 21st, 1903.

Resolved, That while we bow to the Infinite wisdom of our Lord, we cannot help mourning his sad death, and we are sensible to the fact that his sudden departure from this life places before us a lesson with a language too plain to be misunderstood.

Resolved, That our charter be draped for the period of 30 days and that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this meeting.

JNO. C. BARBINE,
J. K. LYONS,

of the universe, has in His Infinite wisdom, removed from among us one of our worthy and esteemed fellow workman Brother Ray Larrabee, and

Whereas, The long and intimate relation held with him in the faithful discharge of his duty, therefore be it

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members of the organization, therefore be it

Resolved, That with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him Who doeth all things for the best. Therefore be it

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be copied upon the minutes and published in our Journal and also a copy be forwarded to the bereaved wife.

J. A. YEAGER,

GEO. PERKINS,
JOS. SCHEIDT,
PAT. MURPHY,

WHOLEY.

It is with the utmost feeling of regret that I write to inform you of the sad and sudden death of our beloved brother, John J. Wholey, who passed from this life on Oct. 23d, after a short illness of only one week. It was not only a shock to all his friends and relatives but an altogether unexpected calamity.

Resolved, That in the death of brother John Wholey, we have lost a brother who had the respect and friendship of all our members and was respected for his sterling qualities as a member and a gentleman. He will be missed from our midst. He was one of Lodge 43's competent members and was always ready to serve his Lodge in a true and trustworthy manner.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes; likewise that a copy each be sent to the bereaved family and the official Journal for publication.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,

When love has bound the heart,

'Tis hard, so hard to speak the words,

Must we forever part?

Dearest loved one, we have laid thee,

In the peaceful graves embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished,
Till we see thy heavenly face.

JOHN J. CROTTY,
JAMES J. DURKIN,
Committee.

WILLIAMS.

It has pleased the great Creator to remove from our midst the father of our brother, R. M. Williams, therefore be it

A Practical Treatise for Use of Boiler Makers, Iron Ship Builders and Mast Makers.

By I. J. and H. Haddon, Cardiff.

The above work contains 187 pages and 133 diagrams and is devoted entirely to the needs of the workmen. It deals with all kinds of developments in connection with the above trades, general templating and also a vast amount of formulae. It contains a considerable number of new and original methods, which, with the rest of its contents, may be relied on for thorough accuracy and simplicity.

We may say that problems 21 and 31 are each worth more than the price of the book and with many others of our problems cannot be found in any other published work. Price, $1.75, postpaid.

Peacock's 50-ft. linen chalk lines, two for 25 cents. Sole Agent, Brother Wm. Harvey, Lodge 200. Address Box 89, Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y.
